

'The Would Be Gentleman' To Open Thursday Night

Curtains will rise on "The Would Be Gentleman," presented by the University theater, at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, March 9. The play, a classic spoof on pretension by Moliere will run three consecutive nights in Wilner Auditorium.

The main character, Monsieur Jourdain, is a wealthy merchant who aspires to become a gentleman. However, he is hood-winked at every turn.

Larry McMullen plays Monsieur Jourdain. He employs dancing, music, fencing and philosophy masters to educate him, and a retinue of dancers, singers and musicians to impress a lady of quality he is wooing.

Louise Harrell plays his sensible and very disapproving wife, and Connie Atkinson the charming widow for whom he arranges such lavish entertainment. Ray Dryden poses as the "grand, witty Lord" who is also wooing the widow with Jourdain's money.

philosophy master; and Jim Mahoney, the fencing master.

Cindy Poindexter and David Henry, Ann Miller and Dan Darling play a quartet of young lovers.

Piet Knetsch will be seen as the tailor who outfits Jourdain in shoes that hurt and clothes that send his family into gales of laughter.

Alice Bauman of the University dance department has choreographed the dances. Geoffrey Husson has staged the comic sword play.

Mary Jane Teall directs the production. Mary Lee Johns designed the costumes, and Jim Wright, University technical director, has designed the set and lighting.

Tickets may be ordered weekdays afternoons at the Wilner Auditorium box office, or purchased before the performances. Students will be admitted with IDs but should make reservations.

K-State Educator Speaks On Russia At Convention

"Can we create instant Democracy in a country that has never had it before?" Dr. Robert Browder, head of the Kansas State University history department, posed this question in his talk Friday at the opening session of a meeting of the Kansas Association of Teachers of History and Social Sciences.

Browder referred to the short life of the Russian democratic government of 1917, in relationship to world conditions today. He said that a country, formerly despotic, might find the heady experience of complete freedom too much of a shock without further upheaval.

Young Republican Walkout Staged After KU Motion

WSU delegates to the Kansas Collegiate Young Republican Federation in Hutchinson staged a walkout last weekend after a two-hour deadlock over their seating.

Joining Wichita in the walkout were Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia; Fort Hays State College; Kansas State College of Pittsburg, and Independence Junior College.

The controversy began when the University of Kansas delegation moved at the opening of the business session that delegates from WSU not be seated because Wichita submitted its convention registration and fees one day later than the deadline on Feb. 21. The convention was delayed two hours, twenty minutes due to controversy over parliamentary procedure pertaining to the KU motion.

After the schools walked out, the motion not to seat the Wichita representatives was passed.

Roger Turner, president of the WSU Young Republicans, was nominated for chairman following the walkout but received only the five votes of McPherson College and Southwestern College.

Authority To Present Asian Affairs Movie

Raphael Green, an authority on Asian affairs, will present his color film documentary, "Russia vs. China" Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. in the West Ballroom of the CAC.

Green presents the dramatic story behind the friction between Russia and China today.

He examines the plunder of Manchuria by the Russians which involves an area almost as large as the United States. He also considers the continuing pressure of China's population which impels the communist government to look for release in all directions, particularly toward Siberia and Outer Mongolia which the Chinese have long considered to be rightfully theirs.

Green points out that in a sense it is a case of the spreading empire of the Chinese dragon running squarely into the extensive presently in the paws of the Russian bear.

This great confrontation has been a constant source of trouble extending for thousands of miles along the frontiers of China, Outer Mongolia and Siberia.

Green has traveled these frontiers extensively over a twenty-year period. He has photographed refugees at Hong Kong, crossed the Sea of Japan from Yokohama to Vladivostok, traveled the Trans-Siberian railway, visited Smarand and Tashkent and probed the Chinese border in Afghanistan.

A portion of the documentary film shows the remote and rarely photographed country of Outer Mongolia. With a heritage extending back to the days of Genghis Khan and his Golden Horses, it is a region that includes not only the vast expanse of the Gobi Desert, but also rich grazing lands and mineral resources that have scarcely been explored.

For some years there has been a subtle invasion from Red China—Chinese soldiers, in the guise of workers wearing blue denim overalls, thus giving rise to the nickname of "Blue Ants" as the Mongolians call them.

Green has an authoritative background for this informative lecture. While on the White House staff, he participated with Ambassador Pauley in a reparations survey in Manchuria and North Korea. He was in the first group of American civilians allowed to enter Outer Mongolia, and has traveled the Russian empire extensively.

He has also produced film documentaries on Russia, Siberia and Outer Mongolia. Formerly on the staff of the University of Minnesota, Green now devotes his time to educational research and lecturing.

Symphony Orchestra To Present Concert

Choruses and soloists from Wichita State University will be among nearly 300 performers taking part in Benjamin Britten's "War Requiem," which will close the 1966-67 season of the Wichita Symphony Orchestra.

