Other Local Concerns Have Already Raised in Excess Of $236,000 By Contributions

The wholesaler's committee of the Chamber of Commerce is attempting to raise $10,000 for the Foundation of Industrial Research, according to Roy W. Elliott, who spoke recently at a Chamber of Commerce meeting, concerning the foundation.

The foundation fund was started when two local aircraft companies, Beech and Cessna contributed $100,000 each to start such a foundation here. Contributions have been received from additional sources now, according to Dr. William Jardine, University president and ex-officio member of the foundation committee.

Contributions have been received from the following firms: Coleman Lamp and Stove company, Kansas Gas and Electric company, Kansas Milling company, Innes Dry Goods company, Woolf Brothers, Henry's Clothing company, Bucks, Inc., Allen W. Hinkel company, Heads Shoe Store, Levitt Jewelry company, and Midwest Fox theaters. Last week shop owners from

Plays Need Male Actors

An urgent request for men students interested in dramatics has been sent out by Prof. George D. Wilner, head of the dramatics department.

Men are needed for the group of six one-act plays which are to be presented on November 30 and December 1. Anyone who can take part should give his name and telephone number to Professor Wilner or one of the following student directors: Vera Buck, Billie Jean Luce, Patricia Mather, Virginia Mueller, Kathleen Weigand, and Mrs. Gladys Cummins.

The one-act plays aid Professor Wilner in recognizing student talent which will be used in productions later on. Dramatic ability is more often revealed in the short plays than in formal try-outs, because the actors live their parts in a play while they only read their lines in a try-out.

"We haven't presented a Shakespearean play in recent years," said Professor Wilner, "and it would be foolish to try with the man shortage as it is, since they require about fifteen men to every woman in the cast. However, if I find plenty of male talent available, I may change my plans."

Coeds Vote Bill Most Popular Man

Grinning, white-haired, friendly,—the answer to the man power shortage at the University is Bill Olden, who has been a custodian on the campus for ten years.

Voted by all of his friends as one of the most popular men on the campus, "Bill," as everyone knows him, calls the University's prettiest co-eds "honey," and they say they love it.

"Why, W. U. wouldn't be W. U. without Bill," said one junior sophisticate when asked why she liked him so much. "We wouldn't know what to do if we didn't see him up in the fountain room for breakfast and over at the Rotunda waiting to tease us about our newest boy friend."

"We've got to have some men on the campus, some old stand-bys," remarked a sophomore, "and Bill is my candidate for the most cheerful one, by far."

Thus Bill Olden, 70-year-old custodian, now entering his tenth year of service on the campus, receives the vote of the feminine students as being "the friendliest man who ever brightened the University halls for ten years."

International Relations Club will meet at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, at the Alpha Tau house. "Politics will be the topic of discussion," said Lucille Ablah, president of the club. Young Democrat and Republican clubs are invited to attend.

Wichita and nearby towns presented the foundations with a check for $36,400.

Committee Will Plan Varsities

To direct all varsities throughout this school year, a varsity committee has been organized by the Student Council, according to Charles Chaffin, chairman of the new committee.

Representatives from each organization on the campus compose the committee. They are Elinor Margrave, Virginia Pendleton, Margie Riddel, Maxine Sargent, Bob Staples, Louise Williamson, Bob Manning, and Barbara Sutton.

The varsity and homecoming committees will collaborate on planning the annual homecoming varsity. This event will be held Saturday night, November 4, in celebration of the homecoming game between the University of Wichita and the Kansas State College.

Whan Elected Radio Editor

Dr. Forest L. Whan, head of the speech department is the newly appointed radio editor of the Quarterly Journal of Speech. The magazine is a publication of the National Association of Teachers of Speech.

For the past four years, Dr. Whan has assisted with the National Broadcasting Company's survey of radio listeners in Kansas, Iowa, and Oklahoma.

The third survey of Kansas radio listeners came off the press October 9 and included results of interviews with 5,500 families living in almost every county in the state. A study of the radio listening habits and preferences of Oklahomans was published September 10, and the Iowa survey came off the press this week.

