First Convo Next Week

President to Speak To Students

The first campus convocation will be held in the Auditorium Wednesday morning, October 5, at 8:55 to 9:55, according to Forrest Whan, chairman of the convocation committee.

The first half of the period will be devoted to an address of welcome by President W. M. Jardine. He will discuss the need for students' planning now for post-war affairs.

Audrey Mossaman, fine arts junior, will sing "By the Well" and "Make Believe."

The second half of the period will be turned over to the student body. At that time the new and old methods of electing Student Council representatives will be presented for discussion and adoption. Election will follow.

There will be no shortening of class periods for convocation next Wednesday. The second period will be omitted and convocation will take place from 8:55 to 9:45 a. m.

Other members of the convocation committee are Miss Jaquetta Downing, Roy W. Elliott, Dean Earl K. Hillbrand and Louis E. Zerbe.

'Mixed' Chorus May Become Girl's Group

Wichita's mixed chorus will be a girls' glee club this year unless more men volunteer for chorus, according to Carol Holman, University fine arts secretary. As the group stands now, it is made up of forty girls and three men.

Any man on the campus is eligible to participate in the chorus and will receive an hour credit if the course is taken for a year. Students do not need to be enrolled in the College of Fine Arts to receive credit for the course, Miss Holman said.

The class meets on Monday from 11:40 until 12:30, and is directed by Dean Thurlow Luehrance, who is anxious to increase the enrollment of men, in hopes that he may have a real "mixed" chorus.

Newspaper from Overseas Tells How Yanks Successfully Invaded

A copy of "The Stars and Stripes," an official United States Army newspaper from Sicily, was received yesterday from Lt. William F. Crum by Professor Leo W. Allman, head of the journalism department at the University of Wichita. Lt. Crum is a former member of the staff at the municipal school.

Pictures of Commanding Generals Montgomery and Patton occupy a prominent place on the front page of the publication which has five 14 inch columns to the page on each of its four pages. The paper, which is Volume I, Number 4, is dated August 24 and the statement in the masthead shows that it was printed in Palermo.

A short front page article gives considerable credit for the surrender of the German and Italian troops to the 7th Army to the extensive pamphlet campaign which was "vigorously waged against the enemy by the Psychological Warfare Branch of the 7th Army HQ. These pamphlets, the article says, were "dropped by plane and fired from the special guns . . . by the millions."

The building from which is distributed the United States mail for all of Sicily is a big, handsome post office which Mussolini built at the height of his glory, the paper says, adding that the section's members "are inclined to thank the ex-Duce for building them—even if unintentionally—such a modern, well-equipped post office." The mail-hauling equipment in the building, much of which was bought by the Fascist government in the United States, leaves little to be desired, the article says.

'Hotel Lassen?' 'No, This is W. U.'

Miss Virginia Smith, University switchboard operator, often answers "University" these days only to hear people say "Is this the Hotel Lassen?"

The explanation is that the hotel number is 4-5311 and the University number is 4-5331.

Although Miss Smith receives all kinds of queries, a common one concerns the location of various schools over the country. The prize winner last week was the person who called to find out the name of the capital of Missouri.

Student Forum Announces Series

Four of the five speakers for this year's Student Forum series have been definitely selected and are announced today, by Melba Van Sickle, acting executive secretary of the Student Forum.

"These four programs of 1943-44 alone are offering greater educational and entertainment value to students and the public than ever before, Miss Van Sickle commented, "and the hoped for fifth speaker will offer added discussion."

Topics of wartime importance concerning present and future plans for the world problems will be discussed by the different speakers, she said.

Leland Stowe, who is a noted speaker in America on foreign affairs will discuss Russia, and her wartime affairs. Harrison Foreman will use the information he gained while living for several years in Tibet in his lecture. Shelia Carter, noted woman news commentator, and Edmund Stephens will be the other two speakers.

Arrangements are being made to have Sinclair Lewis, noted author, as the fifth speaker.

"The schedule for the five programs is not as yet ready, but it will be announced soon," Miss Van Sickle concluded.

Wholesome entertainment for the youth of Wichita is being planned by a teen-age committee of which L. Hekhuis, dean of the College of Liberal Arts, is chairman. The committee is working with the Community Chest and the municipal youth organizations of the city.

New Format On Yearbook

Parnassus to Appear In Four Parts

When the Parnassus comes from the press this year it will be in a new and different form from that with which the students are familiar.

