Homecoming Is Underway

Kansas Speech Institute Opens

High School Students Due Here Saturday

Approximately 250 Kansas high school students are expected on the campus Saturday for the annual High School Speech Institute.

Highlight of the one-day institute sponsored by the speech department will be a demonstration debate between University of Kansas and University of Wichita debate teams. Representing the University of Wichita in the debate will be Crawford Barber, a sophomore in the College of Liberal Arts, and Sciences, and Russell Watson, a junior in the College of Business Administration and Industry. The University of Kansas team has not been announced.

Merrill Baker, assistant professor of speech and debate club sponsor, invited University students to attend sessions of the institute which opens at 8 a.m. Saturday morning. The schedule for the day's activities is:

8:00 Registration in the Auditorium Lobby.

8:45-9:00 Announcements and welcome by Dr. Forest L. Whan, professor and head of the department of speech, radio, and drama.

9:20-9:50 Analysis of the debate question by Dr. Arthur A. Wichmann, associate professor and head of the department of economics and business.

10:00-11:00 Demonstration debate between University of Kansas and University of Wichita debate teams on the question, "Resolved that every American citizen should be subject to conscription for essential service in time of war."

11:00-12:00 Panel Forum with comments on the debate and questions from the audience. Panel members will be Dr. Kim Griffin, director of forensic activities at the University of Kansas; Dr. Whan; and two students, Grover Smith and Frank Leek. Both students are enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and are members of the debate club.

1:00-1:45 Individual sessions including tours of the drama department facilities and KMUW, the University radio station, which has scheduled a special broadcast for the visitors.

1:00-1:45 Session on extempore speaking conducted by a member of the speech department staff. 1:45-2:30 Session on oratory also conducted by a staff member. 2:40 Practice debating for

Band Will Play 'Hillbilly' Music At Homecoming

The University marching band will present a hillbilly show during half-time at the Homecoming game Saturday afternoon. Costumes, music, and formations will be combined to give old fashioned hoedown entertainment, Prof. James L. Kerr, director of the band said.

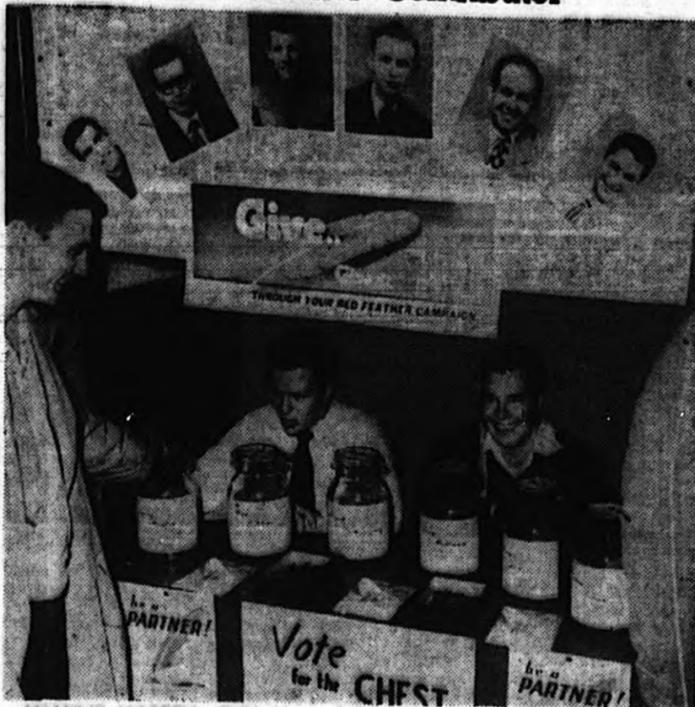

The girls will wear gunny sack dresses made from burlap bags, and the boys will wear ragged clothes, the director explained. The formations will include a buggy, two square, a jug, and a pipe.

Music for the formations will be "Comin' Around the Mountain", "Square Dance Music", "Little Brown Jug," and "Feudin', Fussin' and a Fightin'."

