Round about the Campus

By Dorothy Ludiker
Sunflower Society Editor

WELL, AS MAY DAY celebrations draw closer, Hippodrome practices are taking the spotlight this week at the University as all the social organizations practice and practice. As a matter of fact, this is about the only thing going on at the University this week.

Joan Robnett is going to Manhattan this week-end to attend the Sig Alpha Spring formal with Bob Mullen.

WALKOUTS WERE plentiful Monday night at sorority and frat meetings. The Sorosis pledges walked out with the Phi Sig pledges and kidnapped Jerry Skinner and Bob Harrison before going to Greenwich, Kas. The Pi Kap pledges took a short walkout but returned to meeting after cokes.

A Gamma party is scheduled Saturday at Lake Afton. Hosts will be Danny Phillips and George Parsons. This may also be a christening party as Parsons and Phillips have a new boat.

WIND, RAIN AND HAIL proved to be quite a hindrance to the softball game planned last Sunday by the Instrumentalists and Vocalists of the Music department. It was postponed indefinitely.

JoAnna Holderby went to K State last week end to visit Pat Brown and stayed at the Chi O House.

WHILE A COUPLE of weeks ago an unidentified man was seen lurking around the campus, this week we have unidentified window-breakers. The room where the Heiress costumes are kept was broken into, and hand lotion poured on three of the costumes.

Norb Moran, Paul Palmer, Bob Mihalsky, Marty O'Connor, Bernard Casey, Mike Hrynewich, and Cliff Kraus took their dates and went on a picnic at Lake Afton last Sunday afternoon.

WINDMILLS AND A SPRING theme decorated the Home Economics Club dinner given last week in the Faculty Dining Room of the Commons. The women who attended brought their mothers.

The Pi Alpha pledges are planning a stag for the actives for Friday night.

WITH THE YEAR drawing to a close, ISA will elect new officers for next year at their meeting next Monday night. There will also be two reports by Bill Holland and Charley King, with dancing afterwards.

The ISA dance last Friday in the Alibi was not only a dance but a fourth of July celebration. Someone had some old fire-crackers left over from last year.

WITH MOTHER'S DAY just around the corner, the sororities are planning teas which will be held at the houses on Mother's Day.

The Alpha Taus are holding a father-daughter picnic next Sunday afternoon.

Dorm Plans Bring Memories

Fiske Hall Once Occupied By 'Rah Rah Boys And Ladykillers'

By Virginia Stafford

The proposed dormitories for the University will have the conveniences of the present age-built-in Hollywood units, and the floors, washing units, and the latest in lighting systems, according to Miss Grace Wilkie, dean of women.

Fiske Hall, the dormitory for men which was erected in 1906, had modern conveniences—up-to-date plumbing, steam heat, electric wiring, and the latest style in brick works, according to an issue of The Sunflower of that period.

Fiske Hall housed the young men of the campus from the year of its erection to 1926 and during those 20 years it furnished the setting for more traditional tales than any other building on the campus.

Yellow Dog Headquarters

According to legends, everything that ever happened of any consequence had its beginning in its walls. Here were the headquarters of the Yellow Dogs, those upperclassmen who wielded their paddles to help the freshmen acquire a little "horse sense." Here were the headquarters of the presidents, secretaries, football captains, basketball heroes, and big guns in fraternities.

Fiske Hall was divided into three distinct sections in those days, the first floor, second floor, and third floor. Floor number one was a place for glad hands, bookworms and ladykillers. These boys were not so highly developed in the art of fist fights and went in for the milder sports, such as throwing hedgeballs and dogbiscuits through transoms.

On floor number two dwelt the constructive men of the school, those who literally reeked with executive ability. On the third floor lived the indescribable missing links, that is missing mentally but by no means physically.

First and second floor boys braved the top floor at the risk of their lives. The inhabitants of third loved to play with their automatics. More than one "dorm boy" felt the sting of a wad of paper from the blank cartridge of an army rifle. One such shot was guaranteed to take a man from third to first quicker than an elevator could.

Fiske Hall was no longer used as a dormitory after Fairmont College was municipalized in 1926. It housed the offices of the administration, classrooms, and psychological laboratories for a few years. In 1931 it became a music hall.

Instead of beds and bureaus, the rooms now at Fiske contain pianos and music stands. Girls and boys throng gaily up and down the narrow stairways carrying their odd-shaped instrument cases in contrast with the men of yesteryear who treaded the same stairways with their long-handled paddles seeking their prey.