Instead of one book which is usually available in the late spring, this year's Parnassus will be published in four sections. The first section is scheduled for publication on November 1; the second before Christmas, and the other two in the spring.

The cover photograph for the first section, which was made last week, pictures a member from each sorority, the I. S. A., and three air crew students grouped around a plane. In the picture Pi Kappa Psi was represented by Martha Jean Hair; Alpha Tau Sigma, by Mary Lou Southworth; Sorosis, by Genivieve Sidwell; Delta Omega, by Suzy Williams; I. S. A., by Mae O'Connor; Epsilon Kappa Rho, by June Spaulding; and the air crew students by Richard Gibbons, Dean Heniger, and Charles Walcott.

Permanent binders for the four sections are expected to be available by the time the first section is off the press. The price of the Parnassus will be the same as last year. The book is being published by the McCormick-Armstrong Press.

This new manner of publication is to make the book more timely both to students and advertisers, and to enable each air crew student to have a section of the book covering the period in which he was stationed on the campus.

Phyllis Merry is the editor, and Russ Moss has charge of the advertising.

Whan Seeks Aid For Debate Group

Debate will again have its place upon the campus if the student body will show enough interest, according to Forrest L. Whan, head of the department.

The first meeting of the year will be held Tuesday, October 5, at 12:30 noon in the men's smoking room of the Commons. All students who are interested may attend. If they are interested but unable to attend, they should leave a copy of their schedules and their telephone number in Mr. Whan's box in the registrar's office.

Mr. Whan pointed out that they are especially inviting all freshmen boys and girls to come out this year. None of last year's squad is back on the campus so everyone will have an equal chance.

In the past the debate team has made numerous trips each year including a trip to Austin, Texas, and trips to Iowa State and Oklahoma University to attend Missouri Valley tournaments. If interest permits, these trips will again be taken this year.

Wright Displays Coin Collection

One campus collector's hobby which could be utilized by students is Professor S. W. Wright's coin collection that he uses for a class demonstration in money and banking.

"Some of my coins are no longer in circulation such as the 1900 half dollar for which I paid $1.00 and the one and three cent coins of the early American period," Mr. Wright said.

He has further a counterfeit dollar which was turned in to the Bookstore.

Enrollment in Fine Arts Now Totals 95

University art and music departments are boasting a good enrollment this fall, despite the emphasis being made on practical courses, due to the war. Seventy students are enrolled in fine arts.

Of the 70, there are 45 music majors, 42 girls, and three men. The art department has 25 majors, all girls, according to the secretary of the college.

Art and music classes are also attended by 121 students from other colleges on the campus. These students, while not fine arts majors, are broadening their educational background by participation in art and music classes.

College Girls Are Aiding War Effort

One hundred and eighty-eight campus girls are doing their part this year in the war effort by working and also attending the University, according to the card file in the office of Grace Wilkie, dean of women.

Thirty-six of the total number are working eight hours or more each day. Those who are employed for six or seven hours total 26; 68 are half-day workers.

Defense plants have attracted the largest number since 45 girls work at Boeing, Cessna, and Beechcraft. The four department stores, Innes, Rorabaugh-Buck, Montgomery Ward, and Sears-Roebuck, employ the second largest number.

Theaters, radio stations, newspapers, hospitals, and the post-office are aided also by these student workers. Their working hours vary according to the type of their work.

However, these numbers do not include the girls who are employed in the various departments of the University.

Earl K. Hillbrand, dean of the Extension Division addressed the Junior Chamber of Commerce yesterday at a luncheon meeting at the Hotel Lassen. The subject of his address, which he gave recently for the Manufacturers Club, was "The Long View."

Freshmen lead with 39 students. The sophomore class was second with 20 students on the list. The junior class had 18 members on the list, and the seniors had 13.

Among the colleges, liberal arts was first with 45 students, and business administration second with 22. The College of Education had 13 students on the list and the College of Fine Arts had 7, Mrs. Cross said.

Students Invited To Radio Meeting

A meeting of all men and women on the campus who are interested in radio acting, script writing, sound effects or production will be held next Thursday, October 7, at 3 p. m. in the men's smoking room of the Commons, Forrest L. Whan, head of the speech department, has announced.

Those who are interested but unable to attend may leave their schedules and telephone number in Mr. Whan's box in the registrar's office.

