Regents approve development

The Kansas Board of Regents last week approved the long range development plan for each of the six state colleges and universities. Currently in the process of publication, the results of the three-year study are aimed at projecting the physical needs of the campuses in the future.

The plan for WSU was developed by George Platt, director of planning; Oblinger and Smith, consultants; and the Land Use and Planning Committee. Platt said the plan will be used as a guide for making future decisions on the growth of the campus.

The major points of the plan include:

- 1) construction of a perimeter road to provide traffic flow around the campus, but off the arterial streets.
- 2) creation of high-density areas around the Life-Science building, the Campus Activities Center, and the future site of the College of Health Related Professions building between 17th and 18th Street. New buildings in these areas will have a minimum of five stories.

3) restriction of traffic to pedestrians only near the "core" of the campus, with possible closing of Isley Lane and Alumni Drive.

4) placement of low-density and public use facilities toward the outside of the perimeter road.

5) creation of a University District to encompass residential areas south and west of the campus, giving the University a voice in zoning matters.

Based on an enrollment projection of 15,800 by 1980, the development plan foresees the need for 1) additional parking, including parking garages, 2) no further expansion of the dormitories, 3) construction of a new engineering lab building to begin in December this year, 4) construction of twin towers for Liberal Arts and Sciences possibly underway by 1976, 5) expansion of the library, 6) a new physical education complex with a baseball stadium, and 7) a new building to house the College of Health Related Professions (CHRP).

Space needs for all state schools were based on the number of credit hours forecasted for each department.

A large part of WSU's growth, Platt said, will come from part-time students, continuing education, graduate, and CHRP students.

WSU has consistently experienced space deficits in recent years, Platt said, so construction can be expected to continue for several years to come.

Carmichael rips US, points to socialism

By TERRY HORNE
 Staff Writer

"When all blacks stand together nobody will ever mess with the black man again," Stokely Carmichael matter-of-factly told a predominately black audience at WSU last Friday night.

Carmichael, here through the sponsorship of the WSU Black United Front, was a principle figure in America's black movement of the 1960's and currently is a leader in the All African Peoples Revolutionary Party based in Africa.

In his two-hour plus speech, Carmichael urged blacks to think of themselves as Africans rather than black Americans or Afro Americans, chastised capitalism and America as "vicious and backward," and painstakingly set forth the ideals of a socialist society.

Claiming that when she is developed Africa will be the most powerful continent in the world, the former prime minister of the Black Panther Party urged all blacks to identify with Africa rather than the U.S.

"If you say you are a black American your origin is slavery. Your history is then just 400 years old and the best you can be is a 'good slave,'" Carmichael said.

"But if you say you are an African, then your history is thousands and thousands and thousands of years old. And you are part of a people who have made a heavy contribution to history and will again," he said.

Relating that "just because America stole us from Africa doesn't mean it (Africa) doesn't still belong to us," Carmichael warned America's blacks against getting comfortable here.

"Everybody in the world is prepared to fight America. They have been inspired by the Vietnamese who defeated—yes thoroughly and fairly before the eyes of the world—defeated America. This system is reaching a crisis," he said.

