

Dr. N. H. Pronko Resigns Post As Psychology Head

Dr. Henry Pronko, head of the Wichita State psychology department since 1947, resigned his administrative position, effective July 1.

The desire to devote more time to teaching and research prompted his decision, he said. He will remain on the University faculty.

"Undergraduate and graduate studies in psychology have been developed in a most gratifying manner under his leadership and a fine faculty has been brought together," said Dr. Emory K. Lindquist in a statement after receiving Dr. Pronko's letter of resignation.

Before coming to the University, Dr. Pronko was an assistant professor of psychology at City College of New York.

A member of Phi Beta Kappa, he is the author of two books and is known throughout the United States for his work in psychology.

During his teaching career, he has visited, studied, or taught in Poland, Israel, England, Turkey, Germany, Austria, France, and Russia.

He has been a lecturer for American occupation forces in Europe and was a Fulbright lecturer in Istanbul, Turkey in 1952-53.

He is a graduate of George Washington University, Washington, D.C., and Indiana University, Bloomington.

Mikro Staff Sets Deadline At February 11

The deadline for the 1966 MIKROKOSMOS, the student literary magazine, has been extended to February 11, the first Friday after classes resume for the spring semester.

No entries (poetry, fiction, one-act plays and essays) will be accepted after this date.

The Mikro staff has now been completely assembled and will begin selections immediately. There will be cash prizes awarded to the best poem and best story published.

Dr. Geraldine Hammond and Dr. William Nelson will judge poetry, while Mark Costello, associate professor of English will judge the fiction.

Students who wish to submit entries are asked to type their manuscripts and place them in either of the two barrels provided. One barrel is in the main hall of the CAC, and the other is outside the English office in Jardine Hall.

Officers Announced For Shocker Spurs

Shocker Spurs, a local sophomore women's honorary organization, recently announced its officers 1965-66.

Spur officers are: Nicki Wolf, president, Carol Maxwell, vice-president; Connie Buck, secretary; Pat Vieux, treasurer; Luann Leach, historian; and Pam Drake, public relations editor.

Shocker Spurs was established last spring on the WSU campus by Mortar Board and consists of 50 members this year. These women were selected to membership on the basis of their activities, their contributions to the campus, and must have a 2.5 grade point average. They were selected after the first semester of their freshman year on this basis.

Student Opinion On Ticket Policy To Be Determined By SGA Polling

BRADLEY 91, WSU 86

In a regular meeting of SGA Tuesday night, Dan Hunter, proportional representative, reported to the congress that the basketball committee met over the holidays with athletic business manager, Bob Kirkpatrick, but little was accomplished.

"We really didn't get anything accomplished," Hunter said. "When Mr. Kirkpatrick explained the problems dollarwise, it made things pretty clear.

"They (the athletic department) owe $500,000 on the parking lot and $800,000 on the fieldhouse and these things have to be paid off," Hunter added. Hunter said the committee discussed new ideas for ticket distribution and surveyed the problems connected with each.

The Congress voted to conduct a survey of student opinion concerning season tickets for students at registration. Details of the survey will be developed before registration begins.

The idea of the survey will not be to point the Congress toward or away from any particular action, but rather to crystalize student opinion on the issue of student season tickets.

The Congress could reach no consensus on student season during debate Tuesday night. Pres. Keith Thompson spoke in favor of SGA remaining passive on the issue.

"There has been some feeling that SGA has been working too closely with the athletic department. Because of the results when this season ticket policy was initiated last year, I think any further action in this area should come from the students."

Vice-president John Morton disagreed and felt that it was the role of the student government to initiate action in representing the student body.

"It seems to me that nobody in the student body is going to come up with a petition for season tickets. I think such action should come from SGA," said Morton.

The Congress was informed by academic chairman, Kendall Bert, that returns on the faculty survey concerning the student-faculty evaluation were being received.

"Most of the faculty like it (the evaluation)," Bert said. "I was shocked. So now we will have to print up some more forms for this year's evaluation."

Printing will be a problem, but specific arrangements and the decision on the date of the evaluation will be decided later.