Last year a complete radio program was put on by the University each week and a similar plan is contemplated this year, according to Mr. Whan.

Mayberry Teaches Class in Education

A new face on the campus this fall is that of L. W. Maryberry, retiring superintendent of Wichita city schools, who is a visiting professor of education at the University.

Mr. Maryberry will teach one three hour class each semester at the school. His fall class will be Education 441, "The History of Education."

"We feel fortunate in having a man like Mr. Maryberry with long and varied experience coupled with sound academic training to conduct some advanced classes in education for us," Dean Leslie B. Sipple, of College of Education, said.

Other classes in education on the campus will be conducted by Dean Sipple, Dr. Earl K. Hillbrand, and Dr. Gordon C. Hanson.

Varsity Sue and Sam Chosen

This year's freshman Varsity Sue and Sam were chosen by popular acclaim at the Y. W. sponsored Mixer, Saturday night, September 25. Pictured are Carol Whitehead, president of Y. W.; Varsity Sam and Sue—Stanley Burchfiel and Joleen Mead—and Melba Van Sickle, chairman of the dance.

Letter To A Soldier

Dear Jim:

SORRY to hear that they got you in the leg over there, old boy. But in a little while you'll be up and around with the best of them. I know the going over there is pretty rough but what you're fighting for is well worth it. By the way, the "things you're fighting for" have changed SLIGHTLY, Jim.

You know I got a job at one of the aircraft factories after I was discharged—that is what I want to tell you about. Remember those sweet, innocent, little girls we left at home? Well, they're not so innocent anymore, Jim. Let me tell you, Jim, you can hear more swearing by the sweet innocents in fifteen minutes at any given aircraft factory than a buck sergeant could pass out to a bunch of raw recruits all day long.

Maybe it's because I was brought up in the good old-fashioned way but this profanity doesn't appeal to me. But that good old-fashioned way is just exactly what you're fighting for. It seems that there is an epidemic of immorality and loose living sweeping the country perpetrated by the teen-age girls. I think something should be done about it, don't you? Or else, you won't care too much about coming back. Write as soon as the doc will let you.

Sincerely,

Your buddy.

Planning to Avoid Waste

HUMAN engineering laboratories are located in New York, Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia in which 70,000 persons have had their aptitudes appraised.

Johnson O'Connor, as a young engineer of the General Electric Company, observed that far too many people were misfits in their jobs. From this simple observation he has caused many people to right-about-face and get into jobs where their talents would give them pleasure and from which others would benefit. This method of testing brings to the young people an even better opportunity to start out in the right field of work when they are not sure what to do.

If more of these laboratories were located generally throughout the states, and the tests were given to high school students, not only would people be happier with their hearts in their chosen work, but all fields and professions, all types of employment, would benefit much more than from the trial and error method now used.

Handle With Care!

CAMPUS property like private property must be taken care of to insure a longer period of usage. When there is available help, such care can be given. But at the present time the University is limited on the number of workers.

Those few people who tend to the upkeep of the buildings many times arrive on the campus at 5 in the morning. They begin systematically cleaning, sweeping, dusting, picking up dropped candy wrappers and cigarette cartons. They also care for and re-arrange school equipment and misplaced chairs and tables. Often times their work is not over until 11 or 12 at night.

Therefore to prolong the use of school property students must cooperate with the help and take care of campus equipment.

Grads Receive Promotions

MOST of the news of the graduates of the University of Wichita concerns their promotions in the army, their furloughs and leaves, their graduation as ensigns, and their visits back to the Alma Mater.

McCreary, 448 Lulu. He recently completed a special course at Fort Knox, Ky. Lieutenant McCreary was graduated from the University of Wichita in 1942 and was a member of Scabbard and Blade.

Personnel of W. U. 'Backs the Attack'

Students and faculty members are steadily "backing the attack" by buying war bonds and stamps here on the campus.

Since this time last year their purchases have amounted to $59,159, according to Neil Duncan, University cashier.

A total of $4,500 in bonds and stamps was purchased during the summer and $1,556.25 worth have been bought since school opened this fall.

These figures represent the sale of both bonds and stamps at the cashier's window and at the bond booth which was operated last year by the University sororities.

In charge of promoting bond sales on the campus are two committees. The faculty committee consists of Henry Osgard, chairman; Gordon C. Hanson; Neil Duncan; and Leo W. Allman.

