Man's Place Is In the School
 University Enrollment Is 65 Per Cent Men

Coeds here should be satisfied. They number 504 to 776 boys. So each girl should be able to date during the year with at least 1.25 males. If she uses the correct amounts of rouge and reserves. Men have always dominated in enrollment at the University, but never so much as the current year. Statistics show that nearly 65 per cent of the students here are males.

The men and movements we support, we must support, not because we hold them to be comprehensively quite right, but because we are convinced they tend in the right direction.—(H. C. Wells)

More Afternoon Attractions Are Needed On Local Campus

This campus could stand more informal, all-school activities in the afternoon. The mixer dances proved that a large part of the student body has the afternoons free and will come to affairs which promise to be enjoyable. To have more affairs of this sort will result in better school spirit and give students an opportunity to get better acquainted with each other.

As it is now many students do little beside attend classes in the morning. Except for the few who participate in formal athletics or are identified with social organizations, there are few attractions here in the afternoon. This condition can be easily remedied if the students desire. Dances, field days, and the like can be planned at small expense. If this is done school spirit will be stimulated, friendships will be made, and everyone will be happier.

War Clouds Become Serious With Recent Developments

With war raising its monstrous head over Europe again, it behooves American students to carefully evaluate the factors which ordinarily lead to mass struggle.

The last war—which was "to end all war"—cost this nation approximately $50,000,000,000, an enormous sum even when compared to the New Deal's cost. For this we received very little, if anything, which has since been found valuable. We cannot afford another such experience.

How to avoid it. One principle, at least, is fundamental: Information is a better basis for our thought than ignorance. Don't run into the storm cellar of stupid prejudice or contemptuous indifference—face the music intelligently.

Scientific World Calls For Brave and Intelligent People

During the Boer War it appeared for a while that the British might have trouble with the Germans.

"What will happen now, sir?" queried a young Briton of a statesman who had grown gray in the service of the Queen.

The old man smiled. "Young man," he said, "a long life has convinced me that nothing ever happens."

Such was the world that our parents fell heir to—a world that possessed tranquility and believed in eternal verities. A world in which it was felt nothing could ever happen.

Science and the World War knocked the props out from under that world. Now, instead of a world in which nothing can happen, many people feel that too much will happen, and that civilization may explode like a firecracker.

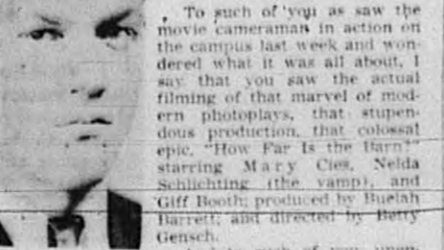

This, more than years, explains the difference between young people and their parents. The things to which they were educated, and in which many of them still believe, are no longer true. The game has become more complicated and youth, aware of this, is struggling to find something to believe in, some plan worth fighting for.

It is an exciting world. We will see more action and change in the next few years than occurred in the entire reign of Queen Victoria. It is a world in which, more than ever before, life will be for the brave and the intelligent.

Of the few hundred people at the game, more than 75 per cent were from Southwestern. No wonder a team can win a conference championship—with such support as that. Did they make the Wichita (Toni) supporters look sick and sound sicker? Well, I'll say.

A complaint to our students. For the first time in 15 years of teaching one of our faculty (he's new here this year) had to take time out to "discipline a class," as he so politely put it, for incessant talking and whispering while he was trying to conduct the class.—It was a junior-senior class, too.

Lost: A black Shaeffer lifetime fountain pen by John Boyle who would greatly appreciate its return. Call him, 2-1191, or the column, 3-8635.

And: A 1933 East High class ring by Hillard Bodkin's girl friend. It was intended to make it fit a smaller finger than that for which it was intended—and bore the engraved initials "HWB." It was left lying in the women's rest room, second floor Ad. Finder please call Hillard, 3-8878, or the g. c. 3-2078.

Last year Ila Banta set a record on the indoor range by shooting a long consecutive string of bull's eyes, but Marjorie Huey has topped it with a string of 36 in a row, which, believe you me, is some record, considering the fact that the bull's-eye at which this shoot is only 26 of an inch in diameter—smaller than the .22 caliber ammunition with which they shoot at it.

