Louis J. Alber Speaks At Convocation Monday

'The Irresistible Winston Churchill' Is Topic of Speech At 10:45 A. M.

LOUIS J. ALBER, well-known writer, traveler, and lecturer, will speak on "The Irresistible Winston Churchill" at the convocation at 10:45, Monday, according to Miss Jacquetta Downing, head of the convocation committee.

Mr. Alber, although a lecturer-manager, has been considered by the press reviews of his speeches, to possess the qualities of an absorbing speaker.

In speaking of Britain's prime minister, Mr. Alber brings out the character and the human qualities of the great leader. Mr. Alber has known Mr. Churchill for twenty years and brought the prime minister to this country to lecture in 1931.

Louis Alber was previously scheduled to speak to the University students on February 10, but was unable to appear and the convocation was postponed.

Nominees Are To Be Chosen

Nominees for Student Council officers, class officers, and Student Council representatives will be chosen at a meeting of the nominating committee at 12:30 Tuesday, April 25, in the University Auditorium, according to Betty Richey, chairman of the election.

Chairman of the class nominating committees are Jean Kimel, senior; Alan Boley, junior; Martha Preston, sophomore; and Mary Lou Hobson, freshman.

Election of officers will be held on the campus during May Day, May 5.

Article By Whan Appears

"Interview, Mail and Telephone Surveys" is an article written by Forrest L. Whan, head of the speech department, that is published in the fourteenth annual yearbook of the Institution for Education by Radio.

Dr. Whan presented his article in the form of a speech several months ago at a meeting of the Institution where it was recorded for publication in the yearbook, "Education on Air."

Banquet Is To Be May 12

Committees for the twelfth annual journalism banquet to be held May 12 are announced by Jessie Lou Givens, journalism instructor. General chairman of the affair is Marjorie Graham. Mary Frances Jameson is dinner chairman and Ruth Holloway is ticket chairman. Joan O'Bryant is planning the program and JoAnn Sullivan is in charge of decorations.

The Gouldner award given to the outstanding senior in the journalism department will be presented by Mrs. Rene Gouldner. Matrix will present an award to the outstanding beginning journalism student. Staff positions of The Sunflower and Parnassus for next year will be announced by Mrs. Givens.

Appoint Hangen To English Committee

Miss Eva C. Hangen of the English department has been made a member of the Committee on Philology of the National Council of Teachers of English.

The work of the committee has to do with matters of Current Usage and problems of teaching communication in the post-war period. Miss Hangen's appointment was announced by Dr. Angela Broening of Baltimore, president of the National Council of Teachers of English.

Extra Yearbooks May Be Bought

Extra copies of recent issues of the Parnassus are available at the journalism office, announces Jessie Lou Givens, instructor of journalism.

Any student who wishes to purchase one of these may do so, says Mrs. Givens.

S. W. Wright Will Retire

With University For Over 16 Years

S. W. Wright, professor of economics for sixteen and one half years, will retire from teaching at the end of this year, according to a statement made by him Tuesday.

Professor Wright came to the University of Wichita in February, 1928, when the institution was but one and one half years old under the present organization as a university.

He began his services immediately with the College of Business Administration. He reached the retirement age last year, but because he was needed, stayed on another year.

"Since I have been in the teaching profession since 1895, I now feel that I should retire," said Mr. Wright.

Professor Wright took time out during this period to attend the University of Illinois and obtain his Master's degree, and also spent fourteen years in the banking business.

While connected with the University, Professor Wright has taken deep interest in all school activities, and in the personal welfare of his students and many others as well.

He has sponsored many organizations associated with the University, including Pi Alpha Phi fraternity, the 4-H Club, I. S. A., and the Y. M. C. A. He was one of the five original sponsors of the Blue Key National Honor Fraternity, organized here about eight years ago, and he remained a sponsor until it disbanded for the duration.

