Honor Group Admits Five

Five University students have been admitted into The National Collegiate Players, national honorary dramatics fraternity, according to George D. Wilner, professor of dramatic art.

Four seniors, Edwin Sisk, Jack Chester, Gertrude Greenberg, and Anita Faye Lallement and one junior, June Cale, were chosen for their outstanding contributions in the field of dramatics.

To be eligible for the honorary fraternity a student must earn 20 points in some phase of dramatics. This can include acting, backstage work, radio, publicity, directing, and producing.

The National Collegiate Players is not a producing organization. Its members pay no dues or fees. Admittance standards are high and its members are not obligated in any way.

The chapter was established at University of Wichita in 1935 and has initiated 50 members.

Reserve Corps Forms Concert Band Here

An invitation to all former members of the army ground and service forces to join the Organized Reserve Corps of Wichita in order to become associated with a newly-organized concert band has been announced by First Sergeant Tom Alexander, former University student.

"Music students attending the University can become members of this concert band, retain their rank held, while in the army, and accumulate longevity pay as long as they are members of the Organized Reserve Corps," stated Sgt. Alexander.

Verne Nydegger, musical director of radio station KFBI and former University student, will direct the concert band.

Persons interested may get further details by contacting Sgt. Alexander at 301 Derby Building, 352 North Broadway.

A resolution, calling upon the new Congress to appropriate federal money to match state funds for the construction of permanent educational and research facilities at state supported colleges and universities has been adopted by the Land Grant College Association. This will include student nursing.

Sorosis Dating Back to 1897, Boasts First Women's Group

Sorosis sorority, organized in 1897 by Miss Flora Clough, former dean of women, was the first women's literary and social organization on the Fairmount College campus. Under the direction of Miss Clough, eight women formed the nucleus of the new society.

Charter members were Eva Hall,

McGianis, Sadie Ellis Cramer, Cora Bailey, Evelyn Imboden Croner, Bertha Beatrice Baker Morris, Ada Guthrie, Mary Mickersin Isely and Nina Reams.

In 1897, Sorosis gave its first "public" and continued this custom each year until 1919, when it was the first organization in Wichita to present Little Theatre plays. This also became an annual custom of the sorority.

Meetings were first held in Fairmount Hall and Fiske Hall. In 1929, a house was purchased at 1623 North Holyoke. Holyoke Hall became the next sorority home. In the summer of 1940, Sorosis moved into its present home at 2010 North Yale which was the first house to be built on Sorority Row.

In 1910, increased enrollment prevented the organization from taking all women interested in joining a sorority. Therefore 10 Sorosis members resigned to form Alpha Tau Sigma. In 1916, Delta Omega sorority was formed by three Sorosis and three Alpha Tau women. In 1922, four Sorosis members helped form Pi Kappa Psi sorority.

In 1932 Sorosis won the scholarship tea service presented by Mrs. H. W. Foght, the president's wife, to the sorority having the highest scholarship for three consecutive years. Since that time the tea service has gone to the sorority with the highest grade average at the end of each semester.

Mrs. Worth A. Fletcher has been the sponsor of Sorosis for 20 years. She was at one time a teacher of home economics on the University campus.

Brock Elected Head Of Alpha Epsilon

Betty Brock was elected president of Alpha Epsilon, secretarial sorority, for the 1947-48 season at a recent meeting of the group.

Other officers include Gloria Lembke, treasurer, and Patricia Olson, secretary.

The University of Wichita is the only municipal university in the nation with an endowed chair of religion.

'Voice of the Student Body' Is Principal Role of Council

If any student has any complaint about anything on the campus, all he has to do is inform a member of the Student Council and he will get a hearing. "The Council member is obligated to bring the matter before the Student Council for discussion in an open meeting," says Bob Fidler, senior representative.

Acting as the voice of the student is the main job of the Student Council, headed by Keith Oliver, president, but there are many others.

Another task is the administration of student matters, such as supervision of student elections.

All student activities are supervised by the Council. It arranges all official walkouts and takes charge of various programs, such as Homecoming and May Day celebrations, and pep rallies. All varieties are held under the auspices of the Council which selects the varsity committee.

The Student Council also acts as a liaison between the student and the faculty or the Board of Regents. The student government speaking for the student body endorsed Saturday classes suggested by the faculty.

Plans for the building of a new Student Union Building are now being considered by the Council.

Fifty cents of the student activity fee goes to the Student Council. With this money it also assists on special projects.