This month Dr. Whan has an article, "Training in Listening and in Voice and Diction for the Airplane Pilot," in the Journal. In addition two of his book reviews were printed.

Nock Announces Board Members

Dr. Francis J. Nock, chairman of the board of publications, announces the class representatives on the board, whom President W. M. Jardine appointed upon the recommendation of the department and the approval of the class officers.

The representatives on the board are as follows: Betty Ann Brush, freshman representative; Lois Burrell, sophomore; Reba Holloway, junior; and Joan O'Bryant, senior. Besides Dr. Nock, the faculty advisors include Roy Elliott, comptroller of the University, and Jessie Lou Givens, assistant professor of journalism.

I.S.A. Holds Lead In Bond Campaign

I.S.A. remains in the lead as the fourth week of bond selling goes into session, with sales totaling $180.90. Pi Kaps placed second with $28.85.

Last week Alpha Tau had charge of the bond booth and sold $16.25 in stamps. Yesterday Kappa Rho presided over the booth and their sales have not yet been announced.

A king and queen will be chosen later according to Bob Skillman, chairman of the bond committee.

Men of the Independent Students' Association will meet at 2 p. m. Sunday at the Brig to work at redecorating their lounge, according to Chain Robbins, president. All independent men of the University are invited to help.

Convo Tuesday

The dramatics department will be in charge of the convocation which will be Tuesday, third hour. Patricia Mather and Betty Hodge, dramatics students, will present a one-act social satire play. The play will be directed by Prof. George D. Wilner, head of the dramatics department, and make use of the old-fashioned methods of direct speech and asides.

War Chest Drive Opens

Goal Is Same As Last Year

"Surely you can spare a dime" is the theme of the Community-War Chest drive which is to be promoted on the University campus next week, according to Phyllis Duncan, chairman of student committee.

The Student Council is in charge of the student drive, and Roy Elliott, comptroller, is in charge of the faculty drive.

The student goal, $764, is the amount which was raised on the campus last year. The faculty goal is $1,522.

Student Council members will go from class to class second hour next Thursday and collect the contributions. Anyone not approached at this time can make his contribution at the chest drive booth which will be open all day Thursday in the Administration building.

Members of Student Council in charge of the drive are Robert Hessel, Joan Cooke, Billie Jean Luce, and Eleanor Eaton.

Faculty Directory To Be Ready Soon

Contracts have been let and work has been started on the Faculty Directory which will be published before November 1. The Student Directory, which consists of the names, addresses, and phone numbers of all the students and faculty, is being compiled. Its publication will follow as soon as possible that of the Faculty Directory.

Besides the names and addresses of the students, the Student Directory contains the class and college each student is enrolled in. The officers and members of the sororities, and fraternity, and I.S.A. are also listed.

Students Needed For Broadcasts

All students interested in radio broadcasting are invited to meet in the Commons Lounge third hour on Tuesday, according to Dr. Forest L. Whan, head of the speech department.

If enough students are interested the University will sponsor broadcasts over the local stations, KFBI, KFH, and KANS.

"Any regularly enrolled student may take part and experience is not required. Musicians, script writers, actors, announcers, and sound effects operators will be needed," said Dr. Whan.

Membership drive of the Y. W. C. A. was climaxed yesterday afternoon in the Commons Lounge, when the annual recognition service was held for 106 newly recruited members. In charge of the candle light services were Betty Deshler and Phyllis Duncan. The regular form program was observed and members took a pledge of allegiance.

Notice to Presidents

Presidents of each organization on the campus are requested to fill out semi-annual registration blanks before October 27, according to Grace Wilkie, dean of women.

The registration blanks are necessary to complete the directory of organizations for the campus and are available in the Dean of Women office.

Traditional W. U. Homecoming To Be Staged November 3 and 4

Queen To Be Elected October 31; Varsity and Game Will Be Main Attractions

University students will observe the first Homecoming celebration in two years, Nov. 4. Activities will begin on Friday, Nov. 3, with a sack supper at 6:30 p. m. in the women's gym. After the supper a snake dance will be lead to the Administration Building where a pep rally will be held and the Kansas State dummy will be burned.

