Houses razed; shopping complex planned near WSU

by Pat Jennings

While construction is booming at WSU, a "destruction" project is taking place just to the south of the campus.

The destruction could soon turn into construction as indications are that a shopping center is planned for the area. Hopefully, the erection of the center will not cause as many inconveniences to students as recent campus construction.

Two houses owned by WSU Assistant Professor of Education Louis Goldman at 17th and Vassar St., were razed Wednesday and Thursday.

Six months ago the Wichita City Commission told Goldman that the two houses had been condemned.

Goldman was informed that if he did not remove or repair said houses, the city would put the job up for bid with local contractors. The bill for removal of the houses would then be attached to the property as a special tax or lien.

Goldman's attorney attained a six-month delay on action from the city.

When Goldman's case again appeared before the commission last Tuesday, he was told that the property must either be repaired or removed within 10 days or the city would take action.

According to Joe Donnelly, supervisor for the Central Inspection Division of the Public Works Commission, his department will place two or three more houses at that location on the commission's agenda within a few weeks.

"Our big mistake was waiting continued on page 8

First woman appointment made by SGA to WSU athletic board

Student Senate Tuesday night made the first appointment of a woman ever to WSU's Athletic Association Board of Directors.

Sandra Arensdorf, ED soph, will replace Steve Shogren, who resigned. Arensdorf, a senator, will be one of the three student members on the board, which acts as a confirming body for policy in the athletic department.

In other action by SGA: *SGA President Mike Meacham said that Athletic Director Ted Bredehoft reported to him that the athletic department would not ask for more money from the Campus Privilege Fee. The department will receive $80,000 from CPF next year.

*Allocated $192 to the student chapter of Women in Communications for an honorarium at the First Annual Journalism Banquet, March 17.

*A resolution was defeated that asked SGA to urge the Kansas Board of Regents to put the requirement of a Physical examination on an optional basis. The physical is an entrance requirement to state colleges.

New Parnassus is far cry from old

How do students and faculty at WSU respond to the new format of the Parnassus?

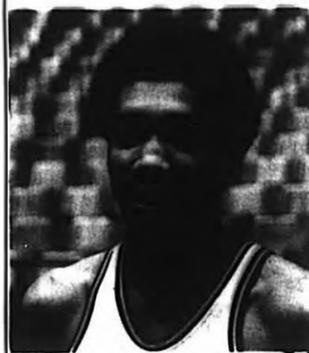

"I think it's mighty interesting," said Dr. Loyal Gould, chairman of the WSU Journalism Department. "I think it is going to receive a lot of favorable attention from national groups involved in yearbook production."

"I am particularly impressed by the innovative photography, graphic arts and writing," Gould said.

Mike Meacham, SGA President, said, "I like the format, but I expect the next one to be better." Meacham said he had received complaints in the SGA office about the Parnassus, including one woman who called and wanted her money back.

"I have always been a traditionalist when it comes to year-

Primary to narrow city commission field

On March 6, voters in Wichita's primary election will narrow the field of 13 city commission candidates to four. The general election, April 3, will fill 2 open positions.

The Sunflower recently contacted by mail the commission hopefuls to ask them the following question, "Why should you be on the city commission?" Here are their answers:

PAUL DAVIS- There is a need for the voice of all the people; minorities, women, students, and working people, to be heard. We must reassign our priorities in dealing with social problems. We must quit asking, "Who is cheating, who is getting money they don't deserve," and start asking, "How can we best utilize the resources available to aid the elderly, the poor, the educationally disadvantaged? These two goals would guide my efforts.

MAJORIE GREENE- Social needs are being emphasized. Wichita must have progressive social programs producing good results and benefiting the people.

Women have been recognized in federal and state governments, also business and industry, and some have become the heads of households, so women should be given a chance to contribute to decision making in local government.

I would stand for new representation for all citizens and work for continuing improvement of the quality of life in Wichita.

RONALD MIRES- As a young person, I believe young people should be represented in government. I am tired of getting ripped off simply because I have no voice in government. I am tired of protesting in the street and I feel we can do a better job in the government rather than in the street.

I will work hard to represent all of the people of Wichita: young and old, rich and poor.

LARRY HAYDEN- I have nothing to sell the city. I'm not a business man. A postal clerk.

W.S.U. should have a six story medical building on the East campus. The rest of the medical facilities already exist in the city. Cost to the state, $8.5 million. Put a nuclear reactor in the basement and you have heat, hot water and lights for the entire campus.

