

Swiss Drama, 'William Tell,' For Monday

Historic Tale Shown In Auditorium March 8

"William Tell," the first sound-film to be shown in the University Auditorium, will be presented next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The story portrays Switzerland's struggle for freedom, and the part their national hero, William Tell, played in the fight.

The German picture with English dialogue is being brought to Wichita by the German departments of the University and high schools.

Film Is Authentic

Photographed in the Swiss Alps, the film shows an authentic background of architecture, character and costume, using old buildings which have been standing since the Swiss revolt in 1307, it is said.

Switzerland was then governed by an Austrian tyrant, Gessler, who kept a pole with his hat on it in the marketplace to be revered by his subjects, William Tell, a member of a band pledged to resist the tyrant was brought before Gessler for not saluting the hat.

Tell's Courage Inspiring

It was then that he was given the opportunity to save himself and his son from death, the legend runs, by shooting an apple from the head of the boy. When Tell revealed that he had another arrow for Gessler if he had failed, he was not set free. The news of his courage inspired revolts throughout Switzerland.

William Tell escaped from his prison ship on Lake Lucerne during a storm and fled Switzerland to the tyrant and Austria.

European Actors in Play

William Tell is played by Hans Marr, his son by Detlef Willecke, noted boy actor, and Gessler, the tyrant, by Conrad Veidt, famous European actor.

"English dialogue makes 'William Tell' understandable," said Dr. Kurt A. Sepmeier, head of the German department. "The European filming technique will interest University theater patrons."

Tickets may be bought at the German office or from students in the department.

Council Decides On Additions To School Lounge

Pingpong, Radio Are Put In Commons For Students

Following a special meeting of the Student Council last Monday, Frank Malone, president, announced that the faculty had agreed to several liberal changes to be made in the administration of the new building. "Students will have several innovations at their disposal that will tend to make the new Union Building a gathering place during open hours and at noon," according to Malone.

The first of the improvements was the addition of a radio to the lounge last Monday. Orders have been placed for several magazines.

May Add Buses

A special junior-senior competitive convocation will be held in the near future and a prize of $5 will be awarded the winner. The judges will be picked impartially from the student directory and will include five faculty members and five students.

Because numerous complaints have been made by students to the effect that the buses were overcrowded immediately after noon, the council has asked the transportation company to investigate the situation, and if they are as crowded as reported, to put an extra bus on this line at noon during the week.

Ping-Pong In Lounge

A new ping-pong table has already been ordered which will be placed in the north-east corner of the men's lounge. Paddles and balls will be furnished.

Clayton Henri Staples, director of the art department will speak this afternoon following a tea given by the Student Council. All students are invited to attend this informal afternoon affair and take part in the discussion.

Plans were formulated to place a large bulletin board between the Science and Administration buildings which will replace the bulletins sent around to the classes and serve as a daily newsletter to the entire student body.

Vaccinations Meted Out to 665 Students

'Pass Cards' Needed For Admittance To Class

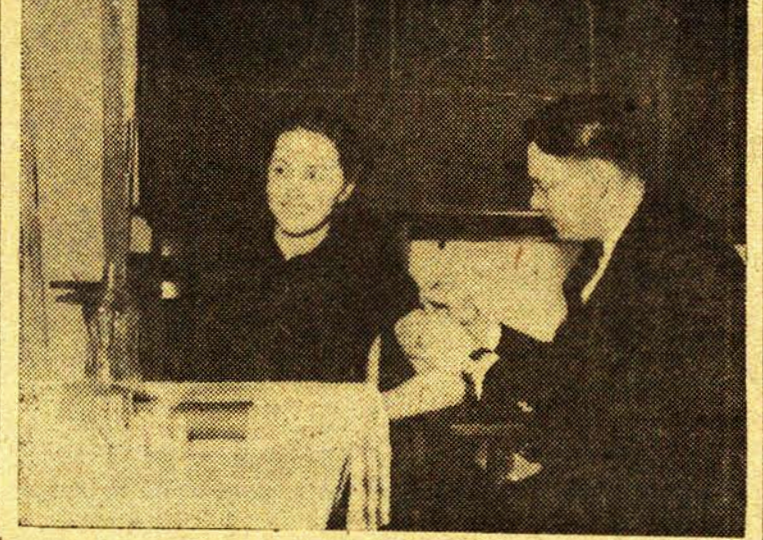

Wholesale "vaccinating" of University students took the spotlight of attention on the campus Monday and Tuesday after the ultimatum issued by the city physician Monday morning.

