Air Corps Staff Arrives to Plan For New Group

Five Commissioned Men Set up New Offices On Campus

Altho military secrecy shrouded exactness, preparations for the arrival here of the first unit of Air Corps training students, expected here the last of this week or the first of next, are being made with all possible speed.

The Army Air Force personnel which will be in command of the cadets has arrived and established headquarters in what was formerly the women's gymnasium. The staff is:

Commanding officer: Maj. H. J. Watters.

Commissioned personnel: Capt. Leland A. Whitney, First Lieut. Robert L. Davis, Jr., First Lieut. John J. Doran, Second Lieut. Fay H. Hurt.

Non-commissioned personnel: Technical Sgt. Ben D. Galloway, Staff Sgt. John T. Boczak, Sgt. Henry J. Kristak, Sgt. Robert E. Nicholas, Sgt. David L. Rumely, Sgt. Harlton L. Newman, Sgt. Clifton W. Taliaferro.

Schedules for the classes of the first group of training students are almost completed, according to Dr. Worth A. Fletcher, registrar.

"According to my information," said Dr. Fletcher, "the men will be considered as regularly enrolled students and will be allowed to use the Library and other facilities open to University students."

The training schedule, which will be conducted without interrupting the regular curriculum, will fall into four major groupings: academic, physical, military, and aerial. More than 700 hours of academic and military instruction will be given the students during their five-month stay here.

The students will be enrolled as privates and remain such until they have completed their course. Then they will be sent to one of the flying training commands classification centers as cadets and assigned to training as pilots, bombardiers, or navigators.

Play, 'Private Lives,' To Be Presented On University Campus

"It is better to have loved and learned than never to have loved at all" has often been a matter for debate, but just who to love seems to be the main problem for the characters of the forthcoming University production, "Private Lives," the spicy "French Riviera Story" to be presented March 11, 12 and 13 in the University Auditorium.

"Private Lives" is essentially a farce which portrays the hysterical lives of the smart set in which everyone is as smart as the author, Noel Coward. Virtuous people are bores in the comedy which bristles with witty snips and jabs of dialogue of an upside-down world.

Portraying the parts of jealous lovers, William Hewitt and Katherine Nash as Elyot and Amanda, stage a battle of blows, indulge in mad name-calling in the crusty comedy now in rehearsal, under the direction of George D. Wilner, professor of dramatics.

Gas Ration Books To Be Renewed

If you have not already reapplied for gasoline, do so without fail today. All "C" books issued December 1 expire March 1 and must be renewed now. Many "B" books also expire March 1.

Tire inspections for "B" and "C" books must be completed by February 28. Get a blank from Max Milbourn's office and fill it out immediately, attaching your tire inspection record to the renewal application.

However, if your status has changed and you will need more or less miles, then you will have to reapply all over again. If there is very little change, this will not be necessary.

If any students are looking for a car to ride in or riders for their car, they should contact the committee headed by Ed Costello.

All Girls Must Check Addresses

Each and every girl on the campus must check her activity card in the Dean of Women's office as soon as possible, according to a report from Miss Grace Wilkie, Dean of Women.

It is very important that the correct addresses of all women in the University, regardless of class or social affiliation, be on file in the Dean's office. The list of activities entered on this card also must be corrected and completed.

Girls can report to Miss Mabel Jones, secretary to Miss Wilkie, anytime during the day.

Civil Service Seeks Recruits

Test for New Position To Be Given At Wichita

In a move to recruit college graduates, especially women, for professional service in federal offices, the U. S. Civil Service Commission today announced a new Junior Professional Assistant examination to be given at Wichita, Mr. H. V. Rice, local secretary reported.

"War demands for college-trained persons have created unusual opportunities for women in government offices," Mr. Rice said, "and those who have completed or are about to complete a full four-year college course in any field are urged to take the Junior Professional test and make their qualifications available to appointing officers filling Civilian War Service positions."

Applicants with courses of study in public administration, business administration, economics, economic geography, library science, history, public welfare, statistics, and mathematics are especially sought. Junior Professional Assistants start at $2,000 a year plus overtime compensation, making the total salary $2,433 a year.