Hippodrome 1966, headed by Judy Nydegger, has been set for April 29. Pep coordinator Morton announced that a position on the pep council for a sophomore at-large is now open and he invited all interested sophomores to apply.

Students Appointed To ICY Committee By Dr. Lindquist

Jim Roberts, LA, Sr., and Pedro Pequeno-Rossie, LA, Jr., were named recently to the International Cooperation Year committee on campus. President Emory K. Lindquist made the appointments.

"The University's participation in ICY provides a splendid opportunity for faculty, staff, and students to take an inventory of the resources of our time for international cooperation and to explore the possibilities for enriching those resources," said President Lindquist. "I hope that there will continue to be hearty response to the plans of the committee."

Backed by the United Nations, the International Cooperation Year is striving to identify cooperative resources to provide goodwill and understanding among all foreign nations.

SOME BEGIN EARLY — Although the library is not packed yet, the days of cramming are near. Students will soon fill the library, and its facilities will be used to the utmost.

Three Frat Alumni Tapped For Project By Congress Library

Three alumni of the WSU chapter of Zeta Phi Eta, national speech fraternity, were accepted by the Library of Congress for a service project of making recordings of literature for the use of the blind. This project is done by Zeta Phi Eta on a national level.

Mary Jane Teall, Quincalee Brown, and Suzanne Umpirey sent ten-minute recordings to the Library of Congress for a voice test. Each was accepted and will read at least one book a year in connection with the project.

Mrs. Teall is reading "The Children's Hour," Miss Umpirey is reading a book about the life of Richard Rodgers, "With a Song in My Heart," and Miss Brown will read a history book concerning the Elizabethan period. The recordings of these books will be duplicated and distributed by the Library of Congress.

Zeta Phi Eta, a national women's speech fraternity, is the only organization that the Library has allowed to work on this volunteer project to date.

Locally, twelve active members of Zeta Phi Eta are planning to tape books during second semester as a professional service project. These will be children's books and will be used by the Wichita School for the Blind.

Linda Chapman, president of the local Zeta Phi Eta chapter, is making arrangements for the project. Anyone who would like to make a voice test for the local readings may call Linda Chapman or Quincalee Brown in the speech office.

'Come September' Scheduled For Two-Bit Flick Tonight

Rock Hudson, Gina Lollobrigida, Sandra Dee, and Bobby Darin head the cast of "Come September," which will be shown at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. tonight, in the Activities Center Ballroom as a feature of "Two-Bit Flick." "Come September," shown in technicolor, is the tale of a millionaire bachelor from New York who travels to his Italian villa every September to meet his sweetheart.

Plot complications occur when the millionaire arrives at his villa in July, unexpected. Without his knowledge, his housekeeper has been operating his villa as a hotel eleven months out of the year, pocketing the profits of the business enterprise.

Study Now...Avoid The Rush

That time of year is near again and, as usual college students are making the electric company happy by burning considerable quantities of late night electricity (the modern equivalent of midnight oil).

Not to say anything against the electric company making a profit, but it is unfortunate that college students always wait until the last minute to do their studying.

However it is still not quite too late. There is more than a week of school left before finals start, so an enterprising collegian can begin to study now and avoid the rush later.

If students will do the bulk of their studying during the next week it is feasible that they can merely review the material that will be covered on their finals, go to bed early the night before, get up bright-eyed and bushy-tailed and make an A on the exam.

Sound good? It's possible, but there is a small catch in the formula. The A on the exam will probably be the result of conscientious study for the entire semester. Still, the formula is not a total failure for those who have not studied conscientiously.

A well-rested student is a student who doesn't go to sleep in the middle of the final. Also he is one that is not so exhausted that all he can think about is how bad he feels and how fast he can get home to crawl back into bed. Finals are hard enough without adding extra handicaps.

It's probable that if you are not too tired to think, you might remember answers to questions you weren't aware you knew. Why not give it a try and study now?

Art Of Boxing Students' Ears Gradually Disappearing In US

By MARILYN RUGGLES, Staff Writer

The schoolmaster's ancient threat of flogging his pupils is becoming less and less prevalent in modern American public schools. The "art of boxing students' ears" is disappearing in an abundance of red tape.