W. M. Jardine, president of the University, said "Mr. Wright has rendered a very important and worth while service to the students of this University and to the community. I know of no professor on the campus whose friendly advice and sound and practical counsels to students, based on a broad field of experience, has been so helpful. His advice and help has been warmly appreciated by the students who have gone here, and it still is. We hope to see him around on the campus often, and hope that he will enjoy many more years full of interest, health, and happiness."

Mr. Wright takes pride in his good garden, well kept lawn, and his nice home.

"Now I'm going to take time to enjoy my home and my family, and do the other things I've always wanted to do," he said.

Math Students To Be Tested

Approximately 25 freshmen and sophomores who are enrolled in elementary mathematics courses this semester have been selected by the mathematics department as outstanding students, according to Dr. Cecil B. Read, head of the department.

These students have been invited to participate in a general mathematics testing program with the view of selecting the top-ranking group.

The test, which is to be given Wednesday, will be a standard examination prepared outside of the University.

"It will not only enable the department to recognize its best students, but will give such students the opportunity of comparing their records with those made at other schools," said Dr. Read.

McConnell and West Are Speakers for Graduation

Baccalaureate Is May 28 And Commencement Is May 29

DR. THOMAS RAYMOND McCONNELL, dean of the College of Liberal Arts and professor of Educational Psychology at the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis, will address the Commencement listeners, and the Rev. Samuel E. West, rector of the St. James Episcopal Church at Wichita, will speak for the Baccalaureate service, announces L. Hekhuis, dean of the college of Liberal Arts.

Queen Chosen On Wednesday

Election for May Queen will be held in the Rotunda on Wednesday, from 9 to 1 o'clock, according to Joan Cooke, chairman of the election. Candidates include Mary Lou Southworth, Alpha Tau Sigma; Pat Malone, Delta Omega; Carol Whitehead, Epsilon Kappa Rho; Betty Richey, Pi Kappa Psi; Jean Kimel, Sorosis; and Mildred Johnson, I. S. A.

All University students are eligible to vote. Each student must check at least three candidates in the order of his performance or the ballot will be discarded. The election will be conducted as other elections, each student signing his name as he votes. Two representatives from each class will be in the booth each hour.

The Queen's attendants, two senior women from each woman's organization, will be announced in the near future.

A chancellor will be chosen by the candidates for queen from the University senior men.

The May Queen coronation ceremony will be held in the evening of May Day, May 5, in the University Auditorium.

Pep Club Lists Ten Candidates

Election of 1944-45 Wheaties of-ficers and "Typical Wheaties Girl" will be held Wednesday at the regular meeting according to Mary Lou Southworth, president.

A Wheaties dance, Friday, will honor the typical Wheaties girl. Martha Preston, sophomore, and Ru Ann Beuke, sophomore, are candidates for this title.

Candidates for the offices are Betty Ely, junior, and Jean Donlay, sophomore, for president; Marjorie Duncan, junior, and Wylla Ann McQuillan, sophomore, for secretary.

Jobs Now Open For Qualified Students

Are you one of those students looking for part time work the rest of this school semester or full time work as soon as classes are over?

Every day calls are received through the office of Grace Wilkie, dean of women, for students to fill a wide range of varied occupations. Lists of these positions are posted on the bulletin board outside of Dean Wilkie's office door.

Many professions are now open to senior women with the proper qualifications to meet the requirements, according to Dean Wilkie.

Women graduating with a major in home economics are being offered graduate assistantships in the department of home economics at Michigan State College. These assistantships include teaching, research in foods and nutrition, home management research, study of child development, institution administration research, and textile research. To fill any of these assistantships, superior scholarship and a major in home economics is required.

Dr. McConnell will speak for commencement services on Monday, May 29. He attended Cornell University, where he received his A. B. degree, and the University of Iowa, where he obtained M. A. and Ph. D. degrees. He has been associated with Cornell in the capacity of instructor in English and journalism and instructor and assistant professor of Educational Psychology. He was also dean of the College of Liberal Arts and professor of education and psychology.

Dr. McConnell has also been connected with the University of Iowa as instructor in education, and more recently with the University of Minnesota as professor of Educational Psychology.

