We and the World

Economic Parley
Principal world powers have accepted the invitation of President Roosevelt to attend an economic parley of 60 nations to be held soon. The purpose of the meet is to decide international policies, and further the cause of better cooperation between nations.

President Roosevelt has made his initiative felt in this country, and now comes the chance for him to apply some of his ability and energy to world problems which apparently could use his attention.

Jonas Sorenson
Sorenson's Agribusiness move upon Washington. Again their demands will be made for immediate payment of the bonus. Again people of the country will hold their breath while the camp is maintained for fear of revolt against order.

People of this country are free to do as they wish, and it is upon this right that Legionnaires are making their camp in Washington. Their march is a futile and ill-advised attempt to bring about government to get favors from it.

Partnership
According to plans of President Roosevelt for industrial recovery, there is to be a huge partnership formed between the federal government and industry, labor, and the public. This relationship will be constructed by industrial control boards which will be formed to aid in bringing back prosperity.

Will Art Suffer?
With the Nippon armies advancing toward Peiping the Chinese people fear for the art treasures in the historic capital of China. Airplanes have led the advances of the Japanese troops, but thus far they have dropped nothing more dangerous than leaflets upon the city. The leaflets advised the Chinese armies to lay down their arms.

Defendant Wins in Trial for Recovery of Heirloom

After heated deliberation lasting 25 minutes and an admission of two veniremen that they were bribed, the jury returned a verdict for the defendant in the case of Lawrence Flannery, plaintiff, versus Miss Mary Ardene Threlfall to recover a ring valued at $400 and alleged to have been an heirloom in the Flannery family for two centuries. This mock trial was held yesterday in Mr. Lewis' speech class. Miss Threlfall claimed that she should be reimbursed for the time given in keeping company with Mr. Flannery of approximately $400 a year.

When it was discovered that the end of 25 minutes, the jury asserted that Flannery, though he is 20 years old, was experienced in affairs of the heart and had allowed himself to become infatuated with Miss Threlfall to such an extent that he was blind to her real purpose in pursuing an engagement with him.

Miss Natalie Ring, attorney for the plaintiff, in her plea to the jury, asserted that Flannery, though he is 20 years old, was experienced in affairs of the heart and had allowed himself to become infatuated with Miss Threlfall to such an extent that he was blind to her real purpose in pursuing an engagement with him.

"Miss Threlfall never intended to marry my client," shouted Miss Threlfall to the court. "At this time she has seven rings all belonging to boys on this campus!" she charged.

In her testimony Miss Threlfall had denied that she had had any ulterior motive in her affair with Mr. Flannery. She reiterated that she was not after the ring, did not know about it, and that it was given and accepted in the true spirit. She should be compelled to give up the ring her reputation would be kept back tears. "It will appear that I am trying to keep something I shouldn't," she asserted.

The testimony of James Riddell, only witness for the plaintiff, was shot to pieces when Miss Clintine McCormack denied making any incriminating statements concerning the defendant. She declared that she was standing by her friend, Miss Threlfall.

Some time ago Mr. Flannery, as a suitor, gave the ancient ring to Miss Threlfall telling her to keep it all ways and to wait a little longer for an engagement ring. On his return from Denver three months later, he did give her an engagement band costing $200. There was a stipulation which had always gone with the heirloom ring that it should always remain in the Flannery family and relatives of Lawrence Flannery objected to the gift to his sweetheart because she was not yet in the family. When she was asked to return the ring, rebelled and returned only the $200 engagement ring, keeping the heirloom.

The jurymen on the case were Miss Mary Lois Ryderson, foreman, Dean Banta, Richard Jones, Will G. Price, Marc Sandusky and Frances Householder. Mr. Householder was the leader of the contingent first returning for the contest.

TO RECOMMEND DRASTIC CHANGE IN QUIZ SYSTEM

Committee at University of Kansas Submits Plan to Student Senate TO ACT IMMEDIATELY

Believing that the present method of giving final examinations is undesirable and that it encourages dishonesty the Men's Student Council and the Women's Self-Governing Association of the University of Kansas has passed a resolution recommending that certain changes be introduced into the system which will tend to give every student an equal chance in final examinations.

The resolution was referred to the University Senate and if it is approved there before June 1, it will be put into effect for the coming final examinations.

The present recommendation which, according to those who framed it, is a temporary one, will be effect until a definite program can be worked out. The recommendation made because the students believe that under the present system all students do not have a fair chance, that students are not inherently dishonest, and that the existing examination system because of its rigidity and uniformity is too great a temptation for great numbers of students who are otherwise honest.

Since last September an investigation of various phases of student life has been conducted by a student-faculty committee. The purpose of the committee was to look for the fundamental defects in the system which naturally exercise their own initiative in academic work. Topics under investigation are the grading system of the University of Kansas, the University curriculum, extra curricular activities, the advisory system, and secondary educational methods and their relation to the University of Kansas.