Full information and forms for applying may be obtained from Mr. Rice at Room 240, Federal Building, from first or second-class post offices, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

A committee of Blue Key members have been meeting to settle all social and financial obligations of the organization on the University campus.

Sororities Are To Sell Bonds On Certain Days

Queen Candidates Are To Have Charge Of Booths

Interest in the local angle of the contest to determine the National Collegiate Bond Queen picked up considerably this week with the establishment of regular days and hours for the operation of the bond booth in the Administration Building by members of the organizations directly concerned.

Alpha Tau Sigma operated the booth yesterday, and Delta Omega has it today. The other organizations having candidates in the contest will operate it, one after another, on an alphabetical basis, it was decided at a meeting of representatives of the six groups Monday.

The booth will be open for the sale of bonds and stamps from the second to the fifth hour, inclusive, by representatives of the six groups directly concerned. But anyone may buy from those at the booth on any day and have his votes recorded for the candidate of his choice.

The contest will extend through Friday, March 19, after which the local winner will be certified for the national division of the contest. Participation in the national contest will be on the basis of photographs of the various local winners in colleges and universities over the nation.

A group of professional photographers then will choose the National Collegiate Bond Queen from these photographs. She will be presented a $50 war bond and her picture will appear on the cover page of the Collegiate Digest which, with the Associated Collegiate Press, is sponsoring the campaign.

Mrs. Sievers Has Oral Masters Test

Mrs. Callie Beaver Sievers, wife of the former psychology professor at the University, appeared before the Committee on Graduate Studies for an oral examination for her master's degree recently, according to Dean Earl K. Hillbrand, chairman of the committee.

The subject for her thesis which she wrote was "Predictions of Reading Disabilities in Kindergarten Boys."

Girls to Operate Bond-Stamp Booth

Each sorority and the I. S. A. will take turns operating the bond and stamp booth in the Rotunda of the Administration Building during the period the Bond Queen contest is underway, according to arrangements made this week.

Anyone may purchase stamps or bonds at the booth at which time ballots properly filled out by the sellers will be received and may be cast in the ballot box in the cashier's office for any candidate. The organization selling the stamps or bonds will be held responsible for correctly filling in the ballots by using a system of numbered ballots.

The schedule for operating the booth for next week is as follows:

- Feb. 24—Wednesday, Alpha Tau.
- Feb. 25—Thursday, Delta Omega.
- Feb. 26—Friday, Kappa Rho.
- March 1—Monday, I. S. A.
- March 2—Tuesday, Pi Kap.
- March 3—Wednesday, Sorosis.
- March 4—Thursday, Alpha Tau.

Elliott Is Chosen For Civilian Post

Consultants Are Named For Specialized Program

Roy W. Elliott, comptroller and co-ordinator of the Civilian Pilot Training service now known as the C. A. A. War Training Service, was named one of the 18 civilian consultants in the United States for the Army Specialized Training Program.

Mr. Elliott attended a three-day conference in Chicago last week where negotiations between the A. S. T. P. and various colleges were studied.

This appointment went into immediate effect. In this capacity Mr. Elliott will go to other schools and aid in the negotiation of contracts.

When the expected army men arrive here, one of the other 18 men will come to represent the army, Mr. Elliott announced.

Mr. Elliott has achieved national recognition in this field. He is the regional co-ordinator for seven states and serving as the co-chairman of the national co-ordinators committee.

Tade and Shuler To Present Recital

Arlene Tade, vocalist, and Frances Shuler, pianist, will be presented in a joint recital in the Commons Lounge at 4 p. m. Sunday, February 28.

Miss Tade is a student of Edna Woolley Lieurance, assistant professor of voice, and will graduate from the University in summer school. She will be accompanied by Myrabel Hollowell.

Miss Shuler is a student of Mabel Whitney Redfield, instructor in piano, and is a member of Sorosis sorority.