Saturday's festivities will include the football game with Kansas State and the Homecoming Varsity. During the game the Homecoming queen will be presented. Immediately after the game the faculty alumni committee will give a reception for University graduates in the Commons Lounge. The varsity will be held in the women's gym from 9 to 12 p. m.

The houses of the sororities and the I.S.A. will be decorated for the Homecoming activities and the Student Council will present a prize for the best decorations. The Rectangle will decorate the front of the Commons Building.

Each sorority and the I.S.A. will select a candidate for Homecoming queen and she will be elected by an all school election October 31. Candidates will be announced next week.

Plans Made For '44, '45 Parnassus

"Parnassus will be published under one cover this year," announces Jo Ann Sullivan, editor-in-chief. "Several letters have been received concerning the number of issues in which the Parnassus would be published this year, but the Board had already acted as it thought best before these letters were received.

University Debate Squad to Organize

The University debate squad will meet one o'clock Monday in the Commons Lounge. Any student interested in debate is invited.

Most of the squad this year are new at college debate; however, three of them have had some previous experience.

Elizabeth Leonard, Ruth McCormick, Wanda Cale, Joan Donnell, Martin Young, Bill Nelligan, Chain Robbins, James McIntosh, and Vernon McQuire compose the squad.

Jan Struther Makes Hit With Large Student Forum Audience

"Homesick for England? I haven't the time to think about it," Jan Struther, noted British writer and creator of the unforgettable character "Mrs. Miniver," said in a recent interview with a Sunflower reporter.

Jan Struther, small, dark and intensely vital, is traveling alone on a six weeks lecture tour over the United States, and spoke to the University of Wichita through the auspices of the Student Forum.

In her speech before the W. U. audience, she earnestly expressed her conviction that "people must first feel democracy in their hearts, and practice it in their private lives, before there is hope of its triumph in world affairs." Miss Struther, wife of Anthony Maxtone-Graham, since her arrival in America, four and a half years ago, has been engrossed in writing and lecturing, partly as mediums of expounding her democratic beliefs.

Husband Prisoner
Her husband is a German prisoner of war, taken three years ago in the African campaign, and her son Jamie, 20, is seeing action in the British army.

Asked of her reaction toward the tremendous success in America of her novel "Mrs. Miniver," Miss Struther replied, "I was truly surprised. I thought it much too British to appeal to the American people."

As to the inspiration for her best seller, she said, "It was an assignment. Peter Flemming, on the "London Times" staff, thought the paper needed more human interest, and requested me to write a series of fiction articles, featuring a down-to-earth character that would represent a typical Times reader."

Likes Movie
Later the articles, which appeared in the Times at several week intervals, were combined and published in book form, and its popularity spread to America, where Hollywood based the movie upon it. "Greer Garson was lovely as Mrs. Miniver," Miss Struther added.

"Writing prose does not come easy to me," said Miss Struther, "I find it necessary to revise and revise. But I love to write poetry and it comes to my mind fluently. I write pages upon pages in personal letters," she said laughingly. She is planning a book of prose and verse, tentatively entitled "A Pockful of Pebbles," for publication next spring.

Having motored over the entire United States, and been in every state except Florida, Miss Struther declared that she thought the Southwest to be the most beautiful part of America.

Prefers Middlewest
She prefers the people of the Middlewest to those of any other section, saying "they are more informal and friendly." Here, she added that "the typical and especially the younger British are not so formal and aloof as the American is lead to believe. In reality they are quite warm hearted." Certain sections of New England, with their strict, formalized customs, remind her of England as it must have been in her grandmother's day.

Drinks Coffee
As Miss Struther sipped steaming coffee (not the traditional English tea), she graciously answered questions and discussed many topics, from recent movies to the W. U. man shortage. She was quite interested in the phenomenal growth of Wichita and its war industries, and seemed inclined to reverse the interview in her desire to know more about Kansas. She thought the American war effort "marvelous."

A Vote Of Confidence

ALTHOUGH the football team has not won every game this season, the University may be justly proud of Coach Mel Binford's men. In considering statistics that are available only one conclusion can be reached, and that is that for a non-professional aggregation the team is performing admirably.