The purpose of the entire investigation was to bring about improvements in the educational system of the University of Kansas so that education will become a living thing to every student, with honor systems, cheating, and codes unnecessary.

STAPLES SPEAKS AT INTERMEDIATE

Interest Shown in Display of Oil and Water Paints by Professor

Before an appreciative audience of the students of Allison intermediate school last Friday afternoon Clayton Henri Staples, head of the university art department, exhibited 50 slides which presented a panorama of art through 2,000 years.

"The interest shown by the students conclusively demonstrates that art should not be dropped from public school curricula," said Mr. Staples. Since the recent economic pressure on school budgets the college placement bureau does not receive many calls for art teachers inasmuch as a large number of schools are eliminating the art departments.

In commenting upon this tendency Mr. Staples said, "Removal of fine arts, both painting and music, from the schools is the wrong thing. We will be going backward instead of forward."

A display of 25 oil and watercolor paintings by Mr. Staples has been hanging in the main hall of Allison school during the past week.

HARVARD PROFESSOR WILL SPEAK FRIDAY

Pan-Hellenic Discusses Change in Rushing Rules

Greek organizations are again considering deferred pledging. The Men's Pan-Hellenic group has discussed the problem pro and con with little results other than to discover that the fraternities upon the campus disagree. Sides have been taken, but as yet there has been no decision.

Opinion has been expressed in regard to deferred pledging, some in favor of it and some opposed.

George Squibb, president of the Student Council, says, "The idea of deferred pledging is all right—it would, in theory at least, give the rusher a chance to look over all of the fraternities and make his choice according to his character—but I don't think the idea can be worked out satisfactorily in this University."

Jack Rathbone, Phi Upsilon Sigma, states his beliefs about the idea, "I am decidedly against deferred pledging. It would create a rush semester instead of a rush week, and every one knows what that would mean."

Charles Ellis, Alpha Gamma Gamma, speaks in favor of the plan and says, "I am not in favor of it. Deferred rushing probably would complicate fraternity rush activities to the extent that neither actives or rushees would be able to get anything done during the first few weeks except 'rush' each other. The argument is often advanced that both groups would be more certain about their choice if deferred pledging were inaugurated here, but most new fellows make up their minds at once and are not mistaken in their selection."

Tom Croft, Webster, and president-elect of the Council, is in favor of the plan. He stated, "I am heartily in favor of deferred rushing and pledging for at least one semester. It would give the man a chance to see what every fraternity has to offer and place each man in his proper group."

Gene Lloyd, Pi Alpha Pi, agrees with Mr. Croft, but believes that the deferred plan has one serious fault. "It will be difficult for the fraternities to support a house without pledges the first semester since the greater portion of the expenses is defrayed by men living at the house."

OLD GRADS TO HONOR NEW AT JUNE BANQUET

Graduating Seniors Will Be Guests of the Alumni at Varsity Afterward

HONOR MISS SPRAGUE

Honoring the senior class members, the alumni association of the University of Wichita will preside at a banquet June 6 at 6:30 p. m. in the University Cafeteria.

Following the dinner the graduating class will be guests at the varsity in Henrich Gymnasium. The program during the dinner, will feature Miss Elizabeth Sprague, associate professor of art, who is retiring this year. One portion of the program will consist of a talk on the work of Miss Sprague by a member of the alumni.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the dinner consists of members of the executive committee of the organization. They are Carnot Brennan, president; M. W. Hall, treasurer; Cale Blakely, C. U. Price, Bentley Barnabas, Nannie Lee Davis, Marjorie McMahon and Joseph I. Griffith, executive secretary.

Last year more than 250 seniors and members attended the dinner which was held in Innes Tea Room during Commencement week. Tickets for the banquet will be on sale after Monday in the office of Joseph I. Griffith in the Administration Building. The price of the ticket, which will be $1, includes the dinner, dance, and payment of a year's dues into the organization.

STUDENTS DIRECT ADVERTISING TEST

Over 80 per Cent of Wichita Housewives Read Advertisements

Over 80 per cent of the housewives of Wichita read the newspaper advertisements before going shopping, according to the results of a survey just completed by five members of the advertising class under the direction of Professor Leo W. Allman.

The survey including more than 1,000 housewives was made by Misses: Ruth Lampi, Margaret Jennings, Esther Myers, Dorothea Kyle and Eleanor Essex. Compliments were made by Miss Mary Bowen.

Objectives in the survey were: first, to find to what extent newspaper advertising is read; second, to what extent it is believed; third, whether readers of advertisements prefer to have prices quoted; and fourth, the reasons back of their reactions.

It was found that 56 per cent of those questioned believe newspaper advertising to be truthful. Approximately 29 per cent of them thought it was exaggerated. A total of 44 persons said they thought the advertising misleading, and five persons declared it was actually deceiving.

The survey was carried out in poor, average, and wealthy districts in the city, but little variation in the results was seen in these separate districts.

