Stars Fell Out Of Heaven...

Ver Wiebe Has Collection Of Meteorites

Dr. Walter A. Ver Wiebe, head of the geology department, announced last Monday that he had been put in charge of a collection of meteorites gathered from all parts of the world by W. F. Bingham.

The collection has been put on display in Room 214 in the Science Building and students interested in seeing the collection are urged to have Dr. Ver Wiebe explain the collection.

Bingham has gathered his collection from all states in the United States and many foreign countries including Australia and Mexico but principally from southwestern Kansas which is a rich source of meteorites.

Some of the meteorites remain in their original form while others have been cut to show the peculiar internal structure.

Advanced students in geology will make a study of the origin and composition of the meteorites and will publish the results of their study from time to time.

'Skull Practice' Held for Army

Ice and Cold Wind Keep R.O.T.C. Inside

"Skull practice" was substituted for R. O. T. C. drill last week because of the cold weather. Ice pavements and a stiff wind caused the command to be given that all cadets report in various rooms in the Science Hall. The order read "Drill without arms." Open forum discussions were held in the rooms in order to correct small misunderstandings on the correct method of doing certain maneuvers. Officers explained and demonstrated the correct method of the manual of arms. Cadets went through the drill in front of the assembly to be critized and helped.

Prof. Bingham has gathered his collection from all states in the United States and many foreign countries including Australia and Mexico but principally from southwestern Kansas which is a rich source of meteorites.

Prof's Name Own All-American

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 20. (ACP)—When sports writers had finished their all-star picking, the University of Pennsylvania faculty took advantage of the lull and did a little choosing on its own account—but not in the sports field.

Given the opportunity of voting for a mythical all-star faculty of ten members from all the history of the world and from any field of knowledge and work, faculty men and women of the University of Pennsylvania selected, Dr. Albert Einstein, Socrates, Plato, Aristotle, Da Vinci, Shakespeare, Galileo, Newton, Darwin and Pasteur. Dr. Einstein is the only living man included.

Other parts of the Commons, namely, the main lounge, men's lounge, and women's lounge will be opened simultaneously with the Pine Room and fountain room. Furniture for the lounges, with the exception of the women's lounge, arrived last Wednesday. Furnishings for the men's lounge have been here for some time.

Management Ready According to Miss Gladys J. Sissel, manager of the Pine Room and the Fountain Room, the students will be furnished with the best of food at a nominal cost. She and her assistants have been preparing for the opening for some time.

"If the present plans go through," continued Dr. Jardine, "the student will be able to enjoy a comfortable eating place and a place for comfortable relaxation."

"I am certain that students will aid in preserving the beauty of the building and will appreciate the utility of it."

Furnishings for the building have been held up in shipment because of the eastern strikes. Fixtures for the Fountain Room include maple table and chairs, booths, and a beautiful fountain. The seating capacity of the Fountain Room is 54.

The Pine Room, with its novel flooring and pine paneling, will seat 48 persons, but will have room for expansion if necessary.

Comfortable divans and chairs, and restful wall colorings reflect the quiet dignity of the lounges.

The new Commons will afford a meeting place for campus clubs and organizations.

First Offices Are Opened In New Structure

Cafeteria Manager And Speech Department Move In

As the first occupants of the recently completed Student Commons Building, the speech department office and the office of Miss Gladys Sissel, manager of the cafeteria, were moved into the new building early this week.

The speech department office, which will include the offices of Prof. George D. Wilner, head of the dramatics department; C. C. Harbison and Carl D. England, professors of speech, is located in Room 211, directly above the lobby of the auditorium.

Miss Sissel's office will be located directly off the cafeteria.

The furniture for the speech office has not yet arrived, but will include three walnut desks, chairs, and complete office equipment.

Angulo Sends Travel Letters

County Spanish Teachers To Get Literature

Letters describing the annual excursions to Mexico City which Joseph E. Angulo, instructor in conversational Spanish, sponsors each year are being sent out to superintendents of all the counties in Kansas. These letters request the names of all teachers under the jurisdiction of each superintendent. Mr. Angulo intends to send the teachers themselves literature concerning the tour.

Congressman Holds Leopard-Hunt Mark

After 13 years, Boston's bewhiskered Rep. George Holden Tinkham has just learned that he holds the "African" championship for leopard hunting. From the American consul at Nairobi, Tinkham received word that his feat of slaying 6 of the big cats in 17 days has never been equalled and probably never will be. His success formula: "Let a lot of leopards run in front of you."