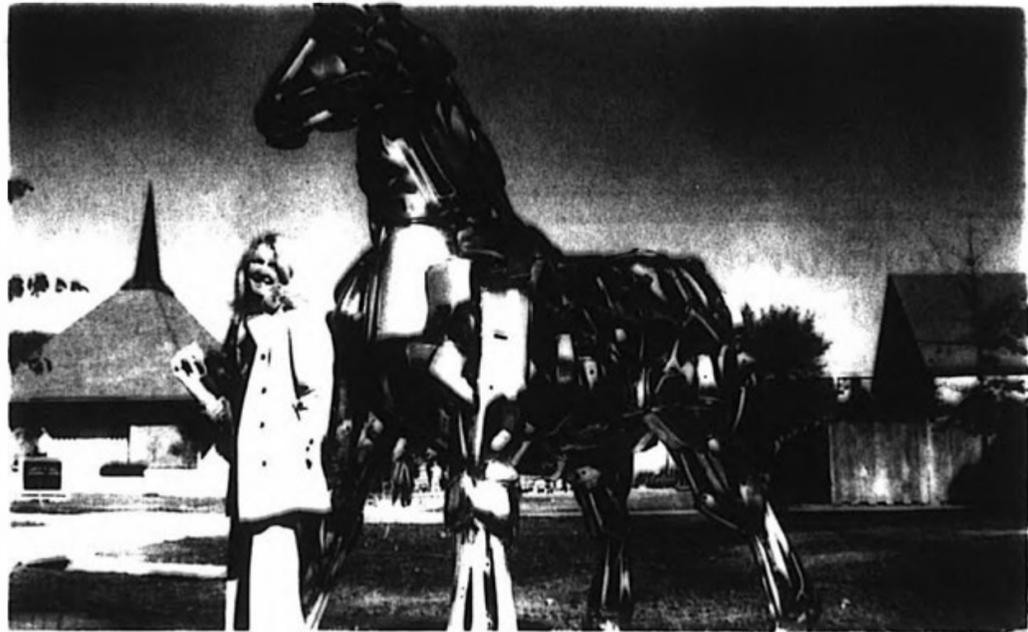

"You are told you are here (in college) because you're brilliant but you're really here because you're black," charged Carmichael. "You are in the universities because your people were in the streets fighting and dying to force concessions from the white man."

Carmichael, who now lives in Guinea, Africa and is on a tour of U.S. cities, told black students to "learn all you can" and then "to work for your people. You have a responsibility to them."

Turning to a discussion of capitalism Carmichael called the system vicious, backward and "down right stupid."

"Those who labor don't enjoy the fruits of their labor and those who enjoy the fruits don't labor," he said of the system. "Nothing is held sacred except the dollar bill. And the more money you have the less

Library policy ruled illegal

The State Attorney General's Office mailed out the opinion on the legality of budgetary transfers last night. Student Ombudsman Rex Krieg quoted for The Sunflower the last line of the opinion as it was read to him over the phone last Friday.

He said it read: "In our view this policy calls for an improper allocation of state monies for which there exists no legal basis whatever."

Krieg requested Dr. Jim Skaggs to call a library policy committee meeting to act on the attorney general's ruling. Skaggs is committee chairman.

Skaggs later said he would not call the meeting until he had seen the opinion. As far as policy stood, he would recommend to the University Senate the statement of policy that had been passed in the Oct. 17, 1973 meeting. Skaggs implied any change in policy at this time would have to come from Library Director Jasper Schad.

Schad said he could not comment on the ruling until he had reviewed it with his legal council. He said the present policy of budgetary transfers had been formed under the advice of legal council.

He said if the ruling dealt with budgetary transfers as payment of fines it would not affect the present policy. If it deals with the transfer of obligation for fines incurred it would overrule the present library policy.

He said the ultimate decision would rest with the University's legal council.

73' Homecoming queen first since crash

This year, for the first time since the airplane crash in 1970 which killed members of the WSU football team, a Homecoming queen will be crowned at half-time of the Homecoming game.

The Homecoming queen contest is now organized through the Athletic Association. The Student Government Association, which used to sponsor the event, passed a resolution in 1971 stating it would no longer sponsor a Homecoming queen contest.

Unlike past contests, students will not vote for the queen. The 12 contestants will be judged by a panel of six or seven members of the Shocker Club. The girls must have a 2.25 grade average and will be judged on poise, appearance and campus and community activities.

Kevin Brown, one of the co-ordinators of Homecoming activities, played an instrumental part in bringing Homecoming queen back as part of Homecoming week activities.

"I just don't think a Homecoming is a Homecoming without a Homecoming queen," Brown said. He said that 12 organizations on campus have submitted a girl's name for queen and that such a turnout proved people wanted a Homecoming queen this year.

Brown said he thinks Homecoming queen can serve as a way of getting more individuals and organizations on campus to participate in homecoming festivities.

