

Local Firms To Hold Screening Interviews

Sixteen Wichita firms and businesses will participate in a student interview program Dec. 28 at the Lassen Motor Hotel to acquaint college graduates with local career opportunities.

Titled: "Operation: Careers in Wichita," the program is designed to help students get jobs with companies in their home state.

Under the planned program, students will undergo 15-30 minute screening interviews with personnel representatives of companies of their choice.

As of the first of the week, 138 students has signed up for the program. About 300 are expected.

16 Firms Expected

Companies represented at the session include Beech, Boeing, Cessna, Lear, Southwestern Bell, Gas Service, Kansas Gas and Electric, Coleman, Heston, Frontier Chemical, City of Wichita, Garvey, Inc., 4th National Bank, 1st National Bank, and two accounting firms.

300 Engineers Needed

John McCauley, manager of the Industrial Development of Wichita Chamber of Commerce, said that the aircraft industries alone are looking for at least 300 engineers.

Jobs are open for students majoring in business administration, accounting, math, physics, chemistry, home economics, nursing, public administration, liberal arts and all the engineering fields.

The one-day interview session begins at 9 a.m. and is co-sponsored by the Wichita Industrial Relations Council and the Personnel Management Association.

Interested students are to check with the Placement Office for details and registration cards.

Christmas Convocation To Be Given Tomorrow

The annual Christmas convocation will be held from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. tomorrow in Wilner Auditorium.

"Amahl and the Night Visitors," a 45-minute opera, will be featured at the program. In this opera, directed by Robert Mesrobian, music professor, Amahl, a crippled boy, is visited by the three magi on their way to Bethlehem. Amahl befriends the wise men and because of this, a miracle is granted and the boy is healed.

Amahl will be portrayed by a ten-year old, Bryan Brummett. Other performers are Jill Berquist, Sam Ramey, Allen Johnson, and Gene Richmond. Accompanying these major singers will be two pianos and a 24-member chorus--12 in costumes on stage and 12 in the pit.

A brass choir will play Christmas carols in the auditorium ten minutes before the convocation begins.

The following class schedule will be used for Thursday:

8:00 class8:00-8:40
9:00 class8:50-9:30
10:00 class9:40-10:20
Convocation ...10:30-11:30
11:00 class11:40-12:20
12:00 class12:30-1:10
1:00 class1:20-2:00
2:00 class2:10-2:50
3:00 class3:00

(resume regular schedule)

Other annual Christmas events included the Christmas concert presented last night in the DFAC. More than 400 singers from the School of Music performed.

The two University choruses joined with the University Singers to present "Utrecht Te Deum" by George F. Handel for the first portion of the program. The second half was given by the A Capella Choir which presented "Venite, Exsultemus Domino," by Jan Sweelinck, plus other works.

POWER TO MEND--One miracle of Christmas is demonstrated by ten-year-old Bryan Brummett as he portrays Amahl.

Kappa Pi Art Fair Receipts Total Over $1,500

Total sales at the Kappa Pi art fair in the FAC Saturday and Sunday amounted to $1,579.21. Top selling artists were Glenn Zwygardt and Roger Dale. The fair attracted nearly 2,000 visitors.

Thirty exhibitors showed more than 3,000 pieces of art that ranged from abstract paintings to pottery and jewelry.

Alpha Pi, an honorary art fraternity on the WSU campus, took ten per cent of the gross sales and plans to use it to offset costs of the fair, to give a gift to the art department and to finance another art fair next spring.

Richard Ash, president of Alpha Pi, said that he felt the art fair was a success for the short time in which it was organized. Alpha Pi has been organized for two months.

Time Sheets Needed For Dec. Payroll

Students working for the University have been requested by the Personnel Office to turn in their time sheets by Dec. 20.

Because of the Christmas holidays, time for figuring payrolls has been shortened. By having time sheets in early, the Personnel Office can have payrolls sent to Topeka by Dec. 23, so students may receive their checks according to schedule.

Donation Deadline Today For Award

Deadline for turning in donations to the Christmas Scholarship fund is today.