A letter addressed to "The Bedbug Professor, University of Minnesota" was finally turned over to the department of entomology by the partially puzzled university post-mistress.

Annual Staff Opens Work On Layouts

Editors Start Plans In Organizing Yearbook

Announcement was made by Curtis Astle, business manager, that all organization pages for Parnassus will be collected for when a checked proof is delivered to each organization soon.

Most of the organization pictures are at the engraver's now, and will be delivered to the printer shortly.

In the meantime Miss Betty Behmer, organization editor, and Max Milbourn, editor-in-chief, will complete copy to go with the pictures which will soon be sent to the printer to be set up into type.

As soon as the complete page is made by the printer, and corrected, exactly, according to copy, an OK proof will be taken and submitted to the organization for approval when collection is made.

Payment must be made at that time in order to insure publication. "It is necessary to adopt this policy," said Mr. Astle, "because some of the organizations will find it difficult to assume their financial responsibility after the book is published. All other accounts are settled in advance, and by making this a requirement of the advertisers as well, the budget will maintain its balance."

Organizations must let Max Milbourn or Betty Behmer know exactly what copy they will want on their pages before it goes into the hands of the printer as it will be impossible to change anything except typographical errors after the page is once set up.

While all organizations are included in this cash basis plan, yearbook officials wanted to make it plain that it is not especially directed at the fraternities or sororities. According to the records of past business managers, the Greek organizations have always paid for their pages in Parnassus.

4-H Publication Goes to Press

Student Club To Issue 1000 Copies

"Cloverian", first collegiate 4-H year book, has gone to press and will make its appearance on schedule.

The last of the pages were finished and given to the printer yesterday. One thousand copies of the books will be printed. In order that students who are not members of the 4-H organization may read it, a copy of the annual will be placed in the files of Morrison Library.

Cover material and color have not yet been decided upon. Decision will be made by the staff early next week.

"There has long been a need for a record of the progress of the 4-H club," said Lois Carpenter, editor of Cloverian; "this is the purpose of the book. Also, it is an experiment to test the popularity of the idea of an annual publication."

Jardine Prepares Colorado Address

Further details on the speech that Dr. W. M. Jardine, president of the University will deliver before the Kansas Society of Denver on Jan. 29, remained unknown because he had not yet returned Tuesday afternoon, from Washington, D. C.

Dr. Jardine left last week for the nation's capital where he attended the annual meeting of the Association of American Colleges. The meeting was concerned with the furthering of a liberal education in American colleges.

Dr. Jardine intends to address the Kansas Society of Denver at their Kansas Day Banquet on Jan. 29.

Ongard To Return To School In Week

Henry Ongard, senior student, who suffered a broken leg in a bob-sledding accident last week, will not be able to take part in the various debates except those scheduled next semester to be broadcast over the radio.

Ongard does not expect to return to school until the beginning of the new semester.

Board Announces New Staff; Leber Named Editor-in-Chief

Editor
George Leber, senior, selected by the Board of Publications as editor-in-chief of the Sunflower for the coming semester.

George Leber, senior in the College of Liberal Arts, will be editor-in-chief of the Sunflower for the coming semester.

Mr. Leber for four years a student of the University, was appointed by the Student Board of Publications Tuesday. A student of journalism since 1933, he is currently writing copy for the Journal Press publications, a syndicate which furnishes trade publications with news copy from its headquarters in Denver. The new editor will assume his duties with the publication of the next issue of the Sunflower.

Chosen Tuesday Positions of the staff were selected from applications by the board of publications at a meeting Tuesday noon. The board is composed of two members of each class and A. E. Croft, head of the sociology department, chairman; Roy W. Elliott, comptroller, business adviser; and Leo W. Allman, editorial adviser.

"Failure of reappointment of any member of the present staff," Mr. Allman said, "should not be interpreted as meaning that his past work has not been satisfactory. Rather it should be remembered that selections are made upon applications, and as many students as possible are given a chance to sometime fill a position on the staff."

The present editor, Jimmie Lee, will remain on the staff as managing editor. Ruth Garvey will continue her position as business manager.

All other staff positions have changed and are as follows: feature editor, Iona Hall; desk editor, Jim Armour; news editor, Greenville Darling; cartoonist, Kenneth Marts.