If there is one truism, it is that the people of the north end have been seduced without even being kissed.

WALT KEELER- Wichita's commission must assist industry and commerce toward creating new jobs. Problems of air and water pollution, plus the needs of our underprivileged, will require revenue sharing funds to lower property taxes. My business experience with public relations, taxation, labor relations and former service as a city commissioner will benefit our citizens in all walks of life. I have the time, the energy, and the desire to serve my community during these next four years.

JOHN S. STEVENS- Construction of a City Administrative Building. Securing for Wichita the U.S. Conference of Mayors. Completion of city's plans for American Bicentennial. Using 25 percent of revenue sharing funds to reduce ad valorem taxes. Cooperation with business to stimulate the economy. Private capital for reopening the Broadview and Allis hotels. Give balance, experience and conservative business approach. Cooperate with state and national agencies for social services. Legislative measures that benefit our city and property owners. Prevent water fluoridation without consent. Safeguard property owners against undesirable commercial development.

CLELL BARTON- No secret meeting. Open agenda. Honor public petitions. Make government more responsive. Voter approval on all major projects. Strengthen city Information Office and combine with ombudsman. Eliminate duplication of city programs and nullify outdated and unenforceable ordinances. Back public safety programs. Support C. of C. to build with accent on human values. Resolve problems with local talent. Non-partisan policies throughout city government. Eliminate double standard ordinances. Salary revision for city employees to match jobs in industry. A city auditor, to publish financial report annually. Endorse tax lid concept.

JACK ROBINSON- I'm experienced since I have been in the Senate 4 years and on the Senate Local Affairs Committee which handled all of Wichita's bills.

I can do some things to help the image of Wichita which is fairly tarnished because of Vern Miller's raids.

We have some difficult times ahead with revenue sharing since it means a reduction of about 25 percent in federal money.

CONNIE AMES PETERS- As a life-long resident of Wichita, wife of a small businessman, mother of three, student (Social Work major) at W.S.U., I feel I offer the only real choice in this election. My concern is in people. I feel I could help bring about the changes, as part of the powerstructure, that would benefit the people of Wichita. I pledge myself to work for the people, not on them.

DEAN CLAY- Dean Clay as City Commissioner will do all that he can to fight drug abuse, pornography, crime, excessive city spending and protect the proper use of Revenue Sharing funds for social action.

His own life will be an example for the youth of our community to look up to and will be consistent with the Judeo-Christian principles that they are taught.

Clay is a native Kansan and graduated from Wichita East High School and Brigham Young University.

EARL (VAN) LONG- I was born and raised here and have had 30 years experience dealing with the City Commission. Taxes are destroying industry and population. The commission has kept the line for 8 years but other agencies have not and the price of gold is going up.

People are spending too much and do not work enough.

One-half of revenue sharing money should be used to lower property taxes and to help industry.

We are stuck with only aircraft factories; they are good right now but may not be in the future.

Two other candidates, Stanlee Hendrix and John L. Stephens, did not answer the questionnaire and were not available for comment.

A SOLUTION TO RECORD POLLUTION

Just like everything and everyone, your records can suffer from pollution, too. All sorts of funny little things (molecules, amoebas, dust, hair, exhaust particles, smoke, lint, footprints) can build up in the grooves of your record. And, when that happens, sound quality, as well as your valued records, begins to disintegrate. The answer? It's simple: the DISC-WASHER KIT from your local TEAM Electronics Center. The DISCWASHER is a complete record cleaning system that removes fluid, solubilized matter and "foreign particles" (like Russian Dust, Chinese Lint, French Amoebas, etc.) from your discs. And it's a lot safer than a cafeteria dishwasher. Ask your TEAM Electronics dealer for a demonstration. And do your part in putting an end to record pollution.

BOE candidates speak

Twenty candidates will be on the ballot in the March 6 school board primary. They will be vying for eight positions for the April 3 city election.

JOHN FRYE: "I possess the qualifications necessary to be a member of the Board of Education. I have served for the past three and one-half years as a member of the board.

"I believe this experience will be of benefit to the school system during another term. I am dedicated to quality education for all children."
LINDA WEIR: "A school board member must be able to determine how effective proposed and existing programs are, and be willing to see beyond the ordinary to find ways to more creatively utilize existing resources.

"As an educator, I understand available programs and the problems encountered by teachers, students and administrators.

"As founder and director of Rainbows United Training Center, I have demonstrated ability to see beyond the ordinary and build a creative program through wise use of existing resources."