This fund was adopted by faculty and staff members several years ago. Instead of spending money on individual Christmas cards for friends on campus, it is suggested that donations be made to the fund.

"Response has been good, and we expect more to give," was the statement of the Business Office.

$180,000 Catholic Center Begun

Ground was broken Monday for a new $180,000 Newman Center by Bishop Leo C. Byrne, the apostolic administrator of the Diocese of Wichita.

Bishop Byrne has just returned from the closing session of the Vatican Council in Rome.

He was assisted in his duties by President Emory Lindquist and the Father Gilbert Graham, provincial of the Dominican fathers. Father Graham, who is the religious superior of the chaplain on campus, came from Chicago for the ceremonies.

The new center will include a chapel, classroom and study areas, a social hall, offices for the chaplains and for the student organization and lounge and recreation areas.

Building will begin this week with completion expected by late next summer. The center is located on Roosevelt street beside the old structure.

Pickup Policy Rapped

Students Demonstrate In Front Of Roundhouse

A demonstration against the WSU Athletic Department was staged by students outside the Fieldhouse preceding the WSU-Colorado battle Saturday night.

Students said they were not disputing the number of tickets allotted to the student body, but were displeased with the pick up policy.

A spokesman for the demonstration group said the students were protesting for three things: a standard ticket pick-up policy, informing the students about the policy in use, and the use of a policy whereby tickets can be picked up by students without missing classes.

The purpose of the demonstration was to call attention to the problem and to get people aware of it. Demonstrators said that they realize that there are only a limited number of tickets available to the students, but they would like an equal chance to get one of those few tickets.

Light To Be Finished By End Of The Week

The chaotic intersection at 17th and Yale by Brennan Hall on the WSU campus should be calmed by a traffic light by the end of this week, according to the office of traffic engineers for the City of Wichita.

City workers did additional labor on the project during this week. The remainder of work on the job and when the lights will be erected depends on Kansas Gas and Electric Company, which is installing the electrical connections.

Pres. Lindquist's Daughter Honored

Daughter of WSU president Dr. and Mrs. Emory Lindquist, Beth Lindquist was crowned St. Lucia at a candlelight service Sunday night at Gloria Dei Lutheran Church.

An East High senior, she was selected for the title by members of the church's teenage Luther League.

According to a Luther League sponsor, Miss Lindquist was selected on the basis of her outstanding Christian leadership and participation in church service activities during 1965.

Editorial 'I's'

ISSUE
INTERPRETATION

By Reason of Tenure . . .

Now that pre-registration is over, many questions have come to the forefront pertaining to graduating seniors getting needed courses to graduate.

Numerous suggestions have been offered; however, the fact that persons eligible for graduation in June do not get first preference to the lower division courses, especially those in the core curriculum, seems to be an oversight in the pre-enrollment procedure.

Granted, senior Honors students should have first preference to classes. They, needless to say, have earned this reward. But to say freshmen, sophomore, and junior honors deserve the right to pre-register before graduating seniors is, we think, in error.

Any student that has been matriculating at a university for seven to eight semesters deserves the right to choose his classes first, if only for the reason of tenure!

A workable situation would seem to be letting senior Honors register first, then seniors; junior honors, juniors; sophomore honors, sophomores; etc. In this way graduating seniors would have a chance to secure class cards for the usually crowded lower division courses.

This to lower division students may seem a bit unfair; however, it is likely a procedure like this would pay off in the long run. Just keep in mind, that you too will be a graduating senior in the near future, then the shoe will be on your foot.

Mystical Golden Gate

Painters Ascend Bridge Daily To Renew 'Glow'

By LYLE W. PRICE

SAN FRANCISCO AP - There's an almost mystical attraction to the Golden Gate Bridge, at least for the painters who climb to fearsome heights daily to renew its world-famed orange glow.

"The bridge grows on you; it becomes part of you," says Hale Sharrett, a husky ex-Navy man who supervises a 40-man painting crew.

The painting boss replaces his calm, steady gaze with a look of surprise when asked why a person would work at heights up to 746 feet above swirling riptides.