Men's sports editor will be Floyd Snitz, with Roger Baker as assistant. Women's sports editor will be Laura Howard. Phyllis Powell, assisted by Kathleen Hite, will edit the society page.

No Photography The position of staff photographer is still open, but will be filled following the organization of the press photography class next week.

Applications for staff positions were filed with Leo W. Allman, head of the journalism department, previous to Wednesday noon, Jan. 13. The applicants to qualify were required to be students of journalism and of either junior or senior ranking.

"We hope to serve the interests of the student body to the best of our abilities," the newly selected editor says.

9401 Students Here Since 1926

University Enrolls 569 First Year

Statistics from the registrar's office show that 9401 men and women have enrolled here since 1926, the year of the university municipalization.

In 1926 the University enrolled 569 people while in its ten year history ends with the completion of the present final week, it enrolls 1351.

With this growth in enrollment, came the construction of Science Hall in 1929 and the Administration Building in 1930. Most recent of the buildings is the Student Commons Building, which will be opened Monday.

They are George Shoemaker, who was named the cadet colonel and Ernest F. Sawalsh, who was the runner-up.

Gift of Mrs. Brown Used For Purchase Of Kymograph

Dr. Martin F. Palmer, head of the speech science department, announced that the kymograph, purchased with the annual gift of Mrs. E. M. Brown, Salina, friend of the department, has been received.

The instrument which is used in making records of the thoracic and abdominal breathing, and heart beat relationship, was set up and put into use immediately upon arrival.

Mrs. Brown's gift of $500 was part of an annual gift to the department. She also established the Flo Brown Memorial Laboratory for Speech Correction in the speech science department.

Library Adds Kansas Room And Collection

Group Includes More Than 1,000 Pamphlets and Books

Students desiring to use books or pamphlets concerning Kansas will now find them in the newly-created Kansas Room on the second floor of Morrison Library, according to Downing P. O'Hara, head librarian.

The new room, which houses a complete Kansas collection of over 1000 books and pamphlets, was opened this week for student use. While primarily for reference purposes, there is space available for those who wish to study there.

Space left vacant in the regular upstairs stacks by the removal of the material on Kansas is now being utilized to relieve congestion in the downstairs stacks. Books on the psychology and philosophy, and on technology, which fall in the classifications of 100's and 600's respectively, are now placed in the upstairs section.

Vikings Winners Of Intra-Mural

Vandals, Pi Kaps Place In Volleyball Matches

Completing the inter-society volleyball tournament last week, the two Barb organizations, Vikings and Vandals, took first and second places, respectively, with the Pi Kappa Psi placing third.

The matches were played on each Tuesday and Wednesday evening for four weeks, and every team entered played six games. The tournament was conducted on an inter-society basis, and the three winning teams will receive points toward the W. A. A. award, given at the end of the year.

Members of the Viking team include Vivian Melcher, Anna Lewis, Mercedes Wheeler, Aileen Calkins, Vivian McGuire, Eleanor Foreman, and Lizetta McGuire.

Neff Initiates New Bulletin On Research

Departments Gather More Data For Articles

Frank A. Neff, dean of the College of Business Administration, introduces a new series of University publications with an 18-page bulletin appearing this week. Title of the leaflet is "The Social and Economic Significance of Cities."

The purpose of the series is to make available in convenient form the results of faculty research. Seven hundred copies of the introductory number have been printed and are being sent to university and public libraries throughout the nation in a regular exchange system in which the University is a participating member.

More Bulletins To Come Other departments of the University are compiling data to be used in similar bulletins to be published during the remaining school year.

According to Dean Neff, the essential factors underlying urbanization are economic, political, social, educational, and recreational. Factors underlying the prime industries at the close of the 19th century are basic today, four decades later. Since the distributive and manufacturing industries are each decade able to assimilate a greater proportion of the population, the growth of cities has continued, he said.

Cities To Grow The back-to-the-land movement, popular during the recent depression period, made a small impression on the progress of cities, believes Dean Neff, and its effect can only be temporary. Even suburbanization, far from checking growth of cities, has given added impetus to the concentration of population, the not to the centralization tendency. Even air transportation promises no adverse influence toward prospects for the city.

Ice Reduces Car Crashes

Yes, Sir, Accidents Fewer This Month

In December when the weather was nearly perfect and drivers were trying out the new traffic regulations, the number of accidents was about as high as usual.

When January's ice and sleet came most people expected the accident record to go up alarmingly. Instead it went down.