As an added feature a hillbilly band composed of a washboard player, a guitar player, and a harmonica player will present square dance music, Professor Kerr said.

Wheaties, the women's pep club will take part in the hillbilly show, he added.

AF ROTC Men Don New Look

There will be a new look on the University campus today, as the 363 members of the Air Reserve Officers Training Corps don for the first time the new blue uniforms which arrived this week.

The old, olive-drab uniforms worn by the Air R.O.T.C. will not be used after today, according to Maj. Herbert A. Hartman, head of the Air ROTC.

UW Nears Total Of Past Record

Lack of eleven students this semester kept the University from equalling the enrollment of 2,930 recorded last fall, Dr. Worth A. Fletcher, registrar reported Friday.

The enrollment of 2,919 which is under that of the 1950 fall term is ten per cent higher than spring registration. The expected decline in student enrollment anticipated last summer failed to appear, Dr. Fletcher said.

Notable increases over last year were reported in the resident registration and the enrollment of the College of Business Administration and Industry.

There are 2,574 Kansas students, 38 more than last year, enrolled this semester. The Kansans make up 88 per cent of the total registration, while non-residents include 345 students from 27 other states and six foreign nations.

For the first time in recent years the College of Business Administration and Industry boasts a larger enrollment than the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. The college reported an enrollment of 1,046 students, which is 13 per cent higher than last year's 907 students.

Other enrollment figures reported are the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, 1,022; College of Education, 452; College of Fine Arts, 234; and the Graduate School, 165.

The figures also show that the men on the campus outnumber the women early three to one. There are 2,130 men to 789 women. With the educational benefits of the G. I. Bill of Rights expired only 658 ex-servicemen are enrolled in University courses, Dr. Fletcher said.

500 Musicians To Convene Here

Five hundred music directors and supervisors will be guests of the University's School of Music at the annual state conference of the Kansas Music Educator's Association. The conference will be on the University Campus Thursday afternoon, Nov. 1, and all day Friday, Nov. 2.

Harry F. Corbin, University president, will speak before the organization at a banquet Thursday night, Nov. 1, at the Lassen Hotel, according to Prof. Walter Duerksen, director of the School of Music and chairman of local arrangements for the conference. The president's topic will be "Community Relations."

The A Cappella Choir, directed by Prof. Harold A. Decker, head of the department of choral music will appear before the conference Thursday afternoon. The Concert Band, under the direction of Prof. James L. Kerr, associate professor of bands and woodwinds, will play for the group Friday morning, Professor Decker stated.

At 1:30 p. m. Friday, the Opera Theatre and Symphony Orchestra will present one act from "The Magic Flute" by Mozart.

Students of the local chapter of the Music Educator's National Conference will entertain students from other colleges and universities at a coffee Friday at 3 p. m., in Room 109, Business

Deferment Quiz Will Be Given

College students who missed the examination for deferment from the Armed Forces last school year may have another opportunity to take the test Dec. 13, 1951, and April 24, 1952, according to Maj. Thomas M. Nial, editor of the Vet's Guide column which appears in the Evening Eagle.

Major Nial said that students who flunked a previous test may not take it again. Those who are now subject to the draft at the present time may not take it either.

Major Nial urges those who already have a deferment to take the examination anyway. In his column, Major Nial says that many 3A men with only one dependent now are being reclassified to 1A.

Students who desire to take the examination Dec. 13, must contact their draft board and fill out an application card before Nov. 5. Those who desire to take the examination April 24, must contact their board before midnight, March 10, 1952.

Council Members

UW Bloodmobile Dates Released

The American Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the ROTC Armory Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, between 8 a. m., and 1 p. m., to collect blood for the Armed Forces, from students who wish to donate.

All students under 21 years of age must have release cards signed by their parents, to indicate their approval of the donation, according to Lt. Col. Robin G. Montgomery, head of the ROTC here. These cards may be obtained in Colonel Montgomery's office, or at the American Red Cross headquarters, 321 N. Topeka.