The Mixer is staging a contest, the weekly winner of which to win, must be present at the Mixer at or about 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Yesterday's winners, had they been present, would have been: first place, $2, Marion (Douglas) Douglas, second, $1, Mary Ellen (Vern) Fischer, third, $1, Betty Margaret (Manch) Schindler, and fourth, one lollipop, Jack Park.

Next week's winners—if present—will get just twice the above mentioned prizes, for the prizes are cumulative.

One of the corrective measures taken by the speech corrective laboratory is having the handicapped children stand in the window and describe the things they see. Recently one of the youngsters was so occupied when he declared he saw a scarecrow. His instructor, becoming interested, stepped to the window and saw, not a scarecrow, but a WPA laborer. Darned clever, these kids.

What, asks Columnist Bill Kennedy of the University of Minnesota Daily, "is so wonderful about Walter Johnson throwing a dollar across the Rappahannock—with the dollar inflated the way it is?"

The newest organization among college men is the VFW, a military organization. It means Veterans of Future Wars, and the organizers maintain the ought to have their bonus thru Congress by July at least.

It all started with students at the Virginia Military Institute and already has a chapter in Alaska, so they say.

For Washington's birthday, the University of Wisconsin historical museum displayed autographs, portraits and mementoes of the great general.

The still popular expression, "Oh Yeah!" is not as inconsequential as one might think, according to a speaker at Hunter College.

It is eloquent of world weariness as the bitter cry of the disillusioned from Ecclesiastes down to Dreiser and Lewis. It bristles with challenge.

And those of us who have to listen to it—we bristle, too.

Three Wichita Girls Will See Olympics

As members of the Pecono Study Tour which includes various European countries, Miss Helen Poirion, Miss Helen Gowlin, and Miss Esther Myers will sail from New York City, July 2, on the Berengaria.

Disembarking at Cherbourg, the party will continue to Paris and thence to Italy and Switzerland where they will spend some time. In August they will reach Berlin for the Olympic games after which they plan to visit Finland. They will sail from London, returning to the United States Sept. 4.

Although the purpose of the tour is cultural, it does not give college credits. It is divided into sections, and Strong Hinnman, city director of physical education in the public schools, is in charge of the group from this district.

Library Adds New Editions

Books Include Works Of Famous Authors

Famous books by famous authors, such as Pearl Buck's "The Good Earth," Lawrence of Arabia's "Seven Pillars of Wisdom," and Nabokov's "Invitation of a Bezar," are the latest addition to the stacks of Morrison Library according to Downing P. O'Hara, librarian.

Although some of the new additions have been published for a year, books such as those mentioned and the latest in fiction are always in demand. Hugh Walpole's outstanding work, "The Cathedral de la Mare's 'Memoir of a Midget,' and many other popular works are included in the new list.

Nesbitt, author of "Desolate Marches," also is the author of the book, "Hell-hole of Creation." The author was recently killed in an auto accident. Although being on sale for more than a year, Pearl Buck's famous Chinese novel, "The Good Earth," is still a best seller.

Information For 1936 Award Available

Information concerning the 1936 Rhodes Scholarships arrived at the University this week. The arrangements for the Rhodes scholarships have been sent in to colleges over the country to allow ample time for the choosing of the many candidates, and attention to the many details of this choice.

These scholarships were founded by Cecil John Rhodes, who saw the value of bringing the college students of Britain and the United States closer together.

These scholarships are eligible to all upper classmen if they are a citizen of this country, and are between the ages of nineteen and twenty-five years of age. The competition for the Rhodes Scholarships is organized by states and districts. There are eight districts of six states each. Upon recommendation by his home or university, the candidate may apply either in the state in which he resides or in a state which he has received two years of college. Each state committee may nominate two candidates to appear before the district committee and from the 12 men appearing the committee selects four to represent their district at Oxford University.

The qualities that the founder of the movement specified as forming the basis of his selections are: Literary and scholastic ability and attainments, qualities of manhood, truth and courage and devotion to duty, exhibition of moral force and character and instincts of leadership, last, physical vigor as shown by interest in outdoor sports and other means.