JEANETTE HOLMES: "After four years as a member of the BOE (Board of Education), I continue to feel that education is one of the most important aspects of our society. I have learned a great deal about the operation of our educational system during these years and feel that my experience will be a valuable asset if I am re-elected, especially since the board is being reduced in size."

DAN GLICKMAN: "I am seeking a position on the BOE because I believe I have the competence, ability and dedication to serve our community during this period of constant change. I have no 'axe to grind,' nor am I committed to any inflexible and unrealistic viewpoints which could work a disservice to our community.

"As a young attorney, I believe that the board needs 'young blood'—people with a vision of the future, yet mature and responsible—to be aware and responsive to the difficult problems facing us and to assure the excellence of our children's education."

DON L. MILLER: "Having been elected to serve consecutive terms as president of the BOE, I am acutely aware of the problems that exist in public education; and I believe I have helped to provide direction toward the solution of many of these problems.

"During my tenure as president, there have been no teacher strikes, no school closings because of mismanaged funds, and no court orders to desegregate.

"Accountability can be measured by relating that our senior students who participated in college entrance examinations scored at the 74th percentile compared to a national average of the 50th percentile."

CHARLENE TOWNES: "Being the mother of four children, I have a vital interest in the future of the Wichita public schools.

"Attending BOE meetings regularly has kept me abreast of the policies of the present board.

"Serving as a discussion leader at the Educational Conference gave me an opportunity to hear the concerns of the patrons of U.S.D. 259.

"As a BOE member, I pledge to represent the people in all my decisions."

RUBY TATE: "The Wichita BOE is being reduced to seven members, making experience an important factor in understanding the issues and finding solutions. I believe education is an important ingredient in our society. I have had the opportunity to serve on the board during a difficult period and would like to be a part in turning the board's attention to some constructive areas in curriculum.

"I have the time and interest to devote to the board."

ALFRED A. FARHA: "I believe in neighborhood schools, elimination of forced bussing by taking the 'forced' out of bussing.

"Reducing the number of students per classroom. Law and order in the schools. Working toward a drastic reduction of the too high administration expense.

"Improvement of neighborhood schools before buying or building any administrative center. The need to build schools where needed, and when needed."

PHIL LAMBKE: "Being sincere in my belief that our present BOE improperly represents the voters and is committed to policies detrimental to the educational value of our school system, I should be considered for election on the basis of my commitment to honest representation of the voters."

GEORGE HART: "I am opposed to purchasing the 4th National Bank Building for a school administration building. After surveys were made by an outside organization, they found many faults in all of the high schools.

"The incumbents that are running for re-election have been there four years, and yet they have not corrected problems of the students, teachers, and transportation of students. I say the way to correct the school situation is to vote out all the incumbents and vote in a new group that will have spunk to clear up the school problems."

DON WEINBERG: "Change of the elementary school system to teaching of the 3 R's from kindergarten on, one hour classes (honest ones, not just on paper), upping of standards to have students reach for—not the present minor step approach, teaching of the goal with the main purpose—not the steps.

"Honest grading based on quantity and quality of work accomplished, set honest levels for all the students to work toward. Re-introduce the challenge of doing work."

DONALD E. JACKSON: "I think people are fed up with public schools as they now stand and that my program is THE answer.

"I have a positive and solution-oriented platform that includes specific ways to overcome what is wrong with education today.

"I have experience with school analyzing as I served on the LEAP Committee for the 24 months of its existence. I have children in each level of the public schools that would be affected by my decisions."

Other candidates didn't reply.

Pulitzer Prize winner guest artist

Pulitzer Prize winner Karel Husa will be at WSU next week as guest conductor for a four-day schedule of concerts, open rehearsals, and lectures.

The contemporary composer, conductor and lecturer who won the 1969 Pulitzer Prize on Composition is being brought to WSU by Kappa Kappa Psi and Tau Beta Sigma, national band organizations, and by the Band Organizations of WSU.

Major events of the March 5-8 schedule include two concerts which Husa will conduct. The first will be on Tuesday, March 6, and will feature WSU faculty and student ensembles.

The second concert will present the WSU Symphony Band and Orchestra on Thursday, March 8. Two works by Husa will be featured at this concert, "Two Sonnets from Michelangelo" and "Apotheosis of This Earth." Both programs will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will be presented in Miller Concert Hall.