Instead of hedgeballs and dogbiscuits thrown through transoms, instrument cases are poked through windows and the only paper wads now in circulation are those hurled in the waste paper baskets.

Poor Reading, Broken Homes Cause Most Student Failures

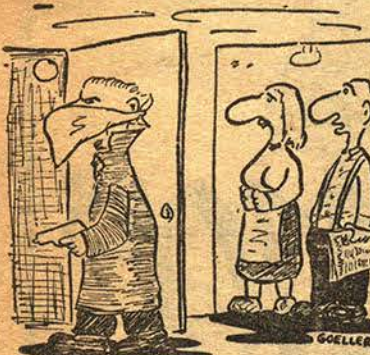

Retarded reading and broken homes are among the main causes for students' failures in college, Prof. Frank R. Hunt, dean of students at Lafayette College, says after a three-year study of reasons for failures.

Dean Hunt asserts that too many students arrive at college with inadequate preparation, a limited vocabulary and a general inability to comprehend issues from the printed page. The remedy, he suggests, is smaller classes, more teachers, a more careful selection of those planning to prepare for college and more personal attention to those students.

As for home environment, Prof.

security, is frequently torn between loyalty to one or both parents, is ill at ease in accepting invitations from friends to visit their homes because he cannot reciprocate, and often feels responsible for the financial support of his mother.

Other reasons listed for failures include financial factors, inability to work independent of supervision and lack of experience in using the freedom which is found in college life.

WE'LL HAVE TO HAVE A HEART TO HEART WITH HIM SOME NIGHT ABOUT WHAT HE INTENDS TO DO WHEN HE GRADUATES--

Hunt says that the great increase in the divorce rate since World War I has resulted in many students in college from broken homes. The common results of the student's emotional reaction from broken homes is inability to concentrate on the work at hand, the dean holds.

His study has shown that such a student has lost his sense of

Pitt Will Offer Retail Training

The University of Pittsburgh's graduate school of retailing, the Research Bureau for Retail Training, will begin its next class July 2, 1951, and graduate that class on March 21, 1952. It is hoped that this acceleration will make possible for a number of men subject to military call to complete a year of graduate study prior to entering military service.

Robert O. Bauer, University of Wichita alumnus, graduated in the 1949 class of the Research Bureau.

The Bureau's one-year graduate course leads to a master's degree and prepares young men and women to step into responsible positions in such retail fields as buying, management, control, advertising, fashion, and personnel. Classes are combined with paid store work and students are usually placed before graduation.

Fliers Invited To Air Meet

All University students who fly airplanes are invited to participate in the fourth annual National Intercollegiate Air Meet, at the Max Westheimer Field at the University of Oklahoma, May 4-6.

Scheduled events include navigation tests, 180-degree power-on accuracy landings, and floor-sack bombing. An awards banquet, a display of Air Force planes and other exhibits will be features of the meet, according to Joseph E. Coulter, manager of the Westheimer Field and faculty sponsor of the host club at the University of Oklahoma.

Sales, Advertising Classes In Increase

Education in the advertising, marketing, and public relations field has shown a marked and significant increase during the past five years. This is revealed in a study conducted by Donald W. Davis, professor of journalism at the Pennsylvania State College, for the Bureau of Research of the Advertising Federation of America.

Since 1946, the number of college course listings and hours of instruction has doubled while the number of degree-granting institutions offering courses in these fields has increased by 56 per cent. The study lists 819 degree-granting institutions offering degree-credit courses in the fields of advertising, marketing and public relations as compared with 524 in 1947. There are 6,728 individual course listings for 1951, a better than 100 per cent increase over the 3,357 in 1947.

Davis feels that the recent expansion of higher education in these fields is of a permanent nature with even further expansion in sight. "This trend shows that the colleges and universities are aware of, and striving to meet, the need for great numbers of trained people in the various fields of sales and distribution and in the media, agency, and public relations field," he explains.

