PRESIDENT BACK TO DESK; WORK ON BUDGET BEGINS

Bruce Wins Annual May Queen Honor

Students Accept New Constitution by Nine
To One Majority Vote

Dorothy Bruce, senior and former president of Pi Kappa Psi sorority, was chosen to reign as May Queen over May Day festivities and the Student Council constitution proposition was passed as a result of the annual election held on the campus last Friday.

Miss Bruce, student in the College of Fine Arts, will be crowned at special coronation services on the campus the evening of festivities which will be held on Friday, May 9.

Bill Draut, graduating senior and letterman in football and basketball, has been chosen to serve as Chancellor and escort to the May Queen-elect.

Miss Bruce was a candidate of the Shocker coalition. Her opponent, Gloria Fouts, also a student in the College of Fine Arts, ran on an unaffiliated ticket.

The newly-revised Student Council constitution was adopted by the student body by a vote of nine to one. With 1,043 ballots cast on the proposition, 928 persons voted for adoption while 115 were against adoption.

The Student Council on Monday adopted the by-laws of the new document and thus it has gone into effect according to Keith Oliver, president.

The first major changes which will be felt by the constitution's approval will be in the spring election. Instead of electing class officers and Student Council representatives, only Student Council officers will be elected. Class officers and representatives to the Student Council will be chosen in the fall.

DR. W. M. JARDINE, president of the University who returned to the campus last Monday after an absence of nine months, forced by illness is being welcomed back by Keith Fisher, vice president of the Student Council who is pictured at left. Dr. and Mrs. Jardine returned Saturday from a three-month stay in Hawaii where Dr. Jardine was able to regain his health.

Dr. Jardine Versatile Leader In 40 Years of Public Service

By Bill Mendell

The career of Dr. W. M. Jardine, who last month completed his thirteenth year as president of the University of Wichita, has included more than 40 years of public service in government, education and science which led to the President's cabinet, the presidency of two colleges, and international recognition in the field of agronomy.

Born in Oneida, Idaho, Jan. 16, 1879, he received his college education at Utah Agricultural College and the graduate school, University of Illinois, and was appointed assistant United States cerealist in charge of dry land grain investigations because of extraordinarily high marks made in a civil service examination. Later, he joined the faculty of Kansas State College at Manhattan and was its president from 1918 until 1925, when he was appointed Secretary of Agriculture by President Calvin Coolidge.

President Herbert Hoover appointed him Minister to Egypt in 1930 and for three years he served this country in that diplomatic post. His knowledge of dry land farming was applied in Egypt where he recognized a similarity between soil and weather conditions there and those in certain areas of the United States.

Returning to the United States in 1933, he was appointed state treasurer by Governor Alf M. Landon to straighten out the state finances following a bond scandal.

On March 1, 1934, he took over the presidency of the University of Wichita after the school had fallen into disfavor with accrediting groups. Soon after his arrival the school was reinstated in good standing with the North Central Association and the institution now is recognized by the highest accrediting agencies in the nation.

Progress of the University of Wichita for the past 13 years has been due in large measure to his dynamic and competent leadership. (Continued on Page 2)

Dr. Jardine Wins Battle Over Illness

Educator Praises Way
School Has Been Run
During Long Absence

Dr. W. M. Jardine, apparently recovered from a serious illness which caused his absence for nine months, is once again hard at work at his desk after reassuming his duties as president of the University last Monday.

Upon his return, Dr. Jardine found many important matters awaiting his action. First consideration before the president is the 1947-48 budget which is to be presented to the Board of Regents soon.

Also awaiting action by Dr. Jardine is the proposed Student Union Building, voted by the student body and approved by the Board of Regents recently.

Dr. Jardine, showing signs of a healthy suntan and wearing a broad smile, said Monday, "I feel swell and it's really good to be back. The students, faculty, and the Board of Regents have done a splendid job while I was away."

The president has begun his fourteenth year as head of the University.

Dr. Jardine was stricken with an inflammation of the central nervous system last August while on vacation in Boulder, Colo. For three weeks little hope was held for his recovery. However, he won his battle for life and was flown back to Wichita in October.

After he had gained enough strength, he and Mrs. Jardine traveled to Hawaii in December, where Dr. Jardine was able to regain his health.

Dr. and Mrs. Jardine returned to the United States on April 16 and arrived in Wichita last Saturday.

Board of Regents Praises Students and Faculty

Praise for the faculty's "leadership and devotion to duty" and of the students' "patience, understanding and loyalty" in the president's absence was expressed this week by the University Board of Regents.

The regents' statement, released by R. V. Christian, board chairman, follows:

"On the occasion of the president's return, the Board of Regents wishes to express its most sincere appreciation to the faculty and staff for their assistance, leadership and devotion to duty in Dr. Jardine's absence. It was this splendid cooperation which made possible the continued effective function of the University.

"The immediate past months have presented unprecedented problems requiring courage, resourcefulness and hard work to solve successfully. In some instances, their solution was the responsibility of the various faculty committees which have performed most efficiently, consistent with the highest educational standards. In other instances, it has been an individual responsibility with the instructor or administrator, acting with singleness of purpose in the best interests of the University.

"The board is also deeply appreciative of the patience, understanding and loyalty of the students and their organizations during this critical and trying period in the life of the school."

College Presidency Is 'Hazardous Profession'

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia.—(I.P.)—President Byron S. Hollinshead, newly inaugurated head of Coe College, in his acceptance speech here recently emphasized that he had no illusions about the job of a college president. "So that there can be no mistake, may I say that I am not qualified. I realize full well also that it is a hazardous profession. A really good president should have the foresight of a Conant, the easy flowing pen of a Hutchins, the financial ability of a Mellon, the scholarship of a Compton, the tact of a Franklin, the ability of a Faunce, the executive ability of a Sloan, and the patience of St. Francis of Assisi."

"If you will permit a metaphor, a college president enters a Roman chariot race. With a light rein he tries to steer a chariot which is pulled by prancing, rambunctious, and powerful steeds: the faculty, the trustees, the alumni, the students, and the friends," President Hollinshead said.

Captain Goes To Virginia

Capt. Samuel McAdams professor of military science and tactics here since last May, has received orders to report to Fort Eustis, Va., by June 30.

After receiving his reserve commission in June 1939, Captain McAdams was called to active duty March 3, 1942 serving with the Seventh Armoured Division in the European theatre.

He spent Eight months as a prisoner of war, and was liberated by the Russians shortly before V-E day.

Recently Captain McAdams received his regular army commission, and is being transferred to the Transportation Corps.

Sunflower Publishes Biggest Issue in History Today

This 24-page edition sets a new record, as it is the largest Sunflower ever published by the University journalism department. It also possibly might be the largest edition ever published by any university in the state.

Plans for this issue were made several months ago and work on special features and pictures began well in advance of the deadline, Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. Students of the beginning reporting, interpretive reporting, and editing classes participated in its publication.

Board of Regents is Active During Absence of Dr. Jardine

Determining the policies of the University of Wichita, the Board of Regents has had its busiest year during the recent absence of Dr. William M. Jardine, president of the school.

During Dr. Jardine's illness, the Board met as often as twice a week to decide upon matters, many of which would have been handled by the president. Regular meetings were scheduled the first Friday of each month, and special meetings were held when convenient.

Handling all problems that came before them in the past year, the Board members not only dealt effectively in establishing policies to take care of the influx of new students, but became acquainted first-hand with many procedures.

In the Board's statement to the faculty at the first meeting of the year last fall the Regents reported that "the policies which he (President Jardine) has made well known to you will continue in effect . . . it is not the intent of your Board at this time to create any temporary committees with special powers . . . the Board is in complete accord with the University program now in operation."

Board members receive no compensation for their work. They must be residents of Wichita and are appointed for terms of four years. Four members are appointed by the city commission and four by the board of education. The other, an ex-official and voting member is the mayor of the city.

Officers of the Board include R. V. Christian, chairman; Mrs. Justus Fugate, vice chairman; Cecil A. Jordan, secretary; and Frank Barr, treasurer. Other members are Mayor Frank W. Coleman, S. C. Brennan, P. K. Smith, Dr. T. Walker Weaver and W. S. Henrion. Members Brennan and Jordan are former University students.

Roy W. Elloit, assistant secretary, has held that office since the Board's beginning in 1926. W. J. Jochems is attorney for the Regents.

Mrs. Fugate is also chairman of the ways and means committee of the Board, with Brennan, Dr. Weaver and Smith as members. Jordan heads the committee on buildings and grounds with Barr, Brennan and Coleman as members. Supplies committee has Barr as chairman, Mrs. Fugate, Dr. Weaver and Coleman as members. Jordan, Brennan and Mrs. Fugate are members and Smith the chairman of the auditing committee.