"Why this is the Golden Gate Bridge you're talking about, not just any bridge," he exclaims.

This magnetism has also drawn millions of tourists - and 286 known suicides - in the bridge's 28-year history.

Another 1.5 million pedestrians have strolled the bridge's walkways, usually in couples, or families, almost always with cameras. Only rarely will they see the painters, who usually are specks high up on the towers, or hidden from view under the deck.

The painters continuously paint its 10 million square feet of deck, towers, supports and cables.

The bridge, second in length by only 50 feet to New York's new Verrazano Narrows Bridge, is on its fifth complete painting.

Each paint job is done completely by hand brushing, using successive coats of red lead primer, intermediate brown and its public face, international orange.

The outer color is a reddish-orange hue that sometimes disms tourists who expect a golden color. Orange was selected from the start because of superior visibility, durability and harmony with surrounding hills of green and brown.

Reader Feelings Running High On Ticket, Humanities Issues

To the Editor:

I have complained about the ticket pick-up in private and now after the Michigan game I would like to air my feelings. It is quite difficult for students to plan to pick up tickets when the athletic department keeps changing the policy.

This last change was the third this season. There are 2,000 tickets available for students (really only 1,800 after those saved for the band are taken out), and yet only 500 students were allowed to get numbers for the Michigan game. This hardly seems fair.

I went down to the Fieldhouse at 8 a.m. and was told that the last of the numbers had been taken half an hour earlier. I asked one man who seemed to be connected in some way with this mess where and when the notice of this change had appeared. I was informed that the athletic director had posted a notice the day before in the Fieldhouse. How many students wander through that building every now and then to see if the department has decided to change the policy?

After overhearing a number of conversations in the CAC from ticketholders, I found a very good reason why I should have joined a sorority. The Greeks have an uncanny grapevine. I overheard some fraternity brothers discussing how many tickets their place holders were getting. At first they decided it was 76, but after some discussion they decided they were only getting 20.

Wichita is a basketball minded city and is to be highly commended for the support it has given the Shockers. I recognize this interest yet I cannot forget that only 2,000 out of 10,000 seats are available to interested students. I know Wichita is proud of our team but it IS our team and I think we should have the privilege of seeing them in action.

As I sat listening to the game I could not help but wonder, as I am sure hundreds of other students did, whatever happened to that ticket I paid for at the beginning of the semester?

Student Carr Ally

To the Editor:

In reply to C. Campbell, Dec. 6, I would just like a chance to console that "poor Mr. Carr." He needs so much help.

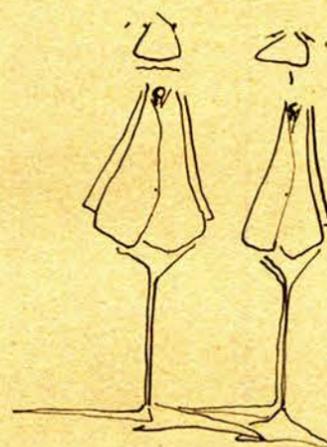

Knowing Rod (Mr. Carr) for some time, I have found that he has an excellent sense of humor and is an avid fan of satire. Perhaps if Miss Campbell had known Rod she would not have misunderstood his intent. On the other hand, however, anyone should have recognized the over-play and quickly assumed that the author had intended satire based on fact.

It is too bad that so many people cannot interpret satire and irony correctly. And it is also a sad state of affairs when a subservient cannot make 'light' of an inadequacy or human failing when it appears in his superior. Isn't this supposed to be a democratic society where free speech is permitted?

Anyhow, I hope it did not hurt too much, "Mr. Carr", when Miss Campbell tried to put the shoe on your other foot! Just remember, sometimes Delaplane and Buchwald are sadly misunderstood.

Michigan State Switches To IBM

Associated Collegiate Press

The Michigan State University library is going IBM and the whole University may follow, the Michigan State News says.

The library has announced that starting perhaps spring term a computerized check-out system will be put into effect, using laminated ID cards issued to students.