Two "discovered" cases of smallpox on the campus brought action from Dr. J. E. Wolfe, city physician, in the form of a notice, read to all classes, stating, "All students who have not had the disease, or who cannot produce evidence of successful vaccination within the past five years are required to show certificate of vaccination against smallpox or remain in isolation at home for a period of 25 days."

665 Vaccinated

During the two days when students were lined up in the gym, awaiting their turn to be "shot," 665 went through the line, 538 of these being vaccinated on Tuesday alone. When students came to school yesterday morning they were not allowed into classes unless their "pass" slips had been received by the instructor showing they had been vaccinated lately or during the past five years.

One positive case, and a probable case have been reported on the campus. Hugh Braley, junior in the College of Business Administration, has the disease, and Esther Kliever, junior in the College of Education, is being kept under close observation.

Men, for the most part, took the vaccination on the upper part of either arm. Women, however, preferred it on their left leg, so that no costume, other than a bathing suit, might later reveal a possible scar.

Seven Faint

Whistling up courage was common on general, despite the fact that the process of vaccination was rather painless. And in the matter of fear and faints, women held a somewhat better record than men. By the last available count, five men and two women had fainted "when their time came," or before. These persons were promptly revived by their friends and those in charge.

Students who didn't take advantage of the accommodation offered them Tuesday, went to their downtown physicians to be vaccinated. In order to attend classes yesterday, all cards for entrance to classes were issued from the registrar's office, and given to instructors.

ors, if the students had been vaccinated by the school physicians, otherwise it was necessary that the student himself procure the admittance card from the office and present it to his instructor.

One-Third Ousted

Approximately a third of the students were kept out of morning classes, because they had no admittance cards.

In charge of the vaccinations for women were Dr. Frances Schlitz, medical director for women, Miss Gladys Taggart and Miss Evelyn Hinton of the women's physical education department.

The men were treated by Dr. J. W. Shaw, school physician for men, and Dr. W. C. Bartlett, assistant.

Students being vaccinated Tuesday and Monday waited in line for their "shots." At the first desk they were recorded, then passing on in line, their arms were swabbed with acetone, and at the next stop an amount of vaccine placed on their upper arms. At the end of the line the physician was waiting with a glass needle which he used to puncture the skin, allowing the vaccine to enter the system.

Officers Name All Committees On Wednesday

Policy, Tradition Groups Formed to Handle New Needs

Announcement of senior class committees was made late Wednesday afternoon following the first official meeting of the senior class officers. Committee members were appointed by Cramer Reed, Helen Louise Williams, Lela Jean Chambers, and Hiram Gordon, senior class officers.

"The senior officers have organized two new committees this year," said Cramer Reed, president. "They are the policy committee and the tradition committee. The purpose of the policy committee is to form new policies, to be observed by the University students, that we, members of the senior class, feel would be beneficial to the University. The tradition committee," he continued, "was created for the purpose of establishing customs that will live and become traditional to the students here in this University."

Members of the policy committee are Lela Jean Chambers, Virginia Alford, Max Hatfield, Mercer Johnson, and Ruth Bryant. Mary Alice Naramore, Max Billinger, and Phyllis Barber are members of the newly-formed tradition committee. The other committees are: the cap and gown, announcement, activity, publicity, gift, and commencement. These committees are self-explanatory.

"A regular monthly meeting of the senior class will be held," said Reed, "and announcements of these meetings will be made in order that all seniors may arrange to attend."

Co-operative Purchasing Plan Used at Friends

HOW would you like to buy your text books, paper, pencils and other incidentals at cost? That is what 130 students are doing at Friends University this semester. They have organized a student-co-operative bookstore with a regular board of directors, and all the profits revert back to the members of the co-operative at the end of the year.

The plan, first sponsored by Prof. Harold B. Baker, head of the economic department of the Quaker school, was developed the first semester of this year but was not tried until the beginning of this current semester. Prof. Gerald H. Wood is serving on the board of directors of the newly organized student co-operative as faculty adviser.

Students Form Board

Three students from the economics department, Harold Hadly, Ruth Boisseau and Mildred Holmes, are serving on the board with another student, James Gordon, as chairman. The plan is operated similar to any corporation. The by-laws and constitution are formulated by the directors and all expenditures must be handled by them.