The team has been outweighed considerably in each game but to date has managed to chalk up 28 points to the opponent's 19. Considering that the first game was a walk-away, the second game a tie against great odds, and that in the third game the opposition was held to 13 points, the picture looks definitely good.

Last week's game at Olathe was played against beefy and brawny men including one former all-American player from Notre Dame. Against such odds the University should be happy that the players were able to return sans crutches, whether victorious or not.

The sportsmanship of the Wichita players at Olathe reflected most creditably upon the University. Good clean playing on the part of the Shockers was displayed throughout the game.

In view of the obvious facts concerning the team, it deserves the student vote of confidence at Saturday's game. Be there to cheer.

Tradition Is Important

NEXT month, after an absence of a year, the traditional Homecoming celebration will be observed. The inability of the University to participate in inter-collegiate football caused the omission of Homecoming last year.

Will the student body be as enthusiastic about Homecoming this year as it has been formerly? To the alumni Homecoming is the symbol of all that college represents. When the present student body, especially the senior class, remembers its college days, will thoughts of Homecoming linger longer than any others?

Traditions such as Homecoming are not to be lightly tossed aside in such times as these. It is the duty and privilege of each University student to help make Homecoming this year a celebration that will make every former Shocker feel that the old traditions have not been forgotten but are still honored and observed.

The Sorosis dance last Saturday eve was the loudest and noisiest affair the Shirkmere has seen for some time. Doc Rydjord and Mrs. Rydjord were doing the 1926 style jitterbug. Mrs. Duerkson looked happy even though the Major sat all evening and leered at the little freshmen.

It's amusin to Shockin' Susie to see married male students who are making such a terrific hit with the naive freshmen.

Grads Plan Homecoming

HOMECOMING plans are being carried out by the University Alumnae Association, as well as by local students, according to Major Walter Duerkson, chairman of the faculty alumnae association. The association will have charge of a coffee to be held following the homecoming game Nov. 4, Major Duerkson said.

Mrs. Kathlien Edmiston is chairman of Homecoming for the Alumnae Association. She has been appointed by the alumnae president, C. E. Overston.

A meeting was held Wednesday by members of the faculty alumnae committee, meeting with Mrs. Edmiston and C. E. Overston. Faculty members of the alumnae committee include Walter Duerkson, chairman; Lois Carpenter, Laura M. Cross, Marie Graham, Dr. Gerry Hammond, Faye Ricketts, and Dr. George D. Wilner.

Captain John G. Austin, former student at the University, recently flew his first photographic reconnaissance mission over Nazi-occupied Europe, headquarters at an Eighth AAF aerial reconnaissance station have revealed.

The Wichita pilot obtained important pictures of enemy military, maritime, and industrial installations.

Captain Austin entered the army in 1940. He made his first photographic reconnaissance flight while with the 11th air force in the Aleutians.

Lieut. Leonard C. Davis, former University student, has been reported missing in action over Germany since September 22, according to word received here from the war department.

Davis was navigator on a B-17 Flying Fortress and has been overseas since June, 1944. He entered the air corps in 1943 and prior to that time was a student at the University.

Davis has been awarded the air medal.

Lieut. Orville Roy has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Henry Roy, 2926 South Lawrence Road. Lieut.

tenant Roy has just received his promotion to a full Navy lieutenant at the Panama Canal Zone, where he has been stationed. Lieutenant Roy was graduated from the University of Wichita in 1942. His brother, Lieut. Clyde Roy, also a W. U. graduate, has been a prisoner of war in Germany since May, 1943. Lieutenant Roy said his parents hear from him often, and that he is in good health.

Pvt. Ted O'Hara, former student and member of Phi Upsilon Sigma, visited the campus this week. Private O'Hara has been stationed at Camp McCoy, Wis., in the infantry. He will return there after a 15-day furlough visiting friends and relatives.

Lieut. (jg) Tom Orr, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Orr, is home on a seven day leave visiting his wife, the former Betty Dunn, and his 26-day-old son, Gary Thomas. Lieutenant Orr recently completed eight months duty aboard a sub chaser on Atlantic convoy duty. In the service one and a half years, he is a former personnel officer for the Eleventh Naval district in San Pedro, Calif.