Administrators recognize, however, that the possibilities of extending the use of these cards beyond the library are endless.

"It's nice, but whatever happened to the simple joys of little colleges, first names and signatures? Is an education here really worth giving up all of one's identity except a student number and social security number printed on a laminated plastic card? It's nice to do things quicker, but who am I, anyway?"

KU Students Protest Paying Admission

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)- University of Kansas athletic officials were to confer on a dispute over charging students for basketball games recently.

The dispute came to a focus Saturday when the University Student Court ruled that 5,200 students who had paid a new $4 fee for basketball games should be refunded their money. Previously students were admitted free.

Three law students contended, in a suit before the student court, that the charge for reserved seats was a violation of contract. They said student registration cards state that the registration card and identification card issued at the start of the semester entitles them to admission.

Wade Stinson, athletic director, maintains that the court has no jurisdiction over the University Athletic Board.

The recommended charge came from the athletic seating board which proposed it as a method to help finance enlarged seating space for students at the football field. The proposal also recommended raising the football charge students from to $1.50 to $5 beginning next fall.

Professor Charles Oldfather, chairman of the athletic board, was to meet today with officials of the athletic department to discuss the problem. It was not known whether there would be a decision immediately.

'Never The Same'

Wife Sees Hubby Change After Altar; Then Romantic, Now He's Rheumatic

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press

Nothing changes a man more than marriage. He's never the same again.

Ask any wife. She keeps wondering all her life whatever happened to that sweet gallant boy who led her to the altar and murmured "I do."

A few instances: When he was courting her he loved to shower her with flowers. Now the only flowers she gets are the dandelions she digs out of the front yard lawn.

Once nothing was too good for her. Now anything she wants costs too much.

After the wedding ceremony he picked her up and carried her lightly across the threshold. Now he's too weak to bring in the Sunday newspaper unaided.

She remembers the candlelit restaurant where he leaned across the table and proposed to her. All he can recall is the price of the steak she ordered.

Before marriage she gaily cried, "After all, two can live as cheaply as one!" After marriage, the miser tries to make her prove it.

Remember when he would sit in the front porch swing with you half the night watching a full moon? Now he's snoring on the sofa by 9 p.m.

Once he liked to romp with her through the snow. Now, when they're caught in the rain he holds the umbrella over himself.

Before marriage he looked like a Greek god. After marriage he begins to look like a middle-aged, heavyweight Bulgarian wrestler.

On the honeymoon he brought her breakfast in bed. Now, when the alarm clock rings, he says, "For Pete's sake, are you going to lie there all day? Get up and burn me some toast. I'm hungry."

Before marriage he told her he loved children. After marriage he tells her, "You punish them--they're yours."

He used to send her mad exotic gifts at Christmas--such as a magnum of perfume. Now he says he's not Santa Claus and buys her a vacuum cleaner on the installment plan.

What really did happen to change him so much? Nothing. He just got married and started acting normally.

Today's Youngster Stronger

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Tests show today's youngsters are faster, stronger and more agile than their older brothers and sisters were just seven years ago.

Today's average 12-year-old boy, for instance, can run the 50-yard dash 2-10ths of a second faster, throw a softball 10 feet farther, broad jump 5 inches farther and do 19 more sit-ups.

These facts and figures were reported today by the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, a department of the National Education Association.

The DodgeRebellionGirl Watchers Club of America Wants You!

AWS Council Serves University As Governing Board For Women

By TRUDY KING, Guest Writer

"AWS? yes, I think I've heard of it, but what is it again?" Although AWS has been on campus for many years serving the women, this question is still being asked with only a vague recollection of ever hearing of the initials A.W.S. that stand for the Associated Women Students. It is a national association that has a past history of over 60 years.

The 1965-66 AWS Executive Board and Council feels it important that more students should be aware of the organization and what its purposes, functions of the governing boards and goals actually are.

Our purposes are to serve the women students in a representative form of self-government, to determine and maintain high standards of conduct, to encourage a high level of personal responsibility and citizenship, and to foster friendships and cooperation among women students.