The seventh and final concerts of the subscription series, they will be at 3 p.m. Sunday, and at 8 p.m. Monday, March 13, in the Wichita High School East auditorium.

Four choruses and three soloists will join Conductor James Robertson and the 86 members of the orchestra for the performance. Participating are WSU's University Singers and A Capella Choir, Friends University's Singing Quakers and the Wichita Civic Boys' Choir.

Soloists are assistant voice professors Vernon Lee Yenne and Franklin Dybdahl, tenor and baritone, and Friends' voice instructor Ann Marie Obressa, soprano.

As the title indicates, the subject of the Requiem is war. The work is dedicated to four of the composer's close friends who were killed in World War II.

It was commissioned for a festival in 1962 consecrating England's St. Michael Cathedral in Contry, newly restored after destruction by German bombs during World War II.

Britten has set the traditional Latin Requiem Mass -- the Missa pro Defunctis -- in direct juxtaposition to a group of anti-war poems by a young man who knew the horrors of war through personal experience. That same young Englishman, Wilfred Owen, was killed in action in 1918 -- just seven days before the armistice that ended World War I.

Britten follows each section of the Mass with one of Owen's poems, which are sung by the male soloists. To intensify the formal ritual of the mass as contrasted with the poet's personal message, the male soloists are accompanied only by a chamber orchestra.

WSU students may pick up tickets for either concert beginning Wednesday, March 8, in the school's music office.

11 Have Entered UROC Contest

Eleven candidates have entered the Ugly Man On Campus contest which will run from March 13 through March 17.

The annual contest is sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, a national honorary service fraternity and the CAC Program Board. All proceeds from the contest will go to the Institute of Logopedics.

The candidates and their sponsoring organizations are Johnnye Appleton, Gamma Phi Beta; Warren Armstrong, Alpha Kappa Alpha; Tom Babb, Independent Student's Association; John Brott, Phi Alpha; Bud Dingman, Beta Theta Pi; Willie Dunlap, Delta Delta Delta; Sam Goldstein, Delta Upsilon; Larry Guinn, Alpha Phi; Chris Shank, Delta Gamma; Steve Shouse, Phi Delta Theta; and Richard Stiverson, Alpha Chi Omega.

Voting will run from 9:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. daily March 13-17 at a booth in the CAC. The election will be based on one vote for each penny cast for a candidate.

The UROC dance will be Saturday, March 18. Admission will be $1.00 per couple. All the proceeds from the dance will go to the Institute of Logopedics.

515 Students Make Dean's List

Five hundred fifteen WSU students in the six Colleges made the Dean's lists in their respective schools during the fall semester. To be placed on the list in the University College and in the College of Business Administration, a student must make a GPA of 3.25 and be enrolled in 12 hours or more. In the other four colleges, they must also be in the upper ten percent of all students in the college.

Those who received this honor during the past semester are:

the Office of Economic Opportunity's fourth Press Seminar on the war on poverty.

He hopes to have 100,000 volunteers by the end of the year serving as tutors, recreation leaders, counselors, consumer educators, and cultural enrichment aid. They are to work among the poor as part of the VISTA program of part-time workers.

VISTA volunteers are already being aided by about 15,000 part-time workers.

A special training session to prepare VISTA volunteers to set up and operate Citizen Corps projects was started February 23 in Baltimore. Full-time VISTA workers will be assigned to local and state agencies that are in charge of part-time projects.

Anyone interested in further information about VISTA can get a booklet in Room 212 of the CAC.

WSU's 'Stairway Gallery' Hosts Artists' Exhibition

The University's Stairway Gallery, located in the art building, is currently exhibiting "Drawings Prints and Paintings" by Judy and Wyatt McCrea.

Judy attended KSTC in Emporia and holds a BFA in painting. She is presently an instructor in drawing, and a lecturer in art appreciation at the Wichita Art Association.

She has exhibited in the 10th and 11th Artists Annual among others and participated in a two-artist exhibit at the Birger Sandzen Gallery at Lindsborg, Kansas.

Wyatt attended KSC at Manhattan, received a BFA from Bethany College, and holds a MFA in print-making from WSU. He is presently a graduate teaching fellow, and an instructor in drawing at the Wichita Art Museum.

He is exhibiting in the 13th Artists Annual at the Wichita Art Museum, and has exhibited in the Harper Art Competition where he received the award in lithography. He has participated in two one man shows: at the Wichita Art Museum in May, and Bethel College last January.

Drill Team To Compete In Illinois

By Janice Egan

Festival in Washington, D. C. where they took ninth in the nation. Last year the team went to Champaign, Illinois and took eighth.