Celebration Set for May

May Day, which is an annual event on the University campus, will take place on the morning, afternoon, and night of Friday, May 9.

The celebration will open with the band marching through campus buildings during the first or second hour classes at which time all students will be dismissed.

Throughout the morning, sports events will take place with all students who wish to do so participating.

Box lunches will be sold in front of the Commons during the lunch hour.

Also at noontime, the street in front of the Commons will be blocked off, and a street dance will be held.

Coronation of the May Queen will be the highlight of festivities and will take place in the University Auditorium with all students paying homage to the queen with serenading by all social organizations, and with a musical program.

Climaxing the day of celebration, the "Coronation Ball", a semi-formal affair, will be held. Further plans for the dance will be announced later by the Varsity committee.

Versatile Leader

Every phase of University administration has received his personal attention, yet he has placed heavy individual responsibilities on members of the faculty.

During his administration the University has been kept in sound financial condition, salaries have been raised in line with the best schools of the country and extensive improvements in buildings and other physical properties, started in 1936, continue on the campus.

Under his direction during the war the school received national recognition for its efficiency in training more than 1,700 cadets.

Dr. Jardine has a keen interest in the problems of returning veterans and at the close of the war his orders were to go "all-out" in providing the maximum number of vets, as well as other students, the best possible education consistent with the highest educational standards.

His insight into University affairs probably stems from his own struggle for an education. Minus high school training and with only his meager boyhood savings, the former cowpuncher and ranch hand prevailed upon the president of Utah State for a chance at a college education.

Lacking formal education background and working his way through school, he had to study, as he often says, "a lot harder than the rest of the boys." He was a campus leader, captain of the football team and was graduated from Utah State with honors.

In 1925, Utah Agricultural College conferred upon him an honorary doctorate degree. He received similar degrees from Lafayette College, Easton, Penn., in 1927 and Kansas State College in 1938.

The Academy of Agriculture in Prague, Czechoslovakia, at its annual meeting, Mar. 18, 1929, nominated him as its correspondent member in recognition of the "great worth which he merited for the cause of agriculture."

Dr. Jardine is a member of the Congregational Church, Rotary Club, Wichita Country Club, the board of trustees of the Midwest Research Institute, American Forestry Association, Washington Academy of Science, Massachusetts Horticultural Society, Sigma Xi, Beta Theta Pi, Alpha Zeta, Phi Kappa Phi, Gamma Sigma Delta and Scabbard and Blade, national military fraternity.

He has always maintained an alert interest in the Boy Scouts and is a member of its national council and the region eight executive committee. He recently received one of scouting's highest awards, the Silver Antelope.

For the past three years he has been on the board of directors of the Federal Home Land Bank of Topeka, Kans., and has been chairman of that body since January, 1945. He also has served on the Federal Savings and Loan Advisory Council.

He is a member of the board of trustees of the Institute of Logopedics, which he was instrumental in founding in 1934, and he has been vice chairman of the board of governors of the University of Wichita Foundation for Industrial Research since its founding.

DOROTHY BRUCE, Pi Kappa Psi and University senior elected May Queen last Friday, has selected Bill Draut, Men of Webster and University senior, as chancellor for May Day activities. The two are pictured above.

For the first time the University of Missouri is offering a bachelor of music degree.

Freshmen men average 21.9 years of age and senior women 21.6 at Montana State University.

Aeronautics Club Opens

Student chapter of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences will be re-activated at a meeting to be held in the lecture room of Aeronautics Building at 10 a. m. tomorrow, according to John Nunemaker, chairman pro tempore, who said that all students enrolled in engineering are eligible to become members and are urged to attend the meeting as officers will be elected.

Institute of Aeronautical Sciences is a professional society of men in the field of aeronautics, and the student chapter will act as sponsor of various engineering student functions such as technical meetings, banquets, expositions, and smokers, Nunemaker explained.

Chips Officers Make Tradition Book Plans

Newly elected officers of Chips, an organization of sons and daughters of University graduates, are Ruth Diffenbacher, president, and Katherine Pruessner, secretary-Treasurer.

New project of the organization will be the compilation of material concerning traditions of Fairmount and the University of Wichita. A "Tradition Book" will be made and presented the University by Chips, announced Miss Diffenbacher.

Suggestions of interesting material, pictures of Fairmount or persons connected with the college then, or names of former students who may contribute in the search for tradition may be turned in at Room 153, Administration Building, said Miss Diffenbacher.

Dr. Waldo B. Burnett, director of the Foundation for Industrial Research, was guest speaker at the weekly luncheon-meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce held in the Lassen Hotel yesterday.

Style Show To be Given

Phi Upsilon Sigma "Men's Fashion Varieties" will be given at 7:30, Friday, May 2, in the University Auditorium.

Program will present to the public the newest and smartest 1947 fashions for men. Entertainment includes Dick Haughton and band, numerous piano numbers, style pantomimes and skits.

Models from each campus sorority will assist in presenting pantomime scenes in which the latest sport and dress fashions for the coming year will be shown.

Models are Alpha Tau Sigma, Norma Neill, Delta Omega, Charlotte Weidman; Epsilon Kappa Rho, Jerry Beardsley; Pi Kappa Psi, Leanda Andeel; Sorosis, Ellen McEwen.

Bert Davis, Jay Galloway, and Joa Feagins worked in accordance with Henry's Clothing Store on arrangements for the presentation.

Complimentary tickets may be obtained at Henry's or from any Phi Sig.

Women Plan Constitution

A program whereby every woman student on campus may participate in campus activities will be written into the constitution now being prepared for the University chapter of the National All Women Student Association, according to Beth Jones and Anita Faye Lallement, who have just returned from the women student convention held at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis.

"Through the organization now being created on this campus, unaffiliates as well as sororities and independents will be represented in University affairs," said Miss Jones.

"Purpose of the women's association," said Miss Lallement, "is to further in every way the spirit of unity and fellowship among the women of the University; to enrich each individual's college experience; to promote high scholarship; to develop leadership; to be of service to the University; and to act as the coordinating body of all women's organizations."

"This organization will enable women to speak and govern more freely through their own members than through administrative groups. Our goal will be service by and to members of the organization," said Miss Jones.

"We were invited to this convention as guests and had no vote," said Miss Lallement, "but members of the national organization were interested and helpful in the formulation of our organization."

Ideas resulting from discussions with chapter members, according to Miss Jones and Miss Lallement, are encouragement of new ideas of new women students on campus; to give valuable experience for later life; to include all women instead of organization members only; and to further a program whereby freshmen and new students will meet and become acquainted with other University women.

John J. Ingalls Speech Club will sponsor a contest at 8 p.m. Friday, in the commissioners room, City Hall. Prizes of $15, $10, and $5 will be awarded.

Websters Boast First Social Group on Fairmount Campus

Men of Webster is the oldest social organization on the campus. It was started only two months after the founding of Fairmount College in September, 1895.

The founder of the society was the first president of Fairmount College, Dr. N. J. Morrison.

In 1916 the original organization was reorganized along strictly fraternal lines and the Greek letters Phi Lambda Psi were added. At the time of the reorganization, seven trees, one for each letter in the name Webster, were planted in a grove behind the President's house. These trees originally came from the homestead of Daniel Webster.

ster. Under each tree is a bottle with the names of the 13 charter members. One of the trees has since died.

During the first 20 years of its existence the society occupied a room on the third floor of Fairmount Hall.

The first Webster house was a former army mess hall located on the campus. It was partially destroyed by fire. The fraternity next

PiAlpha Pi Is Oldest Greek Organization on W.U. Campus

Reactivated last spring after disbanding during the war, Pi Alpha Pi is the oldest fraternity on the campus. The history of the fraternity goes back to 1915 when the University was known as Fairmount College.

At that time there were no fraternity organizations on the campus. The only organization was the Men's Literary Society, a combination of two earlier dormant societies. A few meetings of the society were held but it was soon apparent that the organization, based mainly upon the old literary ideals, would not appeal to the men of the College.

Plans for an organization along fraternal lines were made and the matter was discussed with C. C. Harbison, now professor of speech. In March, 1915, Frank Wood, Jr., George Haun, and James L. Beebe were given a free hand in organizing the new group. They decided that the best plan was to abandon the old Men's Literary Society and reorganize anew.

Twelve of the leading men on the campus were picked and during May of 1915, a meeting was held and officers were elected and committees were appointed to draft a constitution and provide living quarters. At this time the organization was still going under the old name.

By July, arrangements were made for the group to use a room in one of the campus buildings for meetings the following year.

The next fall a constitution was adopted and regular officers were elected. The men weren't satisfied with the old name and a movement was made to change it to that of one of the first two literary societies. This measure was unanimously voted against and the name of Pi Alpha Pi was unanimously adopted.