He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Delta Kappa, and is listed in Who's Who in America, Who's Who in American Education, and American Men of Science.

The Baccalaureate exercise will be held for approximately 83 graduating seniors at 8 o'clock on May 28. Commencement services will follow on Monday, May 29.

Music Fete Is On April 28

Advance enrollment for the annual District Music Festival to be held on the campus April 28, indicates a larger attendance than previously expected 500, according to Walter Duerksen, chairman.

Betty Richey has been appointed to represent the Student Council which is in charge of the check stands, conducted tours, and entertainment of girls visiting the campus.

Adrian Pouliot, professor of piano, will act as coordinator of the various phases of the festival, Mr. Duerksen said.

The festival is sponsored by the Kansas High School Activities Association, and is a qualifying event of coming regional and national contests. Five judges from out of town will judge the contests.

University students will not be dismissed from classes as in previous years, Mr. Duerksen said.

We'll Miss You

EVERY student on the campus feels regret at S. W. Wright's announcement that he intends to retire next year. For 16½ years "Pop" Wright has been the student's friend on and off the campus.

He has been in the teaching profession since 1895 and received his Master's degree from the University of Illinois. Professor Wright feels that people should teach for the love of it and not the pay check.

Professor Wright was born in Eminence Township, Logan County, Illinois, October 6, 1873. He always liked school and missing a day was punishment to him. He walked five miles to attend high school.

He spent 14 years in the banking business and has found this experience useful in teaching his economic courses at the University. In 1924 he returned to the teaching profession and joined the staff of this University in 1928.

At the University he not only taught and guided students in class but helped them outside of class. He sponsored Pi Alpha Phi fraternity, 4-H Club, I. S. A. and Y. M. C. A. Professor Wright was one of the five original sponsors of Blue Key.

His outside activities included playing a "pretty snappy" game of golf, keeping a well-kept lawn around his nice home, and cultivating an "extra good" garden.

"Pop" Wright, the University as a whole will miss you. Thanks for all you've done for us both in and outside of class. Best of luck and we'll be seeing you around.

Give That Book

JUST another drive on the campus. That is what many of you are thinking. So it is another drive but the book drive sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. is pretty important—particularly to those friends of yours and mine who are German or Japanese prisoners of war.

In everyone's library there are some books maybe not classics or "great" books but the kind that a reading-starved person would be glad to have. Such things could be donated to the drive.

It has been suggested that we do not contribute those books dealing with inventions, radio, chemistry, aeronautics, and such subjects that have been printed since 1938. Any historical, political, economic, or military book printed after 1914 should not be donated.

Any book that you think might be of interest to a fellow in the hands of our enemies should be given to this drive.

Are You a Thief?

AT FIRST we thought it wasn't serious and would stop. But it is and it hasn't. Do you know what we're talking about? It's the, shall we say, taking ways which some people, so far unknown, have developed.

It started last winter when a coat was taken. But it wasn't just taken, it was stolen. There's no other word for it. And it has continued throughout the year until recently a purse with valuables in it was stolen. Other small articles such as gloves and scarves have been reported missing periodically.

Of course students shouldn't leave valuable articles lying around carelessly but things are coming to a pretty pass when a fellow leaves things down for a moment and bang—they're gone. They couldn't be taking a hint from Shakespeare's line that goes something like, "who steals my purse steals trash," because there are valuables in these purses, and the coats and other articles of clothing are valuable.

Come on kids, let's cooperate. Anyway we are all having to put up a pretty big fight against a sly yellow fellow who is trying to steal our freedom.

"Wrong one — it's the Major"

Two Former Students Killed

TWO former University students, Lieut. Robert O. Curry and Lieut. Robert Warren, have been killed in action recently. Lieutenant Curry was killed while flying a torpedo bomber on a mission in the South Pacific area. He had been in this theater of war for a year. Lieutenant Warren was killed in action while on a mission over Germany. He was navigator and bombardier on a Flying Fortress.