The five-year-old team was formed with the assistance of the Wichita Naval Reserve Training Center. Each year the team holds a tea for women who are interested in becoming a member. The team is composed of 25 women chosen on the basis of grade average, good physical characteristics and military aptitude. The girls drill at 6:30 a.m. two days a week in preparation for the many appearances they make at basketball games, parades and other events throughout the year. To help finance their trip, the Anchorettes have earned money through bake sales, a chille supper and by planning and cooking noon meals once week-end a month for the Naval Reserve Center downtown.

The group carries the distinction of being the only Navy girls drill team on college and university campuses of the nation.

Dr. Kenneth Nickel, head of the college of education at WSU and commander in the Navy, is the sponsor.

CAC To Contain A Coffee House: 'The Church Key'

"The Church Key," WSU's new campus-oriented coffee house, sponsored by the Campus Christian Council, Apathy Social Club, and the International Club, will open its doors Friday night with live entertainment. Exotic coffees and pastries will be served at low prices.

"The Church Key" will be located in Room 9, in the basement of the CAC, and will be open from 7:30 until 11:30 Friday. Shows will be at 8 p.m. and 10 p.m.

Reverend Cecil Findley, campus UCF advisor, emphasized that, although the coffee house is in part church-sponsored, it will not be a sounding board for Christian pronouncements. "We want a dialogue between Christians and non-Christians, Democrats and Republicans, students and faculty," Findley said. He added that the principle aim of the coffee house is to provide a "neutral ground" where people of different persuasions, be they religious, political, or whatever, can get together and TALK to one another.

A complete menu and the performances for opening night will be published in Friday's Sunflower.

Pep Council To Hold Meeting Wednesday

Pep Council will meet in Room 205 of the Campus Activities Center Wednesday evening at 6:30 p.m. It is important for all members to be there.

Shaw Arrested For Part In Kennedy Assassination

Under the influence of sodium pentothal, "truth serum," an unnamed informant recently revealed evidence that Lee Harvey Oswald, Clay L. Shaw and David W. Ferrie met in September of 1963 to discuss assassinating the late President John F. Kennedy.

Oswald was named as the sole assassin in the Warren Report, but recently some sort of plot has been uncovered. New Orleans District Attorney, Jim Garrison, arrested the retired director of the International Trade Mart, Clay Shaw, as a result of a five month investigation.

Garrison stated "There will be more arrests. I have no doubt about the case, as I have said before. The arrests will hold up. If you want to bet against me, you will lose."

Chief investigator, William Gurvich, was indefinite about setting the date for a formal charge. He said, "Special cases take special handling," at a news conference conducted outside the district attorney's office. "For all I know it could be several days." Shaw is presently free on ten thousand dollars bond.

At a news conference last week Shaw called his arrest "fantastic" and insisted that he had no part in any plot to kill Kennedy. "I did not know Lee Harvey Oswald nor to the best of my knowledge do I know anyone who knew him," Shaw said. The new U.S. Attorney General, Ramsey Clark, said that the FBI investigated Shaw late in 1963 and eliminated him as a suspect in the assassination.

Garrison obtained a warrant to search Shaw's French Quarter apartment. At this time, the results of the search are not known.

The third suspect, Ferrie, a pilot, died last week while under investigation by Garrison's office. Clay Shaw remains the only known living member of the alleged plot.

Performance To Be Given Tonight At 8

The WSU Symphonic Band will make its first concert appearance of the year at 8 p.m. tonight in the DFAC concert hall.

The 80-member organization is directed by James Kerr, University professor of bands.

The band has made numerous state and national convention appearances. Its most recent convention concert was in April, 1966 when the band presented a program for the national meeting of the Music Educators National Conference (MENC) in Kansas City. In 1965, the band appeared at a divisional meeting of MENC held in Oklahoma City.

Professor Kerr joined the WSU faculty in 1946. He holds music degrees from Kansas State College, Pittsburg, and Northwestern University of Evanston, Ill. He has also studied at the University of Michigan, Washington State University and Pierre Montoux School of Conducting.

In addition to his duties at Wichita State, Kerr is in frequent demand as a guest judge, clinician and conductor. He has served in such capacities throughout the U.S. and Canada.

In the summer of 1965, Kerr was awarded a WSU grant allowing him to spend nine weeks in England as a visiting observer at the Royal Military School of Music near London.

For Tuesday's concert, the Symphonic Band will begin the program, playing "William Byrd Suite" by Gordon Jacob. This early English suite will be followed by Hindemith's "Symphony in B-flat."

The band will close the first half of the concert with a performance of "Incidental Suite" by Claude T. Smith, a former band director in the Kansas City area.

Following a brief intermission, the band will close with three selections: "The Gods Go A-Begging" by Handel; "Overture and Caccia" by Menotti; and "Scenes from the Louvre" by Dello Joio.

This concert is open to the public and there is no admission charge.

Bill Is Introduced To Give Regents New Authority

A bill introduced to give the State Board of Regents authority to provide free schooling at Kansas colleges and universities for persons 65 and over was discussed favorably by the House State Affairs Committee recently.