Born in Prague, Czechoslovakia, Husa spent his early years studying at the Prague Conservatory. Later he studied at the Paris Conservatory and Ecole normale. He is now Professor of Composition and Director of the Cornell University Orchestras at Cornell University, a position he has held since 1954.

As a composer Husa has had his works performed at many noted European Festivals as well as in the United States, Australia, and South America. His many honors include the Czech Academy and Lili Boulanger Prizes, a UNESCO commission, the Guggenheim Fellowship for composition, and being a member of the jury of the Paris and Fountainebleau Conservatories.

Husa's work which won the Pulitzer Prize, "Third String Quartet," premiered in October 1968, and has since been performed in many American and European cities as well as on national television.

His works have been premiered by several well known orchestras around the world, and presently he is completing a new work for violin and piano.

Also well known as a conductor, Husa has guest conducted many European orchestras and has made numerous recordings of classical and modern music. All over the United States he has conducted university orchestras, choruses and bands, and has lectured on his music.

books," said Rex Riley, WSU alumnus. "I liked the change in this one but I don't particularly think five pages of Miss Kansas is relevant, though I suppose someone might think so."

"I think this edition has at least received some comment, whether pro or con, and this will give future editors an idea of what the campus wants," Riley said.

Bill Tarrant, Theory of Mass Communications instructor, said he appreciates the whole concept of the new Parnassus. "To fault the effort I'd say no to the cover. To compliment the effort I'd say yes to the internal photography and layout."

Steve Harper, photo-journalism instructor, said, "The graphics were nice."

Harper said he didn't think the format had been changed. "It is still not representative of the students. After all, who cares about Cindy Lee Sikes?"

Carl Mar, art editor of the new Parnassus, said the magazine was an innovating experiment, and the end product turned out as expected.

"With the cutbacks in funds we were still able to produce enough copies of the Parnassus for all students instead of only about 5,000 copies," Mar said, "I think it could have been better edited though."

Suzi Saye, editor of the Parnassus, said the staff is very pleased with the effort. "And I am very pleased with it, too," Saye added.

An important announcement to every student in the health professions:

NEW SCHOLARSHIPS ARE AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY.
THEY COVER TUITION AND RELATED COSTS AND PROVIDE AN ANNUAL INCOME OF $5,300 AS WELL.

If a steady salary of $400 a month and paid-up tuition will help you continue your professional training, the scholarships just made possible by the Uniformed Services Health Professions Revitalization Act of 1972 deserve your close attention. Because if you are now in a medical, osteopathic, dental, veterinary, podiatry, or optometry school, or are working toward a PhD in Clinical Psychology, you may qualify.

We make it easy for you to complete your studies. You're commissioned as an officer as soon as you enter the program, but remain in student status until graduation. And, during each year you will be on active duty (with extra pay) for 45 days. Naturally, if your academic schedule requires that you remain on campus, you stay on campus—and still receive your active duty pay.

Active duty requirements are fair. Basically, you serve one year as a commissioned officer for each year you've participated in the program, with a two year minimum. You may apply for a scholarship with either the Army, Navy or Air Force, and know that upon entering active duty you'll have rank and duties in keeping with your professional training.

The life's work you've chosen for yourself requires long, hard, expensive training. Now we are in a position to give you some help. Mail in the coupon at your earliest convenience for more detailed information.

- Disseminate specific information on a continuous basis so people will know the conditions in the schools and will be able to make decisions based on knowledge.
- Make policies and influence teacher's attitudes to help re-establish the parent as the sole responsible party for their child's education.
- Find ways to answer the parent who says, "my child's teacher is no good" or "our school is no good."
- Explore ways to give teachers the various supports they need to maintain teaching proficiency.
- Explore ways to measure effectiveness of educational methods and conditions.
- Work to provide parents with a statement of specific grade level of attainment of the basic skills in elementary school on a regular basis.
- Discuss openly about the present and future building needs of USD 259.

Shocks invade Tulsa

The elusive factor of momentum should be in the Shocker basketball team's favor when they invade Tulsa Saturday at 8 p.m.

The Shockers won their third game in a row last Tuesday, the sixth of their last seven, when they romped 108-76 over Ball State in Levitt Arena. The 32 point margin was the largest victory for the Shockers this year and upped their season record to 10-14. Their conference record is 6-6.

Coach Harry Miller's squad will try to avenge a January 96-91 loss to Tulsa. The tall Hurricanes dominated the boards in that contest and Willie Biles, one of the top scorers in the country, hit for 26 points.