Miss Tade's program will consist of:
O Men From the Fields.....Trehanek
Silent Strings.....Bantock
Romance.....Debussy
Amarilla.....Caccini
Caro Caro Il Mia Bambine.....Guarneri
Vibinella.....Sibella
Aria: Ah Non Credeu Mirariti.....Bellini
My Heart Is a Silent Violin.....Fox
I Thought of You at Fall of Night.....Pallist

I've Had Today.....Daniel
A Memory.....Ganz

Miss Shuler's program will consist of:
Nocturne in F Major.....Chopin
Spinning Song.....Mendelssohn
Eroikkon.....Sjogren

Sunday's recital is the first of a series of five recitals to be presented on successive Sunday afternoons during the coming weeks.

Dr. E. H. Northley, from the Calco Division of the American Cyanamid Company, gave a lecture at the Science Hall last Tuesday evening on "The Chemical Side of Chemotherapy." In his lecture he discussed the war time drugs, sulfonamide derivatives, and the long process from initial synthesis to the final production for everyday use.

Red Cross Drive Inaugurated On W. U. Campus

Special Committee Of Council Directs Activities

University students and faculty members will be given an opportunity to contribute to the American Red Cross War Fund Drive on the campus from Monday, March 1, to Friday, March 5, according to Dean Earl K. Hillbrand. The goal for Wichita has been set at $280,000.

The student drive will be directed by a special committee of the Student Council. Members of the committee are: Virginia Loveland, chairman; Ed Costello, Carolyn Morris, Bill Waldron.

A booth will be set up in the Rotunda of the Administration Building at which students may make their contributions. All contributions from faculty members should be left with Mrs. Marie Mueller in Dean Hillbrand's office.

"In the past the students have done their share in contributing to the Red Cross," Francis Hesse, president of the Student Council, said. "I am sure they will do their part now that larger funds for the Red Cross are needed for the important work this organization is doing locally, nationally and internationally."

Debate Squad Attends Meet

Megaffin, Munroe, Noone, And Berkowitz Go To Nebraska

To consider whether America will enter a co-operative peace scheme after the war will be the subject of a debate between the University debate squad and numerous large midwestern school teams at Lincoln, Neb., this weekend, Dr. Forrest L. Whan, debate coach, said.

"John Megaffin and Bill Berkowitz will defend the affirmative side. Jim Noone and Al Munroe will take the negative side. These four men tied for first place at the Texas Tournament," Dr. Whan added.

The men will also enter discussion groups on the question of drafting both men and women into industry, agriculture and armed services, Dr. Whan concluded.

The Nebraska Tournament replaces the Iowa State Tournament which was canceled because of gasoline rationing.

Fulton Speaks To Y. W. Cabinet

Brank Fulton, traveling secretary of the World Student Service Fund, visited the campus, Friday afternoon to discuss plans for the W. S. S. F. drive which will be sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. on the campus in the near future.

Mr. Fulton told of methods used to get books, paper, pencils and other school supplies to prisoners of war in Germany and other countries. He pointed out China's great need for aid if students are to be educated to run the new government.

"Student victims of war are receiving help in 16 different countries—this aid including not only books but food and medical supplies," he said. "Students in ten different countries are aiding other less fortunate students by their contributions."

Mr. Fulton was a guest at Mann House for dinner Friday. The boys of Mann House will aid the Y. W. C. A. in their efforts to make this W. S. S. F. drive a success.

Dr. Earl K. Hillbrand addressed the annual Trinity Methodist Men's banquet at Hutchinson Wednesday night. His subject was "The Place of the Church in the Reconstruction Period." This banquet is held each year during the Week of Dedication, a movement authorized by the Council of Bishops.

Point System Aids Hoarders

CONSCIENTIOUS Wichita housewives are good and sore about one aspect of the new food rationing provisions.

They don't like the idea of deducting only an 8-point stamp from Ration Book No. 2 for each can of fruit or vegetables in excess of the five allowed for each member of the family. For it takes from 12 to 21 points to "buy" such a can with the ration card.

Consequently, those people who hoarded cans of food before the rationing program began will not be penalized much—in fact, they have that food on a "cheaper" point basis than their friends who didn't hoard can possibly get their food.