In 1918, the fraternity built a large wooden frame structure on the campus. The group continued to grow and in 1926 moved to a larger house off the campus at 1531 N. Holyoke.

This home was sold in 1941 and the fraternity moved into the former Pi Kappa Psi house on the campus. The next year an $8,000 house was bought on Fraternity Row. This house was sold when the fraternity was deactivated during the war.

Members who reorganized the fraternity last fall are, Jack Adams, who was elected president, Jarvis Jones, Charles Karraker and Fred Beaty, who was a pledge.

Second semester officers include: Charles Bank, president, Royal Barker, vice president, Ralph Brack, secretary, and Jarvis Jones, treasurer.

Founding of Pi Kappas in 1922 Preserves Campus Democracy

In order that democracy might be preserved on the old Fairmount campus, Pi Kappa Psi sorority was formally established in the fall of 1922, therefore allowing all women of the University to become affiliated with a social group.

Because enrollment exceeded that of all previous years, Grace Wilkie, dean of women, suggested the formation of a new society which would enable all women who entered Fairmount College to become sorority members.

Closed membership was suggested but five members of Sorosis, three members of Alpha Tau Sigma, and two members of Delta Omega volunteered to resign from their respective organizations to form the nucleus of the new sorority and 10 pledges were selected from the freshman class of 1922. These 20 members formed the personnel of the new society, later to be called Pi Kappa Psi. Shirley Smith, Sorosis president and first volunteer, became the first Pi Kappa Psi president.

Meetings were first held on the top floor of Fairmount Hall, four flights up. In 1926, the organization moved into the former Pi Alpha Pi house located south of the Commons.

On Oct. 28, 1940, the new sorority house at 3616 Clough Place was completed making Pi Kappa Psi the second organization to be housed on Sorority Row. A formal mortgage burning ceremony was held August, 1946.

Faculty Committee To Aid Program Of Foundation Director

University Regents last week appointed a temporary faculty committee to work with Dr. Waldo B. Burnett, Foundation for Industrial Research director, on awarding foundation fellowships and making recommendations for awards.

Dr. Lloyd McKinley, head of the University chemistry department, was appointed foundation fellowship committee chairman.

Other committee members are Dr. John Rydjord, head of the history department, and Dr. C. C. McDonald, head of the botany and bacteriology department.

Work of Scientist Is No Bed of Roses, Simmonds Learns

Wayne Simmonds, University of Wichita graduate who received national recognition last spring when he discovered a new penicillium strain, got more than he bargained for in his appointment to a laboratory associateship in the University of California at Los Angeles school of medicine.

In addition to his laboratory work he has been recently given a full schedule of lecture classes in bacteriology, according to word received here by Dr. C. C. McDonald, professor and head of the department of botany and bacteriology.

Following his surprise discovery last summer, after a year's research at the University under the supervision of Dr. McDonald, he was given his appointment by Dr. John F. Kessel, chairman of the department of bacteriology and parasitology at U. C. L. A.

The Smith Center, Kan., student received his A. B. degree from the University, served two years in the armed forces and was discharged in May, 1944. After returning to his work here he received his master's degree and was assisting in the botany and bacteriology department when his discovery brought national attention to him and the University.

Wichmann Leaves; Shumway Is Named

H. A. Shumway, dean of the El Dorado, Kan., Junior College, has been appointed assistant professor of mathematics here, following a recommendation by Frank A. Neff, dean of the College of Business Administration.

Shumway's appointment is effective next fall. He replaces Arthur A. Wichmann who resigned recently to attend Northwestern University.

Wichmann, graduate of Southeast Missouri State Teachers College, Cape Girardeau, Mo., joined the University faculty in 1945. He received his M.B.A. degree in commerce at Northwestern in 1942.

Easter Art Plate On Display In Commons

An Easter contribution is now on display in the guest book in the Commons, according to Mrs. C. U. Price, Commons hostess.

This contribution is an art plate made by Mawry Gilbert, freshman art student. The plate is a water color painting of a stained glass cathedral window showing the Crucifixion and, on the left side of this, in Old English printing is "Easter 1947." Beneath is a cluster of Easter lilies.

The guest book is used to register names of visitors to the University of Wichita, and art students make contributions to it for each major holiday including home-coming week.

Stress is being placed on advertising in a new department of marketing instituted last fall in the College of Commerce at the University of Notre Dame.

Additional Copies Of 'Wings Over Kansas' Are Available Now

Additional copies of "Wings Over Kansas," published by the Kansas Commission on Aviation Education for the State Department of Public Instruction, are available in the University business office, according to Roy W. Elliott, W.U. comptroller and treasurer of the Kansas Commission on Aviation Education.

Ten or more copies of the 48-page book can be ordered from Elliott for 75 cents each.

The publication shows pictures of University link trainer instruction, an aeronautical engineering class and articles on how the school here is meeting the needs for instruction in aviation subjects.

"Wings over Kansas" was published in cooperation with several committees, including the one on the senior high school with Leslie B. Sipple, dean of the College of Education, as chairman.

Crowning Glory...

our finest Home COLD WAVE
NOW made even finer with... new-type Miracle Curlers

Easiest to use

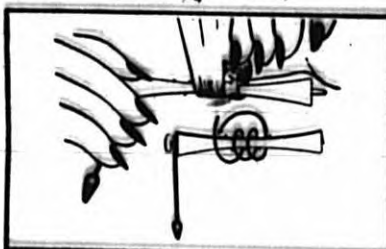

- SLIP-PROOF
- FRIZZ-PROOF
- POSITIVE LOCK

1. Place hair-strand, moistened with wave solution, over curler teeth as shown in illustration above.

2. Wrap end of strand around curler in same direction curl is to be wound. This prevents frizzing and "fishhooks."

3. Tuck ends smoothly under strand. Wind curl toward scalp. No end papers needed.

4. When curl touches scalp, fasten rubber strap over end of curler. This holds the curl securely in place.

NO OTHER curler is like this new-type time-saver with the exclusive, patented slip-proof teeth. It makes Crowned Glory cold wave finer and easier than ever before to use at home. The De Luxe set includes 40 Miracle Curlers... plus a new shampoo which ideally prepares your hair for your lovely, natural-looking Crowned Glory wave. It's delightfully different, mild and gentle; contains no ammonia. There are no powders to mix, no electricity to fuss about. Order your Crowned Glory cold wave set today. Advertising Men To Talk

Five guest speakers are scheduled to address members of the advertising survey class before the end of the semester while three others have already spoken according to Curtis W. Astle, instructor.

Scheduled to speak before the class are Ralph Hinman, manager of the Better Business Bureau of the Wichita Chamber of Commerce, Gene Evans, district advertising manager of the Standard Oil Company, Byron Kenyon, advertising manager of the sales division of the Fox-Vliet Company, Gifford Booth, Jr., of the Grit Printing Company, and Ernest Newcomb of the Wichita Light.

Dates of the talks have not been announced. "Middle Millions", a film compiled by the New York Daily News on five years of advertising survey is also slated to be shown to the class.

Phil Silvernail, layout artist of the Wichita Eagle, Dave Fishback, manager of the Wichita Transportation Advertising Company, and Jerry Branson of the Western Outdoor Advertising Company have already spoken.

Yesterday the members of the class attended the weekly luncheon-meeting of the Wichita Advertising Club in the Lassen Hotel.

Biographies of Eight Honor Men Display Active College Life

Eight men who were named to the Men's Honor Group last week won this high tribute through campus citizenship, scholarship, and extra-curricular activities. A check into the senior biographies of these men has revealed the activities and achievements of each of them.

To become a member of the Honor Group is one of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon a senior upon his graduation from this University.

David Enoch, Jack Howse, Keith Oliver, and Jess Kelley Sowards were named to the group as representatives of the class of 1947, while Francis Hesse, Paul Hesse, Bob Hill, and John Megaffin were chosen as representatives of those years in which there were no selections made. All four were graduated in 1946.

Following are the senior biographies of the eight men:

Wartime Treatment of Nisei Brings Disapproval by Myer

LOGAN, Utah—(ACP)—Another of the Army's wartime policies was criticized this week when Dillon S. Myer, former director of the War Relocation Authority, declared that the mass relocation of Japanese-Americans within the United States was unjustified.

Myer said that several million dollars in property loss or damage was incurred when Nisei were forcibly removed from their homes and businesses to be transplanted in relocation camps in the interior.

He went on to say that through the indiscriminate relocation policy we injured an important element in our heterogeneous society. Since the thousands of transplanted Nisei contributed greatly to our war effort, Myer believes that it is now for us to make amends.

Changes in the Dartmouth College curriculum providing for a wider range of subjects in the first two years and featuring a required senior-year course in issues of the modern world were announced recently by the college.