After the Tulsa contest, the Shockers will close out the season at home against New Mexico State next Friday. Tulsa's record stood at 17-7 before their contest with Louisville last night.

Senior Vince Smith continued his recent hot shooting in the Ball State game and collected 30 points and ten rebounds, both game highs. After a disappointing start this season, Smith during the month of February hit 67.7 percent of his field goal attempts and 78.7 percent of free throw tries. His scoring average has jumped to 14.8 points per game.

Ball State stayed with the Shockers the first seven minutes of the contest and were tied 12-12 before Smith and gang started their relentless assault. They opened up a 51-31 lead by halftime.

Bob Wilson, who played an outstanding defensive game holding Ball State's leading scorer, Larry Bullington, to ten points, followed in Shocker scoring with 17. Ben Garner added 14, Rich Morsden 12, and Calvin Bruton ten.

The Shocks, who shot 55.1 percent to Ball State's 37.7 percent, also dominated board play, grabbing 51 rebounds to the Cardinal's 46.

The undefeated Junior Varsity will attempt to repeat an earlier season win over Tulsa in a preliminary game Saturday. Their latest win was a 92-53 route of Allen County Junior College in the preliminary game to the Ball State contest.

WSU hosts relays, student help needed

The annual WSU Relays will be held on April 5, 6 and 7. This event is the largest track meet held in the state.

Teams from Colorado State University, the Air Force Academy, West Texas State, Arkansas University, Kansas University, Missouri University plus Kansas junior colleges and high school teams will participate.

Last year 2250 athletes took part in the competition. It was the largest high school track meet in the state with five divisions. There were two divisions for women and 14 junior colleges competed, with seven universities and a master's division.

In order for the events to run smoothly a WSU Relays Committee was organized. Coach Herm Wilson said the committee is needed to help out with the clerical work and other jobs which must be filled in order to facilitate a smooth running operation. Wilson said a group of 12 people is needed from various facets of campus life to help out. Anyone with any knowledge of track or a desire to learn about track is welcome, he said.

Dave Ringer, a member of last year's committee, is the chairman of the group for this year's relays.

The first meeting is to be held Wednesday, March 7, in the track office in Henry Levitt Arena at 7 p.m. If interested in helping out contact Wilson at ext. 3267.

Auditions announced for UT production

Audition schedules have been announced by Dr. Richard Welsbacher and graduate student Gail Randall for University Theatre's final production for the spring semester, Kurt Weill's satiric musical "The Three Penny Opera," and Experimental Theatre's production of Charles Dyer's "Staircase." "Three Penny..." auditions will be held in Wilner Auditorium Monday, March 5 and Wednesday, March 7 from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Federal exam slated March 3

The Federal Service Entrance Examination, required for employment in federal agencies, will be conducted by the U.S. Civil Service Commission on March 3, 1973. The two hour exam will be held at 8 a.m. in 207, Math-Physics.

so long to begin action on the property," said Donnelly.

Early this week, according to Donnelly, Goldman engaged the contracting firm of Jess Cornejo.

Donnelly said Goldman intends to build a shopping center at the 17th and Vassar location. Goldman was not available for comment.

and Tuesday, March 6, from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Locale for "Staircase" auditions will be the Pit Theatre, Wilner, from 3:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday and Wednesday and 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Weill's "Three Penny Opera" has as its core a cast of 15, 8 males and 7 females. "This is the type of musical," said Welsbacher, "that does not require the highly trained voice. 'Selling' of the music is the most important."

The most well-known song from the score is "Mack the Knife," made popular several years ago by newcomer Bobby Darin. "It would help tremendously if students came with music already prepared; however, we will have music available and will provide an accompanist," Welsbacher said.

The entire cast of "Staircase" consists of two males, Charles Dyer (the playwright used his own name for one of his characters, strangely enough) and Harry Leeds, two aging homosexual lovers who run a barber-shop called Chez Harry. "Staircase" might be called a companion piece to Experimental Theatre's recent production of "The Killing of Sister George," which concerned a lesbianistic love triangle.

The movie version of "Staircase" cast none less than Rex Harrison and Richard Burton in the leads. Comedian Bob Hope quipped about Burton who had been nominated best actor for his portrayal of Henry VIII in "Anne of the Thousand Days" the same year "Staircase" was released: "It's the first time a man's played a king and a queen in the same year."

Since rehearsals and performances will not be conflicting, stated Randall, students may audition and conceivably be cast in both productions.
