Measles Rage Rampant; Attack Without Warning

By JOE (CY) STONE

FIRST you don't have 'em, then you've got 'em. You are sitting at work, tending strictly to business, perhaps, or chatting with friends. Someone looks at you and says, "You've got 'em." You make a minute inspection of your person, and muttering under your breath, home you go.

Kingfish, Father, and Soldier Are Big Menace

WE THREE crowns of the Radio-Are will be the theme song of Senator Long, Hugh Johnson, and Father Coughlin if the mass of radio listeners would consider them in their true light. Each takes a delight in digging down into the deep dark secrets of their rival's past and then "shoots the works" over the ether and through the columns of our daily press.

Music Faculty Students Busy

Radio, Theatre Orchestra and R.O.T.C. Band Media For Activity
Featured on the Fine Arts broadcast from KPH last Sunday evening were Beatrice Sanford Pease and Prof. Paul M. Oberg, who played the "Sonata in A Major" for violin and piano by Grieg. The Beta Nu vocal trio sang three numbers.
Audrey Sanford, director of the Shrine Band which gave its annual concert last Sunday afternoon, has recently been appointed to the Fine Arts faculty.
Thursday evening on the Fine Arts KPH broadcast the following pupils will take part: Ruth Anderson, violinist, pupil of Mrs. Pease; Cecil Enlow, tenor, pupil of Edna Woolley Lieurance; and Miss Helen Fatzler, pianist, pupil of Mr. Oberg. Miss Mary Margaret Schindler will be accompanist for the program.
The Little Theatre Orchestra, under the direction of Walter Duerrksen, will play for the production, "Gold in the Hills," next Friday evening.
One of the outstanding musical events of the spring season will be the first annual spring concert of the American Legion Male Chorus which will be given April 25 and 26 at the auditorium of Wichita East High School. Admission is 50c. Miss Lois Ayers, secretary to the dean of the College of Fine Arts, says that this program will be of outstanding merit and deserves the support of all University students.
Vernon Nydegger has written an excellent arrangement of "Nola" for the R.O.T.C. band. The arrangement is for a saxophone trio and will be given its initial presentation when the band gives its opening spring concert sometime in April. The band is nearly ready to give a series of concerts at convocation and at the two high schools. "Headlines," a modernistic jazz symphony, is to be the featured overture of the concert. "Carica," the featured tune from the musical comedy, "Flying Down to Rio," will also be played. Selections from the "Suite Espagnole," "Valse Triste" by Sibelius, and a medley of famous college tunes will comprise the rest of the program.

Pictures Show Past Editors Of Sunflower

Gallery of Photographs To Be Hung In The Brig
Soon the past editors-in-chief and business managers of the Sunflower will be pictured in a gallery in the new room of the Brig. Leo W. Allman, head of the Journalism department, has been working on this plan for two weeks in order that the Sunflower may have a permanent record of the leading staff members.
Uniformly framed photographs, 11 by 14 inches, of these staff members of the past four years are being made at a downtown studio. Beneath each picture will be a record of the student, giving his connection with the paper and the period of his service.
The purpose of these pictures is to give recognition of the service done by the editor-in-chief and the business managers for the Journalism department, and to show their achievement.
Each business manager serves for one year, while the length of office for an editor-in-chief is one semester. However, an editor-in-chief may be re-elected to office. During the past four years two of the editors have served two semesters, having been re-elected.
Raymond Brown was business manager for the year 1932-33, Wallace T. Talbot served in the year 1933-34, and Russell Shaffer is the present business manager.
Dick Webster served as editor-in-chief during the two semesters of the year 1931-32. The following year Miss Margaret Jennings and Vance Gillmore in succession took over the duties as head of the Sunflower staff. Miss Helen Hilliard was editor-in-chief the fall of 1932-34. That Spring Miss Mary L. Bowen became the chief. This year Hite Taylor was editor-in-chief the first semester and was re-elected to serve during the second semester.