Colonel Montgomery stated that students who wish to donate, should not eat fatty foods the day of the donation. The Red Cross suggests that prospective donors should avoid eating the following foods the day they donate: fried foods, peanut butter, all types of salad dressings and any food containing fat, milk, cream, or oil.

and about the Campus

BY NANCY RITTENOUR
Paint, hammers, and nails are flying this week as Homecoming decorations begin to take shape.

The students with the headaches (in other words, those in charge of decorations) are Anita Dinsmore, Alpha Tau; Joan McClure and Peggy Davis, Delta Omega; Rose Mae Chism, Kappa Rho; Susan Austin and Pat Weaver, Pi Kapp; Donna Zoglmann, Sorosis; Joe Rochford, Alpha Gamma; Bill Hawes, Webster; Ernie Balay, Pi Alpha; and Maurice Bowen, Phi Sig.

Johnell Yost passed gumdrops at Pi Kap meeting Monday night to announce her going steady with Price Gentry, who attends K-State. Marilyn Grant, Sorosis, is now wearing the fraternity pin of Charles Storey, a TKE at K-State. The pinning of Phi Sig Jerry Lansdowne to Sorosis Jeanne Clancy was announced Friday at the Phi Sig pledge dance.

D. O. pledges and actives received silver sorority necklaces Saturday night at their pledge dance.

New Pi Alpha pledges are Bill Long, Dick Hoover, and Rollin Kettman. This puts the pledge class up to 26 now.

The O. U. K. U. game drew a lot of Shockers to Norman last weekend. Watching the game were Jim Ninni, Mike Knopick, John Freeza, J. D. Edmiston, Ed Ziegler, and Dr. M. F. Lamkin. Websters who attended were Gene Wells with Carlene Sturges, Clyde Krug with Meredith Rick, and "stags" John LaFever, Jack Piper, Kendall King, Duane Smith, Larry Austin, and Hugh Harrell. While in Norman they visited former Websters Jim Taylor of O. U. and Ralph Brumback who is stationed at Norman.

Pi Kaps are selling yellow mums for $1 for the Homecoming game at the sorority house. The mums will be decorated with a black "W" and will be on sale before and during the game.

Delta Omega's held an old fashioned box supper for their dads Monday night before meeting. Each of the girls packed and decorated a box for her father.

Donna Henry, Alpha Tau, announced her pinning to Don McClelland at the Alpha Tau pledge dance Saturday night. Don now attends the University but was formerly a Beta at K. U.

Grace Berberich, Dick Strauss, Joanie Myers, and Gene Mattingly played bridge at Joanie's house Saturday night. Joanie served some of her homemade chocolate cake for refreshments.

Myron Basom, Webster, and Pat Bennett, Kappa Rho, whose engagement was announced last spring at the Hesseberg, have set their wedding date for November 17.

Phi Sig pledges gave a hayrack ride Saturday night for all the Phi Sigs. Royce Haley's farm was the starting point for the ride.

Planning to go to the Oasis Club Saturday night after the Homecoming game are Gammas and their dates.

Members of the mathematics department were treated to an open house Sunday afternoon by Miss Ferna Wrestler, associate professor of mathematics, at her apartment.

Shockers are reminded by Gerry Hunter, Varsity chairman, that the Homecoming dance is informal. Fellows will wear suits and the gals will dress up.

Jack and Bobbie Campbell, former University students, have announced May as the time of arrival of their first baby—Jack

Education Frat Names Pledges

Twenty-eight students were ribbon-pledged at the last meeting of Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary education fraternity.

Freshmen Play Varsity Squad

A basketball game Friday night following the bonfire will be played as part of the homecoming program at the University.

Coach Ralph Miller, basketball coach, explained that the purpose of the game is to give alumni and townspeople a chance to view the varsity basketball squad.

Freshmen basketball players will be pitted against upper classmen.

Picnic To Honor Returning Grads

Alumni of the University will be honored at Homecoming with a chuck wagon picnic supper and a coffee sponsored by the University Alumni Association.