Each appointment is made for two years in the first instance and with a possible third year for those whose records at Oxford and plan of study make such further awards advisable. The stipend is fixed at $400 a year.

Military Frat Is Rated High

Books, Financial Status Are Declared Clear

High ratings were given Company F, Seventh Regiment, local chapter of Scabbard and Blade, National honorary military fraternity, in a recent inspection by Wayne S. Hagan, first lieutenant medical reserve, who is the national inspector for this corps area. A superior rating was granted to the chapter's books and their financial status was declared clear.

During his visit here, Lieutenant Hagan interviewed Lt. Col. George W. Price, professor of military science and tactics, and audited and checked the chapter's books. A special meeting of the fraternity was called Saturday night at which time the inspector explained to the members about obtaining reserve commissions.

To such of you as saw the movie cameraman in action on the campus last week and wondered what it was all about, I say that you saw the actual filming of that marvelous modern production, that stupendous production, that colossal epic, "How Far is the Barn?" starring Mary Cies, Nelda Schlichting (the vamp), and Giff Booth, produced by Buelah Barrett, and directed by Betty Gensch.

And to such of you, uninitiated, who must be, as have not yet heard of "How Far is the Barn?" I say that you may see its World Premier tomorrow night at the Hippodrome. I saw a preview of it, and it is good. You can't afford to miss it. See the people you know in action on the silver screen.

A complaint to our students: For the first time in 15 years of teaching one of our faculty (the new here this year) had to take time out to "discipline a class," as he so politely put it, for incessant talking and whispering while he was trying to conduct the class. It was a junior-senior class, too.

Warning: Tomorrow is positively the last opportunity you will have to get your picture taken for Panassius, announces Stanford (the likes this) Waddell.

Lost: A black Sheffield life-time fountain pen by John Boyje who would greatly appreciate its return. Call him, 2-1191, or the column, 3-8635.

And: A 1933 East High class ring by Hillard Bodkin's girl friend. It was tape-bound and made it fit a smaller finger than that for which it was intended—and here the estranged initiate "H.V." it was left lying in the women's rest room, second-floor. Ad: Finder please call Hil-lard, 3-8855, or the g. f., 3-5078.

Last year Ita Banta set a record on the indoor range by shooting a long consecutive string of bull's eyes, but Marjorie Huey has topped it with a string of 30 in a row, which, believe you me, is some record, considering the fact that the bull's-eye at which they shoot is only 20 of an inch in diameter—smaller than the .22 caliber ammunition with which they shoot at it.

The Mixer is staging a contest, the weekly winner of which to win must be present at the Mixer at or about 7 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Yesterday's winners had they been present, would have been: first place, Ed, Marion (Douglas) Douglas, second, $1, Mary Ellen (Fish) Fischer, third, 50 cents, Mary Margaret (Man-chester) Schindler, and fourth, one lollipop, Jack Park.

Next week's winners if present—will get just twice the above mentioned prizes, for the prizes are cumulative.

One of the corrective measures taken by the speech corrective laboratory is having the hand-drawn children stand in the window and describe the things they see. Recently one of the youngsters was so occupied when he declared he saw a scarecrow. His instructor, becoming interested, stepped to the window and saw, not a scarecrow, but a WPA laborer. Darned clever, these kids.

The newest organization among college men is the VFW, a military organization.

For Washington's birthday, the University of Wisconsin historical museum displayed autographs, portraits and mementoes of the great general.

Of chief interest, however, was a white shirt Washington used to wear. On it, written in indelible ink, was this: "Geo. Washington No. 8."

Apparently laundries have not changed.

The still popular expression, "Oh Yeah!" is not as inconsequential as one might think, according to a speaker at Hunter College.

"It is tragic in its implications," he said, "it is eloquent of world weariness as the bitterest cry of the disillusioned from Ecclesiastes down to Dreiser and Lewis. It bristles with challenge." And those of us who have to listen to it—we bristle, too.

Professor Lyman-Bryson of Teachers' College, Columbia University, would like to rewrite English a bit so that the eighth-grade mind could comprehend the involved questions of the day.