Any student enrolled in the school is eligible to become a member of the co-operative plan by paying one dollar which is put into the reserve fund. When the student graduates or leaves school his original contribution is returned to him. The co-operative

Five Students Are Now Police Regulars

Five cadets were appointed as regular officers on the police department, last week. The Cadets are Theo. Hall, Channing McAllister, Rolland Soule, Don Roseberry, and Charles Taylor.

Mr. Hall joined the department as a cadet. In August, 1936; the others were appointed in January, 1936.

"These promotions were based on the satisfactory performance of police duties and a good record in the subjects taken at the University," said Erlend Hanson, personnel officer of the police department. The officers will carry eight hours or more of University work until the police science requirements are completed. Mr. Hanson added,

Five Students Are Now Police Regulars

"We proved that University of Wichita students are not irreligious," said Dr. L. Hekhuis, dean of the college of Liberal Arts. "They think deeply and have definite and clear ideas of their own on religious problems. That crust of sophistication—indifference and unwillingness to show feeling or deep sentiment—prevents a true vision of modern youth."

Answers Are Unsigned

Students given the questionnaires were willing to answer the questions and express their opinions on religious ideas. Results show they accept most vital religious conceptions. The questionnaires were unsigned.

Of the one hundred students answering the questionnaire, 83 declared membership in a church, 55 attended irregularly and two not at all. Ninety-one voiced their belief in a God. Eighty-four stated a belief in immorality. Seventy-nine believe in prayer, 76 pray, and 73 say they have received answers to their prayer.

Ninety students declared that college courses do not cause a loss of religion.

Prexy Inserts A Day in Week

'Stop Day' Squeezed In To Relieve Tension

"Time out," says the president, and all school activities cease for 24 hours at Stephens College, Columbia, Mo.

"Not a bad idea," the girls agreed, and consequently no alarm clocks disturbed the early morning hours, no breakfasts are skipped, no classes or meetings are held, no plays are given—nothing happens. This is an official "Stop Day."

Maybe this new plan discourages any individual stop days such as many of the students on this campus are so prone to take. At any rate, Stephens is finding it a most agreeable idea. When lessons, meetings, plays, outside activities, and all those other things come at once until everything piles up, then it's time for a rest, the president decrees, and issues a notice to that effect.

There follows a day of utter peace and quiet when the girls keep to their rooms and read or sleep or catch up on all those little things they've been putting off for so long. As far as the calendar is concerned there is just a blank interval which all activities will be resumed as if there had been no interruption.

Students Here Have Interest In Religionism

Survey Shows College Does Not Produce Skepticism

In a survey of 100 students of the University, conducted by Mrs. Helen Blood Oakes, a graduate of '36, it was discovered that contrary to a prevalent belief, college students are not irreligious.

The principal questions concerned the more fundamental religious conceptions. They pertained to church membership and attendance; belief in God, in immortality; belief in the efficacy of prayer; and whether one loses his religion through the study of science, psychology, or philosophy in college.

'Afternoons' Are Started By Council

Staples Opens First Of University 'Forums'

Incorporating the Student Forum plan, the Student Council is sponsoring the first of a series of student "afternoons" with a lecture by Clayton Henri Staples, head of the art department, at the Auditorium this afternoon.

Mr. Staples will talk on color and his pictures that are now hanging in the main lounge of the Union Building. Following the lecture, the Student Council will give a tea in the Pine Room.

"This Thursday 'afternoon' is an effort to arouse student interest in forums," Frank Malone, president of the Council said. "If they prove to be popular with a number of persons, more programs will be planned. The Y. M. and Y. W. are considering holding only bi-monthly meetings and contributing to the forum programs."

The Convocation Committee of the Student Council is in charge of the enterprise. Stanley Diamond heads the committee, and Miss Maxine Setzer is vice chairman.

The tea following the lecture will be given by the Student Council, and if the forum is successful, similar functions will be given after each ensuing forum.

Barbs Pledged To Assist New Plan of Action

To wipe out "coalition-controlled" politics, campus Barbs have pledged their whole-hearted support and co-operation in the promotion of all-campus activities, Ronald Van Welden, Barb president, declared yesterday.