The teacher is usually on sound legal ground if he feels he must resort to corporal punishment. Forty-nine states permit pupil punishment according to a survey of United States schools made by "Nation's Schools," an education magazine. Most school districts restrict the "spanking privilege" to a last resort situation with careful stipulations concerning manner and reason.

Most school systems that permit punishment usually specify who can administer it, and most often it is the principal who gets the job, although some systems permit the principal to delegate this right. Others specifically grant the right to the individual classroom teachers.

Parental consent for physical punishment is required by several areas, among them Kansas City, Mo. In Glendale, Calif., two witnesses must be present before the pupil may be punished. Normally, witnesses are to be staff members of the school; however, Indianapolis requires only a "professional person," and Fargo, N. Dakota, and Beverly Hills, Calif., call simply for one person. In most areas, a written report concerning the incident is mandatory.

When punishment is administered, the head is strictly off-limits. Many districts forbid head shaking, ear boxing, and face slapping.

Some districts are even more specific concerning the exact circumstances under which punishment may be applied. In El Paso, corporal punishment can be used in cases of insolence, fighting, inciting violence, using profane or vulgar language drawing or possessing obscene literature, destroying property, disorderly conduct, smoking, possessing alcoholic beverages, forgery, truancy, habitual tardiness, and misrepresenting the facts.

Specific description of how the punishment can be administered is often given - no violent jerking, pinching, kicking, slapping, hairpulling, or swatting are allowed in some places.

Sometimes punishment is specifically prescribed by law - spanking with the open hand, paddling the hands or rear, and rapping with a ruler are permitted in some cities.

An Iowa administrator put it this way: "We feel we are an educational institution, not a penal institution, and if a child doesn't intend to behave, we suspend him from school until he brings his parents for a conference."

Oil Firm Head Believes Students Shun Challenges Of Business World

By DANA WINKLER, News Editor

Misdirected campus idealism threatens a real disservice to the national interest in a little noted area, according to Lawrence A. Kimpton, a vice president of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana.

"The idea seems to be abroad on the campuses that personal challenge and the opportunity to make a meaningful contribution to society are nowhere to be found within a corporation," Kimpton, former Chancellor of the University of Chicago, said at a recent speech at Rockhurst College, Kansas City.

"In my judgement this idea is both wrong and highly inimical to the best interests of the very society our young people quite commendably wish to serve," Kimpton continued.

"However spooky some of the manifestations of the present campus unrest may look they are at least higher up the intellectual ladder than devouring uncooked goldfish . . . and they bespeak a more thoughtful generation. To take the beatnik as truly representative may be to mistake a few saplings for the forest."

Kimpton, however, noted that there was another side to student attitudes which has been given less notice

"There is evidence that many, if not most, of today's undergraduates look upon the prospect of business careers with very little enthusiasm. Somehow they seem to equate corporate activity with sterility, he said.

"The prospect of our most promising youth all hastening into research, teaching, government, and solving the problems of peace, poverty, and race relations, leaving to the pedestrian and second-rate the management of the economic engine on whose product all these other activities depend for their ultimate support is a sobering one.

"Guiding contemporary corporate affairs happens to be among the most challenging and exciting activities to be found anywhere in our society. The forces of rapid change are loose . . . and the corporation is the instrument by which scientific discoveries are converted into something of social value and utility and made available to all the people.

"For those of our young people who have the necessary intellectual capacity, the determination, and the vision that is called for there are few careers in life which can match the opportunity and the challenges to be found within today's corporation - nor are there many which involve as great a contribution to society.