Lieutenant Curry attended the University for more than two years before enlisting in the Navy. He was a member of the Newman Club, Alpha Gamma Gamma fraternity, and played on the varsity basketball team.

His wife is the former Joan Dofbaugh and they have one child, a girl four months old.

Two brothers of Lieutenant Curry also attended the University, Capt. Meuli Curry serving in China with the Army Air Corps and Lieut. Maurice Curry attending the Marine School at Harvard University.

Lieut. Warren had been reported missing but later his parents received a telegram advising them of his death. He had been awarded the Air Medal and had 13 missions to his credit.

While attending the University Lieutenant Warren was a student in the engineering department.

His brother, Maj. Wyman Warren, also a former University student, is in Italy as a celestial navigator.

Maj. Howard E. Jackson, '41, operations officer of a squadron in the 47th bombardment group, was the pilot of "Nightmare," the A-20 Boston light bomber, which completed its 100th mission from an advanced 12th A. A. F. Airfield in Italy recently.

Major Jackson has used "Nightmare" whenever he led formations over enemy territory. Some of these missions have been over Kasserine Pass, La Fauconnerie air-drome in Tunisia, La Schiaccia, Messina and Milazzo.

Major Jackson has been overseas since November, 1942. He has served in England, North Africa, Malta, Sicily, and Italy.

While attending the University he majored in geology. He played football and basketball and was on the boxing team. He was a member of Scabbard and Blade, the men's pep club, and Phi Upsilon Sigma fraternity.

He holds the Air Medal with two oak leaf clusters, and the Purple Heart for injuries sustained over North Africa.

Lieut. Col. Edwin B. Miller, '36, recently was awarded the Air Medal by Maj. Gen. Willis H. Hale, commanding general of the Seventh Air Force. As leader of a Seventh A.A.F. bomber squadron that blasted Japanese positions in the Marshall Islands, Colonel Miller "displayed high professional skill, courage and devotion to duty which reflects great credit upon himself and the army air forces," the citation stated.

Lee Roy Riley, '42, has recently been promoted to the rank of first lieutenant. Lieutenant Riley is now stationed at Camp Butner, N. C. While attending the University Lieutenant Riley was a member of the Independent Students' Association. His wife is the former Carolyn McMahon.

Lieut. Richard C. Flournoy, former student, arrived in Wichita recently to spend a three-weeks leave with his mother, Mrs. Hazel Flournoy, 240 North Rutan, after being forced down in Greece and spending four months in escaping from the Germans there. The lieutenant and his aircrew of nine men were stationed in North Africa, and were forced to land their B-17 bomber in Greece after it had been disabled on a combat mission by enemy anti-aircraft gunfire.

During the next four months, he and his crew had many narrow escapes from the Nazis, but managed to stay together and dodge them. They were aided by Greek peasants and partisans in the underground system. The men further hid their identity by growing mustaches and beards, and by learning to speak enough of the language to ask for something to eat and a place to sleep.

All of the men in his air crew are now safely back in Allied territory, although some of them are not yet in the United States.

Lieutenant Flournoy arrived in New York City April 4, and arrived in Wichita April 7. After his three-weeks leave here, he will report for an indefinite recuperation period at Santa Monica, Calif. He has been in the service two years, during which time he has completed 31 complete combat missions.

Ted Edwards, former student, visited the campus recently on furlough prior to going to Ft. Benning, Ga., to enter Officers' Candidate School. He has been stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas.

While attending the University he was a member of Pi Alpha Pi fraternity.

Charles Goodrum, former student, was on the campus last Friday. He has been in A. S. T. P. Engineers at Princeton University. He is one of sixteen men being retained at Princeton for pre-medics training in A. S. T. P.

While attending the University he was a member of the Independent Students' Association.

June Rynders, who graduated from the University in 1943, is now finishing work for her master's degree at the University of Kansas. She won a scholarship to K. U. in the language department. She is majoring in French and minoring in Spanish.