L. S. U. Plans To Add Four New Projects

BATON ROUGE, La.—(ACP)—L. S. U. has accepted bids on the construction of a flight training field which will have three runways, a control tower, a storage hangar, and a students' ready building all by next semester.

The college has arranged to stock the field with surplus army planes and expects an enrollment of 500 in their R. O. T. C. Air Corps once the field is completed.

Wives of servicemen who are students at Marietta College, Marietta, Ohio, are offered free instruction in regular college courses up to six credits a semester.

Iowa U. Overhauls Educational Policies To Benefit Students

IOWA CITY, Ia.—(I.P.)—The College of Liberal Arts of the University of Iowa has approved the three changes in its general education program for the bachelor of arts degree, adopted in 1944.

The changes include the omission of a core course in the division of the student's major, literature, social science, natural science or historical and cultural, if the student's adviser thinks he would be duplicating material included in the major field.

Secondly the establishment of the general studies program administration as a unit, with a large measure of independence, with an administrative committee appointed by the Dean to effect efficient functioning of the program.

Finally establishment of a more extensive program for superior students, including programs for independent study, honor programs, tutorial plans, exemption from one or more core courses by examination, without credit.

Business firms and individuals in Wichita have requested information recently on 16 products and processes—ranging from magnesium oxychloride cement to roller skates—from the Foundation for Industrial Research, according to Dr. Waldo B. Burnett, director.

Advice on the following was supplied: Lens system, infra red light, plastic paint, steam iron, expanded shale, magnesium oxychloride cement, catalysts, small grain production, ester gum, industrial cinders, water fountain, non-drip water tap, synthetic manure, natural gas, grain sorghum and roller skates.

Aeronautical Institute Reorganizes Friday

The student chapter of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences will hold a reorganization meeting in the basement of the University Library, Room O11, at 2:30 p. m. Friday.

This will be the first meeting of the chapter since the war and will consist of electing officers and officially organizing the chapter. All engineering students are invited to attend.

Nearly 2,000,000 Students Jam Nation's 668 Universities

CINCINNATI, O.—(I.P.)—In what he describes as the beginning of a "new era for American higher education," Dr. Raymond Walters, president of the University of Cincinnati, reported here recently that 1,331,188 full-time, including 714,477 veterans, and 1,718,862 grand-total students are attending 668 approved universities and four-year colleges throughout the country.

The current full-time totals are approximately 57 per cent above those of 1939, last peacetime year, and are far in excess of 1945, when 645 approved institutions reported 671,857 full-time and 985,227 grand total students. The 1945 full-time total was 21.8 per cent below that of 1939.

Continuing a trend set by last year's veterans' vanguard, 59 per cent of the returned G.I.'s on campuses this year are concentrated in 100 universities and institutions of complex organization.

One-fifth of the veterans are distributed among 424 independent four-year arts and sciences colleges which for several years had predominately feminine student bodies. The 48 independent technical schools and institutes have attracted 12 per cent of the veterans.

Dr. Walters emphasizes that, in the face of unprecedented competition for admission to colleges and universities this fall, woman applicants have had a square deal.

He cites the sampling estimate of the United States Office of Education that 660,500 women in 1,749 institutions of higher learning represent an increase of 94,500 over last fall's, 1945, peak enrollment, and that for the country as a whole, there are two men to each woman student, in contrast to the 1945 and 1944 ratio of three women to each two men.

Teachers colleges, which during 1945 dropped in attendance 47 per cent below 1939, have shared this year in the generally phenomenally large enrollments, according to the survey.

The 90,270 students now in 87 approved independent teachers colleges are more than double the number of 1945 and 14 per cent more than in 1939.

In addition to the totals from the 668 institutions covered in his survey, Dr. Walters noted reports from other sources of an additional 50,000, including 150,000 veterans, estimated for 650 junior colleges and other thousands in several hundred professional and vocational institutions which would bring the national total to well over 2,000,000, of whom slightly over half are veterans.

TWO WORLD WAR II veterans seek the answer to a chemistry question at North Texas Agriculture College, Arlington. Gerald B. Smith, standing, is 44 years old and the man holding the text is 19-year-old Robert Cummings. Both are Texans.

Subversive Activity Denied At Wayne U.

DETROIT, Mich.—(I.P.)—The Detroit Board of Education at a recent meeting adopted as policy a formal statement issued by Dr. David D. Henry, president of Wayne University, in which he specifically denied existence of subversive activity on his campus.

The statement was made as a result of the recent public discussion of alleged subversive activity in the institutions of higher learning in this state and the nation.

Specifically, questions had been raised concerning the student organization, American Youth for Democracy.

Dr. Henry stated that he would welcome a special investigation by any agency of the state government to supplement the university's review of student activities and programs, which has revealed nothing subversive in action or intent.

A Friend Returns

Back on the campus this week is a familiar face, one which the University has missed since last August. Dr. W. M. Jardine, president of the University and true friend of every student, is once again at his desk after his recovery from a serious illness.

We have missed Dr. Jardine. We have missed his smile, his kindness and fatherly guidance which he has willingly given to countless numbers of students in the past 13 years.

The University carried on without him for nine months, largely because of his planning and foresight.

We are glad that our president has returned. We realize fully the many problems which await his attention, but we hope that he will not be over-ambitious in tackling these problems. With his recovery and return we once again have the man we want in the president's office.

Once again we can renew our friendship with Dr. Jardine and those students who do not know him as yet will soon realize his importance to the smooth operation of the institution and the contentment of its student body.

Dr. Jardine, welcome home.

Random Reviews

By Dana Stevens

"Go Down, Moses and Other Stories" by William Faulkner. The folklore of the south of today is vividly enriched by the seven stories of varying length in this volume. They paint Negro and white with barren sincerity and reveal the dramatic and subtle interplay of their relationship.

Ranging from the novella length of "The Fire and the Hearth" to the pointed sharpness of the title story. These stories bring to life an unforgettable gallery of characters who soar to grandeur and who sink to degradation. They represent Faulkner in his best narrative vein as the writer of that part of the United States with which the whole world now identifies him.

"The Zebra Derby" by Max Shulman. Another volume of satire and "earthiness" from that zany pen of the author of "Barefoot Boy with Cheek" and "The Feather Merchants."

This one has Asa Hearthrug released from the service and thrown into the dizzy whirl of a civilian world. In it you will discover marvels undreamed of even in the most promising postwar ads. Remember them? Here are chairs that vibrate all the time so dust won't settle on them, the Alarm-O-Mattress that shakes you awake in the morning, the electric closet that gives moths trauma and chromium Venus with electronic nipples that regulate room temperature.

"A Stone, A Leaf, A Door" by Thomas Wolfe. This is a selected group of prose from all the writings of Wolfe, and arranged in verse form by John S. Barnes. A treat for lovers of Thomas Wolfe.

Here, in verse, are the extremes of life—ecstasy and disillusionment, love and cruelty, and the searching questions of the human spirit. Wolfe wanted, more than anything else in the world, to be a poet, and if he were but alive today he could climb through this book and feel in great measure that he had succeeded.

As soon as they move, sister Berniece (f s '40-'41) and husband, George Link, will leave their present apartment and move into the one vacated by Rene and Joan. Then sister Regina, '30 will move into the apartment in which Berniece and George now live.

DALE ALLEN '46 had trouble with the steering device on his car last week and ended up in a hospital in Phoenix. Luckily, however, he escaped with only face and neck scratches. The worst part about it was that Dale had to walk about a mile to get help after his car turned over.

THE DUNN SISTERS, Dorothy—Mrs. George Taylor '45 and Betty—Mrs. Tom Orr '42, are practically next door neighbors now. Dorothy and George live at 450 Mathewson Court and Betty and Tom are at 416, same street.

Betty Calhoun Wright '40 writes that the spring is certainly beautiful around her home in Pittsford, New York. Quite different from Chicago.

Maurice '43 and Renette Wertz Curry '45 are changing addresses. Maurice will serve as assistant manager of the Montgomery-Ward and Renetta will follow as soon as they can find a place to live. (Continued on Page 19)

GENERAL CHAIRMAN of the annual spring reunion banquet which will be held on May 31 at 6:30 p.m. in the gym on the University campus is Mary Jean Shaft Kinsey '40 who is pictured above. Further details are available in this issue.

University Becomes of Age; School Has Colorful History

By Lester Rosen

The University of Wichita becomes of age today.

On April 24, 1926, the people of Wichita by a referendum vote established the non-denominational Municipal University of Wichita, in place of Fairmount College which had been a Congregational institution since 1895. That was just 21 years ago.

In 1926 there was great question among students and officials of the school as to whether the College would reopen for the fall semester. The Congregational Church was forced to either abandon Fairmount or merge it with Washburn College at Topeka.