He gathered a "simplification" staff of three persons—a pulp fiction writer, a professional advertising man and a graduate student in English literature.

The test he gave them to determine their ability was this: They had to rewrite a recent column of Walter Lippmann's in the words of Arthur Brisbane.

The Dartmouth, commenting on the fact that West Point no longer will have girl dancing instructors for the cadets because the young ladies disturb the equilibrium of the boys, remarks that army people have an annoying habit of using technical terms for just about everything.

Or at least so thinks another doctor, Prof. Charles Reed of Northwestern University, who thinks the human race is degenerating, that all you young 'uns are getting soft.

"The daughters," he says, "are pampered and petted. They don't get enough sunshine or exercise. They can't take it the way their grandmothers did."

Rhodes Plans Are Announced

Information For 1936 Award Available

Information concerning the 1936 Rhodes Scholarships arrived at the University this week. The arrangements of the 506 scholarships have been sent in to colleges over the country to allow ample time for the choosing of the many candidates, and attention to the many details of this choice.

These scholarships were founded by Cecil John Rhodes, who saw the value of bringing the college students of Britain and the United States closer together.

These scholarships are eligible to all upper classmen if they are a citizen of this country, and are between the ages of nineteen and twenty-five years of age. The competition for the Rhodes Scholarships is organized by states and districts. There are eight districts of six states each. Upon recommendation by his college or university the candidate may apply either in the state in which he resides or in a state which he has received two years of college. Each state committee may nominate two candidates to appear before the district committee and from the 12 men appearing the committee selects four to represent their district at Oxford University.

The qualities that the founder of the movement specified as forming the basis of his selections are: Literary and scholastic ability and attainments, qualities of manhood, truth and courage and devotion to duty, exhibition of moral force and character and instincts of leadership, last physical vigor as shown by interest in outdoor sports and other means.

Each appointment is made for two years in the first instance and with a possible third year for those whose records at Oxford and plan of study make such further awards advisable. The stipend is fixed at $400 a year.

Sunflower Uses PARAGON For First Time

This week the Sunflower takes another step in fulfilling its requirements as a Pacemaker among college newspapers. A new letter, known as PARAGON, is being used for the body type. It presents a much clearer face than the type formerly used and can be read much more easily, according to experiments made. There is an additional point of space between the lines. This point is taken from the face of the type, thereby leaving the same number of lines to the inch.

Two Programs Are Scheduled

Munselle Will Give Harp Recital Sunday

Two recitals constitute the main activities of the downtown division this week end, according to A. E. Ramquist, office manager.

A general recital will be presented by pupils from all departments of the division Friday evening at 7:30 in the downtown auditorium at 726 Sunday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock one of the school's more important recitals will be given when Marguerite Munselle, instructor in harp, will present her initial recital at the downtown auditorium.

Girls To Tour Foreign Lands Gain Experience

Three Wichita Girls Will See Olympics

As members of the Pacemo Study Tour which includes various European countries, Miss Helen Pourron, Miss Helen Goodlin, and Miss Esther Myers will sail from New York City, July 2, on the Berengaria.

Disembarking at Cherbourg, the party will continue to Paris and thence to Italy and Switzerland where they will spend some time. In August they will reach Berlin for the Olympic games after which they plan to visit Finland. They will sail from London, returning to the United States Sept. 4.

Although the purpose of the tour is cultural, it does not give college credits. It is divided into sections, and Strong Hinnman, city director of physical education in the public schools, is in charge of the group from this district.

Cadet Teachers Gain Experience

Students Teach In Pratt And Kingman Schools

To finish their practice-teaching experience, four students of the College of Education taught in the schools of Pratt and Kingman last week, March 2 to 6, under the supervision of the regular teachers and the town superintendents, Misses Muriel Garney, and Margaret Coleman went to Kingman and Misses Geraldine Lansdowne, and Elaine Dunn took charge of classes in Pratt.

Miss Garney, who taught 30 second-grade pupils in Kingman terms her experience as "a lot of fun and a lot of work." She considers it a helpful in preparing for educational work.

Miss Lansdowne also describes her experience as "a lot of work," adding that it is harder to teach five hours rather than one hour in regular practice-teaching. Miss Lansdowne also conducted the Girl Reserve meeting and attended faculty meetings.