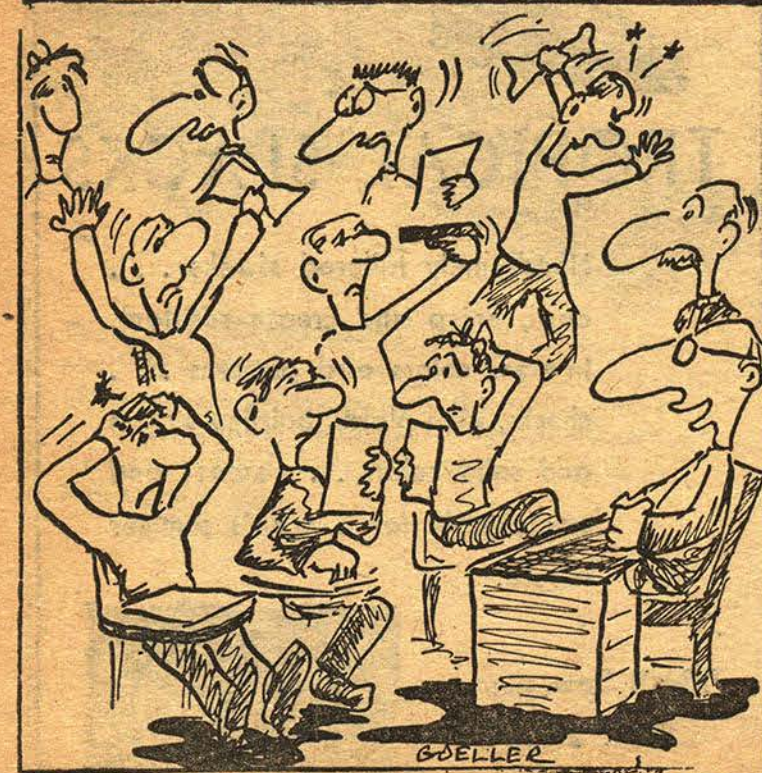

California U Offers 2 Marriage Courses

Two courses in marriage and family relations, a new field of study for undergraduates at the University of California, are being given this semester, according to an announcement by the administration.

Introduced for the first time last fall by Judson T. Landis, associate professor of family sociology, home economics department, the courses—Basis of Family Life Studies, and Marriage and Family Relations—are the first credited studies of their kind offered by the university.

Landis, a nationally recognized authority on family life studies, was appointed to the faculty to organize a schedule of courses designed for preparation of students for marriage and family adjustments, and training of teachers and leaders in the field of family relations, home economics, physical education, social science, health education, sociology, religion, and social service.

Washburn Bridge Team Takes First In National Intercollegiate Tourney

Two students from Washburn University became the nation's intercollegiate Contract Bridge champions last weekend when they outplayed fifteen other teams in the final round of the National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament at the Blackstone Hotel, in Chicago. The winners are Gerald Michaud, of Clay Center, Kansas, and Bradley Post, of Meade, Kansas.

In second place were Gloria Werfelman and Jay Gottesfeld, both of Brooklyn, New York, representing Brooklyn College. The third ranking pair, Paul A. Schwarz and John D. McGervey, both of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, represented the University of Pittsburgh.

Mostly Men

The thirty-two contestants in the finals were survivors from a field of 1,264 students playing in the semi-final round, which was conducted by mail in February. In this round, 158 colleges and 42 states were represented.

Although the National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament is one of the few intercollegiate contests in which men and women can compete on an equal basis, only three women students qualified for the finals. Of the thirty-two finalists, eight were ex-servicemen.

Director for the Intercollegiate finals was Mr. Geoffrey Mott-Smith, noted Bridge authority and author, who was invited to Chicago for the event by the National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament Committee.

Final Teams

Contenders in the finals for the title and trophy were from the following colleges: Bates College, Lewiston, Maine; Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts; Brooklyn College, Brooklyn, New York; Colgate University, Hamilton, New York; Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania; University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; University of Cincinnati, Cincinnati, Ohio; Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Virginia; Georgia Institute of Technology, Atlanta, Georgia; University of Florida, Gainesville, Florida; Wayne University, Detroit, Michigan; Michigan State College, East Lansing, Michigan; University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minnesota; Washburn University, Topeka, Kansas; Stanford University, Palo Alto, California; State College of Washington, Pullman, Washington.

College Installs New Expansion

Closer integration of a college curricula with community, business and industrial needs is the aim of Fenn College's new expansion program which calls for top business and industrial leaders to advise on all college policies and activities, Dr. Edward Hodnett, president, announced here.