The student committee consists of Billie Jean Luce, chairman; Mary Frances Jameson, secretary; Carol Whitehead, treasurer; Pat Malone, publicity; Janice Cooper, ways and means; and Bob Skillman, properties.

Typed on a Wednesday

By Joan O'Bryant

IF THIS were a freshman theme, and needed a title, it might be called "How to be Happy in the Twentieth Century." Many people, reading the title, would not read further, because they would believe that the twentieth century was giving more people a chance at happiness than any other age. They are persons who are now expectantly looking forward to the days when a television radio will be in every home and several helicopters in every garage. Their now slightly outmoded mechanical toys have become boring and they are fretful waiting for new ones. They revolve, searching for things to make life, not happier, but easier, for they have grown up to think of ease and luxury as the cornerstones of happiness.

O'BRYANT

But there are many people, living now, who know more about happiness than the material-seekers, and they know that this is no different from any other age, and that in spite of the radio and the automobile, women weep today, as they did in the days of Caesar or Henry VIII, when their men go off to war. They know that life and happiness and sorrow are a close-knit triangle, overlapping at the corners, and they realize that deep happiness is also close to sorrow, and can only be caused by a deep emotion, closely akin to sorrow, and not by some handy convenience. They know that the reason for living is found some place where there is quiet and a lot of calmness, and not in a city of loud and noisy conveniences.

It's Your Meal Ticket

Served by Malone(y)'s Baloney and Graham's Crackers

Editorizes Note: These are the leftover crumbs from the fermented minds of two who dished out stuff "Roundabout" the campus last year—Pat and Marge.

If you can swallow this stuff we'll feed it to you a little at a time. Some of it may be just Monday hash to you, but add a little Thursday sauce and the flavor will improve—We hope!

This may be slightly dog-eared, but for your enlightenment (a 25-cent word) Mable, the Constant Imp of the 85th, gathers her dog-dreams while reclining in the only cushioned chair of the Y. W. Room. To end the tale of this popular wag, one observing person maintains Mable is the worst flirt on the campus . . . because she won't look at a female if an Army man is around.

Shift into second and hiccup along with us while we, as fashion (?) "experts," demand "What is this campus coming to when slick college Susies stomp around in slacks as saucy cadets sinner shamelessly around in short shorts." . . . Shock our shodestly!

What were we singing about Air Corps songs? . . . Oh, well, maybe it's best we didn't catch the words.

Everybody should remember to forget that Wednesday night from 6 to 8 is the time to make your date. In other words, kids, the Commons is open then to the Air Corps.

This five-course meal has been yours to masticate. Digest it well until next Thursday when we will offer you another menu, at the same price by the same chefs.

W.R.A. Party Honors All Freshman Girls

Friday, September 24, at 3:30 p. m. was the date set for the annual party for freshman girls given by the members of the Women's Recreational Association. This year the party was held at Fairmount Park.

Miss Clara Nichols, instructor in physical education and sponsor of W.R.A., gave a talk on sports and games were played.

"The purpose of the party is to acquaint freshman women with the activities of W.R.A.," said Margaret Parham, president of the organization.

Betty Parrott was chairman of the party and Margaret Walling and Gloria Allen assisted her.

First I. S. A. Mixer Set for Saturday

The first I.S.A. mixer of the year will be held Saturday, October 2, from 8 to 11:30 p. m. in the University Commons, Margaret Schernuly, president, announced recently.

Margaret Cate, Harriet Woerner, and Christine Ohrvall are in charge of the affair, which will feature many clever mixer dances.

All independent students on the campus are invited to participate in the I.S.A. mixers, which are held once each month. Air Corps students are invited to attend also.

Admission to the mixer will be I.S.A. membership card or 15 cents.

Kappa Delta Pi, honorary national education fraternity, will hold its first meeting Monday, October 4, at 5:30 o'clock at Fairmount Park. A picnic lunch will be served. Following games, a short business meeting will be held, according to Vera Tomb, president.

Men of Webster's Mothers' Club held a rummage sale at the Rummage Mart, 255 North Main, Monday, September 20. Mrs. G. P. Chaffin was chairman.

Y. W. C. A. Membership Drive On

ALL we know is what we overhear or happen to jot down in the little red notebook. But we might even peak through the keyhole if necessary to gather this so-called GOSSIP.