The functions of the AWS governing boards are numerous. It consists of three boards—executive, judicial, and legislative. Each board has its own function, but each works as a "right hand" to the others.

The Executive Board is made up of the AWS officers, all of whom the women students elect, the Assistant Dean of Women and an off-campus adviser who are both ex-officio members. It is the duty of this board to initiate and carry out the total plan of the organization.

Residence hall presidents, sorority house representatives, class representatives, members at large and the entire Executive Board comprise the Legislative Board. This is where projects, regulations for self-government and standards for all women are discussed and formulated.

The Judicial Board is composed of the first Vice-President of AWS who acts as the Court Justice and four other members who act as the court members. As the law-enforcing body, the Judicial Board hears cases sent to it by the individual residence hall house-boards.

Since AWS is the second largest governing body, next to SGA, it requires much organization, cooperation, and interesting workers. Many projects and activities have already been held by AWS and many others are on their way to being fulfilled.

Activities already sponsored by AWS have been the Dutch Luncheon and the Get-Acquainted-Picnic for freshmen women in September, in conjunction with the Big-Little-Sister Program; a tea in the President's home with Mrs. Lindquist as the co-hostess along with AWS, honoring the freshmen women, in October; and the choosing of the Freshman Board consisting of 25 girls out of 70 who petitioned and were then selected by the AWS Council. Plans are on the way for the annual BWOC (Big Women On Campus) banquet in March which honors outstanding women from every organization on campus; and the Glamour Contest which may send one of our top girls to New York to be selected as one of America's Outstanding Co-Ed's.

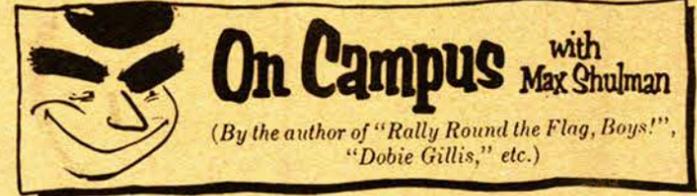

If one is interested in knowing more about AWS or how you may serve your organization, just send a letter to the President of AWS, c/o Wichita State University, and you will receive a prompt reply.

Kansas Job Story Featured

Attention: college seniors. Don't miss Friday's issue of the Sunflower. Staff writer Wayne Hayes will report on job opportunities for college graduates in Kansas.

Interviewers include Fred Kimball, vice president of Kansas Gas and Electric, Wichita, and Jack Lacy, director of Kansas Department of Economics Development, Topeka.

THE BLUEBIRD OF HAPPINESS HAS FLOWN THE COOP

Can education bring happiness?

This is a question that in recent years has caused much lively debate and several hundred stabbings among American college professors. Some contend that if a student's intellect is sufficiently aroused, happiness will automatically follow. Others say that to concentrate on the intellect and ignore the rest of the personality can only lead to misery.

I myself favor the second view, and I offer in evidence the well-known case of Knut Fusco.

Knut, a forestry major, never got anything less than a straight "A," was awarded his B.T. (Bachelor of Trees) in only two years, his M.S.B. (Master of Sap and Bark) in only three, and his D.B.C. (Doctor of Blight and Cutworms) in only four.

Academic glory was his. His intellect was the envy of every intellect fan on campus. But was he happy? The answer, alas, was no. Knut—he knew not why—was miserable; so miserable, in fact, that one day while walking across campus, he was suddenly so overcome with melancholy that he flung himself, weeping, upon the statue of the Founder.

By and by, a liberal arts coed named Nikki Sigafos came by with her Barby doll. She noted Knut's condition. "How come you're so unhappy, hey?" said Nikki.

"Suppose you tell me, you dumb old liberal arts major," replied Knut peevishly.

"All right, I will," said Nikki. "You are unhappy for two reasons. First, because you have been so busy stuffing your intellect that you have gone and starved your psyche. I've got nothing against learning, mind you, but a person oughtn't to neglect the pleasant, gentle amenities of life—the fun things. Have you, for instance, ever been to a dance?"