"People are driving more carefully," one officer explained. "And besides, some people have laid up the car and are using the buses and taxis."

Orchestra Now Awaits Premier

New Symphony Will Open Jan. 31

Awaiting its premier, the University of Wichita's Symphony orchestra, which is to make its first appearance Sunday, Jan. 31, in the new auditorium, is ready at the present time to give its program, according to Harry K. Lamont, professor of violin and instrumental theory and organizer of the orchestra.

Fifty leading musicians in the College of Fine Arts, members of the faculty, and prominent musicians of the city, comprise the orchestra.

This is the first appearance of a symphonic orchestra sponsored by the University. Mr. Lamont, who organized the symphonic group, has been the director of similar projects at Kansas State College, Manhattan, and the University of Rochester. He came from Rochester to the University of Wichita.

Farcical Excuses Will Call The World's Youth to Slaughter

If history is to repeat itself, as it usually does, it will not be long before the nation's youth will be exhorted to enlist in "a war to end wars, to fight for God and country, and to save the world for democracy."

Dismal as it may seem, puny man has not yet been completely civilized. He has not yet reached that stage of vision and wisdom which would eliminate warfare, and cannot be trusted to climb to that high plane.

Foreign-Dominated Field of Fine Arts Is Now Becoming American

A few years ago it seemed that to be an accomplished musician one had to have a name which could not be spelled, much less pronounced, and be of foreign birth.

America now enjoys the work of her own opera stars, symphonic conductors, composers, pianists, in fact every branch of classical music. Can it be that only in the past few years persons with musical ability have been born on our shores?

Faculty Members Abuse Some Of the Privileges Granted Them

Privileges extended to faculty members are seldom abused.

Library privileges, according to the faculty, have and are being grossly misused by a few teachers who thoughtlessly check out and keep for two or three months each new book purchased by Kellogg Library.

The request of a faculty member for a book takes precedent over the request of a student for the same book—all of which is probably as it should be.

Students usually have no objection to waiting a reasonable length of time on a new book because the younger generation firmly upholds the idea of "First come, first served."

Obviously there is no way in which students can secure justice in this matter, but a little generosity and thoughtfulness on the part of a few offending faculty members will serve to remove a most unsatisfactory condition—Emporia "Bulletin".

Dr. L. H. Adams of the Carnegie Institution's geophysical laboratory says that the age of the earth, as estimated by measuring the amount of the radio-active element uranium which has broken down into lead, is about 1,500,000,000 years.

Ariel-Caliban Squabble Sets Example for College Students

Ariel and Caliban have again made the front pages with a childish, domestic brawl. It is only one of many times when this couple has featured in the news.

College, if it does nothing else, should provide a background for the future citizen which would make that sort of thing impossible.

We must bow to our modern American educators for maintaining this standard.

Stop! Think! Maiming Someone Is "Fun" at a Very Dear Price

Automobiles slide during this snow storm.

They slide more and perform more antics if some brainless fool is at the steering-wheel thinking only of having fun and speeding at a break-neck pace.

Don't come to your senses too late, only to find you slid once too often and seriously injured a pedestrian.

Short Pants

IF THE 1937 MODEL JOURNALISM IS TO BE given any credence, this young world in which some of us dwell, some live, and others merely exist will again roll up her ragged sleeves and plunge her hands into the blood of War.

That would be a fine thing for a nation which is surfeited with peace and having nothing to do but tend its own business.

A few gorey kidnap-murders, madmen slicing throats with razors, etc., are no topics for a full day's conversation. But think what a wholesale slaughter-mill like another World War would afford. It would slice enough Americans into little bits to make the country fine for the handful who remained. Then there would be enough work to go around.

It would give a million little boys just out of high school a chance to dress up in pretty uniforms and parade through city streets for a week or two before going to Europe and a quick, perhaps almost painless, death.

And there is much more chance now than in '17 for a man to be blown into hundreds of tiny particles without so much as a single worry over whether or not it is going to hurt much.

Of course the administration realizes that the changes in examination procedure will not stop cribbing, if there is much of it here.

Cribbing will never be completely abolished as long as students wear pockets. There probably were a few who used minute scroll notes, surreptitiously slipped from pockets at strategic moments.

But until rules are passed requiring students to attend finals in the nude—which seems unlikely at present, being a practice frowned upon by Mrs. Emily Post and other authorities on etiquette—there will be a certain amount of classroom guile.