Orr is a graduate of the University of Wichita, where he belonged to the Men of Webster fraternity and was one of a group of student testers who gave examinations to 10,000 Cessna employees. He was formerly Youth Councilor for the Hillside Christian Church.

Kenneth Friedel, University graduate in 1928, visited the campus recently. Friedel was a former editor of the Sunflower when he was on the campus, and is now an editor of a Hastings, Neb. paper.

Helen Highwater Back! What Will Happen Now?

(Helen Highwater is an incurable ham with an amazing capacity for calamity which explains how her attempt to sign up for the leading role in a USO show resulted in her enlisting in the Marines.

Helen has more friends than a corrupt butcher. Shoe quotes everything from Lord Byron to Big Sister and knows more about Frank Sinatra than Frank Sinatra does.

Her face is no more beautiful than Ingrid Bergman's and her figure is only a little better than Betty Grable's, but boys seem to like her anyway. We hope you will too.)

If Helen Highwater had missed two consecutive Frank Sinatra broadcasts, she would have been no more disappointed than she was when her commanding officer, Major Catastrophe, told her she was to be discharged from the Marines.

Helen immediately began to cry in Ingrid's "Gaslight" style and because Miss Bergman was the major's favorite star he explained gently, "You see, Private Highwater, this whole thing is more or less an economic measure. When you joined the corps, you released one man to fight, but frankly, it takes an entire platoon to keep you out of trouble and we just can't afford to operate with those odds against us."

Helen would have gone into her Portia act to defend her spectacular record but she realized it was useless.

Helen had been very proud of her conduct record which had only two blemishes on it. One demerit had been given her by a sergeant who failed to appreciate Helen's white bedspread with a likeness of Frank Sinatra embroidered in the center. The other was for accidentally boarding a troop ship bound for England. Helen could never understand how so many important Marine officers could be completely unaware that Constance Dowling had gotten by with practically the same thing in "Up in Arms." If boarding the ship had been wrong, Helen believed that she had more than made up for it by personally taking part in the Invasion on D-Day. No other woman Marine could make that statement, but Helen knew this could hardly impress people who couldn't even understand a musical comedy.

Helen's reverie was interrupted by Major Catastrophe's cough. "Try not to hate us too much for this," he said tritely. He then suggested that when Helen returned to civilian life, she should write her adventures into book form. Suddenly he sensed he was treading on dangerous ground and in order to prevent an hour's discussion on the modern American novel, he said abruptly, "Goodbye, good luck, and I hope you and your bobby socks will be very happy." He then crossed the room hurriedly, opened the door, and pointed outside, indicating that the interview was at an end.

By the time Helen reached her quarters, she was sobbing unintentionally like Bette Davis. After several minutes, she managed to calm down to Ingrid Bergman again and she was able to tell her best friend, Olive Drab, about her humiliating experience.

Olive, inspired to drastic action by Helen's descriptive narrative, fled from the room and within half an hour, she had informed everyone on the post that they must be at the station the next day to see Helen off.

Saturday morning, Helen stood on her suitcase at the railroad station and delivered her farewell address, which, she had no doubt, would eventually be required reading in all the better anthologies. When the speech was ended, Helen systematically kissed every male Marine and smiled tolerantly at the women. Then she picked up her suitcase and ran backward toward the train so that her fans could gaze on her beautiful face as long as possible. As she ran, she twisted her head from side to side shouting, "Gung Ho" to the women and her address and telephone number to the men.

Once aboard, she plucked a single rose from her bouquet, made it immortal with a kiss, and tossed it unselfishly to the mob.

Five minutes later, Helen turned to enter the coach. She noticed with delight that a handsome young man was observing her with admiration and amusement.

Will Helen get a seat on the train? Well her old friends welcome her when she arrives home? Who is the Stranger? Who knows? Who cares?