COLUMBIA CHANGES JOURNALISM COURSE

By College News Service. SEATTLE, May 17.—Drastic changes in the curriculum of the journalism department at the University of Washington this week were announced by Professor Vernon McKenzie, head of the department.

Under the new plan, similar to that used in the teaching of journalism at Columbia University, fundamental courses in newspaper craftsmanship will be coordinated into one year's training, and journalism majors will be required to register for the same class schedule throughout their junior year. They will be permitted to enroll for only three prescribed courses outside of the journalism department.

The senior year will be reserved for electives.

BUSINESS CLUB MEETS

The business club will hold its final meeting of the year this evening at 8:45 in the "Buckley." A good meal will be served for 35c. All members and others interested are invited to attend.

HONOR UNIVERSITY GIRL IN NEW YORK

Miss Ruth Mary Francis, who attended the University of Wichita for three years, has recently been honored at the University of New York where she will graduate this spring.

Miss Francis, with seven other members of the senior class, has been elected to Alpha Kappa Alpha national honorary society. This society is composed of students who have distinguished themselves scholastically both in sociology and general school work. Members of the society at New York University include many of the faculty members.

Four hundred and 85 out of 664 Vassar girls, or 73 per cent, regularly read the New York Times according to the results of a recent questionnaire on the reading of New York morning newspapers. Only 49 out of the 664 do not read the morning newspapers at all.

The federal office of education has discovered that of all the states, the 15 with the largest number of college students per 1,000 inhabitants is located west of the Mississippi river, with one exception, the state of New York.

STAPLES SPEAKS AT METHODIST CHURCH

Clayton Henri Staples, head of the art department, gave a lecture in place of the usual evening sermon Sunday, May 14, at St. Paul's Methodist Church. The subject of his talk was "Religious Influence on Art," in which he included the tombs of the Egyptian Pharaohs, the Greek temples, Roman buildings, Gothic cathedrals, and many some of the best known works of art placed in the cathedrals during the Renaissance.

MAKE PLANS TO GRADUATE LARGE CLASS

Name Committee to Select Annual Memorial to University

ROSENLOF IS SPEAKER

Baccalaureate Service Is to Be Held Sunday, April Fourth

Preparations are nearly completed to graduate 218 seniors, 69 of them at summer school, at the seventh annual commencement since the school became the Municipal University of Wichita. Caps and gowns and announcements have been ordered and fees have been paid but the class memorial remains to be selected, announced Oliver Witterman, class president.

The commencement address will be given by Dr. H. W. Rosenlof of the University of Nebraska in Henrich gymnasium the morning of June 6. The baccalaureate service is to be Sunday, June 4, at 8 p. m. A new idea has been presented for the senior memorial, that of a faculty hall of memory, which would contain framed photographs of those of the teaching staff who are leaving the university. A picture of the campus taken from the air before old Fairmount hall burned would be included. "This is the first class to complete a four-year course at the University since the hall burned down," said Merrill Bosworth, head of the memorial committee.

The original plans, which called for a gateway to be started at the Hillside entrance to the campus, would make it necessary for other classes to complete the memorial. "We would like for the memorial which we leave to be complete, so the question of the gateway has practically been dropped," said Mr. Bosworth.

The memorial committee has been enlarged to include the following people: Merrill Bosworth, chairman; Duane Wallace, Miss Helen Fairchild, Miss Maxine Allen, Vance Gilmore, Miss Anne Caniparoli, Miss Doris Bainbridge, and Clayton Walton. Mr. Walton, president of the junior class, was added because of the possibility of leaving something for a later class to finish.

The graduation fee, which in the past has been $10, was reduced this year to $5. A committee headed by Miss Ruth Burney presented the petition asking for the reduction.

Of the 218 to receive degrees this year, 88 are in the College of Liberal Arts, 47 in the College of Business Administration, 76 in the College of Education, 7 in the College of Fine Arts, and 32 in the graduate school, according to tabulation in the office of the registrar.

OFFICIALS REJECT NEWSPAPER SHOW

Century of Progress Says Space Available Only for Paid Exhibits

Hopes that the nucleus material of the World-wide Newspaper Show, now being conducted by the University, might be displayed at the World Fair this summer were blasted by a letter received from N. H. DeFoe, department of exhibits, this week.

A portion of the letter follows: "While we greatly appreciate your kind offer to have us exhibit your 80 foreign newspapers, which are now on exhibition at the University of Wichita, we unfortunately do not have space in our buildings which we can allocate free of charge for exhibits of such a nature."

"As you know our space sells on a basis of $11 per square foot for the five months period of the Exposition, and if the University of Wichita desires to take advantage of purchasing space for commercial display, which would include your exhibition of newspapers, we shall be more than pleased to try to allocate a space for you which would be entirely satisfactory from all points of view."

Prof. Leo W. Allman, director of the school of Journalism, and Mrs. F. D. Isely, fosterer of the enterprise, both expressed regret that such an attitude was taken by the Exhibition officers since they felt the project was of an educational nature.