What do Homecoming queen candidates think of the contest? One queen candidate said a Homecoming queen serves as a symbol of a woman on campus who has made several accomplishments and is chosen to represent the community. She said a Homecoming queen generates spirit, but a spirit which is generally confined to those who choose to get directly involved in the activities.

Another candidate sees the queen contest as a way of showing people in Wichita that WSU students do get involved. She said that in the last few years people have wondered why there were no Homecoming queens and attributed it to lack of involvement on the part of WSU students.

Carmichael lashes out at capitalist America

they ask you how you got it." He described the American economic distribution in terms of the cutting of a pie.

"Some of the people get the big pieces, some get smaller pieces and we (blacks) get the crumbs," Carmichael said.

Carmichael also scoffed at the opinion that Kennedy and Johnson were great saviours of the black in America.

"Anything they signed was because my people were in the streets. What we got came from blood, sweat and tears," Carmichael said.

Depicting socialism as a planned society, Carmichael carefully described its workings and advantages.

"Man is at the center of a socialist society, not money," he said. "The people decide and own everything rather than a handful of capitalists."

Asked if there were many Africans who did not consider blacks in America as Africans Carmichael said, "There are some but I usually tell them, 'Listen brother, if we would have stuck together 400 years ago this never would have happened in the first place.'"

Wanted... fans for pep rally

WSU has played three home games this season. The team has won them all, including victories in the last 47 seconds in one game, the last three minutes in another and a 30-14 win last Saturday against West Texas State.

This Saturday the Shockers host Drake for the Homecoming game. There will be many festivities this Friday and Saturday including a pep rally Friday at 6:45 p.m. behind Grace Wilkie Hall.

It's hard to believe stories about WEEKLY pep assemblies at other schools where attendance at such rallies reaches supposedly as high as 10,000 persons or at other schools where they consider 4,000 persons a small crowd. Here at WSU our last pep rally had more coaches, players and wives than students.

That's not exactly what you would call good support.

This type of situation, a pep rally which virtually no one attends, does more harm than good. That surely makes the team feel good before going out to play a game. Is this really the kind of support WSU wants to give its football team?

Come to the next pep rally and show your support of the WSU team. And don't forget the game Saturday. We'd hate to have anyone miss our fourth straight home victory this season.

Let's have a return to constitutional government

Constitutional government in the United States may have been suspended at 8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 20. Richard Nixon now rules by fiat and force. He is no longer a legitimate leader.

With callous disregard for his oath of office and the intents of Congress and the Judiciary, the President first refused to abide by a court order to produce Watergate documents. His later turnaround defused the immediate confrontation but can not obscure his repeated abuses of power. He then forced the resignation of the Attorney General and fired his Deputy and the Watergate Special Prosecutor when they refused to condone his conduct. Moreover, the President abolished the office of Special Prosecutor and dispatched the FBI to seal off its records. These decisive and unprecedented actions represent the tactics of a military coup. They are anathema to a rational democratic polity.

Even before these steps were taken, public confidence in the Nixon Administration's ability to govern was at one of its all-time lows. Now this support will deteriorate still further. The mandate of 1972 has been buried in a legacy of illegality, hypocrisy and deceit: San Clemente real estate deals, impoundment of Congressional appropriations, widespread wiretapping, covert Cambodian bombing, and all of the ramifications of the Watergate affair — Milk kickbacks, ITT, the Ellsberg burglary.

When elected officials violate the sacred trust placed in them by the people, the Constitution provides means for them to be impeached and, if convicted, removed from office. These procedures are very difficult to implement and are seldom used. But if ours were a parliamentary system of government, the Nixon Administration would have fallen months ago.

Mr. Nixon cloaks his actions in a veil of legality, but his record as President bares his intentions to forsake rule by law. The President must be impeached. While other judicial and legislative measures should be pursued, no amount of legal double-talk or political timidity can obscure this fact.