"Blue-Monday" at Louisiana Tech is more than half blue—from the laundryman's pool of view.

Of the 1,100-odd men's shirts collected each Monday morning by the school's laundry trucks, more than 575 are that color, ranging in shades from mild baby-blue to the mighty tones of midnight-blue.

University of Chicago fraternity men are going gigolo to furnish material for the newly established Escort Bureau. To qualify as "dowager-thrillers" bureau men must:

Be physically presentable; have personality and an easy manner; be a gentleman of the Lord Chesterfield type; possess knowledge in at least one social activity—opera, bridge, conversation or ordering from a menu; be a good dancer and be well known on the campus.

The coeds hire more tall brunets than any of the other types.

Upon being selected to conform with the woman's specifications, the young man meets her at a designated spot and is free to use his own name or fictitious one. Thereafter he is responsible for the success of the evening.

Students of organic chemistry at Colby College who study under Prof. Lester F. Weeks have found that tea during an exam makes a test sweeter to take.

During one of the past three-hour exams, some of the students complained that they were too tired to think and write at the close of the test.

"I guess I'll serve tea next time," replied Prof. Weeks.

At the last exam, he and his two assistants passed out steaming cups of tea and dozens of filled cookies.

Shocker Shots By Marts

Young man—if you think you're cribbing, you don't know the half of it!

Flanked by Textbooks—Students Cram for Exams

BURNING the mid-night oil" which most of the University students began last Sunday night is the cause of many a furrowed brow and weary countenance.

Flanked on all sides by frowning mountains of textbooks, hapless undergrads pored over English, history, geology, French, Spanish, etc., last night, in an attempt to do a semester's work in one evening.

Drug stores in the hill district and elsewhere reported yesterday mounting sales of cigarettes, coffee, cokes, and other stimulants, the purpose of which, no doubt, is to aid in keeping the "studiers" from succumbing under the strain.

Speaker's Book On Sweden Is Now Available

'Swedish Co-operatives' Will Be Subject Discussed

Editor's Note—Mr. Childs, author of the book on which our review comments below, will appear in the University auditorium, Thursday evening, Feb. 11, under the auspices of the Student Forum. His talk will be "Sweden's Answer to Communism." Copies of "Sweden's Answer" may be found in the Morrison Library.

SWEDEN, THE MIDDLE WAY

The remote little country of Sweden does not figure much in world news. The Swedes have no taste for sensationalism, and they prefer to mind their own business.

Yet in a way, the very absence of sensationalism in Sweden is important and sensational news. For Sweden is an example to a lunatic world of what a nation may accomplish by making common sense and sound business the policy of the state.

The Swedes have managed to do all this by putting ideas to practical tests. They have adopted and adapted ideas from socialism, labor unionism, and state ownership.

The test of any idea is merely, "Will it work?" The country has remarkably few fanatics. The country is at present ruled by the Social Democrats. Strangely, these socialists are not concerned with Marxist ideology. They are more interested in the present welfare of the social order than in some vague dream of the perfect state.

The only thing for which Earl Wasserman, young instructor at the University of Baltimore, hasn't time is a hobby.

Thirteen New Courses Are On Schedule

Drama Survey To Be Offered Second Semester

Thirteen new courses in various subjects are being added to the schedule for the second semester, beginning January 26. Farm Income Up 12 Per Cent

$1001 Average Income For Last Year

American farmers averaged a net income of $1001 last year, according to statisticians in the U. S. Department of Agriculture who've been wearing out pencil and paper on the matter since the new year opened.

This compares, they say, with full-time wages of $1045 for fully employed workers in manufacturing industry.

Government payments did not constitute a predominant factor in the farm income, the department adds. Rental and benefit payments averaged only $82 per farmer in the total estimate of $1001 net income.

Despite the drought, farm incomes went up 12 per cent while expenses increased only 6 per cent, the report says. "The pay realized by the farmer for his work and capital in 1936 had a purchasing power apparently the highest in any of the last 13 years for which these income estimates are available."

X-Ray Discovers Raphael Painting

Critics have had a growing suspicion that the painting of St. Catherine hung in the Borgese gallery at Rome and attributed for 100 years to the schools of Perugino or Ghirlandajo, was something else again. This week the head of the gallery announced that X-ray had shown the work to be a masterpiece by Raphael.

In furnishing the room Mr. Staples selected furnishings of the frontier period— a rough plank ceiling, lights contrived of wagon wheels, and a stone for stone, authentic antique fireplace.