Rep. Richard Rodgers, who introduced the bill, stated that a study by the Board of Regents indicates that the cost of administering the play at any of the colleges and universities in the state would not exceed $500 to $1,000.

A comment made by one representative suggested that older people may cause a disturbance in the classes where most of the students are 18 or 19. To refute this statement, Rodgers stated that a similar bill now in use in Kentucky reserves the right of the instructor to ban oldsters from his class if he feels that it is in the best interest of the course.

Rodgers also stated that there is much excitement for the new plan in the sociology department at Kansas University.

Prof Takes Post At National Music Camp

The National Music Camp, Interlochen, Michigan, announced this week the appointment of David Levenson, associate professor of cello at WSU, to the camp's 1967 summer faculty.

During the eight-week camp, Levenson will teach private cello lessons and conduct cello sectional rehearsals. He will also coach a string ensemble.

The Interlochen institution, the largest and oldest music camp in the world, is entering its fortieth season. The camp was founded by the late Dr. Joseph E. Maddy. Over 1500 young musicians from throughout the world are enrolled each summer in either elementary, junior high, senior high or college divisions.

Levenson, a native of Worcester, Massachusetts, has been a member of the WSU faculty since 1948. In addition to his University duties, Levenson serves as principal cellist and associate conductor of the Wichita Symphony Orchestra. He is a former member of the Houston and Cleveland symphony orchestras.

A Sticky Problem

The student parking dilemma deepened this week with the administrative edict making it mandatory that students remove old parking stickers. Failure to do this is punishable by an outrageous $5.00 fine.

Justification for this latest levy, according to Red Parsons, head of campus security, is that the excess stickers cause an obstruction which could lead to a traffic accident.

The stickers, which are to be affixed in the lower left-hand corner of the windshield, measure approximately 2" by 2". Even with two of these stickers on a windshield, it is questionable that they would block a driver's vision. Few drivers drive with their face stuck down in the corner of their windshield.

Parsons went on to say that the extra stickers may cause the student to be issued a ticket by the Highway Patrol for impaired vision. According to a Patrol spokesman, there are no restrictions pertaining to the stickers as long as they are affixed in the corner of the windshield.

University officials provide a number of grants, loans and scholarships to make it possible for students to attend classes with a minimum of financial hardships, they then create intraparking and sticker violations to regain these generosity. We look forward to the time when students may be allowed to receive a loan to pay parking fines.

However, the stickers are easily removed. Any student with a knife, razor blade, a bowl of water, calm nerves and lots of time can easily remove the sticker in a matter of hours. And of course, most students are covered by insurance to take care of the damage done to windshield and fingers. When all else fails, it is reported some ingenious students will probably remove their windshields. This, of course, brings us back to the problem of where to affix the sticker. Tough luck, students.

The Readers Speak

Reader Sees Problem, Gives Logical Solution

Presents A Solution

To the Editor:

It was Monday, about 8:15 a.m. — a typical day. Six or seven cars were circling on the student parking lot, next to the CAC. Soon a campus police car joined them. And all of them were now in a merry-go-round — they, trying to find a parking space, and he, trying to find any hapless car, slipped into some "yellow" but otherwise unobtrusive corner. It was like a dog chasing its own tail. This is hilarious and absolutely asinine.

Some time ago it was suggested that a certain number of faculty parking spaces that are usually vacant be turned over to students. This is not a good working idea. It is not a wise policy for any university to stuff the parking lots like sardines in a can and make its faculty feel the strain that if they come "late" or pull out at certain times they may not find a parking space again.

That is, the faculty lots, if possible, should have a few extras at all or at least most of the time.

However, where men are free, imaginative and resourceful, something is always possible to any problem. Between the water tower and the Yale Road are two parallel streets, running perpendicular to the south side of the Math-Physics-Engineering complex — the Harvard and the Roosevelt. These two streets are not the main arteries of campus traffic (and if they are, they can be made otherwise). Make one of these streets a one-way street in one direction, and the other one way in the opposite direction, and make double parking (that is on both sides of the street) on both these streets all the time or until 2:00 p.m., when the campus parking situation somewhat lessens.

At present these two streets have the exact opposite, "no parking between 9:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m." — this is like some chair-borne general behind his desk, somewhat out of contact with his field forces and the field conditions, and further entangled in his own self-spun labyrinth of red tape, withholds his reserves at the desperate peak of fight, but throws them in when things have calmed down and the enemy is on the rout.