Knut shook his head.

"Have you ever . . . and then to a justice of the peace." Watched a sunset? Written a poem? Shaved with a Personna Stainless Steel Blade?"

Knut shook his head.

"Well, we'll fix that right now," said Nikki, and gave him a razor, a Personna Stainless Steel Blade, and a can of Burma Shave.

Knut lathered with the Burma Shave and shaved with the Personna and for the first time in many long years he smiled. He smiled and then he laughed—peal after peal of reverberating joy. "Wow-dow!" he cried. "What a shave! Does Personna come in injector style, too?"

"It does," said Nikki.

"Gloriosky!" cried Knut. "And does Burma Shave come in menthol, too?"

"It does," said Nikki.

"Huzzah!" cried Knut. "Now that I have found Personna and Burma Shave I will never have another unhappy day."

"Hold!" said Nikki. "Personna and Burma Shave alone will not solve your problem—only half of it. Remember I said there were two things making you unhappy?"

"Oh, yeah," said Knut. "What's the other one?"

"How long have you had that bear trap on your foot?" said Nikki.

"I stepped on it during a field trip in my freshman year," said Knut. "I keep meaning to have it taken off."

"Allow me," said Nikki and removed it.

"Land's sakes, what a relief!" said Knut, now totally happy, and took Nikki's hand and led her to a Personna vendor and then to a justice of the peace.

Today Knut is a perfectly fulfilled man, both intellectually and personalitywise. He lives in a charming split-level house with Nikki and their 17 children and he rises steadily in the forestry game. Only last month, in fact, he became Consultant on Sawdust to the American Butchers Guild, he was named an Honorary Sequoia by the park commissioner of Las Vegas, and he published a best-selling book called I Was a Slippery Elm for the FBI.

Sayers' Six TD's May Give Him 'Rookie' Title

By JOE MOOSHL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO(AP)- Brilliant, fantastic, unbelievable and out of sight is Gale Sayers. And that's according to the San Francisco 49ers, who were still in a state of shock following their 61-20 defeat by Sayers and the Chicago Bears Sunday.

Sayers scored six touchdowns to tie a National Football League game record. He accounted for 326 yards and his touchdowns included an 80-yard dash with a short screen pass, an 85-yard punt return and runs of 50 and 21 yards from scrimmage.

"That's the most brilliant exhibition I've ever seen," said Y. A. Tittle, now an assistant coach with the 49ers. Tittle was cornered by reporters because San Francisco Coach Jack Christiansen walked out before talking to anyone.

"Hugh McElhenny had a great day out here against the Bears in 1952, but he didn't score as many touchdowns. This was the greatest day I've ever seen a man have," said Tittle.