STUDENTS JOIN CITIZENS

However, the student body and prominent citizens of the city banded together in an attempt to bring the issue before the people. Petitions calling for a special election were passed by the civic committee of the Chamber of Commerce on Feb. 26, 1926.

Dr. J. D. Finlayson, president of Fairmount, and Roy W. Elliott, then bursar, were members of the faculty who were active in the city in urging the establishment of a municipal school.

W. M. G. Howse and Allen W. Hinkle were the heads of a Citizen's Committee which was also pressing the issue.

SUNFLOWER TAKES A HAND

The Sunflower, too, was active at that time in presenting the problem to the students of Fairmount. The publication stated:

"To every Fairmounter the one thing that looms above all else is the future fate of his Alma Mater. Two possibilities present themselves to the College, that of merging with Washburn College at Topeka, and that of being accepted as a nucleus of a Municipal University of Wichita.

"The first of these possibilities seems to be a decided probability if the citizens of Wichita do not see fit to call a special election in the spring for the purpose of accepting the generous offer of the Board of Trustees . . . The Congregational Church cannot longer maintain two schools in the State of Kansas, consequently they must sooner or later either merge these two schools or dispose of one of them . . . this will in all probability be the last year of Fairmount as Fairmount College. Next year will see it under the name of Washburn - Fairmount or the Wichita Municipal University.

"As the next semester will be the last semester of Fairmount College as such let us make it the best semester in the history of the school . . . let us carry on in the true Fairmount Fights spirit until the last and make it one big year regardless of what next year brings forth.

"Of course we would rather see our Alma Mater remain in Wichita as the Wichita Municipal University, but if it is moved to Topeka it will form a part of a larger and better equipped institution, so after all Fairmount will not be lost . . ."

When the petitions were turned over to the city commissioners more than 9,000 persons had signed them, well over the 3,300 signatures required. The commission then set the municipal vote for Saturday, April 24.

On that day the student body and the Citizen's Committee worked tirelessly in bringing people to the polls. At the end of the day when the ballots were tabulated, the Municipal University of Wichita was established with the proposition passing by a majority of 3,875 votes out of a total of 15,985 votes cast. A year before it, the proposition, was defeated by a small majority.

In 1926 it carried all but 14 precincts out of 54 precincts in the city. The fifth ward, surrounding another university in the city, was the only ward that was not carried.

A GIFT TO WICHITA

On the following Monday, speakers were greeted with cheers in the Fairmount Chapel and it was decided to conduct an all-school celebration in the evening.

A huge bon-fire that was seen over most of the city, burned throughout the evening, lighting the entire campus.

The gift of Fairmount College to Wichita included Morrison Library, Fiske Hall, Holyoke Hall, the president's residence, Fairmount Inn, 43 acres of land, endowment funds, scholarships and special purpose funds, and securities amounting to $100,000.

ENROLLMENT SETS RECORD

When the school reopened in September, 1926, a record number of 571 students enrolled in the University. The freshman class, as is the case today, was the largest with an enrollment of 300 persons while the senior class numbered only 65.

The enrollment since that opening date has soared to the all-time record this year of 2,848. The College of Liberal Arts has grown from 489 students in 1926 to 1,326 in 1947. The College of Business Administration has risen from 41 in the first year of the University to 974 students today. The College of Education possessed only 11 students in 1926. Today it numbers 322 persons. The College of Fine Arts with 30 students in 1926 stands at 226 persons in 1947.

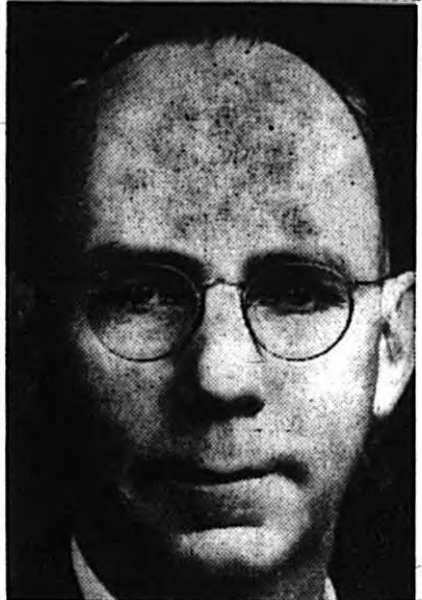

Thirty-four teachers comprised the faculty of the school at the time of its municipalization, today there are 138 members on the faculty.

However, with the great increase in enrollment during these post-war years the University has still maintained almost the same faculty ratio to students as in 1926. In that year there was a ratio of one faculty member to each 16.7 students. Today there is a ratio of one faculty member for 20 students.

Since 1926 Holyoke Hall, Fairmount Inn, and the old president's residence have disappeared. Morrison Library is now Morrison Hall and houses a portion of the Fine Arts College.

NEW BUILDINGS ERECTED

The nucleus of Morrison Library named after Rev. N. J. Morrison

Roy W. Elliott
He Helped To Put W. U. Across

who was the first president of Fairmount College, was a basket of books presented to the school by the Fairmount Library Women's Club. When the College became the Municipal University there were more than 36,000 bound volumes in the Library. Today that number has risen to well over 75,000 volumes.

Since 1926 new structures have risen over the campus. Science Hall was constructed in 1928-29 at a total cost of $213,000.

The Administration Building was erected in 1930 costing $250,000. The Commons was built in 1939 and the president's residence went up in 1939. The new Library was completed in 1939.

THREE PRESIDENTS

The University has known only three presidents during its 21-year existence. Dr. W. M. Jardine who is now president came here in 1934 and has begun his fourteenth year as head of the University. Preceding Dr. Jardine was Dr. H. W. Foght who served as head of the school from 1927 until 1933. Dr. John D. Finlayson, last president of Fairmount College, served as head of the University in its first year.

The first Board of Regents was also selected in 1926. Representatives of the board of education included George Hamilton, Mrs. Rene Gouldner, Otto R. Souder, and Dr. E. E. Stauffer. The city commissioners selected Charles Parr, Allen W. Hinkle, Dr. Harry W. Horn, and Clyde Smyser to serve. Frank Nighswonger was mayor of Wichita and automatically became a member of the Board.

As the University celebrates its twenty-first birthday today its influence extends far beyond the limitations of this city and along with the best schools of the nation it is meeting in a forthright way the challenges of the times with all its energies; it looks forward and prepares for even greater service to the community in the years to come.

Good news for some of you is in the report that Harry James and Les Brown will reorganize with somewhat the same line-up as they have had during the past two years. James lost a few of his key men to the movie studios, and will depend on replacements from the same source. Les caught most of the fine Hollywood rhythm men on the rebound and consequently probably will end up with the top band of the year. What with Jimmy Rowles on piano and Joe Mondragon at bass teaming with the sensational little Jackie Mills on drums, the Brown outfit ought to jump from here to yonder.

Seems like the trend is toward smaller and smaller combinations. With the King Cole Trio and Art Mooney's Quartette making big money by recordings and personal tour engagements, many other top men are throwing small groups together for the primary purpose of pocketing that folding green. Bob Haggart, the Dixie bass man, is assisting Doris Day, the former vocal feature with Les Brown, for some recording dates. Illinois Jacquet, who incidentally was born in the South and schooled in New York, is on a theater tour to build a following. I personally think this sax man is the hottest character to hit the stands in years. Another favorite of mine, Trumpeter Charlie Shavers, has a quintet booked for months with some record dates thrown in. Others who have turned to small combos are Claude Thornhill and Eddie Duchin, keyboard men of opposite styling but top men, nevertheless.

Here is the most wonderful news all week. Word just got out that Frankie Sinatra is making another movie, the first public performance since his recent illness, or should I mention his recent fisticuffs? and believe it or not he will not sing. Now you know why I say, "There is good news tonight."

Allow me to stick in a plug for some of my favorites. Billy Eckstine has a small band to sing in front of, and he is creating quite a lot of favorable talk on the west coast. In my book his greatest competition is Leslie Scott and Art Lund, who walked off the Goodman stand to star with Benny's former trumpeter, Harry James. At times the music business can get awfully involved. And then there is Frankie Laine who tops 'em all in regard to the romantic stuff.

As for the gals take a listen to any platter recorded by the Kansas City Mountain in Calico, Julia Lee. This great big wonderful woman with the voice twice as big, refuses to leave her beloved K. C. despite some lucrative offerings, but you can hear her on records; and being so close to Missouri, make it a point to drop in at Milton's at Thirty-Fifth and Troost next time you make the trip. Julia's voice and piano work is worth it. Let me put in a good word for Sarah Vaughn and Kay Armen, both fine jazz stylists who are coming up fast.