Letters From Campus

by Lester E. Mood

Dear Mom,

It's getting so a good Christian doesn't know where to turn around here. There seems to be three brands of Christianity on campus, each sincerely believing that the others are tools of the devil. There's one group, composed mostly of liberal ministers and their apostles, who want us to love the non-Christians; even if they want to kill us. The second group, composed mostly of engineers and their Freshman apostles, wants us to kill the non-Christians; even if they want to love us. The third group, composed mostly of "Devout Believers" and other illiterate students, wants to believe that ministers, engineers, and non-Christians don't exist. Personally I'm certain that when God gets back from Mexico City, He will get everything straightened out.

Meanwhile, the chapel has been over by the Ba'hais and Unitarians. The Christians, ministers and laymen, are manning their typewriter-guns. Pope Paul and McNamara are being misinterpreted hourly. The D.B.'s are going around with their eyes closed.

I, however, have the only solution short of Divine intervention. We should import a number of these non-Christians and under the proper supervision, let the biology department dissect a couple to determine if they are human. If they are, we should send a few to the psychology department and let them determine if the non-Christians have a soul. If they aren't human or don't have a soul, we could let the proper government Zoological agency worry about them. If they are human and have a soul, we could declare them delinquent and let the Job Corps worry about them. The the Christians could get back to the proper concerns of Christianity, whatever they are.

But I guess we'd probably get into another dispute over that so maybe we'd better just leave well enough alone. In any event I'd better close now, it's getting harder and harder to write with my eyes closed.

Love,
Les

Percussion Ensemble To Present Clinic

The WSU Symphonic Percussion Ensemble has been invited to present a concert-clinic for the Southwest division convention of the National Association of College Wind and Percussion Instructors (NACWPI) in Colorado Springs, Friday.

The 18-member ensemble and director James Sewrey, assistant professor of percussion at WSU, have completed plans to travel to the convention by bus and will leave Wichita Thursday afternoon.

Enroute to its Colorado appearance, the ensemble will present a public concert in Garden City's Hope Auditorium at 8 p.m. Thursday.

NACWPI is being held in conjunction with the divisional meeting of the Music Educators National Conference.

Sewrey joined the Wichita State faculty in 1963. In addition to his duties at the University, he is principle percussionist with the Wichita Symphony Orchestra and is percussion editor of the School Musician magazine.

Among the compositions the ensemble will perform on its western concert tour are "Two Miniatures" by Joshua Missal, associate professor of composition at WSU; and "Contempor Suite" by Warren Brown, a graduate student in music at Wichita State and a member of the performing group.

The ensemble will return to Wichita Saturday, March 11.

Students Reopen Former Mannings With New Style

Gill McNabb and Pete Korwin, University students, are reopening the former Manning's restaurant today. Located at 1745 N. Fairmount, the European styled restaurant has a serving capacity of 50 and caters primarily to students.

Gil and Pete are currently running a naming contest for the Restaurant with a choice of dinner for two as prize for the accepted name.

Tentative hours will be from 7:00 a.m. until 1:00 a.m. daily, and from Friday until Sunday morning. A family-style dinner is planned for Sunday night.

Italian and European food are the specialty and American food is also available. A carry out service is in the planning stage. The restaurant has been completely remodeled to an European style and with the advent of warm weather, a sidewalk enclosure is planned.

Those interested in submitting a name should contact either Gil or Pete at either the Restaurant or MU 39937.

WAC Information May Be Obtained At Morrison Hall

WSU coeds may obtain information on career opportunities in the Women's Army Corps, March 9 in the placement office, Morrison Hall. First Lieutenant Katherine L. Draper, Army representative for Kansas and Missouri will visit the WSU campus to interview interested juniors and seniors.

Lieutenant Draper will interview juniors for the Army's "College Junior Program." This program is designed for students who will complete their junior year this spring. Qualified students will be given an opportunity, during the summer months to get a preview of life as an officer in the Women's Army Corps.

Additionally, interviews will be conducted with college senior women who are interested in a commission as a Second Lieutenant in the corps, following their graduation this spring.

Dr. W.D. Keller To Give Talks To Geology Dept.

Dr. W.D. Keller, lecturer and professor at the University of Missouri, will lecture in the Geology Department today and tomorrow.

Tonight's presentation, entitled "illite and Diagenesis of Clay Minerals," will be at 8 p.m. in room 207 of McKinley Hall.

Tomorrow's lecture, entitled "Weathering, Clay Formation and Food," will be presented at 1:30 p.m. in the same room.

Both lectures are open to the public.

Cadets Plan Military Ball

Nearly 500 couples are expected to attend the 41st military ball April 21, from 9 to 1 at the Cotillion Ballroom.

This formal dance for all Army and Air Force ROTC cadets is sponsored by Scabbard and Blade, an honorary society for advanced ROTC members. There is no cost for the ball since cadets have already paid for it in their fees.

Music for the military ball will be provided by Woody Herman and his award-winning band. Herman has played the clarinet professionally for over 30 years.

Chairman of the military ball is Tom Mayhill, a cadet Lieutenant-Colonel in the Air Force.