"Instead of being organized merely for political purposes as we have been in the past," Mr. Van Welden stressed at a Barb meeting Wednesday afternoon, "we must remember that campus politics are only subordinate to other campus activities."

Barbs Still Aid Council

"By supporting open forums, dramatics productions, and various Student Council projects," he continued, "we can render a distinct service to this University."

"The slogan must be changed from 'progressive factions' to 'progressive action,'" he said.

Advertising Campaign Is On

As an initial step toward this new goal, Barb leaders have been conducting an extensive advertising campaign this week for the University production, "Double Door," to be presented by the University Players Thursday and Friday nights.

The Barb president appealed to members of his organization for support in new Student Council projects.

Hillbrand Attends Annual New Orleans Meet For Teachers

Improvement of education—its interpretation of democracy, and new changes in the methods of teaching education was the theme of the meeting of the National Education Association which held its annual conclave in New Orleans Feb. 21 to 24. Earl K. Hillbrand, dean of the extension division of the University, represented the school at the meeting.

"It was a wonderful meeting," said Dean Hillbrand, "and the programs and addresses were unusually interesting. The speeches especially were of unusual interest because of their emphasis upon present day social changes and applications."

To Dean Hillbrand, the special attractions of the convention were the meetings of the National University Extension Association.

The convention also devoted much time to the entertainment of the visiting educators and the three highlights of the program were the pageant depicting the glory of Dixie; the breakfast served under the "dueling oaks" in the city park; and the distribution of 10,000 Camellias to the assembled educators by flower girls.

Modern Science Nurses Human Sympathy When Disease Appears

What might have been a serious epidemic of smallpox was undoubtedly thwarted this week by the timely application of modern medicine and science.

Time was, as everybody knows, when an outbreak of a contagious disease meant that everyone was frightened and beside himself. Human sympathy died.

Horrible tales from the Middle Ages on down have repeatedly impressed us with man's inhumanity to man when his own safety and well-being were threatened.

Now all is different. And it is science to the rescue. By starting in time and doing the job thoroughly, the enemy is whipped before it gets under way.

Play "Double Door" Is Well Worth Small Admission Charge

Your attention is called to the University Players' presentation of "Double Door" Thursday and Friday nights.

Such should not be necessary. But, lest some persons next week offer the lack-of-information excuse, we are stressing the dates once more.

University Players merit your support 100 per cent. Nowhere else in the mid-West may Wichitans see such consistently excellent dramatic productions.

Unfortunately, it is a well-known fact that outsiders, more than University folk, appreciate the work of Professor Wilner and his charges.

"I successfully believe that the presentation of 'There's Always Juliet' will stand as the best drama produced in Kansas this year," said Allen Crafton, head of the University of Kansas speech department.

Similar enthusiastic comments from outsiders follow every succeeding performance. "Double Door" is no exception.

Still, Shockers go blithely to downtown theaters, unmindful of the real entertainment they are missing in our own auditorium.

Professor Wilner and his Players are to be commended for continuing such first rate productions in the face of such discouraging lack of support from the University students.

Junior Prom Fills a Need In School Social Activities

Active classes, from the frosh on up, are making this an outstanding year on the University campus. Taking its cue from a revived senior class, the juniors are reviving the custom of a Junior Prom.

The project is entirely in keeping with the spirit of making the campus the focal point of entertainment for all students.

The revival of the custom of holding Junior Proms long-established in colleges over the nation, is welcomed with the feeling that this will be one worthy of being responsible for the continuance of the affairs.

Prof's Notes May Adorn Margins of Used Books

LOST your book? Then look askance at your neighbor's, and be careful of the second-hand texts you buy. This bit of wisdom follows from the experience of Dr. Earle R. Davis who sometime ago, missed his text for seventeenth century poetry from his office library.

Arriving at the first class last Tuesday without it, he asked Miss Velma Abel to look up a seventeenth century poem in her book. As he was about to read the poem, he started.

Surprise! Surprise! "Somebody's been writing my notes in the margin!" he exclaimed. Leafing thru the book, he remarked further, "And in my own handwriting!"

"I will gladly pay you the $2 for it," said Dr. Davis. "It has all the things I emphasize in class marked in it." "Maybe I won't sell it, then," replied Velma. Someone under a fictitious name had made the transaction thru the University book store, investigation revealed.