WHEN Jan Struther, brain mother of the fabulous Mrs. Miniver, arrived in town a week ago for the first Student Forum lecture of the season, nobody, least of all harassed Forum Board members, expected the human dynamo of charm and personality that turned out to be their lecturer. Advance publicity notices on Miss Struther (really Mrs. Anthony Maxtone-Graham) had been extremely feeble, being limited to a few sheets of "canned" releases, at least a year old. Forum Board members, selling Miss Struther to their prospective audiences, didn't quite know what to say. They had all read "Mrs. Miniver" and thought perhaps that the author might be a kind, sweet lady, but they were in no way prepared for their first attraction to turn up as a load of sensational dynamite.

O'Bryant

THE Student Forum, getting on its feet again and preparing for a good year, after the 1943-44 season of tough breaks, was nevertheless ready for any help which could come its way. The board, collectively, sat around looking for a miracle of some sort to drop down the chimney. When they got a close range look at Jan Struther at the traditional pre-lecture dinner, they decided that things were definitely brightening up, and when Miss Struther started performing on the lecture platform, board members quit worrying, because their author was calmly turning out the best talk of three seasons.

JAN Struther looked good on the platform and talked with a great deal of simple sincerity and honesty that sounded refreshing to the collective ears of the audience. She is possessed with a natural sense of showmanship, a quality which is usually markedly missing in the average lecturer, and by the time she had finished the talk she had the cash customers cheering for more. Board members quizzically thanked God and the lecture bureau for sending Jan Struther their way, and the audience milled out, convinced that it had heard and seen one of the great personalities of the time.

JAN Struther on the lecture platform behaves like the well bred, charming woman that she is, and talks common sense instead of bookish facts. Her lectures are a marvelous example of what good lectures should be. There is none of the high tone of the military prophet in her talk, no weighty predictions, and none of the complicated references to minor events which are usually spaced throughout a lecture to convince the audience, should it be doubtful, of the speaker's extreme wisdom.

JAN Struther, giving a talk, is fun to listen to. A speaker, no matter how learned, has lost the audience grip if he draws crowds because they think they should listen to him. There are a great many persons in this world who have practically convinced themselves that they like "dry" lectures because they feel that, like castor oil, lectures are a necessary part of our way of living, and be it ever so unpleasant, there is no place like the lecture hall for a home town post grad course in what goes on in the world.

FOR these persons I recommend Jan Struther, who makes fine entertainment out of lectures and substitutes her own brand of warm human wisdom and courage for a pile of dry facts, and who goes from town to town on tour, leaving the local booking agents wondering where she has been all their professional lives.

 It seems that W. U. co-eds are taking the man power shortage into their stride, for there are rumors of girls who are going to see Harry James stag. Of course, if you know how to do it, you can get a blind date, and save all the expense. For further instructions, see Doris Jean Meads, who seems to have mastered the technique fully.

Tip to all potential hosts and hostesses—the newest entertainment at egg nog parties is hopscotch played in the driveway. For further details, see Charles Chaffin.

Hear that the football team became quite intimately acquainted with the Olathe doors last weekend—that old American habit of collecting souvenirs showing up, maybe.

Joanne Sweeney seems to be having problems—in the form of Scott Dotson who is home (Sweeney has his Navy ring) and Gene Mills who is coming home (she has his frat pin.) But she's fluffing the situation off with, "What do I care! It's Dr. McKinley that I love, anyway."

Hear the Sorosis dance was a big success—"almost like pre-war dances." There was some pretty fancy rug-cutting, with Dr. Rydjord doing his share.

Big question—what were Wayne Krone, Bert Davies, Tommy Arnold, Calvin Elder, and Eldon Case looking for in the dark out on one of the lawns on South Terrace Drive the other night? Did you find it, fellows?

Guess that Joyce Henning and Vernon McQuire could have solved all their German problems if they had just asked Doc Nock. It seems they were having a rather heated argument over the German test the other day, and turned around to find him right in back of them all ready to answer their questions.

Did you notice the "tired" way the Alpha Tau and Sorosis pledges moved around last Thursday? They walked out together and really gave the actives a run for their lives, but we hear they got caught, and the end to the story was rather sad—in the form of vile food and "millions of exercises." "But it was worth it," all of the girls, actives and pledges alike, agree.