Campus Opinion

"Yes, Bill, they've a fine school out there on the hill; better than ordinary location, a number of fine buildings and well qualified professors, to say nothing of the high type of students that make the university their school home. When my boy is ready for college I hope he chooses the University of Wichita, and as..."
"That's right Bob, but did you ever notice their campus? You didn't, why, I don't see how you missed seeing what I saw."
"Ah, I noticed, other than usual, was the being worked on; you must be seeing things, Bill."
"Why, yes I really was seeing things; I'd never seen on any other college campus in my life."
"WHAT did you see that impressed you so, Bill?"
"Didn't you notice all that waste paper, parts of old newspapers, candy-bar wrappers, discarded cigarette packages, tobacco tins, bottles of all kinds, and notebook paper on the campus? Well I did, and I wasn't so favorably impressed as you were either."
"Ah, Bill and Bob hurry away to their jobs, each with his own idea of the U. of W. as a school. If Bill could see our campus as it was last Wednesday, with just enough snow to hide all of the waste paper, and trash, I'm wondering if he wouldn't have had a better impression of our school. We are all so used to seeing this waste and trash that it no longer makes any imprint on our noble minds. Oh yes, we poor students are so busy (7 and of course in our weakened condition (what with six weeks exams just over) and needing to rest up for the next six weeks exams, to say nothing of that date tonight, we just can't be bothered. Next time you're going to classes just notice the papers in the shrubbery and the general appearance of our campus. There is no doubt that the trash on our campus is a disgrace."
But who is to blame for it? The answer is of course no one particular and everybody in general on our campus. Well, what are we going to do about it? Just let it go and let the other fellow take care of it? But why not let the Supt. of Grounds and his help pick it up? In the first place, since we, the students, are responsible for the present conditions, it is sporting to let someone else correct them? Why not have a committee, composed of several from each fraternity (what are pledges good for?) and several from the Barb group all organizations should exist for other purposes besides political and social, why not have a committee such as this appointed to correct conditions as they now exist?
But this isn't enough. To do any lasting good in the improvement of our campus face-lifting we must make this suggested action unnecessary in the future. How? By appointing ourselves, each and every one of us students as a community of campus-beauty conscious students who will not help to litter our campus with waste and trash, nor permit others to do so. I suggest, in all sincerity, that conditions might be helped in the future, if several waste containers such as one seen in our city parks, were placed on our campus in such convenient and strategic locations, as where the walk

More Speech Labs Planned by Palmer

With the demand for aid increasing rapidly, several clinics for speech correction are being planned by Prof. Martin P. Palmer, head of the Flo Brown Laboratory of Corrective Speech at the University of Wichita.
The second clinic of the spring is to be held Friday, March 15, at Council Grove, Kan. The clinic, under the sponsorship of the county schools, will be for the benefit of children with speech defects. Later in the spring Mr. Palmer will hold a clinic in Jefferson City, Mo.

Much Tragedy For a Nickel

By DAVID F. BENTNER
International News Service, N.Y. Bureau, Jan. 12, 1933.

(This little story by a veteran of the I.N.S. is especially interesting for its use of the suspended-interest feature style. It was chosen as one of the best stories for that year.)

NEW YORK.—For seven weeks Oscar Winheld, 65, sought work as a painter.

He left his Brooklyn home with a quarter yesterday, hunting a job in upper Manhattan. Most of the quarter went for food, a nickel for subway fare.

Last night he started the long walk home. About three miles from his residence he met a friend, also unemployed. The friend gave him a nickel for carfare.

Winheld dropped it in a subway turnstile. The alarm bell which signals deposit of slugs in the slot brought Special Officer Russell Howe, who discovered Winheld had received a slug instead of a nickel from his friend.

The painter pleaded he did not know it was a slug, added his sight was bad and he had lost his glasses. Howe took him to a police station, where he was locked up in lieu of $500 bail.

Worried, Winheld asked the keeper what the "judge will do to me." The keeper assured him no heavy sentence loomed.

An hour later he returned to find Winheld dead, hanging from a bar by his leather belt.