This is tantamount to encouraging hoarding; it amounts to a premium for the person who kept more food than he was allowed. And it makes a sap of the person who complied with the rules and the requests in a conscientious way.

"Taint right."

A Hint to the Wise

DON'T college students have any standards of decency or fairness? Of course they do—that is, the majority of them do. But there just isn't much decency or fairness in taking money out of girls' purses. It seems that college students should learn higher values of honesty as well as chemistry and history.

One girl had $12 taken out of her purse last week. The money didn't even belong to her, but was collected from a group of her friends to buy a gift. Now she will have to work eight to ten hours on four Saturdays to make this amount up. Is there any justice in that?

There is absolutely no need for anyone to take another's money. Jobs are not only available but superfluous. University officials are especially anxious to fill these part-time and full-time positions.

The solution may be for our coeds to watch their purses more carefully. However, at least in several instances, the girl left her purse lay only momentarily while she performed some simple task in line with her job or position on the campus. The thief or thieves are clever and fast.

We are fighting a war because one nation thought it could steal its neighbor's land. Who is the Hitler or Hirohito on this campus who thinks he or she can take another's money? Their downfall, too, is eminent.

Sunbonnets and Spades

VICTORY gardens, seed catalogues, and fertilizers all got a tremendous boost this week with the announcement of the first point rationing system to which our generation ever has been subjected.

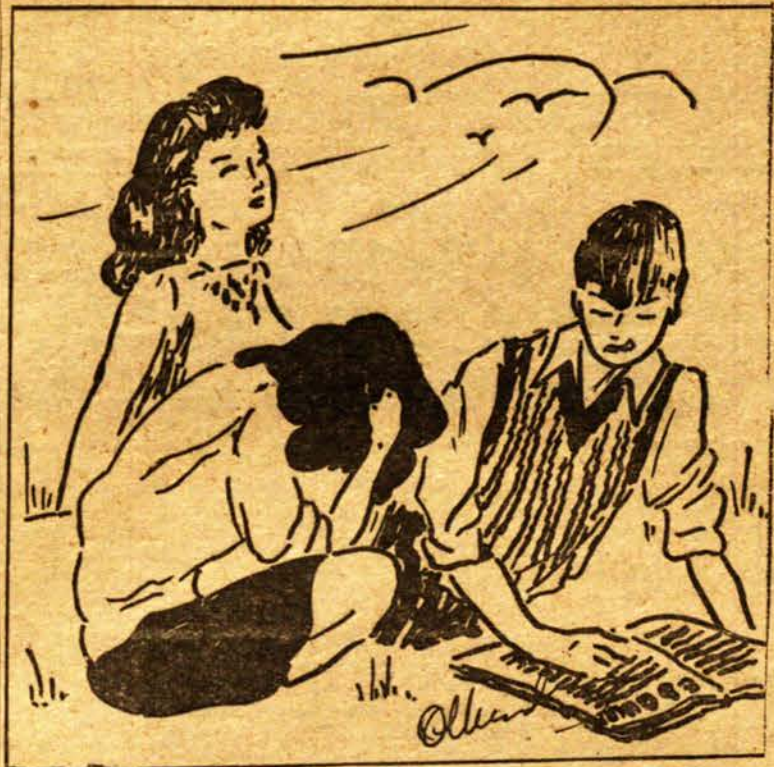

It's a good thing the information came in the spring. The prospect of facing a long winter with only four or five cans of fruit and vegetables a month might not be entirely comfortable. But in the spring, tra-la-la. We'll grow our own.

Of course, it'll be fun—to start with. When the sunshine is mellow and the earth seems friendly, it's nice to work outside. But when the sun gets scorching hot, and the weeds flourish while everything else languishes, that's another song.

But even so, we'll produce a lot. We'll have to. And it will be a helpful experience, for it will teach Americans some real appreciation for the bounties of Nature which they too long have taken for granted.

If you see an airplane flying backward, it is, according to the Saskatoon Star, an Italian pursuit plane.

Grad Figures in Air Battle

MAJ. JACK WERTZ, '39, who is now executive officer of the P-39 Aircobra Group in Africa is reported to have figured prominently in the battle of Sidi Bouzid.