Other student-teachers will be sent to gain experience in smaller towns in the near future, according to Frank L. Hickerson, professor in the College of Education and director of the student-teachers.

Library Adds New Editions

Books Include Works Of Famous Authors

Famous books by famous authors, such as Pearl Buck's "The Good Earth," Lawrence of Arabia's "Seven Pillars of Wisdom," and Nesbitt's "Desolate Marches," are the latest addition to the stacks of Morrison Library according to Downing P. O'Hara, librarian.

Although some of the new additions have been published for a year, books such as those mentioned and the latest in fiction are always in demand. Hugh Walpole's outstanding work, "The Cathedral de la Mare's 'Memoirs of a Midwife,' and many other popular works are included in the new list.

Nesbitt, author of "Desolate Marches," also is the author of the book, "Hellhole of Creation." The author was recently killed in an auto accident. Although being on sale for more than a year, Pearl Buck's famous Chinese novel, "The Good Earth," is still a best seller.

Military Frat Is Rated High

Books, Financial Status Are Declared Clear

High ratings were given Company F, Seventh Regiment, local chapter of Scabbard and Blade, national honorary military fraternity, in a recent inspection by Wylie S. Hagan, first lieutenant, medical reserve, who is the national inspector for this corps area. A superior rating was granted to the chapter's books and their financial status was declared clear.

During his visit here, Lieutenant Hagan interviewed Lt. Col. George W. Price, professor of military science and tactics, and audited and checked the chapter's books. A special meeting of the fraternity was called Saturday night at which time the inspector explained to the members about obtaining reserve commissions.

Omega Upsilon Plays Started

One-Act Plays Are To Be Given April 2 and 3

Omega Upsilon, national honorary dramatics sorority, will sponsor its annual play contest in which the social Greek letter organizations of the campus will take part. The one-act plays will be given April 2 and 3 by Epsilon Kappa Rho and Phi Upsilon Sigma; Delta Omega and Alpha Gamma Gamma; Alpha Tau Sigma and Pi Alpha Pi; Sigma and Webster; and Pi Kappa Psi and Pi Alpha Pi.

Names of the plays to be given were turned in Monday evening to Miss Vera Setzer.

The men and movements we support, we must support, not because we hold them to be comprehensively quite right, but because we are convinced they tend in the right direction.—(H. C. Wells)

More Afternoon Attractions Are Needed On Local Campus

This campus could stand more informal, all-school activities in the afternoon.

The mixer dances proved that a large part of the student body has the afternoons free and will come to affairs which promise to be enjoyable. To have more affairs of this sort will result in better school spirit and give students an opportunity to get better acquainted with each other.

As it is now many students do little beside attend classes in the morning. Except for the few who participate in formal athletics or are identified with social organizations, there are few attractions here in the afternoon.

War Clouds Become Serious With Recent Developments

This condition can be easily remedied if the students desire. Dances, field days, and the like can be planned at small expense. If this is done school spirit will be stimulated, friendships will be made, and everyone will be happier.

"What," asks Columnist Bill Kennedy of the University of Minnesota Daily, "is so wonderful about Walter Johnson throwing a dollar across the Rappahannock—with the dollar inflated the way it is?"

The newest organization among college men is the VFW, a military organization. It means Veterans of Future Wars, and the organizers maintain they ought to have their bonus thru Congress by July at least.

It all started with students at the Virginia Military Institute and already has a chapter in Alaska, so they say.

Scientific World Calls For Brave and Intelligent People

During the Boer War it appeared for a while that the British might have trouble with the Germans.

"What will happen now, sir?" queried a young Briton of a statesman who had grown gray in the service of the Queen.

The old man smiled. "Young man," he said, "a long life has convinced me that nothing ever happens."

Such was the world that our parents fell heir to—a world that possessed tranquility and believed in eternal verities. A world in which it was felt nothing could ever happen.

Science and the World War knocked the props out from under that world. Now, instead of a world in which nothing can happen, many people feel that too much will happen, and that civilization may explode like a firecracker.