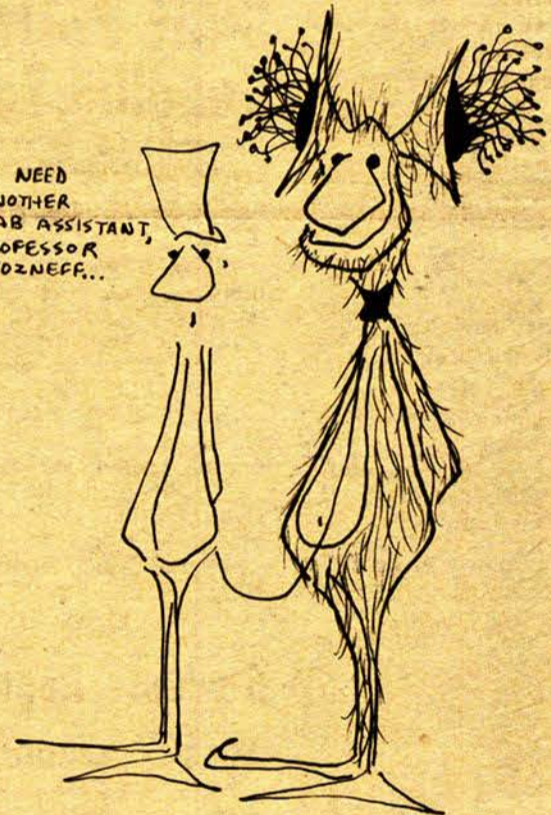

"From some of the things we can see going on around us it looks as if we have done a lousy job of getting young people to see business activity in this light, as they ride off in greater numbers in pursuit of assorted Holy Grails, without a backward look in our direction.

"American business had badly neglected the responsibility of stating its case effectively, and we have done far too much talking to ourselves. It is high time we began communicating to others an understanding of the challenge and the promise of our economic system, which happens to be the best instrument yet devised by man for the creating of the better world which our young so ardently desire," Kimpton concluded.

Two fraternities announced their executive officers' slate for next semester. Heading the group at the Delta Upsilon house is Dexter Johnson as president. Other officers include Jim Caesar, vice-president; Kent Keuske, recording secretary; Ron Jackson, treasurer; Eric Park, pledge trainer; Phil Haskell, house manager, and Mike Burgoon, executive-at-large. Steve White will be president at the Sig Ep house. Holding the other offices are Tom Combs, vice-president; Gary Weddle, recording secretary; Mike Roach, corresponding secretary; and Van Stone, chaplin.

Peoria, Ill. - (Special) A cold-handed Wichita State bowed to Bradley here Thursday night in its first Missouri Valley Conference game. The score was 91-86.

The Shockers turned in a lowly 36.9 shooting percentage from the field. They hit only 34 of 92 shots.

Four Bradley players hit in double figures, topped by 25 points by Alex McNutt and 22 by Eddie Jackson.

The fifth-ranked Braves boosted their conference mark to 2-0 and season record to 12-1. They lead after the first 5½ minutes and never were in trouble.

They were on top 52-42 at half-time and had as wide as an 84-66 edge in the last half. With the score 90-72, Wichita put on its best spurt to close the margin to the final tally, led by Jamie Thompson's nine points.

Wichita's Roger McDowell fouled out at 10:16, Warren Armstrong at 9:33 and Melvin Reed at 5:45. In the second half.

Wichita, now 0-1 in the MVC and 6-4 over-all, was led by Thompson with 24 points and Warren Armstrong with 22.

Billikens Here Saturday Night

Coach Gary Thompson's Shockers will return to their home court and wild fans after dueling with nationally-ranked Bradley last night and face the St. Louis Billikens tomorrow night.

Eugene Moore, Rick Parks, Bob Cole, Sam Ulrich, Rich Rineberg, and John Kilo will be the nucleus of the 1965-66 edition of the Billikens.

The fast-moving offense and aggressive defense of St. Louis are already adding to last year's point production. Last year the Bills averaged 76.1 points per game and allowed their opponents 68.3 points per game.

St. Louis met Louisville, and with the help of an outstanding sophomore, Westley Unsell, averaged 20.3 points per game, Louisville sneaked past the Billikens 84-80.

The Billiken's "Big Three" consists of 6-foot-7 Rich Parks, 6-foot-7 Eugene Moore, and 7-foot Rich Nieman.

Senior forward Parks is the only experienced big man on the Bills roster. In his sophomore year, he was the leading rebounder and was well on his way to repeating last year before he encountered academic problems.

Moore and towering Rich Niemann are only sophomores and were the top scorers and rebounders for the freshmen squad last year.

In the St. Louis-Wichita series, the Billikens own 30 wins to the Shockers 11 victories.