CONGRATULATIONS: We really think it is swell that Joleen Mead was chosen our Varsity Sue. And we aren't leaving out Stan Burchfiel who was Varsity Sam. Talkin' about the Varsity—did you ever see the sight? All women and no MEN... And I 'Taint a kiddin'... OH, Boy, what a stag line. You'd think you had a man... then before you could take two dance steps he was gone. Oh, these girl stag lines. More fun. Let's do it more often.

WROOMANCE: Earlene Culp has a sparkler from her off-campus man Ivin Hall... ANY MINUTE a certain young girl is going to come out with a lil' ring on the third finger left hand... not going to let you in on the mystery... Ginny Braitsch was all in a dither this week-end for her man Terry who was home for a few hours.

Quentin Isely was seen at the Varsity Saturday night... Lois Howard caused quite a scene when she walked in with no other than her brother just home a few days from medical school... Seems some girls thought she was stepping out on Gene... Several Alpha Gams also came in. Joe Brock, Fred Bell, Bob Feldner, and David Christian were here from the Army. Even David Leslie has been around the campus.

OVERHEARD: Hobbie took a quick trip up to Denver to see her man. Heard she had a super-duper time, 'cept she kept it pretty secret. Former campus coed Perle Eby was back for a few days... Now she is at Oklahoma College for Women. Maxine McElheny Prophet is having a good time visiting friends while hubby Art is on maneuvers... Budke and Baird have already said the vows that have made them man and woman. Katherine Hogue travels home every week-end to see her one and only... Oh Boy, the tales she comes back and tells...

CHARLIE sez: "If there are any dumbbells in the room, please stand up." A long pause, then a mere freshman stood up. "I hate to see you standing alone." Did you know that the girls carrying the mail now are called 'postal packin' mamas'?

MYSTERY (or is it) If you happen to hear any one singin' or humin' "Oh lay that pistol down" just turn around... What two gals are always in the Commons fightin' over a certain Air Corps man?... If one's up there the other is sure to follow.

WORRY AND WOE: What whirlwind courtship of last spring was wrecked on the stern and rock-bound coast of parental interference not long ago?... Many sad faces are seen running around the campus since Flight E and F have departed for "deep in the heart of Texas."

other, "We're through from Nylon."

Mrs. Cecil Alexander Clark, chairman of the volunteer special service of the Sedgwick County Red Cross, gave the program. The seven corps chairman, who told of their special work, assisted Mrs. Clark with the program. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Elliott the club will engage in a general program of war work of which the program Thursday was the first.

Mrs. Leo W. Allman is president of the Dames Club, which consists of wives of faculty members. Mrs. Henry Onsgard is vice president, Mrs. J. Ray Hanna is secretary, and Mrs. John Rydjord is treasurer.

Band musicians—men, coeds, and cadets—hold their first meeting of the year this evening at 7 in the University auditorium to organize an all-University concert band under the direction of Walter Duerksen.

Omega Upsilon, national honorary dramatic organization, held an election of pledge officers at the home of Betty Taylor, 411 South Yale. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Y. W. Membership Drive Progressing

Satisfactory progress is reported for the Y. W. C. A. membership drive which opened Monday, September 27, and will last until Wednesday, October 6, when a recognition meeting will be held. The service will be held in the Commons Lounge at 6 o'clock.

Each year the organization meets as a group in a candlelight service to formally recognize the purpose and ideals of the organization. New members are given the pledge of the organization at that time.

Ann McLean and Mary Lou Southworth are in charge of the drive. A booth in the rotunda is set up at which girls may buy memberships in order to attend the recognition services.

Carol Whitehead, president of the group, will preside during the service.

Cens(or)less

ONCE again, dear readers, (all both of you), we have gathered together all the turbulent torrents of tripe and trash of the week for your enlightenment. If we failed to recognize your own vagrancies and misdemeanors, "fear not, for tomorrow will be your day."

D. S. C.

DURING the course of the past week, Flight B-3 has acquired a new name—the District Street Cleaners. Through past experience, their own diligence and resourcefulness, they have consolidated the skills and the individual brooms of each member into a very promising and enterprising young agency here-to-fore to be known as "The Refuse Removers of America, Inc." All persons seeking their services and assistance are instructed to contact Mr. Went of this University who is Flight Leader for this select group and also Acting President of its newfound corporation.