The Aircobras stage extreme low-level attacks through heavy concentrations of anti-aircraft fire where parachutes are of no value when a plane is hit.

Major Wertz directed the attack which occurred when the group was passing over an American Spitfire base enroute to the front and spotted a group of Messerschmitts bombing the field. They joined the Spitfires to shoot down two raiders.

He was a member of Scabbard and Blade while on the campus.

Tom Kinkaid and Robert Dewey, both of '42 have been commissioned as ensigns at the U. S. Naval Reserve Midshipmen's School in New York City. They received their training on the famous USS Prairie State. Both have been in Wichita on stork leaves. They are Phi Upsilon Sigma alumni and Kinkaid was president of the Student Council during the last semester of his senior year.

Lieut. James A. Green, '42, recently completed his officer's training at Ft. Benning. He visited Wichita a few days before going to his new assignment at Ft. Blanding, Fla. Green majored in geology here and was a member of Pi Alpha Pi fraternity.

Pvt. Jack Kelly, '34, formerly stationed at Santa Rosa, Calif., with the 144th Infantry, is now to be addressed at: Hdq. Co. CT1444, Atlantic Beach, Fla. Kelly writes that he still prefers California for scenery and climate, but he thinks the Atlantic more beautiful than the Pacific.

Lieut. (jg) Lamont R. Johnson, '29, who recently completed his naval training at the University of Arizona, has gone to South Boston, Mass., and may be addressed there at: U. S. N. T. S. (Local Defense) Receiving Station.

Helen Hibbard Shriver, '41, is employed by Beech Aircraft Corporation as receptionist in the personnel office. While a student here Mrs. Shriver was a member of I. S. A. and also Alpha Epsilon, honorary secretarial science sorority.

Ernest Frederick Bloss, '42, has been promoted to first lieutenant in the engineer amphibian command of the U. S. Army at San Francisco, Calif.

Mr. Bloss was a captain in the ROTC band.

Robert L. Jones, '42, who recently enlisted in the army air corps, has been inducted at the Selman Field, La., pre-flight school.

His address is: Squadron D-1 Class 43-11; A. A. F. P. F. S. (B-N); Selman Field, Monroe, La.

Francis Wyszynski, '34, now Mrs. Francis Smysor, has been appointed promotional secretary of the girl scout council. She studied girl scout work at the University and later taught at Cheney, Cunningham, and Kingman. She spent her summers at Turkey Creek

Typed on a Wednesday

By JOAN O'BRYANT

SEVERAL weeks ago two Republican gentlemen, Representative Wadsworth and Senator Austin, introduced in Congress a sweeping war manpower act. Their bill is no half-hearted effort to pacify Mr. McNutt; it is alive and kicking and it is the sincere attempt of these two men at a practicable and workable solution of our strained manpower situation. The bill, as now stated, recommends the use of men over draft age, and women between the ages of 18 to 50, in industry and on the farm, wherever they are needed.

No one can deny that some sort of all-out measure is needed, that it is about time the government registered the women of America and had at least some sort of tabulation on womanpower. The measure is not full of "ifs" and "buts," and when Messrs. Wadsworth and Austin say they may draft women between the ages of 18 and 50, they probably mean that, with on exceptions mentioned. So America's college students are in the turmoil again. There has been no mention made, in written accounts of the bill, of excepting girl students from this draft, and it is even quite possible that Wadsworth and Austin, in their eagerness, forgot the great army of young women in American colleges and universities. It is also possible, but certainly not advisable, that this army of students may be snatched from the class-room and the seminar and set down, pell-mell, on the assembly line. Which brings us around again to the question of the liberal education during a critical wartime.

Joan O'Bryant

THE short-sighted person sacrifices everything, often including the future, for what seems to be the urgently necessary thing at the moment. The sage warrior plans the victory, but looks beyond to see the reason for the victory. In a democracy, where every one is free to speak his mind, we have had our isolationists, just as we have had far-sighted leaders, for a democracy is a melting pot of all kinds of men and all kinds of minds. We can only hope that those men who were blind to military disaster before Pearl Harbor are now looking beyond the ultimate military victory are seeing also the victory of ideals and of a way of life, the reason for this struggle in the first place.