"She is doing excellent work, is highly satisfactory, and we need more students like her," a dean at K. U. wrote in a letter to Miss Jaquetta Downing, head of the French department, in regard to Miss Rynders.

TODAY, under the stress of work long overdue, I am taking a little time out from my sixth research paper in one semester, and since I can't get my mind on anything else, will tell anyone who wants to know, how to write a research paper. Thus, this column will take its place alongside all the other famous "how" literature, and will join "How To Read A Book," (many adults seem to have waded through his, although all my friends earned how in 2-B), or "How To Be the Life of the Party," (the thing to do is perfect the art of viggling the ears or learn three or four birdcalls to whistle for the guests), or "How To Eat Soup Without Slurping," the latest by Emily Post. The "how" books have been crowding us out of the living room for a number of years, and one more "how" won't hurt anything.

RESEARCH papers were once products of long and industrious library sitting, digging in dusty archives for a lost piece of knowledge, and then of careful, scholarly writing. Nowadays however, the student with the strongest back can write the best research paper, because he can get the most books out of the library at one stroke and is ahead already. Just look at all the extra bibliography he can have just because he is stronger. The student carts all these books home, flattening either the springs of his car or the arches of his feet, and spreads them out on the living room floor. What follows next is an expose (to professors). The student opens the books, and goes down the line taking a sentence from each one, and footnoting diligently. This type of research paper can usually be written in from one to three hours, depending on how fast the student can move a pencil. The main trouble is that it sometimes suffers slightly from lack of organization, but since many professors look harder at the number of footnotes accompanying the paper than at the paper itself, this type gets by quite nicely in seven out of ten chances, by personal count.

THE other type of paper is at the opposite end of the pole, and is usually the product of a student with creative ability and a set of the Encyclopedi Britannica. In this case, the student chooses a subject he knows something about, and with the help of the Britannica, writes the paper. He then makes a trip to the library and spends a diligent hour looking through the card catalogue for his bibliography and footnote material and pieces his paper together spreading the footnotes out, one or two to the page where the text seems to cry out for them.

THERE is of course, the third type of paper, which one hears much about, but almost never sees. That is the ghost written paper. Novels about college life (Jane Smith at Bryn Mawr, Jane Smith at Smith, Jane Smith at Vassar, Jane Smith Flunk Out At Last, ad infinitum) deal often with the sinful but brilliant student, who has time to sit around corrupting other students by writing research papers for them.

THE rarest research paper of all, to finish with, is the one which is done perfectly, and according to each rule in the little yellow book, which is put out supposedly to aid the helpless freshman in writing a paper. I am glad I ignored the little yellow book when I was young, because I did take a look into it once (mistakenly, I assure you) and was so confused that my paper was two weeks late. I might add that in all the history of writing research papers, I know of two students who carefully followed the form set up in the little yellow book, complete with note cards and careful research. They got C- and D, respectively.

"Forrest, darling! I'm so glad to see you," cried Helen as she flung open the door. "I've missed you so much I—oh, hello, Bob, where did you come from? Well, isn't this a coincidence?" Helen managed a sickly grin and sat down weakly on the steps.

"Well don't just stand there! Say something. Glare! Glare! Glare! That's all you're doing. I haven't had a date for weeks, I should think you'd be glad I have two dates for a change. Yes, glad, but no, you're just thinking about yourselves. You've been in the army so long, you don't know what this war is about." Overcome by the dramatic situation, Helen burst into tears.

Let's get nosy with Posie:

THE Kappa Rhos are planning a night slumber party for Saturday night in honor of Ollie Jane Stahl. Ollie Jane leaves soon to be a WAVE.

Bob (Don Juan) Skillman's ambition when he graduates is to be an ice man. Have you had good practice from getting the cold shoulder, Bob?

Shirley Sleeper just about got potted at the library the other day when she was walking around with a miniature pot of geraniums on her head and to her surprise the pot leaked.

Betty Birchler left last week for Maxwell Field, Alabama, to see Bob Mielert.