A Kings-X chuck wagon will provide food for the picnic supper Saturday from 5 p. m. to 7 p. m. in the Shocker Stadium. In case of bad weather the picnic will be held in the Women's Gym.

Coffee will be served following the Homecoming game Saturday night in the Women's Gym. The Women's Honor Group will assist with the serving.

Alumni may also attend the Homecoming Dance if they wish for the amount of tax of the dance tickets instead of the full price.

All alumni and their families and friends are invited to the picnic supper and coffee, according to Miss Beulah Mullen, secretary of the Alumni Association. Marjorie Van Camp and Betty Neely Loyd are co-chairmen of the planning committee.

cowboy outfits tomorrow in honor of Homecoming.

Gammas are really going to be busy from now on. A few of their future activities are the pledge dance November 2, and the Betty Co-ed Dinner November 10. The Gamma-Webster football game is also coming up.

Marine Wolf attended the American Royal at K. C. as the coach of the Kansas 4-H judging team. His team took second place. He also went to the Coronation Ball.

Rena Esch and Bill Harrison; Rheta Esch and Frank Friesen; and Nancy Rice and Greg Fowler went to the Flamingo after the Delta Omega pledge dance Saturday night, and then ate sandwiches at the Esch twins' house.

Alums To Be Honored By Organizations With Dinners, Desserts, Open Houses

Dinners, desserts, and open houses will be part of the Homecoming plans of the social organizations who will honor their alumni Saturday night before and after the football game.

Alpha Tau Sigma will give a dessert for their alums at 6:30 p. m. Carole Lax is in charge.

An autumn theme will be carried out at the Delta Omega dessert, which will be held from 6:30 p. m. to game time. Nancy Rittenour has charge of the affair.

Pi Kappa Psi will also honor their alums with a dessert given by the pledge class. It will be held from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m.

Juanita Clinard is in charge of a dinner to honor the Epsilon Kappa Rho alums. The buffet-style dinner, to be held from 6 to 7:30 p. m., will follow a blue and yellow theme.

Sorosis will hold an open house as well as give a dinner for their alums from 5:30 to 6:30 p. m. The pledges will sing as part of the entertainment. Vera Warner is in charge.

The Mothers' Club of Alpha Gamma Gamma will serve coffee and donuts to the alums. The open house will be held after the game.

Herschel Dehner and Hugh Harrell have charge of the Men of Webster open house after the game. As is traditional, the Homecoming Queen, and her attendants will be the honored guests. Pres. Harry F. Corbin and Dean Grace Wilkie will also be special guests. Refreshments and a program have been planned.

Entertainment at the Phi Sig open house will be in the form of a skit by the pledges. Refreshments will be coffee and donuts. Bob Young is in charge.

An open house at the Pi Alpha Pi house has been planned by David Dewey from 5 p. m. to 7 p. m. Coffee and a dessert will be served.

The Independent Students Association will hold an open house in their clubroom for their alums and the I.S.A. students from Tulsa from 2:30 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. Shirley Lake will direct the affair.

Miss Allbritten Is YW Speaker

Miss Geraldine Allbritten, assistant professor of English, will be the speaker for the October general meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association.

The meeting will be held Tuesday from 7 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. in the Commons Lounge. All members and women who are interested in the YWCA are invited to the meeting, according to Della Bates, president.

Miss Allbritten will speak about the Black Hills passion play, which portrays the story of Christ, she saw in Europe. Although the play is now given in the Black Hills of South Dakota in a natural amphitheater, it was originally presented in Luenen, Germany, until 1932. Josef Meier, producer of the passion play, is bringing it to Wichita in November, and it is in preparation for the play that Miss Allbritten is discussing it at the YWCA meeting.

Refreshments will be served afterwards. Vivian Graber is in charge of the musical entertainment and Elaine Lupton has charge of devotions. JoAnn Friend is chairman of the general planning committee, Miss Bates said.

Ty Cobb, during his career in baseball, was at bat 11,429 times, to set a major league record.