WE ARE all definitely convinced that we are fighting a war in the name of civilization and are fighting against ignorance and barbarism. We realize that our democracy is full of imperfections, that it often is fettered with red tape, but man is an animal with a free will and democracy hands him the rope; if he hangs himself we are sorry, but he had a chance to do otherwise. We have built a type of civilization, full of flaws, but based on fundamentally fine concepts. Civilization cannot grow in the same soil as ignorance; we cannot have an uneducated nation and still retain the thing we are fighting to save. No great civilization in history has long remained great without intellectual curiosity and liberal knowledge.

We must keep a few people in our schools, even if it must be only a few promising ones, to keep alive this thread of intellectual curiosity and liberal knowledge. Our future is as dependent on this as it is on military victory.

THE lot of a white collar girl in Washington is not exactly a happy one. Her folks at home fondly think she's getting a heavy tan from sharing the spotlight with big shots, growing giddy in the whirl along embassy row, and making big money. Those who don't know her think she's primping on taxpayer's money. Congressional show-biz picture her as a cross between a reliever and a shiftless squatter.

Actually, she's a hard worker who has a tough time looking trim on $1,440. She gets homesick more often than she'll admit. Her morale may not be much—but it's all she has to keep her going.

And now her morale has had three quick lifts. Congress raised her pay by giving her time and a quarter for overtime she's worked unpaid for months. A hospitality committee has finally started working to help her meet service men—an important matter in a town without enough young men to go around. And no less a personage than Mr. F.D.R. has told Congress to its face that government workers are doing jobs that must be done to win the war.

High time, too, say the government girls.

SOMETHING new has been added to Creighton University's accelerated wartime study program.

It's a disciplinary measure which punishes each unexcused absence from an academic or military class with two hours of physical exercise or campus work. In the case of undergraduate coeds, each unexcused absence brings a $1 fine, which may be worked out in library or office work.

Explaining the new measure, believed to be unique among American universities, the Very Rev. Joseph P. Zuercher, president, commented:

"In these war years there is no room in college for loafers. The armed forces have been co-operative in the matter of permitting serious-minded young men to remain in college, with the single view in mind of preparing themselves adequately for future service as officers. We intend, on our part, to see that the students make such preparations as adequately and as speedily as possible."

J. B. Trotter and Jessie Neal (an interruption . . . this is getting to be steady . . . the couple, we mean) . . . Ronny Sohn and Wanda Cline. Those who walked (period) were Betty Hannah and Ted Edwards. Also seen drifting around during the weekend were Betty Richey and Ed Costello and Katherine Nash and Bill Krepps.

WE'RE real happy to see Mary Jane Mader and Charles Goodrum keeping steady company these days. . . and others seen around are Bill Knightly and his harem. . . but definitely, And . . . Gene Stienke dashes madly over the campus every afternoon in search of RuAnn Bueke. . . we hope he has success some day.

IT SEEMS that three coeds have discovered a unique way to polish the old, trite, well-gnawed-upon apple. They informed Dr. Davis that all three had dreamed of him the night before . . . now this poor English teacher is going to a psychiatrist to see what can be done. . . One of the girls was heard humming "I Had the Craziest Dream."

HAVE you heard the new name Bill you-know-who has acquired. . . it's Burpowitz . . . conceived by the person with whom he is teuding and who suggested we give a little bit of publicity to the fact . . . we're going to start charging for requested plugs. . . No, no, no, we don't rent horses at The Sunflower office.

WE HEAR that Bill Ellis has the quaintest little compartment in his limousine in which he keeps all sorts of lovely things as Alma Ruth Funk recently discovered. Russ Moss is putting forth the complaint that his name is never in this dirt dish. Note, Mr. Moss, anybody who does nothing but sit in a rocker with his feet on a footstool can't expect to be notorious. . . by the way, it is a lovely, comfortable chair!