More than 47 business, industrial and professional leaders will serve as members of the new Fenn Corporation which is located in Cleveland, Ohio, in a plan which is called one of the most advanced development projects ever undertaken by any college. Each new member of the Fenn Corporation will represent one of Greater Cleveland's major business, industrial and professional groups. Their job calls for leadership, sincere interest, experience and an understanding of the need for education, not only in their respective fields, but in the community and nation as well, according to Dr. Hodnett.

Under the expanded corporation, the school's academic and service departments will be constantly guided and counseled by the many business leaders on such matters as course content, teaching methods, and complete integration of curricula with present business needs.

Ask And Learn

Ye Sterling Stir, Sterling College, Kas., asked several seniors what they considered the greatest lesson college had taught them. Answers included:

"How dumb I am!" "To get all my graduating requirements before the final year." "That I don't know anything." "To get on and off trains successfully with three suitcases and a typewriter." "To never ask questions such as you're asking." "To free myself from my mothers apron strings." "To get along with Marge."

Band Plans Concerts At Haven, Halstead

The 75 members of the University Concert Band will present concerts in Haven and Halstead Thursday, May 10, according to Prof. James Kerr, conductor of the group.

J. Quanto Dodge, former student of the University School of Music, is a music instructor at the Haven public schools, where the band will perform at 2:30 p.m.

The Halstead public school concert is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Featured on the program is the "Three Trumpeters" by Agostini-Bainum, performed as a trumpet trio by Dwight Beckham, Dennis Peterson, and Robert Webster, members of the concert section.

Also included are Gould's "American Salute," and Richard Strauss's "Waltzes from Der Rosenkavalier" and "Death and Transfiguration."

The seven seas are the North Atlantic, South Atlantic, North Pacific, South Pacific, Arctic, Antarctic and Indian Oceans.

Art Students To Hear Kuna

Miss Marguerite Kuna, who is associated with the Hallmark Greeting Cards Company, will speak on "Techniques Used in Creating Greeting Cards" in Room 101, Morrison Hall, at 11 a.m. Friday, according to Robert W. Cooke, associate professor of art.

The lecture is especially for art students, said Professor Cooke, but other students are welcome.

Miss Kuna is also interested in interviewing students for positions in art, creative writing and secretarial work, for permanent positions in Kansas City at the end of school. Persons who would be interested in such positions should contact Miss Grace Wilkie, dean of women for appointments. Miss Wilkie said that the interviews will begin 9:00 a.m. Friday and will be for 15 minutes each.

Michigan Frats Oust Restriction

The Interfraternity Council at Michigan State College ruled recently that member fraternities must make a sincere effort to rid their constitutions of discriminatory clauses.

The proposal, passed unanimously, requires fraternities to "show definite proof that an effort has been made to remove all such clauses from their local and national constitutions." The deadline for this "proof" is October 1, 1956.

At that time fraternities must submit "written proof" that removal of restrictive clauses has been brought up at the individual fraternities' national conventions, and that the local chapter had voted affirmatively on the removal. Nine fraternities at Michigan State now have restrictive clauses in their constitutions.

"Fraternities that cannot show definite proof," declared an IFC spokesman, "will be expelled from IFC. We have passed this ruling to show that we are capable of handling such affairs."

Air Explorer Scouts To Train On Campus

The University Air Reserve Officers Training Corps department will set up a program to train Air Explorer Scouts, stated Maj. Oscar W. Aderholdt, assistant professor of air science and tactics, this week.

The first meeting will be at the armory at 7:30 May 7. Dean L. Hekhuis will address the scouts at this meeting and outline the program.

The program will be carried out in co-operation with H. H. Baker, chief scout executive for the Quivira Council here.

Corbin Will Discuss Next Year's Budget

Pres. Harry F. Corbin will discuss the University budget for the 1951-52 school year at this year's last meeting of the local chapter of the American Association of University Professors. It will be held in the faculty dining room in the Commons Building today at 6 p.m.

Dinner will be served followed by a discussion of the budget and an election of next year's officers, according to Dr. Donald O. Cowgill, president of the local chapter.

Shocker golfers dropped matches last week to Tulsa here, and to Omaha University at Omaha and to Nebraska University at Lincoln.

In the leadoff match last Wednesday the Shockers went down before Tulsa at MacDonald Park 10-8. Dan Smith shot a 80 for medalist honors as the Shockers split in both individual and team matches. Smith defeated Sam Morgan and Dick Adkisson defeated Ralph Park for the Shocker's only individual wins. In team play, Smith and Adkisson again defeated Morgan and Park.