This, more than years, explains the difference between young people and their parents. The things to which they were educated, and in which many of them still believe, are no longer true. The game has become more complicated and youth, aware of this, is struggling to find something to believe in, some plan worth fighting for.

It is an exciting world. We will see more action and change in the next few years than occurred in the entire reign of Queen Victoria. It is a world in which, more than ever before, life will be for the brave and the intelligent.

Builders Win From Shockers To Clinch CIC

Cagers Lose Final Game Before A Large Crowd

Southwestern clinched first place in the Central Conference last Saturday night before a record-breaking crowd at East High gym when the Builders overpowered the Wichita basketball quintet to the tune of 34 to 25, and made it four victories over the Shockers for the season.

DeHon and Gawthrop Elected Co-Captains

Members of the University of Wichita basketball team elected Ray DeHon and Pike Gawthrop co-captains for the 1936-37 season at a meeting held after the Wichita-Southwestern game of last week.

Ray DeHon, from Caney, Kas., played his first year of varsity ball for the University this season at the guard post. Pike Gawthrop, of Milton, Kas., a sophomore, has had two years of experience at the forward position.

finest performances seen this year on the local court. Kornhaus has had four seasons in football and two in basketball, and played almost full time every game this season.

Sheepmanpower, coupled by an invincible passing attack, netted the Winfield school the victory. Bratches did the best work for the invaders, with Caywood, known as all-conference material, being held to five free throws.

Southwestern Leads Entire Game Southwest started by running up five points before the Hemingway could counter. They were well in front during the entire first half, which ended 17 to 11. Kornhaus made the only Shocker field goal during the period. Skinner made two free throws to end the period.

Bratches and Caywood countered a goal each to start the second half, but soon after the Wichita crew let loose its only threat to the Builder lead, with Kornhaus, DeHon and Wilson running up the score to 19-22, when Stewart managed a free throw to put the Shockers within three points of a tie. However, Bryan and Urban punctured Wichita hopes by two quick goals, putting Southwestern in a position where they were never again threatened.

At least eight teams are straining at the leash, eagerly awaiting the intramural track meet which will be held Friday, March 20 in the University stadium. The Harbs, who carried off the victors' laurels last year, will again be powerful contenders with two teams entered.

Each fraternity on the campus will be represented by a team. The Indian Institute, and a team composed entirely of colored athletes also will be in the conflict. An aggregation of "athletes" is expected to enter in the trophy.

A trophy presented by the school's intramural fund will be given to the winning team, and will become the property of that team. Last year the Harbs amassed a total of 72 points in taking the cup.

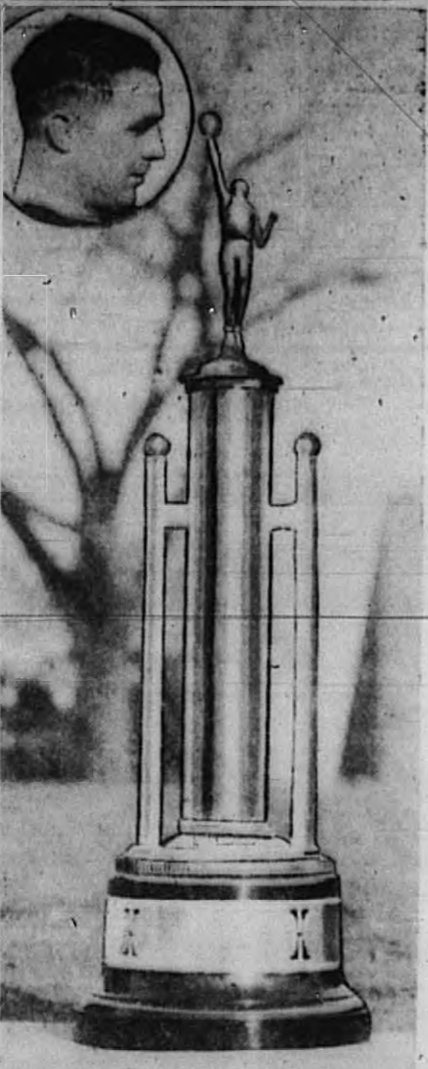

Anyone is eligible to enter the trophies who has not been awarded a letter for varsity competition on the track team. Any group of men on the campus can assemble and organize a track team to be representative of that group. Regular track men are not excluded, and may be permitted to enter if they have not received a varsity letter.