WELI., we tried to ramble along long enough so we could stay up here at Lookout Point to watch for the Air Corps so we could give you any advance information, but our neck is kinda tired since we have to twist around all the other girls to see anything. Phyllis Merry isn't interested. . . If we had received four long-distance calls from a soldier over the weekend, we wouldn't be interested either . . . or would we? We think we'd better put a muffler on since the feed-bag has worn out. Be seeing you.

Matrix Members To Have Meeting

Matrix, honorary journalism sorority, will meet at the home of Virginia Braitsch, Apartment 9-D, in the Hillcrest Apartments, at 8 p. m., Monday, March 1, according to the president, Margaret Burress.

Four pledges, Elizabeth Rienets, Marg Johnson, Marie Martin, and Earline Duke will be initiated. Following this plans for a Founders Day meeting on March 15 will be formulated. All alumni will be invited to attend this anniversary meeting, which will be held in the home of the sponsor, Mrs. Leo W. Allman, 5100 East Third.

Barbara Slusser and Virginia Braitch are planning the social activities for the March 1 meeting.

The $1,000 goal set for the sale of war bonds and stamps in the Hunter College "Buy a Jeep" campaign was surpassed by 50% three weeks before the drive was supposed to be over.

TO DATE the W. U. campus seems like the bride waiting at the church for the long-expected groom . . . what are we waiting for? . . . Why, the Air Corps, of course. At least we have a few minutes more to tear down, build up, move cots in, and move people out . . . some fun for everyone but those concerned. We heard the same rumor about the size of the group being repeated several times and each person added a few hundred men . . . but a rumor is just like a balloon . . . it grows with each puff of the breath.

THE most interesting incidents we overheard (now where did that word "over" come from?) were those connected with a number of Delta Omega girls who went to Camp Phillips as USO hostesses, Friday night. Dorothy (Dolly) Wallace was chosen as sweetheart.

Final Shocker Game at East

St. Benedict's Squad Here Saturday Night For Last Contest

Shocker basketball players will engage in the final game of the season Saturday night at 8:15 with the St. Benedict's Ravens of Atchison at Wichita High School East gymnasium.

With the old basketball court taken over for sleeping quarters by the Army Air Corps, Athletic Director Ralph Graham was forced to find a new court to display his fighting cage men, so East High's gymnasium proved to be the one most appropriate. To fully acquaint the Shockers with the Blue Aces layout, practice is being held on the East High court this week.

This engagement will be the second meeting of the two teams this season. The other game between these clubs was played on January 29. The result was a victory for the Shockers, who maintained a good lead thruout most of the game with the Ravens getting close only at the first half.

Things have happened since this game, however. The Shockers have lost Laverne Adrian, who was high-point man in the previous game, and also Tuffy Robinson to the Air Corps. The Shockers will again enter the game with the absence of Head Basketball Coach Mel Binford, who is still suffering from an injury.

The St. Benedict's team will be led by sophomore Charles Huneke who has been the leading offensive and defensive player. Besides this sophomore star at the center position, Coach Carroll will use Fred Winkler, who is captain of the team, and George Wendell at forwards, and Jack Stinson and Joe Jones at the guard position.

Coach Ralph Graham will probably start Bill Draut and Bud Weaver, forwards; Keith Oliver, center; and Gene Steinke and Maurice Curry at the guard positions.

Intramural Cage Games Near End

Gamma A Team in Lead; Last of Games Set For March 1

With their names in first place, the Gamma A team played their last game on Thursday night, February 18, with the Phi Sig A team. The Gammas trounced their opponent with a 63 to 8 victory.

This was the most one-sided game during the intramural season. The Gammas got an early lead and, with a good defense and offense, continued to pile up the points. The Phi Sig group failed to score during the second half. Gamma high-point man was Mason with 15 points.

Another Gamma victory that evening resulted when the Gamma B team beat the Rambler A's by a score of 27 to 20. Mariconi, Gamma player, was high scorer with eight points.

The game scheduled between Rambler B and the faculty was forfeited because the faculty failed to appear.

Remaining games to be played are scheduled for March 1, provided the gym can be used.