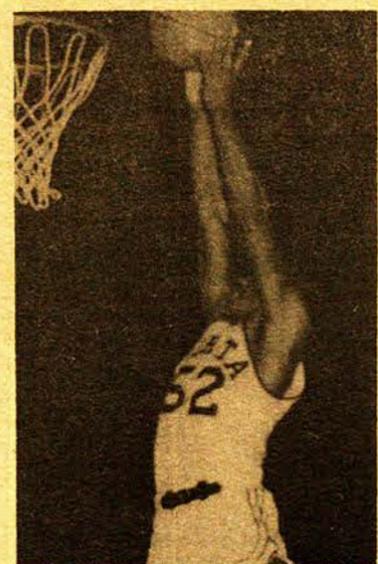

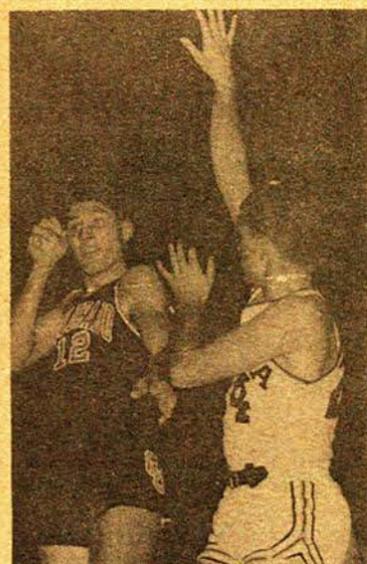

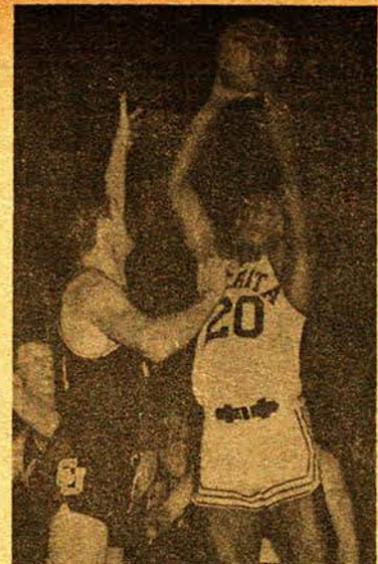

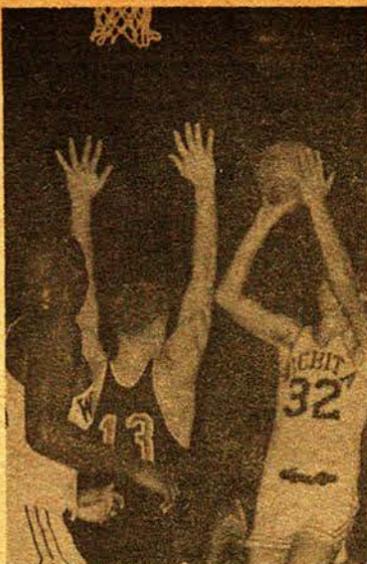

Sayers admitted his performance against the 49ers was his greatest game and greatest thrill.

Although the season isn't over, he already holds every scoring record in the brilliant history of the Bears for a season.

George Halas, owner coach of the Bears, said "this is the greatest performance I've ever seen by one man" and Halas has seen many of them as a pioneer of the NFL.

The Bears never before had given a player the game ball twice in one season. But Sayers' performance left them no choice. He also received the ball after scoring four TDs against Minnesota.

SHOCKS SCORE EIGHT MORE--Although hampered by a height disadvantage, these four Shockers (going clockwise from upper left, Jamie Thompson, Melvin Reed, Warren Armstrong, and John Criss) went high to can two apiece in Saturday's victory over Colorado.

Shocks 'Learned A Lot' In Win Over Colorado

"We learned a lot in this victory which is a heck of a lot sweeter than learning about mistakes in a defeat," Coach

Gary Thompson said after edging Colorado, 87-81. After straight marking up their third straight seasonal win over the Buffaloes, a leading Big Eight power, Coach Thompson talked as if there were a lot of work to be done in practice in preparation for Texas Tech this Saturday.

Wichita dropped its shooting average to 50 percent after shooting over 60 percent in its contests with New Mexico State and Michigan. Junior forward Jamie Thompson and sophomore Warren Armstrong shared scoring honors with twenty points each.

"They played a sagging man-to-man which is typical of the Big Eight and not typical of the Valley. Inside shots were hard to come by," Thompson said.

"We took the bad percentage shots several times because we knew we couldn't get inside easily," Coach Thompson said. "I don't ever recall giving away that many easy shots."