There is real question whether the Congress and the Judiciary can force Richard Nixon to deal with them within the confines of the law. But our actions, for the moment, must be based on this premise. Members of the academic community have a special responsibility. They must not simply react to the latest outrage. This serves Mr. Nixon's purpose. Instead, they must articulate the fundamental principles which are at stake. They must impress upon Congressmen and other national leaders the gravity of the situation and their duties under the Constitution. Most importantly, they must communicate the strength of their convictions to the public-at-large and join with others in a nationwide struggle for the preservation of democratic rule.

The methods of response are numerous. Now more than ever, we must write our Congressmen. The balance of mail over the next few weeks will be critical. Sustained public expressions of dissent — no matter what form they take — are equally important. A massive national student effort is essential.

The weeks ahead could represent either the redemption of American democracy or the prologue to its collapse. We remain silent at our own peril.

The following college and university newspapers have already endorsed the editorial:

Editor:

Concerning the letter in Friday's paper, it is disgusting to hear some lady with probably no knowledge of the fundamentals of college recruiting for athletics sympathize with Steve Shalin, the former graduate assistant for the basketball team. Mr. Shalin not only hurt the school, the athletic department, but the fifteen other guys who have seem to be forgotten, yes the rest of the team. If the Missouri Valley Conference or the NCAA decides to impose a penalty on WSU, future recruiting and this year's season will be in deep jeopardy. If Mr. Shalin would have been a little more caring, he would have informed Coach Miller of the problem so Rudy could have taken the G.E.D. test and been able to get an education. Since the Oklahoma affair a move like this would not have worked from Hutch JuCo to UCLA. Nothing good will be resolved from Shalin's trickery. I only hope that the WSU student body and the people of the city of Wichita will not give up on the quality players we have this season. They earned the right to play here. fair and honestly.

'Last Tango in Paris'

"Last Tango in Paris"—A Bernardo Bertolucci film, released through United Artists. Shown daily (?) at the Fox Theater.

By J. PAUL PORTER

At the time of this writing, "Last Tango in Paris" was not a victim of public morality. Rumors have been rife that the show would suffer the censor's axe in this community. If the film does come to this end in Wichita, it will be nothing short of an outrageously stupid mistake. To be sure, there is total nudity, viciously realized sex, and violent scenes in "Last Tango." But these are so woven into the fabric of the story and the delineation of the characters, that it is not sensationalistic as it is almost explanatory. Any voyeur would be lost in the starkness and power of the scenes and story, and the lack of continual titillation they afford.

Bertolucci's film is a brilliant, almost overpowering picture about despair, frustration, sex without joy. There are lots of movies about alienated and uncommunicative people, but few explore the reflex, primitive carnality that can be the product of desperation. It is sex that simultaneously pacifies the participants and deepens their self-disgust and depression. Few films have been bold enough to dig deeply into a barren psyche and expose the hideous, almost depraved extenuations of despair.

The movie begins in Paris, where the wife of an American hotel keeper commits suicide. The dazed and bereaved husband meets up, by chance, with a woman in an empty apartment. Their first coupling is savage, spontaneous, a portent of everything else that will follow. Together they take the apartment, filling it only with a mattress, setting up an arrangement that sustains itself on pure physicality. "I don't have a name. I don't want to know yours...I don't want to know where you came from."

Contrasted with this is the woman's other lover, an underground film director who seeks to make their relationship a monument to love, sentiment, and storybook passion. But of the two choices, the woman is attracted to the brusque, savage lover. That is until he finally decides he wants her, wants her badly enough to know her name, badly enough to leave the apartment to chase after her. She flees. "It is no good anymore. It is finished."

Marlon Brando, as a person, is hard for me to like. Admire? Possibly. As an actor, he can be indifferent and he can be great. In this lead role, he was stunning. It was an amazing, if not magnificent portrayal. Brando has been accused of drawing on his self-disgust and personal frustration to sustain his roles. In "Last Tango," that was exactly what was needed. His dimensions had a clarity, power, and definition that is seen only when great actors play great roles.

"Last Tango" is a long film, an exacting one nearly unbroken by comic relief. You don't "like" this film, no more than you "like" a Jackson Pollock painting. It is an experience that reaches for the subterranean depths of the crushed human spirit. It is a shame that the discriminating intelligence of the public morality cannot see past a nubile body, and perceive one of the most unusual and artistic films of a long time.