YOU KNOW WHERE YOU'RE GOING

(Now we'll tell you how to get there)

Go McDonnell. Because when you join McDonnell, you'll work for a world-renowned name that stands for leadership and excellence in the aerospace industry. You will grow professionally by working in an environment conducive to achievement, alongside scientists and engineers who have outstanding technical reputations. And you'll build your future with a research-oriented company that's receptive to new ideas. You will also earn an excellent salary and enjoy liberal fringe benefits with a company that is known for stability.

At McDonnell you also get the chance to put your personal touch on things while helping the team to make a contribution to aerospace science. In addition to getting management recognition for outstanding accomplishments, you'll have the satisfaction of knowing that you used your head to get ahead.

The McDonnell recruiter will show you how your degree in science or engineering can help you get where you're going. Be sure to chat with him when he's at your campus placement office on March 14 and 15.

FRESHEST TASTE IN TOWN!

BROWDER, cont'd from p. 1 der said of Kerensky, but "considered himself above the party. He thought of himself as an earlier De Gaulle."

Factionalism in what was to have been Russia's first democracy created a gap that the Communist, the Marxist-Leninists could enter, Browder said.

That first revolution was fed by a lack of bread, Browder went on. It was a leaderless, emotional uprising against Czarist authority, "not premeditated action."

The Bolsheviks seized upon the emotion, the interest in slogans, the "sudden and complete freedom," and out of chaos and inability to keep the new democracy with a wide power base came the "Land, Bread and Peace" battle cry to the November Revolution.

The Red rise was bloodless, Browder noted. Western powers, such as France and the United States did not move in to help the fledgling democracy. Action against the leftists was "postponed until it was too late to truly realize its purpose."

The Bolsheviks were actually "one of the smallest minority movements," Browder said. The Russians did not understand the complexities and disciplines of democracy, he suggested, but did understand the non-theoretical approach then used by the Marxists, which promised food and solutions to problems.

The experience proves, Browder concluded, that the byproducts of international conflict are "far more fateful than war."

Productions Set For Presentation To Art Students

As part of the course Man and the Arts a production of August Strindberg's "The Stronger" will be presented March 10 from 11:30-12:20 in the DFAC auditorium. A series of concerts, recitals, films and other performances are being held this semester for students enrolled in the course. While these events are primarily for the students enrolled, any student is invited to attend.

Coming performances include: Friday, March 31--Film, "The Renaissance." Friday, Apr. 6--Scenes from the dramatic version of Melville's "Billy Budd" by Coxe and Chopman. Wednesday, Apr. 12 and Fri., Apr. 14--Carl Orff's "Der Mond." Friday, Apr. 21--Film, "The Titan." Friday, May 5--Experimental theater productions. Friday, May 12--Chamber music concert.

Students not enrolled in the class but wishing to attend any or all of these are requested to sit in the back two rows.

Poetry Selections By English Prof. Included In Book

Several poems written by Bruce R. Cutler, associate professor of English are included in a 300-page volume of poetry entitled, "Heartland: Poets of the Midwest."

The book, published by Northern Illinois University Press, is a collection of works by 29 living writers in the midwest. It is one of few publications that has published samples of poetry written by poets from this area. Contributions by Pulitzer Prize winners, Karl Shapiro and Gwendolyn Brooks are included in the book.

Michael Van Walleghen, English instructor, was notified that his poem, "In the Elephant House," was translated into Rumanian and has appeared in the February issue of the Rumanian publication, "The Writer's Union." Van Walleghen read some of his poetry at the Egghead Week lectures recently.

Those who for any reason are unable to schedule interviews may write to The Director (Code 1818), Naval Research Laboratory, Washington, D. C. 20390.

Lots of people do. Some right on your campus. And for rationale, they point an accusing finger at business and say it lacks "social commitment."

Social commitment? We wish they could visit our Kearny, N. J. plant, where we make cable and apparatus for your Bell telephone company. But we have time for other thoughts, other talents.

Like the situation in nearby Newark.

With civic and business leaders, we began buzzing with ideas. "Let's teach higher skills to some of the un-employed and under-employed. Say, machine shop practice. They could qualify for jobs that are going begging -- and help themselves as well."

We lent our tool-and-die shop, evenings. We found volunteer instructors. A community group screened applicants. Another supplied hand tools. The Boys Club donated classroom facilities. Another company sent more instructors.

Some 70 trainees enrolled. Their incentive? Self-improvement. Results to date? New people at better jobs. Happier.

And this is only one of dozens of social-minded projects at Western Electric plants across the country, where our first job is making communications equipment for the Bell System.

So, you don't give up ideals when you graduate. If anything, at a company like, say, Western Electric, you add to them. And it's not just a theory. It's practice. Satisfying. Come on and find out. And watch a feathered cliché fly out the window.