The Council published and printed the Student Directory. It assisted Orchestras last semester by underwriting the Charles Weidman dance concert.

A new public address system for use at varsities was bought with Student Council money this year. Radio maintenance costs and magazine subscriptions in the Commons are paid by the Council.

The Council also assists organizations on the campus by providing funds to send their members to various meetings and conventions. Lester Rosen of the Sunflowers staff was sent to Denver with Student Council money, to cover the University freshman basketball game last month in the National A.A.U. tournament.

Different prize awards throughout the year come out of the Council fund. Prizes for the best Homecoming decoration, best varsity skit, and best Hippidrome skit are provided by the Council.

These are only a few of the services that the Student Council provides. "Work on the Student Council is hard work—almost a full time job," Fidler said. "The Constitution calls for a meeting every two weeks but we usually have so much to accomplish that we meet every week."

Members of the Student Council in addition to Oliver and Fidler are: Keith Fisher, vice president; Dorothy Bruce, treasurer; Mary Lou Hobson, secretary; senior woman's representative Joan Bond; junior representatives Bill Mandle and Maxae Wells Fey; sophomore representatives Kenneth Hedrick and Margaret Ann Hesse, and freshman representatives Howard Current and Jo Ann McKinley.

President Harold W. Dodds of Princeton University has announced the establishment of a program of special invitation graduate fellowships to encourage younger scholars whose careers were interrupted by the war to return to the academic or teaching profession.

FORWARD MARCH!

One organization on the campus which boasts a colorful history is the Reserve Officers Training Corps, which today and tomorrow undergoes a formal inspection by the Fifth U. S. Army command.

The unit on the campus has grown from 48 men in 1919 to its present strength of 180 in both the air and ground units. Of these 180 men, 102 are veterans of World War II.

Captain Samuel C. McAdams, professor of military science and tactics, his staff including officers and enlisted men, are responsible for the successful reorganization of the unit since the war. Captain McAdams and his staff have developed a unit that this University and the city may well be proud.

Unlike some schools throughout the nation, the local R.O.T.C. unit has been considered and treated as a department of the University. This has resulted not only in closer cooperation but a better understanding of the problems of the school and the military.

The University of Wichita R.O.T.C. program has been successful in that it has produced the type of officers that are required by our nation in times of emergency. The R.O.T.C. here has consistently been a winner of the Blue Star award, indicating excellency.

On this the first formal inspection since before the war, the Sunflower salutes Captain McAdams, his staff and his unit and wishes them continued progress.

Veterans' News

MAY 15 is the deadline to apply for leaves under Public Law 346, in the case of veterans not going to summer school.

May 15-29 veterans going to summer school may apply for leave for the period from May 30 to June 8.

LAPSED insurance may be reinstated Friday, May 16. Veterans are advised to attend to this matter as soon as possible, as the deadline is drawing near.

Veterans under Public Law 346 who desire to change their course of training must have prior approval of the Veterans Administration. Changing from one college to another is considered 'change of course', and must have prior approval.

VETERANS transferring to other universities for summer school must have a supplemental certificate of eligibility to present to that school. Application for supplementary certificates should be made at the VA Guidance Center immediately.

Three University freshmen, Elvin Doane, James Dennison, and Ray Howard received private pilot certificates according to Dr. Penrose S. Albright, who is in charge of the pilot training program here at the University of Wichita.

To receive these certificates these students completed the pilot training program here at the University.

GRAD GOSSIP

By Mickey McCoy

CHRISTINE (Mrs. H. O.) Davis '17 of 940 N. Yale is the newly elected state president of P. E. O. She has been a member of the state board for five years, and the new honor came at the annual state convention in Dodge City, Kansas last week.

All Women's Honor Group alumnae will be interested to know that the new procedure for informing the girls of their honor was inaugurated at the May Day Coronation last week. This ceremony is called 'Tapping' and follows the method used by Mortar Board, national Women's Honor Group. The girls are now selected in the spring of their junior year and will act as an honorary service group. They are brought out of the audience and taken up on the stage to receive the honor. This is one step closer to affiliation with the national group.

OLIVER B. Elliott '42 (Alpha Gam) was elected president of the Young Adult conference of the West Central Y.M.C.A. area in Kansas City two weeks ago. It will be his responsibility to coordinate and enlarge the programs of 81 Y.M. associations in the five-state area.