STUDENT Opinion

The Sunflower invites persons to express their opinions in this column which does not necessarily reflect the opinion of The Sunflower. Articles exceeding 150 words in length are subject to reduction.

To the Student Body: Your Council takes a real pleasure in announcing its several contributions to a more interesting campus life during the past few days. A new radio has been purchased for the Commons lounge; a ping pong table has been ordered and is being built, likewise for the lounge; also several subscriptions to popular magazines have been placed.

Further, your Council has been appreciative of the fine, whole-hearted, non-partisan support that the student body, almost in toto, has lent the Student Council during the year. And to the same degree has your Council endeavored to be wholly unpartisan and to have only the interests of the school at heart in the administration of your business.

Believing then, that there exists a sincere sense of trust between the student body and our Council we come forward asking your support in launching a new all-university project. It will start this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the lounge of the Commons. It's the forum for which you have been waiting! Its time may vary; its form of procedure will certainly vary according to your demands. But the important thing is that it is starting. It's objective? Another step in bringing students together on common grounds, with common problems in a more informal and friendly exchange of knowledge.

Its success will depend on your continued co-operation and well-combed constructive criticism. FRANK MALONE, President of the Student Council.

And with this added strain, my throat was not in good shape. My singing coach suggested that when choosing cigarettes, I select a light smoke. And so I changed to Luckies. Since then I've found that a light smoke and my throat get along together just fine."

CURRENTLY STARRING IN PARAMOUNT PICTURES' "SWING HIGH, SWING LOW"

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke. Miss Lombard verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera.

Bus Interview

Have you heard about the new "Thrifty Night" being sponsored by the Wichita Transportation Company and the Fox Theaters? Tom Barr answers, "Sure I've heard about it, I rode a bus to the show the other night. I certainly find it more convenient than driving a car and spending a half hour looking for a parking space and finally driving into a parking lot and paying an extra dime. I just get on the bus in front of my house and give the driver 40c for a ticket with two stubs on it for transportation both to and from town. You can buy these tickets at the offices of the Transportation Company at 142 N. Broadway and they will admit you to either the Miller, Palace or the Orpheum on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday nights after 7:00.

Miss Lisbeth Carney, prominent Alpha Tau, will preside as hostess at the Boston Store Main Floor Shoe Dept. this Saturday. All university girls are cordially invited by Miss Carney, who will help them select their new Easter footwear.

Wichita Out To Beat Old Cage Rivals

Game With Builders Will Wind Up Schedule

CONFERENCE STANDINGS

Team	W	L	Pct.
Fort Hays	8	1	.889
Thielsen	7	4	.633
Southwestern	5	4	.556
Wichita	3	6	.333
Emporia	1	11	.125

Bill Hennigh's boys can still win some measure of glory in the Central Conference by stopping the Southwestern Moundbuilders tomorrow night. If they fail to accomplish this feat, the Moundbuilders will be right at the top with the Pittsburg Gorillas and the Fort Hays Tigers.

The Shockers are all set however to kick over the dope bucket and trounce their arch rivals of the gridiron and the court. The Moundbuilders have a rather erratic record for this season but this does not alter the fact that they have thrice defeated the local quintet.

Shockers Ready to Go
In Wichita's first home contest, Gawthrop was unable to play because of an injury. In two latter contests, Barner and Stewart were out of the play. This week every man is able and ready to go.

The Shocker passing attack is being tuned up, and more shots are being found inside of the hoop. Gawthrop and Barner were in their best form of the season against Hays, but they didn't maintain their pace.

Moundbuilders Are Jinx
The Southwestern boys seem to hold the same jinx over the locals on the court that Wichita holds over them on the gridiron. Tucker and Traugott are the mainstays of the visiting squad and both have the reputation of being very good when they are hot, and good when they are just mediocre. Traugott was able to control the tip over Stewart in their former contests and proved to be a tricky one-hand artist.

The visitors have more to win than the locals but Hennigh reports that his boys are chagrined at losing their last two contests and will be on the court to take the Moundbuilders.

'W' Club Chorus Learns New Steps

Members of the "Football Frolic" chorus are working hard twice a week learning their steps in order that they may present a first class performance to their audience when the date for their show rolls around, according to Miss Evelyn Hinton, who is in charge of the chorus.

"The chorus will do three numbers on the program," said Miss Hinton. There will be a tap number, a regular chorus number, and last but not least they will present a Ted Shawn special. This will be a take off on a regular aesthetic dance number.