Nebraska dealt the second defeat Thursday by a 15-3 count with Doug Dale leading the Huskers with a 73, one over par for the Hillcrest course. Low man for the Shockers was Joe Minjares, who shot a 76.

Bob Lindberg led Omaha to an 11-7 victory Friday over the Shockers with a 74, one over par. Smith and Adkisson were the only winners for the Shockers.

'Green Ganders' Fate Facing Life Or Death

The Green Gander, humor magazine at Iowa State college, is facing a life-and-death dilemma. It has its choice of either cleaning up the magazine or discontinuing publication.

Pressure from various groups on and off the campus have initiated a "clean-up" campaign, designed to revolutionize the content of the magazine. The Christmas issue of the magazine has been called especially offensive.

Other humor magazines in Iowa are having similar troubles. Magazines at Drake university and the University of Iowa have been told officially and unofficially that certain jokes "without taste" must disappear from the pages.

DO-Unaffiliates Tie WRA Bowling League

The Delta Omega and the Unaffiliates teams tied for first place in the bowling tournament sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association. Both teams finished with a record of three wins and one loss.

In the last two games of the tournament on April 24, the Delta Omega team defeated the Unaffiliates, and the Alpha Taus lost to the ISA's team.

The ISA and the Pi Kaps finished in a tie for second place with two wins and two losses each. The Alpha Taus were at the bottom of the rankings with no wins and four losses.

Thinclads To Go To Track Meet

Munies, Tigers Battle At Hays Tomorrow

Shocker trackmen will travel to Hays tomorrow for a dual meet against the Fort Hays State Tigers. The meet will mark the last competition for Coach Ab Bidwell's squad before entering the Missouri Valley Conference meet at Tulsa May 11-12.

Last Saturday the Shockers entered the Drake Relays at Des Moines and placed fifth in one event, the sprint medley relay. Wes Hodge, Walt Corbin, Erwin Work, and Ed Moreland comprised the Wichita team. The sprint medley relay is made up of 100, 220, 440, and 880-yard runs.

Emporia State's Hornets bested the Shockers for the fifth time this season in a triangular meet here April 24. E-State scored 71½ points, Wichita had 59½, and Fort Hays trailed with 39½. Previously, the Hornets had outscored the Munies in one dual meet and three relays—Kansas, Oklahoma A and M, and Emporia.

High point man for the Shockers in the tri-meet was Carl Sundgren with firsts in the shot put and discus throw, good for 10 points. The Coloradoan's mark in the shot was 42 feet, 11¼ inches while his distance with the discus was 138 feet, 11 inches.

The 440-yard relay team, Sam Evans, high hurdles, and Walt Corbin, 220-yard dash were the only other first place winners for the Shockers.

Sports Roundup

By Clifford Kraus
Sunflower Sports Editor

If past records as a player and coach mean anything, Ralph Miller, our new head basketball coach, should enjoy some successful seasons here in spite of the fact that he is now coaching in the toughest cage conference in the nation.

As coach of the Wichita High School East Blue Aces for three full seasons, Miller's teams have never finished lower than second place. He climaxed his career at East this past season with a first-place tie in the Ark Valley League and the state Class AA championship.

Miller coached post basketball teams at Drew Field, March Field and Tampa Field while serving as a physical training officer in the Air Force. He had the rank of first lieutenant at the time of his separation from the service.

The new Shocker mentor graduated from the University of Kansas in 1942. While at the Big Seven school, he won conference honors two seasons in basketball under Dr. Forrest C. "Phog" Allen. Miller also played football while in college. As a matter of fact, Miller took a brief turn at a professional football career as a member of the Wichita Aero Commandos in 1942.

A native of Chanute, he attracted region-wide fame in football and basketball while in high school. Miller's father has been teaching in the Chanute school system since 1921.

Miller is 32 years old, married and the father of two children. He resides at 1437 Pershing Court.

There has been no style of play designated yet for the Shocker basketball team next year, but Coach Miller did hint at Monday's meeting that he would like the fast break. This was the system used by his state champion East High Blue Aces and has also been displayed here by St. Louis and Bradley Universities. As for the material here, we believe that it is adaptable to the fast breaking offense.