Dr. and Mrs. V. A. Mueller ('38) announce the birth of Barbara Ann, born May 5 here in Wichita. The Dr. H. R. Knoch's (Peggy Tack '39) of Philadelphia are proud parents of a son, Carl Roebing Knoch, born April 30.

FRANK A. Stewart (Men of Webster '18) was appointed by Dr. Jardine to be the University representative at the inauguration of David B. Owen as new president of Bradley University in Peoria. Stewart is retail advertising manager of the Peoria Newspapers, Inc. and lives 26 1208 North Street in Peoria. His letter to Dr. Jardine reads, "It was a source of sincere pride to me that my own University of Wichita could be represented among the more than two hundred educational institutions and learned societies who sent delegates to Bradley's inaugural events."

"Thank you again for the privilege of representing my college."

Since the story of his regaining his eyesight appeared in newspapers in many cities, Dean Hoare has received many letters from people all over the United States including several of his former students, and many graduates. Letters came from J. B. Stuart '20 of Newton, Walter Schwedler '19 from San Diego, Betty Lou Crawford '40 who is in Denver, Kenneth K. Jones who is teaching pharmacology in Medical School in Chicago and ever so many others.

Just recently found out that another University graduate is at Harvard—this time it's Charles Terrell (Gamma '42). He's at Galatin A-21, Soldiers Field, Boston 63, Massachusetts.

MAJOR Arlo Mitchell '37 can now be called Mister. He's on terminal leave and will temporarily be at 1911 Bayley here in Wichita. Arlo was, until last week, at Camp Campbell, Kentucky.

When you're looking for groceries in Blackwell, try Wilt's Grocery Store . . . and ask for Glen E. Wilt '39.

Helen McCaslin '46, Helen Hege '45 and Virginia Covey (f/s) returned last week from a state meeting in Topeka, Ks., concerning Social Welfare problems. The two Helens and Virginia are associated with the Sedgwick Co. Welfare Board here in Wichita.

BETTY Deshler '46, who is with the Y.W.C.A. in Sioux City, Iowa, came down for the May Day celebration last Friday.

Max W. Milbourn '38, assistant to President Jardine, left Monday night to attend the annual national meeting of the American College Public Relations Assn. in St. Louis, Mo. Max is chairman on the committee on exhibits and is state membership chairman.

College Costs Rise; Holyoke Ups Tuition Fees Second Time

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass.—(I.P.) Increases in the cost of living have compelled a $200 rise in tuition fees at Mount Holyoke College for next year, President Roswell Gray Ham announced here recently. The increase, voted "with genuine regret" by the board of trustees at the spring meeting, brings to $1400 the annual fee for board, room and tuition for each student enrolled in 1947-48.

Pointing out that the $100 increase in rates which went into effect in September 1946 had not solved the financial dilemma created by rising prices, President Ham reported "a disturbing deficit" with no immediate alleviation in prospect except the raising of fees. During the past year "every economy has been practiced except the lowering of standards and depletion of our plant," he said.

Study In Race Relations

By Anna Lampkin

In the race relations class both Negro and White have learned much about our American dilemma, its background and its effect upon our modern democracy.

What is our dilemma? The answer is minority groups who have been suppressed by discrimination and segregation economically, politically and socially. Their struggle for racial equality is a war within itself. Many Americans are not fully aware of problems which arise from minority groups who endeavor to better their status by continually fighting for equal rights.

Gunnar Myrdal, author of the class textbook An American Dilemma, makes this sweeping statement concerning the Negro problem which I think applies to all minority groups:

"It suggests something difficult to settle and equally difficult to leave alone."

Our race relations class concludes that education is the dominant factor that will aid in solving the problems of minority groups.

PLATTER CHATTER

By Eddie Sisk

Boyd Raeburn (Jewel) "Innovations"

This is an album of more merit than you will likely find in the next year's searching. I honestly have been afraid of saying too much about this guy Raeburn, but the time has come to get out on the limb or shut up. The latter is something I'm not about ready to do. Raeburn has attempted to raise the level of jazz to a pinnacle not yet attained by any other modern musician, and I'm not sure he has succeeded; but Boyd Raeburn has the nerve to try something which will add very little luster to his name if the public laughs it off as a publicity trick.