One of the gayest of the new season's social events will be the "Hobo" party to be given by the members of Pi Alpha Pi at the evening of Saturday, Feb. 6 at the Crestview Country Club.

Particularly marking the dance as unique and clever will be the costumes worn by the guests creating an atmosphere of fun and frivolity.

Bus Interview Why Do You Ride the Buses?

Grenville Darling, associate editor of the Sunflower, answers: I ride the buses because it is so much cheaper than driving a car to school. It is about six miles from my house to the school. It would cost about $50 to drive a car this distance, whereas I can ride the bus for a nickel.

I walk only a few feet from my front door to the corner and step into a heated bus. I don't have to shiver all the way to school then walk into my 8 o'clock feeling like an animated cake of ice.

Then during final week, I found that my mind was much clearer than it would have been if I had driven to school on the icy pavements and worried about whether I was going to get there. Frankly, I don't see how the average college student can afford not to ride the buses.

Hays Retains Central Lead; Pitt Is Second

Non-Conference Games Dominate Week's Schedule

Table with 2 columns: Team Name and Score. Fort Hays 3, Pittsburg 0, Southwestern 1, Wichita 0, Emporia Teachers 0.

Again Fort Hays copped the Conference spotlight this week by coming up from behind to beat Southwestern in the last few minutes of play and laying down a definite bid for the conference crown.

Pitt is still retaining their second place berth but they meet Hays next week. Hays' style of aggressive play will not meet the approval of the Pitt boys and they will probably not be able to keep up with the game, and some team will definitely go into the top berth in the percentage columns after the game.

Southwestern, by virtue of their one point loss to the conference leaders, slipped down to second place. Wichita and Emporia are still fighting a give away duel for the basement berth with Emporia one game behind. Wichita pulled out a surprise victory over the Washburn Ichabods to alleviate the loss they suffered from the Topeka boys the first of the season.

There are no Central Conference games scheduled this week, but both Emporia and Pitt will tangle with the spectacular Mexico City quintet. The Teachers will also play Warrensburg of Missouri.

National Group Approves Five For Membership

University Students Are Accepted By Pi Epsilon Delta

Five University students were honored by national recognition in the field of dramatics when they were approved by the National Council of Pi Epsilon Delta for membership. One of the newest honorary fraternities on the campus, the University of Wichita chapter of Pi Epsilon Delta was organized two years ago.

Membership in the fraternity is governed by active participation in dramatic art. In order to submit application for membership, the student must have done some outstanding piece of work in speech. A junior scholastic standing is required as well as a representative knowledge of University activities.

Neely, Hunt Included Those who were approved for membership this year are as follows: Miss Betty Neely, Miss Mary Margaret Schroeder, Miss Eleanor Martin, Cliff Hunt, and Hamble Fairleigh. The three girls are members of Alpha Tau Sigma sorority, while the men are members of Men of Webster.

Hunt in 'Juliet' Play Mr. Hunt had the male lead in "There's Always Juliet," besides other plays. Mr. Fairleigh has appeared in Shakespearean productions as well as other University performances in addition to acting as production manager of the players.

"We are more than pleased that five of our outstanding students have been recognized by the National Council of Pi Epsilon Delta. This is no organization to which one certain group may be elected. Active participation, merit, and accomplishment alone count when candidates are considered for membership," George D. Wilner, head of the department of dramatic speech and sponsor of the fraternity, said.

Billikins Are Now in League

Missouri Valley Passes On St. Louis

St. Louis University was admitted to the Missouri Valley Conference early this week, according to an announcement made by officials of that organization. The Billikins have long been free-lancers, this being their first trial at conference participation.

Wichita has been on the Billikin gridiron schedule for the last two years and will play them twice on the basketball court this season. The Billikins defeated the locals both on the field and the court so far this season but the rejuvenated Shocker quintet will probably show them more opposition in their return court battle.

St. Louis is a Catholic school with an enrollment of approximately 5,000 students. They will begin active Valley competition this spring in track and swimming competition.

Ice Rink Sponsors Collegiate Night

Every Wednesday night is "collegiate night" at the local ice rink according to an announcement made last week by managers of the rink. All university students will be admitted for 25 cents on presentation of their activity tickets.

Mexicans Fall Before Frosh

Yearlings Down Y.M.C.A. Team 44-36

Another victim was added to the list of the Shocker yearlings last Friday night, when they defeated the fast, but small, Mexican Y. M. C. A. team from Mexico City 44 to 36.