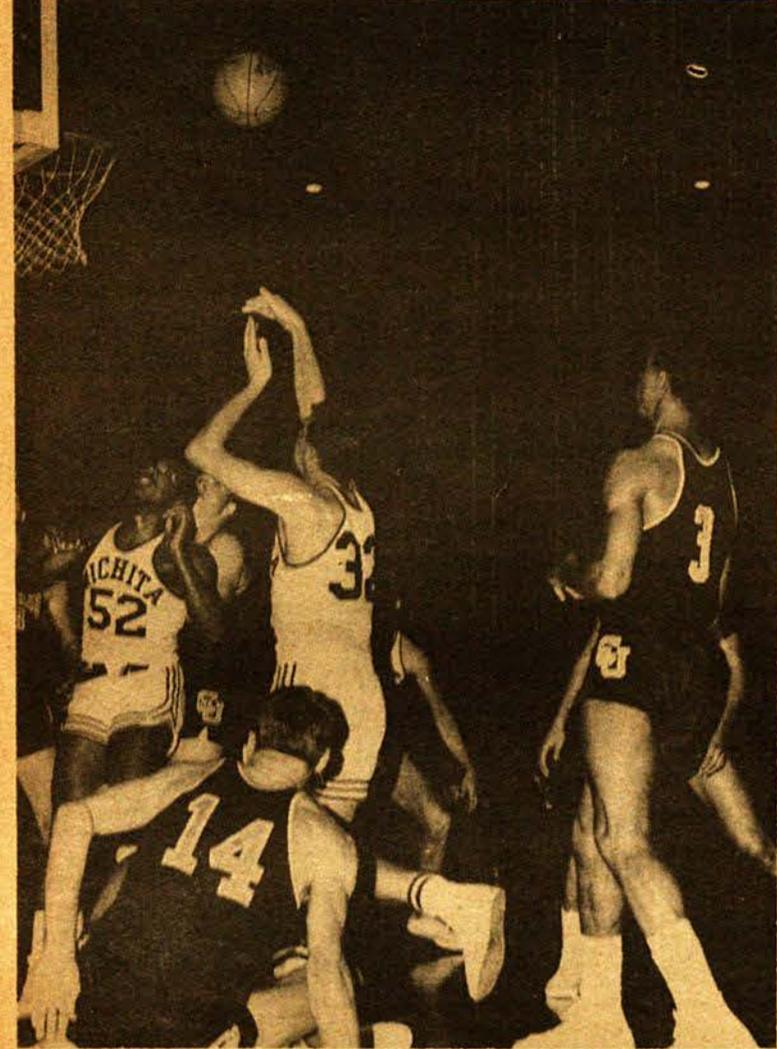

"I'll give credit to Colorado for having a tough rebounding club but we just didn't make it tough enough for them," Thompson said.

Throughout the game, the Shocks made up for their lack of height with their reknowned jumping abilities and out rebounded the Buffaloes 43 to 41.

Sophomore Roger McDowell pleased Thompson with 11 points and eight rebounds. Melvin Reed led the rebounders with nine and All-Conference selection Chuck Gardner nabbed 11 rebounds for Colorado.

Coach Thompson is expecting an improved performance against Texas Tech this Saturday in the Fieldhouse.

"I think you have to have 50 per cent from the field to win and I wouldn't mind shooting that every game we play but a lot of times it takes more than that," he said.

JAMIE STRIKES AGAIN--Junior forward Jamie Thompson hits for two points against the Buffaloes and sophomore Warren Armstrong intends to make sure it goes in. Karl Tait (14), junior forward and high point man for Colorado, finds himself on the floor on this play.

Baby Shocks Win Fifth Over Chanute

After trouncing Arkansas City Junior College here last Saturday night 93-67, the Baby Shocks traveled to Chanute and slipped past that Juco 95-38 for their fifth consecutive win.

Carl Williams and Bob Matzen played their finest game thus far, and along with the usual performances of Simmy Hill and Ron Mendell led the freshmen out of a half-time deficit Monday night.

High school All-American Simmy Hill scored 28 points against Chanute to take the scoring honors and Ron Mendell hit for more than twenty points for the fifth straight game with 23. Williams tallied 19 and Matzen 14.

Williams also took all the rebounding honors with 15; Hill was next with 14.

Six-foot-8 Hill earned both scoring and rebounding honors Saturday night when he tallied 34 points and 18 caroms. Mendell, who led all Kansas high school scorers last year with a 26 point average, scored 21 points against Ark City.

The Shocks marked up a 47-32 halftime lead and substituted freely Saturday night, but found themselves pressed harder by Chanute than they had previously all season.

The Baby Shocks hit 37 of 66 field goal attempts for a 56.1 field percentage compared to Ark City's 39.4 per cent.