The musicianship is of too high a standard for such a thing as cheap tricks. This is a revolutionary movement of musical thought, and its done with an exactness seldom heard in the dance field of music. Raeburn's arrangements of "Body and Soul" and "Temptation" with Ginnie Powell singing the vocal is extreme voicing; the progressive modern will get a great boot out of "Dallatore Sally"; but for the "middle of the roaders" who are completely disgusted with band barbershop harmonies and equally as nauseated with the bag of musical dissonance of the "Behop" jive-five, Boyd Raeburn has successfully engaged our interest with the bands' playing of "Over the Rainbow" and "Little Boy Blue".

These arrangements don't check with the harmony book which Professor Stickystuffer recommends, and die-hard reactionaries like him will most likely label the whole experiment as a cloak for incompetency and mediocrity. Don't believe it. Raeburn's pull up the musical ladder has been a long hard climb, and he's jumped with both feet into an explosive controversy; but he has decided (and so have I) that the public is eager to hear music that is an advancement over the purists of the past five hundred years. I can only urge you to listen. Don't make snap decisions. Give the guy a chance to prove his point. That's my word to the wise. Claude Thornhill (Columbia) "We Knew It All The Time" and "Would You Believe It?"

Here's another semi-symphonic approach to modern dance music. The arrangements of both sides are prettied up for Thornhill's fine piano style, and Fran Warren (It's a girl) sings the second chorus. Very delightful listening for you Claude Thornhill fans.

Elliot Lawrence (Columbia) "Willie" and "Speaking of Angels"

The Elliott Lawrence band has been neglected much too long; and with a rhythm touch which few sweet bands are able to accomplish without stinking up the whole thing with a sugar drip. You can guess the style—it's a symphonic flavor, which must prove something or other. I must be in a classic mood. But all the bands are using oboes, bassoons, tympani, and what have you. Jack Hunter and Rosalind Patton take the vocal chorus while Lawrence brightens both sides with his keyboard boogie.

Eighty-three per cent of the 566 classes now being taught in the University of Wichita have less than 35 students each.

English Students At Texas Use Filmstrips as Aid to Study

AUSTIN, TEX.—(I.P.)—Filmstrips and visual aid have come to the rescue of University of Texas freshman English students struggling with such things as phrases, clauses, parallel structure, and principal uses of the comma.

After a year of experimentation with using filmstrips in some freshman English classes, and comparing grades and reactions with students in classes with non-visual aids, the department of English has concluded two things: (1) the filmstrip will work in college English classes, and (2) it will work fairly well.

Final results of using filmstrips showed that 78.65 per cent of the students passed their work in visual sections, and 69.08 passed in non-visual sections. There were larger percentages of A's, B's, and C's in the visual sections, and a considerably smaller percentage of F's.

These statistics were reported by Dr. Joseph J. Jones, associate professor of English, who first began working on the filmstrips in 1942. In 1945 the department of English was given an appropriation for materials and equipment, and the actual use of the strips was made in 1945-46.

"It remains for the profession to see what can be done with this new tool of teaching," Dr. Jones said. "The chief complaint of instructors was lack of time to make entirely adequate use of the material the strips provided. Most students favor showing the strips only once a week."

"The filmstrip can do good work in freshman English; this fact has been demonstrated both statistically and subjectively. How much this work can be improved is yet unknown. Filmstrips should soon take their place as an indispensable adjunct to the study of English composition."

Military Frat Elects Heads

Formal initiation of pledges for the newly reorganized Scabbard and Blade, national honorary military fraternity, will be held at a sunrise ceremony May 30, according to Roland Allen, fraternity Captain. The initiation will be followed by a breakfast at Droll's Grill.

Scabbard and Blade pledges are chosen on the basis of their leadership, military and scholastic standings, and their willingness to participate in campus activities. Membership in the organization is open to advanced military science students only, Allen stated.

Pledges have elected the following officers: James McIntosh, Captain, Hal Bingham, First Lieutenant, Jack Tetrick, Second Lieutenant, and Leroy Berry, First Sergeant. Other pledges are Jorge Roach, Dick Markwell, Albert Dempsey, Morris Miles, Virgil Moore, William Daniels, J. R. Lasswell, Robert Lynch, Jr., George Denninghoff, Robert Sauzek, Russell Crammer, James Denninghoff, Charles Johnson, Hilburn Platt, Jr., Robert Langenwaller, and Bill Angle.

The fraternity was ordered inactive in 1943 by the United States War Department and until this year no plans for reorganization had been made.

Officers and actives of the organization are Roland Allen, Captain; Warren Wallis, First Lieutenant, Dale Fair, Second Lieutenant; Sam Namee, First Sergeant; Harold Lutz, Edward Wingate and Paul MacCauley.