With one of the vacant coaching positions filled, speculation still continues as to who will step into the other posts. Bob Carlson and Norvall Neve, assistant football coaches, have both been mentioned as possible successors to Jim Trimble. It has been said that Neve doesn't desire to step up to the number one spot while Carlson has indicated that he would accept the position.

Carlson's post here in the past has been that of head freshmen football coach. In view of the fact that freshmen will be eligible for the varsity this fall, it would seem that he would make a logical successor as head football coach. As for the athletic directorship, Carlson has held a similar post at a Minnesota college.

Recent reports from the selection committee have indicated that the posts of head football coach and athletic director may be separated here for the first time in a number of years. If this should happen, it could mean the hiring of someone not connected with the University at present to fill one of the positions.

The separation of the two jobs will receive support from certain quarters here. This has been the practice at both Kansas State and Kansas University and for all practical purposes it has worked fairly well. Exponents of such a move claim that it would enable the University to carry out its reorganized athletic policy more efficiently which is to include equal emphasis on all sports.

Another phase of the new policy is more concentration on Kansas athletes. This move, too, will receive much favorable support. There seems to be a few who believe the out-of-staters are no longer wanted. It has already been pointed out by University officials that this is not the case and as we see it—if they have the ability, we can use them.

Nevertheless, there is no need of passing up any more Ernie Barrett, Harold Rogers, or B. H. Borns.

WRA Lists 4 Spring Events

Four intramural tournaments, golf, tennis, swimming, and archery, are scheduled for May by the Women's Recreation Association.

The archery tournament, which began yesterday, will end May 16. Any number of archers may shoot on a team, but only the three highest scores on a team will be counted each week. Contestants will shoot 42 arrows at 30 yards. The winner will be the team having the highest grand total for the two week period.

Arrows must be assigned by Miss Gladys Taggart, head of the women's physical education department. Additional details may be obtained from Connie Barlow, archery intramural head.

Thursday morning is the deadline for entries in the golf intramurals which will be held Friday and Saturday. The contest is open to any one who can shoot "nine holes in less than 150 strokes," according to the notice released by WRA officials. Entrants must pay their own green fees. The course to be used will be announced. Lois Murra is directing the golf meet.

The date of the swimming meet has not been set, however, it will be held at Wichita High School East at 4:45 p.m. sometime next week. Details of the meet will be posted this week. Laura Berry is intramural head for the swimming contest. The deadline for entries is Friday afternoon.

A tennis singles tournament will be held May 19, beginning at 8:30 a.m. on the University courts. All matches will be played the same day, and entrants are required to be present until eliminated from the contest. The deadline for entries is May 11. Tournament pairings will be posted May 15. Tennis intramural head is Jean Walker.

Final Softball Game To Be Played Today

The softball game scheduled Monday between the combined Alpha Tau-Pi Kap team and the regular Pi Kap team was postponed until today, according to Miss Dorothy Martin, instructor in women's physical education and faculty advisor to the Women's Recreation Association.

The game, which will be played at 3:30 this afternoon, will be the last in the softball tournament. Games were scheduled for Tuesday between the ISA and the Un-affiliates, and Wednesday between ISA and the Pi Kaps.

Meet Entries Due On May 7

The deadline for the intramural track meet entries is May 7, at 2 p.m. Competition will start May 14, according to Robert P. Kirkpatrick, men's intramural director.

Events will include all those used in a regulation high school meet except the mile run. A three-quarter mile run will be substituted for the mile.

Shockers Play Week-End Tilts

Houston University's Cougars can clinch first place in the Southern Division of the Missouri Valley by winning their remaining two games, both scheduled with the Shockers tomorrow and Saturday. The games will be played at the West Side diamond. Only team to defeat Houston in Valley play this season has been Tulsa.

In the first game of a three-game road trip last week, Dick Sanders hit twice in critical spots to cop a ten-inning, 4-2 win over Omaha University. John Friedersdorf and Bob Offerjost of Omaha had a pitching duel until the ninth, when Sanders doubled, then came home on John Walor's single. In the tenth, a single by Sanders drove in the first of the two winning runs.

Nebraska used seven errors to offset Randy Barron's five-hit hurling and drop the Shockers 6-3 at Lincoln Friday. All three Shocker runs came in the fifth, on two singles and a home run by Gene Kuhns.

In the first inning, Bob Reynolds, all-American football star, made his third steal of home this year.