Washburn Defeats W. U. Cage Team

Wichita's Shockers met defeat last week when they played the Washburn Ichabods. The game was played at Washburn and the final score was 40 to 38.

Wichita led the game up until the second half. The score was 26 to 17 at the end of the first half.

Weaver, Phi Upsilon Sigma, topped Shocker players by ringing up 14 points. Beverly, Ichabod freshman, was the opponents' high point man with 10 points.

Army, Navy Differ On College Sports

Army men and navy men appear to have somewhat conflicting views on the matter of participation in athletics by students being trained in various colleges.

The army seems to disfavor the idea, while a navy spokesman has suggested that navy men might engage in collegiate sports if they keep up their studies.

"I don't think our soldiers will have much time to engage in big-time football," Brigadier General Joe N. Dalton, assistant chief of staff in charge of personnel for the service of supply, was quoted by International News Service as saying last week. "That brings up the question of participation in college athletics. The army is not sending its soldier-students there to participate in big college athletics."

But the Associated Press last week quoted an unnamed "navy spokesman" as saying that during their college training "navy students may take part in all college athletics and other campus activities, provided such activities do not interfere with their prescribed hours or courses of study."

"Any student who is able to meet the requirements of the curriculum, which include compulsory physical drills, swimming, and setting-up exercises, and is able to devote additional time to participation in college athletics, or other extra-curricula activities, will be permitted to do so."

Washburn to Grant Boys Half Credit

Boys attending Washburn University in Topeka who remain in school until March 12 and then are called to the service will receive half credit for courses they are now taking, according to a story in the Washburn Review.

To be eligible to receive this credit on their transcripts without taking finals, a student must have an average of C or better in a course. If the grade was D or lower, a final examination would be required. Also if a student desired to have a higher grade recorded than his work so far in the semester showed he would have to take a final test in an attempt to raise his grade.

If half credit were taken, the student would be entitled to a refund of his tuition and half his activity fund payment.

Link Trainer Is Received by W.U.

To aid in instructing the C.A.A. War Training Service courses, a Link trainer was received and installed in the Aeronautics Building recently, Roy W. Elliott, co-ordinator of the organization here, announced.

At the present time there are 24 men enrolled in the secondary class here and 18 waiting to receive information on further training.

War Jobs Are Offered to Girls

Part time jobs for women are listed on a bulletin board outside the Dean of Women's office, according to Dean Grace Willkie.

Girls who are interested in working are asked to register in the Deans office. During the past week several downtown jobs have been filled, and a number of girls have registered their willingness to work part time and help solve the labor problem.

Information about full time war jobs has been assembled in a display in the Dean's office and girls are invited to come in at any time and look over the field. Among the latest bulletins received is one from the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics asking for girls who are interested in mathematics to work as Computers at Langley Field, Hampton, Va. The Langley laboratory can also use college trained stenographers, typists, and clerical help. Applications for these and other war jobs may be obtained from Miss Willkie.

WAR BOND QUIZ

Q. Does an album filled with Stamps automatically become a Bond that will mature in 10 years?

A. No. It must be exchanged for a Bond, and it will bear no interest until it is so exchanged.

Q. Can payment of a War Savings Bond be made to the receiver or trustee in bankruptcy of the estate of a registered owner?

A. Yes, when bankruptcy or insolvency has been adjudicated and request for payment has been duly executed.

Q. Can I authorize my employer to set aside portions of my salary each pay day until enough is accumulated to buy a War Savings Bond?

By Gib Crockett.

A. Yes, if your employer has installed a Pay-Roll Savings Plan. More than 24 million wage and salary earners are saving their money this way.

Q. Can I invest a lump sum in War Bonds and receive from the investment a return in the nature of an annuity?

A. No. The purchase of each War Savings Bond is a separate transaction. Each Bond is dated as of the first of the month in which payment for it is received by an authorized issuing agent, and matures exactly 10 years from that date.

Remember—the longer you keep War Bonds, up to 10 years, the more valuable they become.

Well, here's the place—Meet the boys for one of those old-fashioned good times.