Jack Teagarden, my number two man on trombone, has finally given up the band business after a terrible financial beating in L. A. and joined his little brother, Charlie. Most of us felt sure he couldn't make a go of it, but we're all sorry it had to happen to such a swell guy. I even like to hear the big hillbilly sing, but of course I admit I'm prejudiced concerning Teagarden's musicianship. The only man who stands above him on his instrument is Jack Jenny, and a lot of people will argue about that. Jenny can best be heard on some current Artie Shaw re-issues of about 1940. Very choice, too. I'm sorta mad at Teagarden, though; in the last issue of Metronome he made the statement that he never did like Duke Ellington. Jack, you better not talk like that about my favorite band, or I'll say Trummy Young is a better trombone man than you! The Will Bradley Album of Boogie-Woogie (Columbia) Some of you won't remember this band too well, which is the best reason I know for buying this book of eight sides. It's the most important jazz offering in many months in that it's representative of an original idea—placing piano boogie-woogie in orchestral form, and the glory belongs to Bradley. The album is famous (or infamous) for the most weird titles in musical history, such as "Fry Me Cookie, with a Can of Lard," "Celery Stalks at Midnight," and the popular

"Beat Me Daddy" just to give you a hint. The collection features Bradley on trombone, Ray McKinley at the drums, and Freddy Slack on the keyboard. Both the latter have organized bands of their own since these 1940-41 waxings. This is the greatest boogie in recording history.

Establishment of a community college at Drake University was announced recently by Dr. Henry G. Harmon, president. Embracing all evening courses, the community college also will serve as a coordinating agency for educational programs in Iowa communities and for extension work.

Here's a natural for fun. It plays anywhere... at the beach, on trains, boats...and with rich, "big-set" electronic tone, always! 2 motors: Electric (plug it in) or wind up (tubes operate on battery).

There's no other phonograph with the unique features of Capitol's "Luxury" Portable. Remember: it's produced by a record manufacturer, to give you recorded music at its best, when and where you want it. Ask your record dealer for Capitol's Luxury Portable.

How many do you have in your house?

Counting on your fingers is fair. But first, make a quick guess: How many electric motors do your home-work for you? Would you say 3? 5? Maybe 10?

Now count 'em up. It's easier if you think of them room by room. How about the bedrooms? Electric clocks and shavers each have a motor. So do the fans you use in summer.

A modern kitchen is a gold mine. There's a motor in the electric refrigerator, the food mixer, the ventilating fan. (The list at the right will remind you of others.) Don't skip any rooms. Even the basement and storeroom may be rich picking.

Finished? How does the count compare with your guess? Most people guess way low. Actually 10 motors per house is common — 20 is not unusual!

But, whatever the number, the point is true. We seldom realize how many jobs electricity does for us, because it does them so dependably, regularly and cheaply.

You've helped bring this about by taking advantage of so many electrical opportunities. And the men and women of the business-managed electric companies are always working to bring you better service at lower cost. That's why the price of electricity has gone down and down, while the price of almost everything else has gone up and up.

Serious Trend of Fraternities Revealed in Nation-wide Poll

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—(I.P.)—What factors make for a favorable environment of a college or university fraternity system? Clyde S. Johnson, assistant dean of undergraduates on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California, polled 59 national Greek-letter leaders on this question with these results.

1. Cooperative and constructive attitudes on the part of college administrations, making the fraternity system an integral part of college life.
2. Strict scholastic requirements.
3. Maintenance of housing facilities for fraternity members; and a special interest by the college administration in small group housing.
4. Mature caliber of students selected for admission to the fraternities.

Campus Informality Amazes Student From East Africa

By William Fein

This semester the University has become international. Not only does the campus boast students from all corners of the United States but there are also a few whose homes are in more distant parts of the globe.

One of the foreign students, enrolled in the University in quest of an education is Robin Stuart, a British subject who comes from Kenya Colony, East Africa. Stuart has been in the United States six months and plans to remain six years in order to complete his education. He is a pre-medical student.

How would some of you more adventurous students like to walk a short distance from your home and find yourself in a hunter's paradise, stocked with some of the largest and most dangerous game on earth? Kenya Colony has long been famous and well known to big game hunters for its magnificent game animals, including lion, rhino, leopard and elephant.

The one thing that impresses Stuart about the United States is the apparent freedom of the students attending the University. Having previously gone to schools in Natal, South Africa and Sussex, England, schools in which discipline of the student was considered a primary objective of the educational system, it is little wonder that Stuart is pleasantly surprised at our system. "It seems a little unusual," said Stuart, "to walk along the campus and notice the conspicuous absence of cap and gown and the complete lack of formality in the greeting of an instructor or upperclassman."

Stuart has never seen a football game, but is looking forward to next fall when he promises to be one of the team's most ardent supporters. He is a fanatic follower of East Africa's national sport, Rugby.

Six months is too short a period to get a lasting impression of a nation's customs and people but Stuart is greatly impressed by American humor, informality, and women.

PAUL WALKER NAMED TO FOOTBALL STAFF

Star End of 1946 to Coach Next Season

Senior Appointed As Instructor in P. E. And Possible Scout

Paul Walker, graduating senior and part-time assistant coach, is now a permanent member of the coaching staff, according to Ralph Graham, head of the athletic department.

"As a coach Walker is one of the finest prospects we have had in a long time," stated Graham. "He will be used mainly as an end coach and an instructor in physical education, but there are possibilities that he may also be used as scout next fall," Graham added.

In high school Walker was a letterman and played football for North High School in 1938, 1939, and 1940. After his graduation he played football for the University of Indiana. During this time, he was elected to a Sporting News All-American team.

During the war Walker served three years as an Army Air Force pilot and went on 31 missions in the Pacific.

Upon being discharged from the Army, Walker enrolled at the University of Wichita and was a first-string end on the 1945-1946 squad. At the close of the season he was elected as second-team end on the All-Missouri Valley football team.

Coach "Dukes" Dufford of St. Louis University listed Walker on his All-Opponents team of last year.

Bill Hodge Joins Eagle Sports Staff

Bill Hodge, assistant in public relations, and in charge of sports publicity on the campus, will join the staff of the Wichita Eagle, Monday.

Hodge was formerly the Evening Eagle sports editor, and is returning as sports writer and columnist.

In the spring of 1941 he was the Sunflower sports editor, and altogether has three years of practical newspaper experience.

His present capacity involves liaison between the various school departments and the Wichita newspapers.

Hodge served three and one-half years in the Army as a public relations man, and worked on an army newspaper.

Conferences Agree To Improve Sports Upon N.C.A.A. Code

Dr. Earle R. Davis, chairman of the athletic policy committee, returned Monday from New Orleans where he attended a meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic Association as a representative for the Missouri Valley Conference.

In an interview, Dr. Davis stated that the conference included southeastern and southwestern schools as well as the Missouri Valley. Famous coaches, college professors, faculty advisors from all over the South were in attendance.

"The general point of the meeting," he said, "was a thorough understanding of the N.C.A.A., and how it could conform to practicality. The sessions hinged around a discussion of methods as to how to bring about a decent program of athletics."

"But you understand," he continued, "there was no conclusive program outlined. It was merely a preparation for further local and conference meetings."

"The amazing thing to me," Dr. Davis concluded, "was the fact that all persons attending the conference wanted to improve the standards of college athletics. Everyone was in complete agreement as to the principles of the N.C.A.A. It shows they are pointing in the right direction."

Ty "Georgia Peach" Cobb holds the major league's record for highest batting average for 10 or more years (.367), most years batting .300 or better (23), most hits (4,191), and most games played, (3,033).

Photographic Aids Of W. U. Press Box Praised by Threlfall

Praise for modern photographic facilities in the Veterans Field press box was given in a recent issue of National Press Photographer magazine by Paul Threlfall, chief photographer of the Wichita Beacon and vice president for six-state region seven of the National Press Photographers Association.

In his article Threlfall, former University student, pointed out that Veterans Field will have "a most modern press box, which includes darkroom for on-the-spot developing and wirephoto transmissions."

He emphasized that University officials, looking into the future, consulted with radio men, sports writers, and photographers in designing the modern press and radio facilities, now about half completed.

"Also taken into consideration was the absence of obstructions in front of the press box, so movie and still photographers making telephoto shots will have no dangling wires or floodlight posts in front of cameras," Threlfall wrote.

Threlfall consistently has maintained interest in photography here and a number of his photographs will appear in the 1947 Parnassus to be issued next month.

He also was one of the judges of the Parnassus picture contest.

Highest batting percentage per season belongs to Hugh Duffy of Boston (N), which is .483 and was set in 1894.

Man Behind Athletic Scenes Vital to University Program

By Hal Smith

Behind the scene in every sporting event is Lester L. Needham, trainer and equipment manager here since June, 1945, and schoolmate of Ralph Graham at El Dorado, Kansas, High School.