Add Libbs of the week—From C. J. Lipuma

Do you have the time? My nose stopped running, or, —And so I took the $50,000 that I inherited from my dying uncle and bought chairs for the standing army.

Meteorologist's Weather Report
The temperature has risen about 10 degrees on the campus this week due to the appearance of a certain daring young platinum blonde. Said blonde already has quite a large following.

St. Francis Hospital

THE dance given at the St. Francis Hospital last Friday night for Flights G and H proved to be one of the foremost social affairs of the season. Our G.I. Congress has seriously considered the awarding of an honorary plaque for valour performed in the line of duty to the girls. The young nurses who played hostess to the boys for the evening proved their skill and ability by successfully bandaging and healing the wounds of the soldiers on the same day that they had been inflicted. The only remaining tell-tale clues that gave evidence of a battle were the many "blood stains" on the khaki collars and shirts worn by the boys. Any one seeking members of these two flights this week-end are instructed to call the nurses home for information leading to their whereabouts.

What happened to those two fellows from Fiske Hall on the night of Sept. 18? We understand that "Shadowland" is a pretty rough place. How about that fellows?

Math Lesson For This Week
ONE beautiful moon, plus two beautiful maidens, plus two "shy" G.I.'s plus one shadowed fire escape, plus two scrupulous O.D.'s and one C.Q. equals 200 H.O.H. (Hours Of Hoofing It). Tsk, tsk, tsk. Will we never learn, Gentlemen?

Wolf

We have recently received word that a certain member of our post has been named the godfather of a little black kitten found in the back seat of a beautiful yellow convertible. Congratulations, "Sir."

Faculty

One of our faculty members has recently been seen running from a group of our boys with a rope in their hands.—Maybe they shouldn't "throw" such severe physics tests after all.

G. Gibson Goebels, as his boys affectionately call him, has recently expressed a great deal of curiosity at to where the rest of the 85th received its former military training. "Evidently at some boy scout camp." He points to the fact that their guidon bearer, Jack Aliman, has walked off with banner at every review except two since the award was inaugurated some two months ago.

Another Year of School Begins, Or 'Continues', To Be Precise

School doesn't begin any more—since the accelerated wartime program went into effect last year—it just continues.

The eighteenth annual fall term got under way with registration and enrollment last week and really began in earnest this week.

Students found the wartime college situation considerably different. For one thing, the ratio of women to men among the regular students was more than two to one.

And most of these men were members of the freshman class.

Members of the 85th College Training Detachment stationed on the campus became a more impor-

Inter-Collegiate Athletics Out For the Duration on W.U. Campus

Inter-collegiate athletic competition at the University of Wichita is out for the duration, it has been decided.

This means that so far as the municipal school is concerned there will be no more inter-collegiate football, basketball, or track and field events until after the war.

Four primary reasons for abandoning the inter-collegiate athletic program have been advanced: (1) lack of manpower, (2) the difficulty of travel, (3) the fact that all the athletic fields and all the athletic equipment at the University of Wichita now are being used by the men of the Army Air Corps who are stationed there, (4) the fact that the time of the coaches and athletic staff now is being used fully in the physical training program which the Army requires for these men.

"The only possible change in this decision which we can foresee," said Head Coach Ralph Graham, "is the possibility that the Army authorities might change their position and allow Army men to engage in inter-collegiate sport. This however seems to be a very remote possibility."

It is pointed out in this respect that the Navy has been willing to allow its trainees to play football and other collegiate sports whereas the Army has not allowed its men to engage in such sports.

The University of Wichita thus joins the ranks of many other schools both large and small have called off their football programs for the duration. Such schools include Southwestern, St. Benedicts, Hays, and Emporia in the Central Conference as well as many of the big schools in the East, South, and on the West coast.

It is thought that perhaps not more than three schools in Kansas will have football this fall. These are the University of Kansas and Washburn, which have Navy units, and Kansas State College, which plans to continue its program with 17-year-olds and 4-F boys.

The general physical education program at the University of Wichita will be considerably augmented this fall in order to so improve the condition of the younger civilian students that they may be fully qualified to meet whatever physical requirements may face them later on.