AILEEN Stephens received an engagement ring from Charles Chadwell recently and the night she got it was their anniversary of going together a year.

Bill Yeager is home on furlough visiting Juanita Short, and Bill Ketchersid who is in the infantry is home and Irene Wiegand is very happy.

MYSTERY of the chocolate egg—what ever happened to the Easter egg that Marjorie Purnell sent to her dream man? He didn't receive her token of love and maybe it melted just as her heart does each time she sees him.

Lt. and Mrs. Bryan Taylor were back visiting on the campus this week. Mrs. Taylor is the former Mary Louise Cline and was a Pi Kap and Lt. Taylor was a Gamma while on the campus.

CLAUDE Van Doren and George Bullene have been home and they're really looking sharp in their uniforms. Claude is in the Navy Air Corps and George is in the Army. Also seen roundabout this week are John Megaffin, Warden Taylor, and Johnny Masters.

"I'm in the Marines," said Forrest.

"I'm in the ski troops," said Bob. "I'm in a mess," said Helen. "Oh for Heavens' sake, stop being amusing. I can't stand much more. If you knew what I've been through this week. If you knew!"

Bob lit a cigarette. Forrest pulled out his pipe. They grinned amiably at each other and sat down in the porch swing.

Since anger would do nothing to help the situation she decided to be coquettish. "Really boys, you're both so handsome and so adorable I just couldn't make up my mind which one I wanted to have a date with. You can't blame me. Wouldn't you have a hard time, making up your mind between Betty Grable and Lana Turner?"

Masculine ego being what it is, the boys stood up, smiled, offered their respective arms. Helen stood up, gave a sigh of relief, took the left arm of Bob, the right arm of Forrest and walked down the steps.

They went to the Green Sun for dancing, attended the late show at the Castle, ate hamburgers at Bosornes, and finished this glorious and original evening by drinking cokes at Rebers.

After being left at her door with the casual familiarity which comes of three people saying good night to one another, Helen walked up the stairs, forgetting to walk like a Ziegfeld girl. She walked exactly like Helen Highwater, of all people.

Next week: Helen attends the wedding of Bessie Mae Mucho.

"YUP, STILL FIT FOR SERVICE if you treat him right"

That refrigerator of yours will do the job this summer if you treat him right," says Reddy Kilowatt. "Now, before he has to go into hot-weather combat duty you ought to give him some physical conditioning to be sure his ol' heart will be ready to stand the strain. Get his muscles tightened up and see that he doesn't strain himself before the big 'push' comes."

Your refrigerator may need some attention, but with proper care it will do the job of food preservation that is going to be more important than ever this summer. Check yours against the list below.

4 POINTS FOR REFRIGERATOR CARE

1. Have your refrigerator repairman check the working parts and the motor. Give him plenty of advance notice so that he can look at yours while he's in the same neighborhood.
2. Be sure to defrost regularly.
3. Turn up the cold-increasing dial only when necessary.
4. Place foods requiring the coldest temperatures on the bottom shelves. Space foods so that circulation of air will not be prevented.

R.O.T.C. Has Inspection

Annual inspection of the University ROTC unit will be held April 19, according to Capt. Ernest Mylke, commanding officer of the unit.

The inspecting officer will be Col. Malcolm E. Craig, G. S. C., who will arrive Wednesday morning for the inspection. Colonel Craig is director of the Army Student Training Division stationed at the Seventh Service Command Headquarters at Omaha, Nebr.

The unit will be the smallest in many years to be inspected due to the induction of youth into the armed forces. In previous years the unit has been several hundred in strength while at this inspection the unit will be of less than one hundred.

The inspection will consist of platoon drill, extended and close order drill, rifle marksmanship, and other drill movements for which the unit has been trained, as well as individual inspection.

This week the unit has been re-organized from a company of two platoons to a single platoon of four squads to facilitate the training of fewer men.

Cadet officers of the unit are William H. Pierpoint, Jr., Cadet First Lieutenant and Richard Wohlgenuth, Cadet Second Lieutenant.