Station WU Will Need Volunteer Workers

Plans for station WU's summer program are awaiting volunteers to work on the staff, said Don Williams, assistant professor of speech.

The amount of time on the air will depend upon the number of students who are interested, Williams continued.

Any student interested in any phase of radio work may see Don Williams, fourth floor Administration building.

Plans Are Made For R.O.T.C. Encampment

Second Air Force headquarters, Offutt Field, Ft. Crook, Neb., has announced two encampments to be held this summer for advanced Air R.O.T.C. students.

Chanute Field at Rantoul, Ill., and Lowry Field at Denver, Colo., have been chosen as the sites for the encampments which will begin June 22 and end Aug. 2.

Approximately 280 Air R.O.T.C. students attending colleges and universities in North Dakota, South Dakota, Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska will attend the summer camp at Lowry.

The courses to be received by future air reserve officers will include instruction in practical soldiering, training in work that has been covered during the past year in their Air R.O.T.C. classrooms, and practical training in the specialty they have chosen for their 1947-48 school year of instruction.

To be eligible for attendance at the summer encampment, the R. O.T.C. students must have had the two-year basic R.O.T.C. course or have served at least one year in the armed services and, in either case, have completed the first year of advance Air R.O.T.C. work.

Champs of Last Year To Meet Stiff Tests Fri. and Sat. In Iowa

Tomorrow, the Shockers will defend their title of Missouri Valley golf champions at the Des Moines Country Club, Des Moines, Iowa. Entries have been received from every member of the Missouri Valley Conference, for play in this 54-hole tournament.

The first 36 holes will be played tomorrow, with the first golfers teeing off at 9 a. m., and the last 18 holes will be played Saturday, with teeing off time set for 7 a. m.

Coach Mel Binford, and the four members of the team left this morning at 4 a. m., by train, for Des Moines, along with Coach Ab Bidwell's track team.

To date, the Shockers have played 12 golf meets and have a record of eight wins, one tie, and three losses. All three losses were administered by Oklahoma A & M, and the tie was with Kansas State.

Last week, the Shockers won only one of the three golf meets played during the teams' journey into Oklahoma. Thursday, Oklahoma A & M downed W.U. at the Ponca City Country Club by a 17 to 1 score. Bo Wininger, playing in the Aggies' number three position took medalist honors with a one under par 70.

History of R.O.T.C.

strength of 100 men, required by the government, was reached. Enrollment figures show that the figure of 106 was attained by the placing of some of the faculty members in the unit and forming them into an "awkward" squad under an especially patient instructor. Some of these members included, Dean Frank A. Neff, of the College of Business Administration and Industry, Dean Arthur J. Hoare, professor emeritus of mathematics and Dr. C. C. Harbison, professor of speech.

The unit had little with which to begin. Only one small classroom was allotted the Corps and close order drill was held on the football field or in a pasture east of the college when the owner's cows weren't around. A barn in the middle of the field was always in the way and the unit had to split in half and drill on each side. A small target range was also set up in the pasture. That was all, but the unit prospered and was enjoyed by the students.

By 1922 the unit had weathered its early hardships and made a neat appearance in its smart looking cadet grey uniforms. That year, for the first time, three students were graduated with reserve commissions.

In 1923 the uniform changed from cadet grey to black with yellow trimmings to conform with the school's colors.

Then, in 1926, Major Chapman Grant, a grandson of General U. S. Grant, assumed command and succeeded in changing the uniform to the regulation olive drab.

Major Grant was succeeded by Major George W. Price in 1930. By that time the classwork of the unit was established on a sound and progressive basis, but it lacked much in appearance. Under Major Price, a new era in the growth of the unit began. The appearance of the individual member began to receive attention. The deportment in the classroom improved and slowly but surely the men in the corps were exposed and responded to instruction on subject ranging from military courtesy to higher tactics.

Until then the R.O.T.C. band, which had been organized, had been without a full time director. Walter Duerksen, now professor of band and theory was secured.

In the fall term of 1932, the strength of the unit passed the 200 mark and was reorganized into a regiment—three battalions of two companies each and a band.

The unit continued to grow and by 1941 the group had an enrollment of 449; its largest in history. By 1942, the last class to commission officers, a total of 340 officers, had been commissioned.