It's Time to Think of Christmas Gifts for Service Men Overseas

Christmas gifts for men and women overseas may be wrapped and mailed at the U.S.O., 127 North Topeka, from September 15 to October 15. This wrapping and mailing service coincides with the post office dates for mailing overseas packages. All packages to any A.P.O. must be mailed by October 15. Christmas packages may be sent without special requests from men and women overseas.

Miss Arnelise Quimby, the director, stresses the fact that one person may send one package each week. The maximum length of a package is fifteen inches; the girth and length together must not be over thirty-six inches; the weight must not be over five pounds.

Send articles that are not inflammable, and are not perishable. No intoxicants, no matches or poisons may be sent. Food and clothing are not recommended. Glass must be well packed and sharp instruments protected.

Some of the articles for gifts suggested by U.S.O. officials for service men are an inexpensive watch, preferably pocket type; pen and pencil set; leather wallet, leather stationery kit, folio about eight inches by six inches; money; athletic equipment, football, baseball, softball; shaving and wash soap; hand towels; hand mirror; talcum; brown shoe laces for army, black for navy; comb; nail clippers; roll-up sewing kit; hard candy in a tin container; pocket size books.

For the W.A.C.S. the U.S.O. officials suggest pictures of the home folks are favorite presents. Hard soap that does not melt quickly comes next. This is a practical gift because of the shortage of soap in both England and Africa. Perfumes and cosmetics are acceptable gifts, if they are packed properly, but W.A.C. officials say that these items are plentiful and relatively inexpensive overseas. Other articles are a small kit or bag for cosmetics, billfold, traveling iron, alarm clock, name tape with serial number added, and pressing cloth. From the men's list one may choose hard candies, if properly tinned, cigarettes, games, books, stationery, or fountain pens. U.S.O. warns that all presents should be small as the W.A.C.S. have little space in which to put gifts.

The miniature post office at the U.S.O., 127 North Topeka, has a large scale for weighing packages, several tables with heavy wrapping paper and twine, and large sheets of white tissue paper and spools of colored ribbon ready for use.

On the walls are posters with instructions for addressing packages, for packing them, and information regarding the size and weight. Stamps are available, too. Volunteers are ready to wrap, weigh, and stamp packages for you. Monday afternoon some twenty packages were neatly and securely wrapped and stamped—prepared to go overseas. This service helps to relieve the pressure at the post offices.

'Reds' Beat 'Blues' In G. I. Field Events

Flights G and H, combined under the colors of the Reds, defeated the B teams represented by the Blue by a slim margin in the field and track program Saturday morning. The final tallies were: Reds—82 1/2, Blues—78, and the Whites, (A-Flights) 33 3/4 points.

Good enthusiasm and sportsmanship was displayed throughout the morning and an equally unusual amount of skill and ability was shown on the part of each individual.

Outstanding performances were given by Williams of the Red team who broke the current running record for the obstacle course by crossing the line in 53.9, and by Scott of the Blues who set such a killing pace on the mile relays that he almost killed himself. Only a fighting heart kept the "little cyclone" from losing consciousness before crossing the finish line.

The time and order of the events are as follows:

Army Calls Staff Men

At Least a Dozen Now Are In Service

At least a dozen faculty members of the University of Wichita staff have left teaching posts to enter military service during the present war. Former staff members are represented in the Army, the Navy, the Women's Army Corps, and the Army Air Corps.

Serving overseas are Dr. Carroll Bryant, former head of the physics department, and William Crum, who was with the department of economics. Charles A. Bidwell and John Olmstead, former instructors in physical education for men, have received commissions in the United States Naval Reserve and are serving as lieutenants (jg) and ensigns, respectively. Max Milbourn, assistant to the president was also commissioned an ensign in the Naval Reserve.

Dr. Charles Lane, formerly of the zoology department, and Dr. William Mikesell of the psychology department are serving now as first lieutenants in the Army Air Corps. Dr. Clement Sievers serves as a first lieutenant in the Army and Dr. Ross M. Taylor and Anthony Chiuminatto are second lieutenants in the Army.

Miss Evalyn Hinton, now a first lieutenant in the Women's Army Corps, is the only women faculty member in military service.

Dr. Frank A. Neff and Dr. Albert Croft have accepted posts with government agencies. Dean Neff is now with the War Manpower Commission in Wichita and Dr. Croft is on the War Labor Board in Washington, D. C.

The work of these faculty members has been assumed by the remaining faculty, and by several new staff members who have been brought in to fill the vacancies.