Retiring officers and cabinet members of the Y.W.C.A. held a farewell dinner Monday, March 11, in the Y.W.C.A. room. After the dinner, plans for the coming year were discussed and a short business meeting was held.

The conference at McPherson to be held March 15, 16, 17 was discussed. Plans for making the trip in company with students from Friends University and Southwestern University were made.

Miss Carol Schwalter read selections from "The Prophet" by Khalil Gibran.

The guests were:

- Misses: Grace Wilkie, Virginia Kilbourn, Helen Churchward, Virginia Palmer, Marjorie Barber, Frances Wright, Mildred Norris, Lillian Parks, Virginia Alford.

Dean Margaret Justin, dean of women and head of the home economics department at Kansas State College at Manhattan, will act as main hostess during the convention.

Miss Natalie Ring, senior in the College of Liberal Arts, is doing substitute teaching in Latin and English at Andover. She has been teaching since Monday and will continue to do so until Friday of this week.

No definite date has been set yet for the annual fraternity and sorority plays sponsored by Omega Upsilon, national dramatic sorority, according to the committee in charge.

Plans of Revue In Final Stage

Parnassus Fashion Affair Is Now Only Two Weeks Away

Parnassus Fashion Revue had assumed more complete details yesterday as the Barbs and the five sororities drew the names of the clothing store which they are to represent.

Rorabaughs will be represented by the Barbs models while Walkers will have their clothes modeled by the Kappa Rho sorority. The Alpha Tau will display the clothes of the Chic Dress Salon and the Boston Store's clothes are being worn by Sorosis models.

Delta Omega will parade the clothes of Garfield's while Pi Kappa Psi will model for Lewis's. Lewis's also will furnish the dresses for the six beauty candidates. These dresses will be patterned especially for these candidates, all of a similar pattern and varying in colors. Spines Clothing Co. will have their dresses modeled by special models as will Woolf Brothers.

The entire cast of models and beauty queen candidates will wear shoes from the Rorabaugh Shoe Department. They will be the Jacqueline style of shoe. And as these stores present their beautiful clothing, being displayed by the University girls, Cec-Earl and their newly famous band will display beautiful music for the parading of the models. The clothes will be described by Miss Vera Setzer over a loud speaking system furnished by the Electrical Appliance Co.

Y.W.C.A. Cabinet Has Installation Of New Officers

Installation services for the new Y.W.C.A. officers and cabinet will be held Wednesday, March 20 at 5 p. m., at a banquet in the lower hall of the Administration building under the rotunda, according to Miss Carol Schwalter, outgoing president of the Y.W.C.A.

Special guests from the University, Friends University, and both high schools will be at the banquet. Tickets will cost 35 cents and all reservations should be in before noon Tuesday, March 19.

Miss Martha Sells, newly elected president of the Y.W.C.A., announced that she had selected her cabinet. They are as follows: Miss Mary Cies and Miss Mary Alice Naramore, co-program chairmen, Miss Ruth Garver, campus sister, Miss Ruth Sharp, finance chairman, Miss Betty Gensch and Miss Beulah Barrett, co-Estees chairmen, Miss Frances Habb, publicity chairman, Miss Virginia Alford and Miss Jean Haire, co-social chairmen, Miss Marjorie Simonet, World Fellowship chairman, Miss Velda Gahan, room chairman, and Miss Virginia Marsh, freshman representative.

Attendants For Wedding Chosen

Miss Betty Oliver whose marriage to Galen Graham will be solemnized Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, has chosen as her attendants her sister, Mrs. Charles Theis, and Miss Lois Garberson. Felix Jones will be Mr. Graham's best man and Charles Theis will act as usher.

Miss Oliver is the daughter of Mrs. Blanche Oliver and Mr. Graham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Graham. The marriage will take place in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. W. E. Jett, 312 N. Roosevelt. Reverend Sweetland will officiate.

Both Miss Oliver and Mr. Graham were graduated from the University where she was affiliated with Sorosis sorority and he was a member of Pi Alpha Pi.