"The members of the cast will be costumed appropriately for each number," she said, "and they should present a spectacle wondrous to behold."

"Promer Smith and Harold Brill will be on the two ends of the chorus line. Harold Brill seems to be quite an aesthetic dancer and his performance in this number should be very enjoyable."

The Sporting Thing

By Floyd Snitz

We're probably sticking our necks way out, in presenting the Sunflower's All-Star C. C. Quintet, but here it is. Gawthrop, Wichita, and Johnson, Fort Hays, take the guard berths; Maletz, Pittsburg, and Tucker, Southwestern, get the forward positions, and Staab, Fort Hays, occupies the center post.

Stewart, Wichita's high scoring center, is shifted to the forward position on the All-Conference second team, and is joined by D. Mitchell of Fort Hays, Miller, Emporia, and Porter, Southwestern, get the guard berths, and Traugott, Southwestern, rates the center position. Ray DeHon and Grant Barner both came within a shade of breaking into the latter team, and it was only after considerable debate that they were left out.

Richard Staab and Pike Gawthrop were selected without a dissenting voice. Fort Hays' big boy, C. Mitchell, bothered plenty in making the choices.

Archie San Romani will be burning up the Central Conference cinders pretty soon now, and when he does watch those old records tumble. Romani runs the mile, two mile and anchors the medley, so the Hornets seem in a fair way to really go to town. His victory last week over the pride of several nations proves one thing—that if Cunningham HS burned out, as many critics hint, another Kansan will be ready to step into his place.

Hennigh's lads have not been spared the "shots" from the campus physician, and we're wondering what they will do in the Southwestern affair tomorrow night. Perhaps the added virus will be enough to beat the old Moundbuilder jinx. At least, in these games Barner and Gawthrop will be rarin' to go, instead of wasting away on the sick lists.

Members of Alpha Tau Sigma Have Open House Sunday, Feb. 28

The second in the series of open houses held by members of Alpha Tau Sigma sorority was given in the home of Miss Mary Alice Naramore, president, last Sunday afternoon.

Members of the organization and any guest they wish to bring are invited. The next open house will be a week from next Sunday, March 14.

Cagers 'Shot'

Every Shocker cage player was vaccinated early this week, but this will not prevent the team's playing the Moundbuilders here tomorrow night.

Observers and specialists have announced themselves as unable to predict what effect the "shots" will have on the players.

Gridsters Are Champs

In the final game of the intramural basketball season, the Gridsters administered a 23-19 defeat to the Filial Flames, and won the championship, hands down.

This is the third straight year in which the Gridsters have captured first place.

Hoffman Gets Big Squad For Track Season

Varsity Men Give Hope For Good Cinder Exhibitions

Tracksters at the University of Wichita have begun their stride and are going through strenuous workouts each afternoon in preparation for a stiff season.

"There are 25 frosh and varsity men out each afternoon now, and as soon as basketball is over, I look for several more boys to report," said Track Coach Nordy Hoffman. "I am well pleased with the present turnout and the work they're doing," he said, "and we are looking forward to the time when the weather is warm enough to go outside."

There will be at least six meets in which the Shocker trackmen will participate, according to Hoffman. These will include two dual meets, one triangular meet, the K. U. and Drake relays, and the Central Conference meet. There is a possibility of having one or two more schools on the schedule and an announcement to this effect may be made soon.

"At present," Hoffman said, "the lettermen I'm expecting to return are Co-Captains Nye and Eikermann, M. Johnson, Papin and Buck Jones." Other squad men from last year's team are Diamond and Amsden. New men out this year include Myers, Barner, Campbell, Andrews, Woodard, Pickett and Farrow. When outdoor track starts, he continued, "the boys may receive instruction anytime from 2 p. m. until 6 p. m."

This list of men includes everything from weights to distance runners. Coach Hoffman urges that more men report for track. It is now possible to check equipment out from Mr. Majors every afternoon.

An intramural track meet will be held some time during the third week of March, he stated, and teams from Greek letter organizations will be entered just as they were last year.

WOMEN'S Sport Glances

By Laura Howard
Rifle takes the top again! Girls privileged to take the Kemper trip for the rifle match, March 12 and 13, will be selected tomorrow. Basis of the selection will be high scores made by the girls on the rifle team. Five fortunate girls! Here's luck to all of them.