Needham was trainer for the Missouri AAU track team in 1934, when Harold Manning, steeple chase runner, and Glen Cunningham, miler, competed in the Milwaukee AAU track meets. Servicing the boys is not as easy as it may sound. It involves having the men in shape before any sporting event, Needham said, and ability to tend their injuries in case of any mishap.

During his years as trainer, Needham has unwound hundreds of miles of tape to care for the ankles of the men.

Physical education majors and pre-medical students should help as trainers in order to equip themselves with knowledge on the care of injuries, stated Needham.

During basketball season, Needham says, the players are more apt to receive blisters and shin splints, while in the football and track seasons they are more often troubled with pulled muscles, charley horses, and sprained ankles. The trainer normally is able to meet any emergency on the athletic field, but those he is unable to handle are taken care of by Dr. Cramer Reed, the school doctor.

Needham said there are "many openings in the trainer field, and it should be looked on as a profession as much as coaching."

Buddy Kerr of the New York Giants set a major league fielding record for short-stops by completing 52 games in succession without an error in 1946. Kerr handled 275 chances faultlessly. Leo Durocher, playing with the Cincinnati Reds in 1931, set the previous mark of 51 errorless games, but he handled only 231 chances during his career. —Information Please Almanac — 1947.

Arizona and Texas Play Here in Fall

Two Tilts with New Opponents Slated For Shocker's Home Field

One game remains to be scheduled for the football team, next fall, with the signing earlier this week of Arizona State and Abilene Christian to the football schedule, according to Coach Ralph Graham, head of the athletic department and football mentor.

Shockers will meet Arizona State, Flagstaff, Ariz., here on September 27, as their second game of the season.

Abilene Christian of Abilene, Texas, will play here at Veteran's Field on October 18.

"The schedule isn't complete as yet," commented Coach Graham, "but we hope to have it completed soon."

Golf and Tennis Men Journey to K-State

Tomorrow morning the W.U. golf and tennis teams journey to Manhattan to meet the Kansas State golf and tennis teams in return matches. These teams travel on to Emporia, Saturday, to play a return match with Emporia State.

W.U. downed Kansas State in the first golf meeting at Sims Park by a 16-2 score and defeated Emporia State at Crestview Country Club by a 15½ to 2½ score.

The next home golf match will be played Tuesday when the Oklahoma Aggies return to finish the match that was rained out two weeks ago at Sims Park. This 27-hole golf match will be played at the Wichita Country Club starting at 10 a.m.

At the K.U. Relays Saturday Jim Barnhouse placed second in the broad jump for the Shocker trackmen. He jumped 22 feet 5 inches.

Tracksters Enter Drake Relay Friday

Relay and Sprints Are Events Shockers Will Enter At Meet

Showing better possibilities, Ab Bidwell's tracksters leave for the University of Drake, Des Moines, Ia., Friday. The thinclads have been improving this week and with better weather, hope to place in the Drake relays.

Shocker entrys include 880-yard relay, sprint medley, two-mile relay, mile relay, broad jump, and high jump.

Jim Barnthouse, who took second in the K. U. relays broad jumping, will be on hand for the broad jump and Dick Mullen for the high jump.

Probable men who will go to Drake:

880 relay—Sexton, Southard, Grochowalski

Houlk, Nickilos, Ramsey.

Sprint medley—Allen, Devore, Nickles, Konecny.

Two-mile relay—Donaldson, Oder, Jolly, Hunter.

Mile relay—Konecny, Nickles, Sexton, Grochowalski, Devore.

Broadjump—Barnthouse.

High jump—Mullen.

Golfers Are Undefeated

W.U.'s unbeaten golf team, under the direction of Mel Binford, pounded out wins over Emporia State and Southwestern University while the tennis team lost a return match with Southwestern, 4-2.

Last Friday, W.U. played Emporia State a golf match at Crestview Country Club and came out on the long end of a 15½ to 2½ score. Dale Fair, the only player remaining from the Missouri Valley Conference championship team of last year, was medalist with a two over par 75.

In a golf match with Southwestern University, played on the Winfield Country Club, a sand-green course, emerged victorious by a 16½ to 1½ margin.

Al Littleton, playing in W.U.'s number one slot, was medalist for the day with a four under par 69. Dale Fair shot a one over par 74, Tom Hanson a 75, and Harold Hoffman a 78. Marty Sidener was low for Southwestern with a 75.

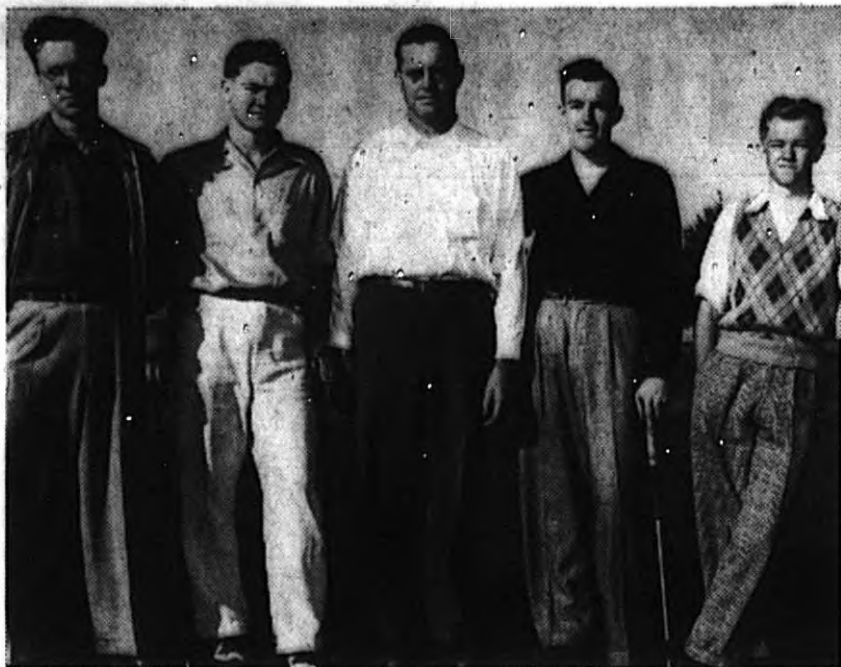

In losing to Southwestern, 4-2, the tennis team won only one singles match and one doubles match. W.U.'s Don Ware defeated Bob Stuber, 6-3, 1-6, 6-2, and teamed with Leland Abel to down Stuber and McFadden in the doubles match 6-4 and 9-7.

In other matches Olin Tucker of Southwestern defeated Charles Crum 6-3, 6-1; Bill Hanlin beat Ray Bershouer, 6-3, 6-4; and Bill McFadden won over Leland Abel, 6-0, 6-2. In the second doubles match Tucker and Hanlin downed Wichita's Crum and Bershauer 6-4, 6-1.

High School Girls Are W.R.A. Guests

High school girls from seven small towns of surrounding counties will be guests of the Women's Recreational Association at a Play Day from 9:30 to 3 p. m. Saturday.

Schools represented will be Andale, Buhler, Maize, Cheney, Cullison, Nashville and Turon.

Members of the secretarial class of the Eureka high school visited the campus recently. They were shown the secretarial training department, Station WU, and the home economics classroom. Mrs. Leona Dillard is instructor of the high school class.

Ed Head of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Bobby Feller of the Cleveland Indians were the only pitchers in both major leagues to hurl no-hit no-run games during the 1946 season. Head's performance was against the Boston Braves on April 23.

SHOCKER SIDELIGHTS

• By Dean Campbell

Current talk around sports circles of the city is the benefit golf match that will take place at 2 p. m. Sunday at the Sim Park golf course for the benefit of Tommie Cox, Sim Park manager from 1925-1942. Noted golfers who will participate in the match are Byron Nelson, Dick Metz, Tex Consover and Mike Murra. The names are enough to tell any sports fan that there will be some real golf played and the patrons will also have the opportunity to donate to a most worthy cause.

Tommie Cox, incidentally, is a local boy and a graduate of East high school where he was a football player. After graduation he went to Kansas University where he took the Big-Six title as 135-pound wrestling champ.

Upon returning to Wichita he became manager of the Sim Park golf course, a position which he held for 17 years. During this time Cox was a tireless worker for benefits and other golf projects and was the main instigator in procuring the grass greens at Sim's Park.

For the last 15 months Cox has been bedridden and has spent about 90 per cent of that time hospitalized. Men who are in charge of the campaign tell me that there is no hope for his recovery and that he is suffering from serious ailments of the heart, liver, and kidneys. Hospital and doctor bills have exhausted his life savings.

Money from this benefit will be used to defray hospital and doctor bills and will be put into a trust fund for his wife and Tommie Jr.

Tickets are $1 and may be obtained from Al Littleton, phone 4-9922 or Dean Adkisson, phone 2-3925, or at any sporting goods store.