Nagrin To Dance Monday; Will Give Master Lesson

New York dance soloist Danny Nagrin will perform at 8 p.m. Monday in the DFAC concert hall. He is being sponsored by the physical education department here.

Nagrin will give a master lesson to interested dance students, teachers, gymnasts and drama students at 3:30 p.m. Sunday, in Henrion gymnasium. There will be a $2 charge for the master lesson and $1.50 admission charge to the public performance.

The soloist, who began dancing at 19, has studied dance under Martha Graham and Anna Sokllow, well-known dance instructors. Nagrin is a graduate of the City College of New York. He has appeared as the leading dancer on Broadway in "Annie Get Your Gun," "Touch and Go," "Lend an Ear," and "Plain and Fancy."

His repertoire includes such routines as "Path," a provocative work danced in silence; "Not Me, But Him," with the mask of a Negro and a score by the avant garde jazz pianist, Cecil Taylor; "Spanish Dance," and his well-known "Indeterminate Figure."

Red Cross Bloodmobile Set To Take Donations Here

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be on campus Thursday and Friday this week. Donations can be given at the CAC Ballroom from 8:30 a.m. to 3:15 p.m.

Although appointments may be made in the CAC lobby today and Wednesday, blood may be donated without an appointment. Students under 21, single and non-military must have proof of guardian's consent.

Donors must be 18-59 and weigh at least 110 pounds. They should avoid eating fried foods, cream, butter, gravy, ham, bacon, pastries, nuts and chocolate four hours prior to donation.

No donor may give blood more than five times per year. If someone has a medical history including infectious hepatitis or polycythemia, he may not donate blood.

Organizations must have their donor lists at the Air Force ROTC office in the armory Thursday.

The goal for WSU is only 270 pints, compared to the 700 pints donated at Kansas State last semester.

AIFT Representative To Be Here

Students will have an opportunity to discuss prospects in international business and careers abroad when Berger Erickson arrives on campus March 28. Erickson is Administrative Vice President of the American Institute for Foreign Trade, Phoenix, Ariz.

The AIFT's program is designed for training American college and university graduates for service with industry, government, and service organizations. Graduate studies at the Institute emphasize three main fields-- languages, area studies, and world commerce and banking.

The Institute maintains an active placement bureau for its graduates. Because of increasing demands for young men and women qualified to represent America's expanding interest abroad, during the last three years an average of 84 percent of its students were offered positions before graduation.

Anyone interested is invited to make an appointment through Donald E. Jordan, Director of Placement, Morrison Hall.

KMUW Quips

By Frankie Howard
Continuity Director

From the campus of Wichita State University, KMUW-FM presents "Science and Theology." It features a probe into the ancient question of man and his religion by modern men of science. Landon Gilkey will be on hand for the next three weeks to present this interesting and informative program. For an hour of modern views and ideas concerning the long-debated questions of science and religion, join KMUW-FM with "Science and Theology," each Sunday at 4:30 p.m.

For a heartwarming, musical testimony of faith, join KMUW-FM and "Music to Remember" each Sunday evening at 5:45 p.m.

"Festival of Praise" features sixty minutes of outstanding religious music, performed by great musicians of our time. For an inspirational concert of religious music, join host Benny Clay each Sunday afternoon at 2:25 p.m.

Also, as a note to the churches of Wichita and the surrounding area, Benny Clay will be happy to present a schedule of meetings and activities of these various churches on the program.

Included in KMUW-FM's religious programming is "The Herald of Truth," at 2:05 p.m. every Sunday afternoon. This program features twenty-five minutes of inspirational music and words of faith from the First Church of Christ, Abilene, Texas.

Where does an engineer intern?

Before you decide on the job that's to start you on your professional career, it's good to ask a few point blank questions . . . like:

- Will this job let me rub shoulders with engineers doing things that haven't been done before, in all phases of engineering?
- Will I be working for an engineering oriented management whose only standard is excellence?
- Will I have access to experts in fields other than my own to help me solve problems and stimulate professional growth?
- Will I be working with the widest range of professional competence and technological facilities in the U. S.?
- Are engineering careers with this company stable . . . or do they depend upon proposals and market fluctuations?

Why not ask these questions about Bendix Kansas City when Mr. R. E. Cox visits the

Hurricane Wreaks Havoc In Finale Drop Shockers To Third In Valley

By Steve Gresham

NIT-bound Tulsa University lived up to their plaudits by downing the Shockers 70-57 in the Field House Saturday night.

It was the conference and regular season game for both teams as the Hurricane of Tulsa finished with a 10-4 loop record and a 19-7 showing overall.

The Shockers end with a third-place 9-5 reading in the tough MVC and a mediocre 14-12 record for the year.

For the Shockers the contest was simply one of those where the ball wouldn't go in the hoop as they logged a very cool 36.8 percent from the field compared with 47.5 percent for the Hurricane.