Nebraska made it four straight over the Shockers this year with a 4-2 win Saturday to wind up the series. The Shockers outhit the Huskers, collecting eight while Gerry Bowen and Barron combined pitching efforts to limit Nebraska to six hits.

Talking Basketball

THE MILLER WINNING WAY is the topic of discussion among four 1951-52 basketball squad members and Ralph Miller, new head basketball coach at the University. Taking part in the discussion are Paul Scheer, W. L. "Dub" Qualls, Coach Miller, John Friedersdorf, and Gary Thompson.

Miller Meets New Charges; Plans Short Spring Practice

Everyone will be given an equal opportunity to make the team next year, Ralph Miller, recently appointed head basketball coach, told 1951-52 varsity cagers at a meeting Monday afternoon. It was Miller's first talk to his squad since assuming his duties here this week.

A short spring practice will be held in order to give Miller a chance to look over his players before school is out. The drills will probably last no more than a week and will probably start after baseball season ends May 12, the former Kansas University star told his charges.

No definite style of play has been selected yet, Miller said, as he prefers to pick the type of ball which best suits the team.

Phi Sig's Lead Softball League

Phi Sig took over the lead in the intramural softball standings by defeating the independent group, P and O, by the score of 17 to 10. They now have a record of three victories and no defeats.

In the other games played last week; Alpha Gamma and Phi Sig tied 21 to 21, and P and O won from Webster 20 to 8.

Four games remain to be played to finish the season. Alpha Gamma vs. Webster on May 3, P and O vs. Phi Sig on May 8, Phi Sig vs. Alpha Gamma on May 9, and on May 10, P and O will play Webster.

Human Rights Club, New Organization, Tackles Discrimination, Other Problems

Originally conceived as an experimental project for a sociology class by Carl Ortmeier, instructor in sociology, the Human Rights Club has grown into an independent, chartered organization.

Not only is it independent, but is believed by Charles Scheider, chairman of the group, to be unique to the University campus, since no similar group has been heard of at other colleges in the United States by club founders or officers.

Formed This Semester

After the original project was begun, some of the interested University students talked over the possibility of an organization dealing with human rights, and early this semester, the group was formed.

According to Schneider, the general purpose of the club is to "carry out activities in support of the United Nation Declaration of Human Rights."

At the present time, officers of the club are Schneider, chairman; Grant Smith, vice-chairman; Emma Williams, secretary; and Margery Burns, treasurer.

Membership in the Human Rights Club consists of 11 representatives from other campus organizations, besides 13 other interested University students.

Cooperates With Other Clubs

In support of the club's general purpose, earlier this semester the club cooperated with the campus Religious Council in a series of talks on racial discrimination. Schneider indicated that discrimination is a problem of interest to the club at the present.

No further work is being planned for this semester, Schneider said, but revealed that at a recent meeting of the club some possible policies for next semester were discussed, and that "something more decisive" may be done by the group, dealing with the coming year's policies and activities.

Red Literature Brings Comment

When the Daily Nebraskan ran a want ad asking for "Communist literature," the reactions were slightly short of hysterical. Professors were cautious, students were angry and mothers were alarmed.

Last week a student at the University of Minnesota decided to run the same ad. The results were practically nil. Only one student responded, and he did it in all sincerity, thinking the placer of the ad really wanted Communist literature.

There were no comments, no letters, no phone calls. Declared the Minnesota Daily: "We think the response the student didn't receive to this ad is indicative of

Plans For Residence Halls Being Processed

Plans for new residence halls at the University are now in the process of being drawn, according to University officials.

Pres. Harry F. Corbin met April 17 with Glen H. Thomas and A. B. Harris, the architects who are planning the buildings. Three or four months will probably be necessary to complete the plans.

No word has yet been received concerning the University's application for a loan, and such factors as the availability of building materials will affect the possibility of the construction of the halls, according to Pres. Harry F. Corbin.

2 Professors Exhibit Works In Art Show

David E. Bernard and John M. Strange, associate professors of art, were represented in the sixth annual Decorative Art Show in the Wichita Art Museum.

Professor Bernard recently served on a panel of six to discuss the show.

Four art critics picked the 443 exhibits for the event from 2,000 entries.

At the University of Buffalo the price of a cup of coffee is holding its own. Only trouble is that the traditional pickle on top a hamburger is now considered a separate item—a penny a pickle.