During the war, although reduced drastically in size, the corps continued to operate. Although only basic courses were taught, former members who went into the armed forces reported that this basic work benefitted them greatly. The corp also acted as a recruiting agent for the enlisted reserve corp.

At the beginning of last semester the corps was reorganized on its pre-war standard. Besides the regular infantry unit, under the command of Captain Samuel McAdams, assisted by T/Sgt. Charles W. Jenkins, S/Sgt. Charles S. Ryburn, Jr., and S/Sgt. Frederick J. Frost, this year for the first time, an Army Air Force R.O.T.C. unit was actuated. It is commanded by Major Eddie J. Robertson. Other personnel include Capt. Glenn H. Burrow, Lt. Warren A. Stouffer, M/Sgt. Bernard M. Mader and T/Sgt. John B. Sawyer.

Superiority of the University R.O.T.C. unit can be judged in its rating by the war department. The unit will be inspected by representatives of the Fifth Army on May 15 and 16 and it will be reaching for its seventeenth consecutive blue star rating of excellence.

The unit now has more than $20,000 worth of military equipment and is overflowing its rooms in the basement of Fiske Hall. Plans are now being made to move a building from a Missouri army camp onto the campus to be used as an armory.

There are several associations and fraternities for R.O.T.C. members. Each member of R.O.T.C. is also a member of the National Rifle Association. All students are eligible for the Pershing Rifles and 26 students are picked each year on the basis of close order drill for this crack drill platoon.

Exclusively for seniors is the honorary fraternity, Scabbard and Blade, which is being reorganized this year. Newly organized is Icarus, honorary fraternity, which is restricted to advanced students in the air corps unit.

One of the oldest traditions of the unit is that of picking an honorary colonel. On April 18 at the annual military ball, the sixteenth honorary colonel, Eileen Cerney, was presented to the University.

when the Missouri Valley must reach an agreement, spiritually as well as literally. He stated that the confab must bring forth an agreement on the enforcement of conference policies. He pointed out that the great differences of opinion that exist between the seven members of the conference have resulted in jealousies.

Dr. Davis predicted that the Valley would accept the National Collegiate Athletic Association "purification code." "The University of Wichita now conforms wholly to the code. If there are any differences which we are not aware of, we can easily make adjustments," Dr. Davis said.

The strengthening of the position of the commissioner in the Missouri Valley was also considered as a prospective topic at the conference meet. Present authority given the commissioner, does not allow for the enforcement of schedule and other conference rules.

Dr. Davis and Coach Graham departed early this morning with the University track and golf squads for Des Moines.

Edwin H. Kornfeld, sophomore, received an appointment to study horticulture at Ohio State University beginning next September, according to Dr. Clinton C. McDonald, head of the botany department. Kornfeld received his basic horticultural training here at the University.

At a Time When All Other Prices Are Up . . . WE ARE REDUCING THE ANNUAL COST OF HOUSEHOLD ELECTRICITY BY $300,000

WE KNOW that you will be pleased to hear that we are reducing our rates for urban household electricity by $300,000. The new lower rates are being applied to all bills rendered on and after May 1.

You have greatly increased your use of electricity in homes and we have been able to put into effect operating efficiencies. These two circumstances make the rate reduction possible, despite the fact that we are faced with increased costs for equipment, fuel, supplies and payroll.

The reduction is a resumption of our practice of reducing rates as rapidly as conditions will permit such reductions. During war years conditions prevented rate reductions. However, in the past 17 years this rate reduction and others which we have put into effect have brought our customers total annual savings estimated to be over 1½ millions of dollars.

This new rate is of especial interest to you because of its relation to your future plans for your home. We know that thousands of you are planning home improvements—kitchen remodeling, building additions to your homes, building or buying new homes. The new, low rate permits you to plan for many uses of electricity with the assurance that operating costs will not be an important consideration. New low "steps" are provided in the rates for those who use large amounts of electricity.

In analyzing our "market" we found that many home users were planning to install electric ranges and electric water heaters. The rate provides a special "block" of kilowatt-hours for such purposes at the very low rate of 1c per kilowatt-hour. This means that you may cook electrically for from $1.00 to $1.50 per month.

It will probably be some months before major electric appliances will be available at your dealer's store in quantity. We wanted you to have the benefit of the rate reduction as soon as possible and to be able to make your plans for the future with these economies in mind. Our plans include the doubling of the capacity of our Ripley Plant near Wichita and the improvement of all of our service equipment so that we will be ready for the additional uses of electricity that you plan to add in your home.