You sports fans who noted the University's position in the K.U. relays are no doubt surprised that the Shockers were listed in the university class instead of the college class. It does seem strange that we can be listed in a class where the competition is keen in track and when it comes to football they refuse to play us.

Broadway in 1936 and was made into a movie with Robert Montgomery and Myrna Loy in the leading roles. It was written by Mark Reed, author of "Yes My Darling Daughter."

Setting of the play is Eskimo Point, Labrador where Dascom Dinsmore is a lonely wireless operator, having an eskimo servant as his sole companion. He bemoans the fact that he hasn't seen a beautiful woman in two years. When Sir James Fenton crash lands his airplane in his back yard Dinsmore becomes overjoyed when he sees Fenton's companion—a beautiful woman. The two are on their way to Montreal where Sir James is to make a speech. By underhanded methods Dascom prevents the two from leaving and makes a play for Ethyl, much to Sir James' regret.

A few days later one of Dascom's old flames, Clara Wilson, appears on the scene and immediately a four way love complication

New Sergeant Added To Air R.O.T.C. Here

T/Sgt. Benjamin F. Brown recently joined the University air R.O.T.C. unit, arriving from Mitchell Field, N. Y.

Sgt. Brown was stationed at Clark Field in the Philippine Islands in 1941 at the outbreak of the war with Japan. He escaped to Java by submarine where he helped evacuate personnel to Australia, later serving in New Guinea with the Ninth Bomb Group which was later known as the Far Eastern Air Force.

In addition to other decorations, Sgt. Brown has the Presidential citation with six oak leaf clusters.

Plan Interview Of Naval V-6 Prospects On Campus on May 6-8

Lt. Comdr. W. T. Roberts, Jr., U. S. Naval Reserve, will be at the University from 9:30 to 4:00 p.m., May 5, 6 and 7 at the rotunda in Administration Building to interview veterans and non-veterans who are interested in becoming members of the Navy's V-6 inactive naval reserve.

Some of the principal advantages in becoming a member of the navy's V-6 inactive naval reserve are listed as follows: Keep present navy rank or rating held at discharge; build up longevity pay benefits; keep all GI Bill of Rights benefits; no drills or active duty; good chance for promotion; release can be requested and obtained at anytime, and a two weeks' cruise with full pay and allowances.

Club Hears Model Report

Reporting on the model United Nations Assembly recently held at Stillwater, Oklahoma, Kenneth Kelly, Gilbert Weeder and Martin Rice were guests of the Friends University International Relations Club last Tuesday morning. These men were in the 14-member delegation sent to the model Assembly by the University International Relations Club, headed by Jim Young.

Rice, president of I.R.C., described make-up of the model Assembly and spoke of the resolutions passed by the group. Weeder gave a general description of work of committees, and Kelly presented a brief outline of the speech delivered by Mademoiselle Eve Curie at the Assembly.

Next regular meeting of R.I.C. will be at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, in the I.S.A. Brig.

Voice Group Gives 'Elijah'

The Wichita Choral Society, an organization of 250 voices, including 125 students from the University of Wichita will present Mendelssohn's oratorio "Elijah" at the Wichita High School East Auditorium at 8:15 p. m. next Tuesday.

Roy Schuessler baritone graduate, and former faculty member of the University now with the voice faculty of the University of Minnesota and, during the war, soloist with the famous Great

Roy Schuessler

Lakes Blue Jackets' Navy Choir, will sing the principal solo part, as Elijah. Reared in Valley Center, Schuessler is well-known to many Wichitans for his prominent activity in music.

Other soloists include Alma Nolan Sapp, soprano; Shirley Ainsworth Hellrich, contralto; and J. Ellis Jackson, tenor.

Tickets of $1 each are being sold by student members of the chorus and are also available at the Adams-Bennett Music Company.

English is studied as a "foreign language" by a group of students at the University of Texas.

PLANNING SETS to be used in the production, "Petticoat Fever," which opens a three-night run in the University Auditorium this evening at 8:30 o'clock are Prof. George D. Wilner, left, director of the play, and Eugene Spangler, in charge of sets. Prof. Wilner is beginning his twenty-fifth year of play direction on this campus.

Wilner and Spangler Combine To Make Top Production Team

When the curtain falls on the last performance of "Petticoat Fever" Saturday night it will complete Prof. George D. Wilner's twenty-fourth year of directing plays on the University campus.

Prof. Wilner has directed more than 75 plays since coming here from the University of Michigan. His first position was that of teaching public speaking and debate, but, a year or so later he became director of all dramatic presentations.

"The first play I directed, 'Mr. Pin Passes By,' was given by the senior class in an auditorium on the site of the present day Commons," Prof. Wilner commented. "Seating capacity was 300 persons and our scenery was made with any odd lumber that we could obtain. It was a very haphazard and often discouraging undertaking."

"In 1928 the womens' gym became the location for dramatic presentations."

"Conditions were more favorable there but we still had difficulty in constructing scenery due to the lack of experienced stage hands and materials," Prof. Wilner added. "I remember putting flood lights on pedestals because I didn't have any mountings. We could seat 1,500 persons but the floor was level and anyone back of the third row had a hard time seeing the stage."

"Clayton Staples and Beulah Bowers of the art department were two of my best stagehands," Prof. Wilner laughed.

During his long stay at the University, Prof. Wilner has used many faculty members in his casts but the most distinguished case was in "Twelfth Night" when Comptroller Roy Elliott, Dean Frank Neff, and two members of the Board of Regents were behind the footlights.

From the years, 1936 to 1941, Prof. Wilner annually took a play cast to the University of Kansas on an exchange basis. Among his presentations were "The Late Christopher Bean," "Stage Door," "There's Always Juliet."

"I've put on many plays on this campus, some were excellent and some didn't do so well," said Prof. Wilner. "However I can say truthfully that my biggest successes were produced after Spangler came to this school."

Eugene Spangler graduated from the University in 1939 and immediately joined the faculty. During

Plans Made For Summer

University of Wichita faculty are preparing for the largest summer school enrollment in the history of the school.

The session will be comprised of two terms with a possibility of earning 12 credit hours. The first term starts on June 9 and continues for eight weeks. The second term will start Aug. 4, and end in four weeks.

"Prospects are good for an enrollment figure of 1500 as com-

Dean Leslie B. Sipple compared with last year's 1300," stated Dean Leslie B. Sipple, director of summer session.

Most of the regular staff will teach with a few visiting professors added, according to Dean Sipple. A schedule of classes will be published soon and will be available to all.

The rules governing admission to the summer session are the same as those printed in the University catalogue.

Governor Praises Dr. Jardine As One of Nation's Leaders

Gov. Frank Carlson joined students and faculty of the University today in welcoming the return of President W. M. Jardine, and in addition praised the former diplomat and cabinet officer as "one of the outstanding leaders of the nation."

In a letter to Pete Greenbank, Sunflower editor, Governor Carlson said he personally was most pleased to learn that Dr. Jardine will resume active administration of the University.

"All of us were greatly concerned about Dr. Jardine's health and I hope he is so recovered that he may take an active part in the affairs of the University of Wichita, as well as assist us with the problems of our state."

"He is one of the outstanding leaders of the nation, and we need the services of men of his type during the period of transition."

He wrote Greenbank that he hoped to visit personally with Dr. and Mrs. Jardine "the first time I am in Wichita."

Dr. Taylor Prepares Unique Word Section For New Dictionary

Dr. Ross McLaurie Taylor, novelist, critic, and University English department professor, prepared the unique section, "How Words Can Help You," for "Words: The New Dictionary" published this year by Grosset and Dunlap of New York.

"How Words Can Help You" is written from the viewpoint of how word games, pronunciation quizzes and an informative discussion of vocabulary building can help a reader build power to use words correctly.

The dictionary was prepared by a staff of more than twenty-five editors, researchers, and definers. More than seventy thousand entries are listed in an entirely new, simplified, self-pronunciation system which completely eliminates confusing diacritical marks.

Celebrating her 35th year as dining hall superintendent on the Arizona State college campus, "Mother" Margaret Hanley keeps pace with students even by flying.

Pup popularity brought increased revenue for the American Red Cross when students at Occidental college, Los Angeles, Calif., elected their favorite dog. Votes were 10 cents each. Here four candidates, Laddie, Chocolate, Susie and Squash, pose for a campaign picture.

Caves that once provided a hide-out for Jesse James are now used by students at St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., for steak fries.

A Couple Annie Oakleys

Since Col. Leo G. Clarke jokingly offered to pay Jean B. Sones $10.23 for each perfect target, he lives in constant fear of his pocketbook. The sum was arrived at by taking one cent for the first bulls-eye and then doubling the amount for others. Miss Sones regularly turns in near-perfect targets.