R.O.T.C. Cadets Are Promoted

R.O.T.C. promotions for the second time this semester were announced this week, according to Capt. Ernest R. Mylke, professor of military science and tactics.

The following men were appointed to the respective ROTC Cadet grades:

- Cadet First Lieutenant, William H. Pierpoint, Jr.
- Cadet Second Lieutenant, Richard A. Wohlgenuth.
- Cadet Tech Sergeants, Paul W. Mouser and William M. Franklin.
- Cadet Staff Sergeants, William J. Reig, Roland L. Allen, Stanley T. Counts, George E. Hutton, Jr., and Victor Lebow.
- Cadet Sergeants, Robert H.

Mason, Curtis R. Winters, and Anderson W. Chandler.
 Cadet Privates First Class, Theodore R. Ashmore, John Kennedy, David V. MacNaughton, Francis Nossaman, Howard Pyle, Colin R. Stables, John R. Bennett, Robert M. Haage, Hubert O. Kintzel, John W. Mayfield, Donald S. Overend, Mark C. Robbins, Morton Wintrogen, and Cliff A. Michaels.

Faculty Men To Conference

Five faculty members will attend the conference of Kansas Colleges at the University of Kansas April 17 and 18, according to L. Hekhuis, dean of the College of Liberal Arts. Those who will attend are Worth A. Fletcher, registrar; Leslie B. Sipple, dean of the College of Education; Hugo Wall, head of the political science department; Earle R. Davis, head of the English department; and John Rydjord, head of the history department.

This conference is being called by the University of Kansas to discuss a plan for post-war programs for the universities. It will take up the adjustments that must be made as special military programs are eliminated and new curriculums are installed.

Transportation Is Checked By O.P.A.

University students are asked by Walter Duerksen, chairman of the transportation committee, to cooperate with the O. P. A. by turning in names of passengers who ride with them in their cars.

This information will assist the O. P. A. in dealing with gasoline rationing needs, and the issuance of supplemental gas rationing coupons, according to Mr. Duerksen.

The University has served as a clearing house for this purpose for more than a year. In order to continue this convenience, it is necessary to obtain more current information. Inclusion of every student driver possessing an A card and carrying passengers will help in this matter.

Air Corps Auditors Will Be Here Soon

Army Air Corps auditors are expected here this week to check expenditures made by the University on the Army Air Corps unit on the campus, announces Roy W. Elliott, comptroller.

The University's Air Corps contract is set up with the intention of making it impossible for the University to either lose or profit from the contract, but enough funds are allowed to handle the expenses, according to Mr. Elliott.

One-Act Plays Are April 21

Students in the dramatic art class of Prof. George D. Wilner, head of the speech department, are directing one-act plays which they will present at 8 p. m., Friday, April 21, in the University Auditorium.

These students have chosen the casts and are directing the plays to gain practical experience in play directing, according to Professor Wilner.

Marge Graham will present "The Count and the Wedding Guest," with Gene Linscheid, Virginia Chisholm, and Lois Burrell.

Ruth Holloway is directing "The Bayfield Picture" with Reba Holloway, Wylia Ann McQuillen, and Pat Mather.

"Rehearsal" is under the direction of Dolores Larsen, with Louise Williamson, JoAnn Sullivan, Margaret Noble, Pat Blume, Genevieve Sidwell, and Barbara Watson comprising the cast.

Charlotte Grigsby has chosen "The Woman Who Understood Men" to direct, with Mrs. J. E. Tunstall, Mr. J. E. Tunstall, Mrs. E. Mintern, Mr. Ben Grigsby, and Virginia Peoples as the cast.

Ruby Carter will present "Three's A Crowd." Her cast includes Clendolyn Bailey, Richard Bass, Ruby Nelson, and Elwood Grett.

Summer school bulletins are now available in the registrar's office, announces Leslie B. Sipple, dean of the summer school. A complete list of courses to be offered this summer is included.
