

A LETTER FROM WICHITA STATE PROVOST RICK MUMA

March 27, 2020

Hello, Everyone.

I'm writing in advance of classes starting back on Monday, March 30, 2020. I know this has been a challenging time and you have been working very hard to get ready for the remainder of the semester. I'd like to take this opportunity to thank all of you for the extra work you are doing in preparation for classes starting on Monday and/or the ways you are remotely operating the campus. I really appreciate your flexibility, kindness, and for stepping up for the common good of the university and for the benefit of students.

Please take a look at this short video, which outlines a few things I'd like to share with you.

Here are some helpful links:

COVID-19 Resources

Converting your classes to an online and/or remote format

Working Remotely

Helping Students

Take care.

Rick

Richard D. Muma, PhD, MPH
Provost and Professor
Wichita State University
Wichita, Kansas
(316) 978-5761

Wichita State University Office of Academic Affairs
316-978-5761 provost@wichita.edu