Dorothy Ransom's "Rocky" is home on furlough. Have you seen her? Maybe you recognized that "seventh heaven" look.

Lots of fellows back—Homer Olsen, Paul Macauley, Ross McCausland, Murphy Jones, Paul Clevenger, Eddy Larcher, Lyle Sturdy, Gene Jones, Stan Marshall, Art Dyer, and Alan Boley.

See you all third hour today in the Commons.

Shockers To Battle Nebraska Navy Here

Lively Contest Expected In Doane College Game

Playing their second home game of the season, the Shockers will meet Doane College here Saturday. Last Saturday Coach Binford's boys held the experienced Olathe Navy team to a 13 to 0 score before 1,500 spectators.

The Shockers escaped further injuries last Saturday although the Olathe squad was a much heavier and rougher team than the Shockers previously had met. Coach Binford said that the team would be in much better condition for Saturday's game if no further injuries were received during practice this week. The Shockers record to date shows one win, one tie, and one lost which is an excellent record for an all freshman squad.

Doane Is Navy
Doane College is another Navy squad. They will build their running attack around Bill Moore, fleet 160 pound halfback from La Crosse, Kansas and Bob Webber, 175 pound halfback from Milford, Iowa. Webber has been the big scorer in the Doane backfield. Webber played one year at Peru State Teachers College, before being transferred into the Doane Navy Unit. Doane's line will average 180 pounds and the backfield 187 pounds.

The probable line-up for Saturday's game will be:

Wichita	Pos.	Doane
Knocke	LE	Merryman
Bell	LT	Huebner
Barlow	LG	Hanson
Snodgrass	C	Flake
Overstake	RG	Davidson
Watts	RT	Davis
Coffee	RE	Meyer
Heilman	QB	Matrese
Sexton	LH	Webber
Hall	RH	Moore
Russell	FB	Kelley

Shockers Kick Off

The Shockers kicked off to Olathe to open Saturday's game. Olathe gained a first down and then were forced to kick. The Shockers failed to gain a first down and punted to the Clippers 22 where it was run back to the 36. Olathe again was forced to punt and, after receiving the ball on their own 9, the Shockers fumbled. Olathe took over but were held on the 2-yard line and lost possession of the ball. The Shockers punted out of danger and after a long pass and several end runs the Clippers plunged over from the 2. The try for the extra point was blocked. The Shockers received the kick-off on their own 25 and ran it back to the 50 as the quarter ended.

On One-Yard Line

As a result of an exchange of punts early in the second period, the Shockers began a drive on their own 44. They drove to the Clippers 17 where Olathe intercepted a Shockers pass and took possession. After several plays failed to net any yardage, the Clippers punted to their own 37. The Shockers took over but lost the ball when Olathe intercepted a pass on their own 27. Minutes later Olathe fumbled and the Shockers recovered on the Olathe 26. On four plays they drove to the 3. With only a second remaining in the half the Shockers tried again only to be stopped on the one yard line as the gun went off to end the half.

Sexton Outstanding

In the third quarter, the Clippers received the kick-off on their own 20 and ran it back to the 32. Five plays took them to the Wichita 40, where they fumbled and Coach Binford's boys took over on the Olathe 49. They drove to the 20 but lost the ball on downs. On the next play Langer of Olathe, sprinted 68 yards down the field for the longest run of the afternoon. On the play, Linwood Sexton, who was the outstanding star of the game, was blocked out but got up and with Langer 15 yards ahead of him caught up with him and downed him on the Wichita 12. The Clippers, threat for a score was stopped when the Shockers held them for four downs and then punted out of danger as the quarter ended.

In the fourth period, the Clippers lost the ball on downs and the Shockers drove to the Olathe 43 only to have to punt on the fourth down. Wichita gained the ball on a fumble but only to lose it on the next play as the Clippers intercepted a pass and ran it to the Shockers 19. Here Mallin heaved to Scharf for Olathe's second tally. Langer's kick was good. The Shockers received the kick-off and drove to the Olathe 28 as the gun went off to end the game.