Spectators who witnessed the game were of the opinion that the game would have been a much closer one, and perhaps even reversed, had it not been for the great height advantage the frosh possessed.

Little Hector "Lolo" Rivadeneyra was high scorer for both teams with a total of nine baskets. He scored just half of his team's total score. Glenn Shocker-frosh forward, was second high with a total of 13 points.

In the opening minutes of play he scored 8 points before the visitors had tallied a single score. The second half was a different story, however, and the Mexicans ran circles around the frosh for a short time, but finally they weakened and the superiority of the frosh was not challenged again.

Highest Scores Are Submitted To Rifle Meet

Hinkle and Reed Instruct Sharpshooters In Afternoon

Scores of the ten girls who ranged the highest in the telegraphic rifle match held with Louisiana State University and the University of Michigan, last Saturday, have been sent in. Final results of the match have not been received. The average of the team was 92.8.

Football Rule Needs Change

Army Officer Offers A Plan for Scoring

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20—(ACP)—Asserting that the present football scoring system does not always allow the best team to win, Col. E. A. Hickman, F. D., United States Army, on duty as finance officer of the 3d Corps Area, has offered a new scoring method.

He suggested that the value of the touchdown and the field goal be reduced from six points to five and from three points to two respectively. Col. Hickman declared that a team could earn one point for each first down—no matter the excess yardage made, each forward or lateral pass completed and resulting in gain, each forward pass intercepted, each fumble recovered, and each kick that rolled outside within the ten yard line.

The team would also lose a point for fumbling and not recovering or for each fifteen yard penalty inflicted upon it.

Team Avenges Early Defeat With Victory

Shockers Defeat Ichabod Team By Score Of 27-24

In their return game, the Shockers avenged an early season defeat they suffered at the hands of the Ichabods last Saturday night at East High School when the Wichitans won 27 to 24. DeHon, Shocker guard, scored three goals in rapid succession, in the last quarter, to put the game on ice for Wichita.

Stewart did a nice job both offensively and defensively, and controlled the tip throughout most of the game. The Ichabods' passes were wild, and they attempted many long shots which fell short. Time after time the Shockers took the ball off the backboard, and went down the court in a slow easy fashion to score.

St. Louis Again The next home game will be Feb. 3, a return engagement with St. Louis University. The game will be played in the East High School gym and will start at 8:15 p. m.

Agency for Unemployed Gridsters Is Now Open

HERE'S something new and different on the professional angle of college athletics—an employment bureau for graduating high school and junior college football players who want to play their way thru college.

According to a story recently carried by the University Daily Kansan, the athletic department of the state school has recently been the recipient of a prospectus of a California organization whose purpose is to "place" likely gridiron material in reputable schools. The advertisement of the California bureau contained description of the "unemployed," including size, weight, age, experience, where they were graduating from and their success in that school.

Athletic authorities were asked to "bid" on any players in which they were interested. The bid, of course, being a scholarship and what type of a job they could offer any outstanding football player and the salary he could expect to receive.

Of course, this violates the regulations of the Central Conference or any other conference. It is definitely a trend toward professionalism in college football. So what? Every one admits that a college education is desirable—why shouldn't a football player utilize his ability to get that which is desirable?

Dana X. Bible, Nebraska U. mentor, is vacating his post to take the position at Texas University. At the Texas school he will receive $18,000 a year, $6,000 more than he was getting from the University of Nebraska. Certainly he is going there for the raise in salary. By the same analogy, why shouldn't a football player get as much as he can for his services?

Why not abolish these regulatory measures—they are ignored anyway? Admit that we pay our football players. If a player is willing to sacrifice his time and ability to compete for the enjoyment of others, why shouldn't he receive some type of compensation as he would in any other walk of life.

Shockers Lose To Pittsburg

Gorillas Win 39-34 In Fast Contest

Although they lost a bitterly fought basketball contest to the Pitt Gorillas by a 39-to-34 score, the Shockers started a desperate late period rally that was sensational enough to bring the spectators to their feet in a mad uproar.

Harris, veteran Pitt forward, led the scoring with a total of 18 points. Gawthrop, Shocker guard, and Rankin, Gorilla guard, tied for second, each with a total of 13 points.

At one point early in the game the Wichitans led 15 to 9, but at the end of the first half Pitt was ahead 23 to 17.