Incidentally, the boys' rifle team and the girls' team are having a match tomorrow afternoon. Alice Jane Brown was the first to make a "possible," a perfect score, in rifle. Since then, there have been several perfect scores. "The girls' aim is improving all the time," commented Miss Hinton.

The next telegraphic rifle match will be held Saturday. Official scores then will be sent to the University of Washington, the University of Kentucky, and Missouri University, the competing schools, for comparison with their scores.

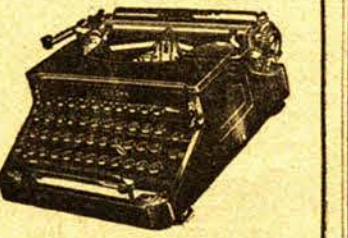

The undefeated D. O. basketball team is really going to town! The game Monday with the Vikings was a honey—score 21 to 23. Girls' basketball games were postponed yesterday because of vaccination. The gym looked like a hospital.

Frances Wright, president of Orchesis, is still "walking on air," to use her own term, from the exhilaration of the Humphrey-Wiedman dance recital at Emporia, Monday.

"I feel that a tradition in modern dance was made there," she declared.

Mrs. Clara Sepmeier will dance at the Symposium. Dance enthusiasts on the campus are eager to see this talented artist perform.

Goldbugs Are Victors Over Hennigh's Men

Game Is Characterized By Fast, Rough Playing

If the Shocker cage team had maintained the same pace through the last ten minutes which they set during the rest of the Goldbug game, they wouldn't have wound up on the short end of the 39-32 score. As it was, however, they slowed up enough to permit the Goldbug aggregation to slip in for set-ups, and another loss went into the records.

In a game that was in turn, flashy, rough and ragged, the Shockers grabbed the lead and held on to it tenaciously for approximately three quarters of the game. In the first half Stewart, Shocker pivot man, consistently outjumped Dunford, the six-and-a-half-foot Oklahoman.

Wichita Leads in First Half

With Stewart and Gawthrop of Wichita, sinking shots from all angles and positions the Wichitans left the court the first half with a 21-17 lead.

A total of 32 fouls were called during the game with the Bugs receiving 15 of the penalties.

Shockers Lose To Tiger Team

Wichita Men Fail After Brilliant Half

Again the Wichita Shockers fell before the Tiger jinx, this time after showing their best form of the season in the opening stanza last Thursday at the East High gym.

For a time it looked like the locals couldn't miss long shots, shorts and follows all trailed into the Hays basket. Gawthrop, Barner and DeHon passed and shot almost flawlessly. Two minutes before the end of the opening period the locals led 22 to 14. Then came the beginning of the deluge—when the whistle sounded ending the half, the score stood 22 to 20.

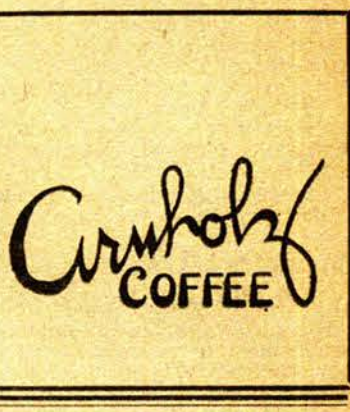

After that the Shockers might almost as well have left the floor. Everything the visitors touched turned into baskets. They couldn't miss. During the opening period all the visitors' shots rebounded harmlessly off the rim of the basket. In the second half there were no rebounds—balls that pass thru the net don't rebound.

Johnson, a Tiger guard, led the comeback by tossing in six in a row, most of them from outside the normal basket area. D. Mitchell, a sub forward did his bit to make the visitors forget that Staab wasn't in the game by virtually carrying the ball thru the hoop, to ring up eight points.

It was not until 13 minutes of the second half had been played and the Tigers were leading 38 to 23 that the locals got back into the contest. After that both teams scored intermittently but the game had already been won.

Humming right along

All over the country, you hear more people mention the refreshing mildness and the pleasing taste and aroma of Chesterfield cigarettes.

You hear somebody compliment Chesterfields at a party. Another time, the grocer tells you it's a darn good cigarette. Or you see a group of men on a street corner, most of 'em smoking Chesterfields.

Because they have what smokers like, Chesterfields are humming right along . . .