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right - 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full" - no starvation - because the diet is designed that way! It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home.

This is, honestly, a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. WICHITA, KAN. (AP)-Democratic Senate hopeful George Hart today called for the legalization of marijuana because it was "no more harmful than alcoholic beverages."

Hart, who has filed for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate, said marijuana should be legalized and then controlled by law.

"Then the 'bounty hunters' will not exploit the university youths and 'milk' news publications for their political purposes," Hart said.

Hart, who said he hadn't smoked cigarettes since 1950, stated that both cigarettes and alcohol were detrimental to health.

This week's film day not so dark for WSU

By RICK PLUMLEE

By mid-afternoon each fall Sunday, Shocker football players gather on campus to watch films of the previous day's game. With four defeats, this hadn't always been a pleasant experience. Even after the two victories the satisfaction was reserved.

After physicals and brief workout, the offensive squad shuts themselves in a corner of Levitt Arena. The defensive unit trudges to the visitor's locker room under Cessna Stadium.

Both sit quietly and patiently as their respective coaches point out again and again yesterday's mistakes. The projector is thrown in reverse so often the viewer begins to doubt whether the natural motion of a football player is forwards or backwards.

But last Sunday, the atmosphere changed. And with good reason. WSU trounced West Texas State, 30-14 on Saturday in their most decisive and consistent performance of the season.

Though not openly exuberant when they filed in for this week's Sunday afternoon at the movies, it was apparent the team was going to enjoy the feature presentation.

If the subject was pressed, even a couple of the coaches would admit to being pleased with the Shocker effort. Head Coach Bob Seaman described it as a "good day," and then added "it was the best all-around team effort we've had this year."

Part of that best effort was turned in by a duo of running backs, Fred Speck and C.J. Peachlyn. Rushing for 98 and 95 yards, respectively, last week, they have combined game average of 133.3 yards on the ground while sharing duties at tailback.

Seaman feels he can get more yardage by alternating the two backs. Depending on the situation, he can call on his power runner, Speck, or turn to Peachlyn who has more speed and runs with finesse. In either case, Seaman will find his two backs to be fresher and able to give a better performance.

If Speck and Peachlyn were in at the same time, it would mean giving up a talent that the Shocker offense depends on, a good blocking fullback. WSU has a pair of those in Mark Ayesh and Tim King. "They're really good blockers and enjoy it," Seaman said. "We can't afford to give up their talents."

Fierceness of defenses at all levels of football today have led coaches to use more than one running back. "Teams aren't sticking with a back, even in the pros," Seaman said. "There is a lot more gang tackling and a runner isn't just getting hit by one guy but eight or ten."

Peachlyn has no objections to trading off with Speck and feels its probably healthier for both of them. "With only running all the time, he will tire out and stand a better chance of getting hurt," he said.

WSU will host Drake this Saturday for a 1:30 p.m. homecoming game.

FRED SPECK (20) gaining a portion of the 98 yards rushing he had against West Texas State last Saturday. WSU won 30-14.

WSU Dames sale scheduled

The WSU Dames will hold their "Dames' Attic" on Saturday, Nov. 10 from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m. in the west concourse area of Henry Levitt Arena. The "Dames' Attic" is a garage sale, country kitchen featuring homemade pies, cakes, and other goodies, and boutique featuring crafts and other handmade items. Proceeds from the sale go to the WSU Scholarship Fund.

All students, faculty, and staff are urged to contribute any unwanted items, old or new, to the garage sale. All contributions are tax deductible and receipts for tax purposes will be given upon request. Many new items have been donated for the sale from local businesses.

The collection center for receiving sale items will be concession stand no. 8 which is near Entrance 3 at the northwest corner of Henry Levitt Arena. The center will be open from 10 a.m.-noon Saturday, and Monday through Thursday and from 2 p.m.-4 p.m. Sunday through Thursday. Arrangements for special pickup of items too large for donors to transport to the collection center may be made by calling 684-5025 or 684-4969.