Tulsa wasted no time in displaying their talents, racing to an early 13-4 lead and then extending it to 21-8.

The Shockers employed a full court press in a futile attempt to catch up but could only cut the margin to 31-24 with 3:00

Tulsa, however, made the Shockers rally short lived and pulled to 36-26 halftime bulge.

The second half was more of the same with Tulsa tightening their zone defense and the Shockers continuing to miss shots, some relatively easy ones.

The Field House was in the process of being evacuated with around three minutes remaining and the Hurricanes still holding a comfortable lead.

In home conference games, this marked the Shockers' first loss since February of 1965 when they lost 77-73 to Bradley.

Pacing the Tulsa attack was 6-5 Bobby Smith who pumped in 18 points and garnered 12 rebounds.

All-America candidate El-bridge Webb, a 6-1 guard, as next with 14 points. The Hurricane placed a total of five men in double figures. They also outrebounded the Shockers 35-31 although they did not hold a significant height advantage.

Top scorer for the Shockers was Melvin Reed with 14 points. Reed playing his last gave as a Shocker hit 6 of 12 from the field and grabbed five rebounds.

Jamie Thompson and Lilliard Harris also closed out their WSU cage careers. Thompson had 12 points and Harris had three.

Ron Mendell, the Shockers' 6-1 sophomore guard, played well and finished with 12 points also.

In the preliminary contest, the Shocker frosh edged the WSU Alumni 70-68.

The Baby Shockers trailed 38-32 at the half but roared back to pull out the victory and end the season with a 7-8 record. Leading the frosh was 6-1 guard Steve Steward who finished with 19.

Dave Skinner, 6-10 center, grabbed 15 rebounds for the frosh.

The Alumni recieved a fine performance by one and all, but particularly from 6-8 Elbert Urban who rammed in 22 points and cornered eight wayward shots.

SMITH BLOCKED — Tulsa's Bobby Smith is blocked by Melvin Reed in his attempt for two points. Smith, however, was Tulsa's leading scorer with 18 points.

Thompson Named To North Squad

Jamie Thompson, Shocker senior cager, has been selected to play for the North squad in the annual North-South college all-star basketball game April 18 in Albuquerque, N.M.

Thompson was a standout forward for the WSU basketball team this season compiling an average of 17 points per game.

ALUMNI FUN

Early arrivals to the Field House last Saturday night, got a bit of nostalgia, along with some laughs, added to their basketball, as the Shocker freshmen basketballers vied with an "all-star" Shocker Alumni aggregation, in what has become a traditional season-closing contest for the Baby Shockers.

"OLD MEN" STILL TOUGH

The Alumni squad — affectionately termed "the old men" by the spry Frosh, was composed of such fine former Shockers as Joe Stevens, Herb Coin, Gary Mann, Charley Gill, Gerry Reimond, Dick Casidy, Curt Hightower, and Elbert Urban, among others. The Alums were coached by Linwood Sexton, former Shocker all-sports standout in the 1940's.

Uniformed in the togs of the Ralph Miller era — uniforms which fit a bit tighter around the waist than when the Alums were cavorting in the now demolished Forum and in the Field House — the Alumni appeared determined to give the Frosh their money's worth.

That the Alums did in the first half of play, as Joe Stevens and Gary Mann, from their guard positions, and lanky Elbert Urban, from his center spot, outhustled the Frosh to gain a 38-32 halftime lead.

In the second twenty minutes, the Alums kept pouring in the points, but the superior conditioning of the Baby Shockers, plus several key ball steals near the end of the game, allowed the Frosh Shockers to eek out a 70-68 win.

ALUMS PROVIDE ENTERTAINMENT

The score, however, was incidental, as the Alumni gave the fans several light moments, in an otherwise dull evening of Shocker basketball.

There was Herb Coin's lob pass which went through the basket, but didn't count because Elbert Urban had pitched a tent in the free throw lane.

There was tiny Charley Gill, running like a tiny bug pestering the Frosh guards, and then clumsily colliding with another Alum, as both chased a loose ball.

There was lanky Elbert Urban, tip-toeing downcourt, trying to catch the Frosh defenders asleep. And then, with a Frosh defender guarding him closely, walking to the other side of the floor in an effort to evade the defender.

And there was also the fans typical reaction to a Shocker opponent razzing the guys in the black, cheering lustily for the Frosh.

All in all, though the Frosh won the ball game, the entertainment was provided and the fun enjoyed most by the "old men" and the fans.

Grappling Tourney Set To Start Soon

Prospective wrestlers will get a chance to learn and improve their grappling skills, when the Intramural Wrestling Tournament gets underway in the near future.

Interested athletes should secure entry blanks in room 100 Henrion Gymnasium, as soon as possible. An entry fee of 25¢ is being charged.

Wrestling will take place in eight weight classes, with matches scheduled each afternoon, Monday through Thursday.