Entries are to be given to Coach North Hoffman, or to be turned in at the office of physical education.

One of the most successful seasons intramural basketball of the University, was completed last Saturday night as the Holyoke Gridsters defeated the Barebacks 19 to 9.

According to Coach North Hoffman, approximately ten men participated in the games during the season. Sixteen teams made up a schedule of two leagues, and much competition was shown.

"It was the best intramural basketball season ever played here,"

Veteran Team To Play Golf

Gebert To Coach Royal And Ancient Game

Starting the season with a full team of seasoned veterans, A. J. Gebert, Director of Athletics, predicts a win over Pittsburg Teachers "regardless of how tough they are" when the two teams meet in the opening match of the season April 4, in Wichita.

Although the schedule is not yet completely set, the golf team has been working out regularly for about four weeks and with the entire last year's team back, a fine season is predicted by Coach Gebert.

"We have definitely arranged for matches with Wichita High School East and North, Washburn, and the Central Conference meet to be held here May 14 and 15," said Gebert, "and we are trying to get matches with Kansas University, Oklahoma City University, Oklahoma University, St. Louis University and with Alva Teachers."

The letters asking for these games have been mailed and we expect answers the latter part of the week.

Lettermen back this year are Leon Watson, Charles Black, Dick Price, Sam Knox and Johnny Morgan. A captain for the year has not yet been elected.

All practice sessions of the team are held on the Greenview Country Club course.

Wichita Country club has toughened their course for the Trans-Mississippi, and the Westlink Golf club may be hosts to some of the matches if present plans are carried out.

When the schedule is made out, there are two games scheduled with each team, one here and one

Hennigh Is Straight-Man In Game Interlude

The actors were Coach Hennigh and Moneypenny, of Wichita and Southwestern, respectively. And the villain was Cochran, the referee.

During an intermission in the game, while the referee was shutting back and forth between the two teams, a chip in a maelstrom, a questionable foul, was called, bringing caustic comment in a voluble way from Bill Hennigh.

Moneypenny, fired by another decision, was venting his opinion in the matter, when Hennigh, calm, unperturbed, leaned over, and then cupped his hands and squelched, "And you OK'd him, Bill!"

Winters Leads In Title Game

Gridsters Win In Final Intramural Contest

Paced by Red Winters, all-intramural center, the Holyoke Gridsters decisively defeated the Holyoke Barebacks last Saturday in play-off of the intramural league.

Winters was the entire show of the game and tallied eight in the first half and seven in the second half to top the scoring for the game. Nash was outstanding in the Barebacks thru his fine gunning.

WOMEN'S Sport Glances

All the girls are taking plenty of interest in this tournament. That's the spirit we like to see. But, oh, how everyone dreads meeting up with those swift Vandals I. They're almost too good.

Eight Teams In Track Meet

Intense Rivalry Seen For Intramural Event

At least eight teams are straining at the leash, eagerly awaiting the intramural track meet which will be held Friday, March 20 in the University stadium.

The Harbs, who carried off the victors' laurels last year, will again be powerful contenders with two teams entered.

Each fraternity on the campus will be represented by a team. The Indian Institute, and a team composed entirely of colored athletes also will be in the conflict. An aggregation of "athletes" is expected to enter in the trophy.

A trophy presented by the school's intramural fund will be given to the winning team, and will become the property of that team. Last year the Harbs amassed a total of 72 points in taking the cup.

Anyone is eligible to enter the trophies who has not been awarded a letter for varsity competition on the track team. Any group of men on the campus can assemble and organize a track team to be representative of that group. Regular track men are not excluded, and may be permitted to enter if they have not received a varsity letter.

Entries are to be given to Coach North Hoffman, or to be turned in at the office of physical education.

One of the most successful seasons intramural basketball of the University, was completed last Saturday night as the Holyoke Gridsters defeated the Barebacks 19 to 9.

According to Coach North Hoffman, approximately ten men participated in the games during the season. Sixteen teams made up a schedule of two leagues, and much competition was shown.