BULLETIN

A special reduced season ticket rate for wives or husbands of married University students has won approval of the Board of Regents, President Harry F. Corbin announced Wednesday evening.

Married students who wish the special rate for the remaining four home football games must present a 2"x2" photograph of their spouse for certification in the Registrar's office.

Then a season ticket good for the four games may be purchased for $2.50 at the business office. Both the ticket and the photograph must be presented at the gate for admission. The reduced price is applicable only to the season ticket. Purchase of this ticket will permit the couple to sit in the student cheering section.

Leadership Theme Of YM, YW Meet

The student leadership class at the University of Portland, a requirement for many administrative posts in the student council, is once again being offered. The course includes a study of parliamentary law and the principles of leadership.

Contents of the course are separated into three divisions. They are: Stimulate People to Right Action, Strengthen and Increase Your Prestige, and Making a Personal Analysis.

Club president, Audrey Blume, will be in charge.

Folk and Square Dance Club meets regularly from 7 to 8:30 p.m. on Tuesday in the Women's Gym. Instruction in folk and square dances is under the supervision of club sponsor, Miss Yuriko Onoda, instructor in women's physical education.

Guest Editorial

By Jack Campbell C'51

One of the really big problems on this campus for as long as I can remember is the spirit of the students.

Having been away from the University since May, I have heard a lot of loyal Wichitans' opinions on the subject.

To get quickly to the point, some Wichita team will have to come to the University's rescue and win some games, enough games to take some kind of a championship.

Real college spirit is derived from a pride and confidence in your school's team. If a student really feels sincerely that his team is capable of backing up his claims and brags, that student is naturally going to be enthusiastic.

Take Minnesota for example. The Gophers don't have much of a football team this year and they haven't had for the past few seasons. But still 60,000 and 70,000 fans turn out for every home game.

In other words, if your team can win a championship in something now and then, the spirit of the school and students will hold over.

Why then, does Wichita have no spirit? You can't generate spirit on nothing. I mean by that, that you can't begin any spirit or sustain any enthusiasm for your school or team unless you occasionally win a championship or have a great year in some sport.

In the football series with Tulsa and Oklahoma A and M for instance, Wichita has beaten Tulsa only once in 10 tries and it has whipped the Aggies only once in 12 tries.

With this in mind, how can the students get very excited about beating Bradley or Utah State or anyone else on our football schedule? It wouldn't be such a problem if we could consistently give these Oklahoma teams a close game.

The reason that Kansas University and Kansas State completely outclass Wichita as far as spirit is concerned is because of that confidence they derived from winning seasons during the recent past.

Kansas State has little to be proud of in football, but the Wildcats can point to a Big 6 championship in 1934. K-State has plenty of spirit despite its miserable football record of late, because their rooters are confident that the school will achieve glory before the school year is over, in basketball.

As far as a solution is concerned, it is easy to state but a little difficult to carry out. If you want spirit and enthusiastic backing for your team you've got to deliver a winner in some sport.

A much better solution may be just around the corner. Coach Ralph Miller looks like he may have a basketball powerhouse this year, capable of beating any team on the schedule.

I would be willing to make this guarantee. If any team representing Wichita can really and truly convince its fans that it is capable of beating any team on the schedule, then win or lose, enthusiasm and spirit will prevail.

4-Man Color Guard To March At Games

A four-man color guard, composed of two members of the Arnold Air Society, and two members of Pershing Rifles, will march at each home football game this season, according to Maj. Herbert Hartman, professor of Air Science and Tactics.

Lehman Wins Council Post

Nancy Lehman was elected secretary of the senior class by a 52-49 count in a special election held Friday in conjunction with the Homecoming election.

Talks

6 Book Reviews Will Be Given By UW Group

Six community book reviews will be given by the University of Wichita Extension Division, beginning Oct. 25. The reviews will include dramas, musical comedies, and books chosen from the best-seller lists.

Oct. 25 a monodrama, "Interrupted Melody" by Marjorie Lawrence will be presented by Mrs. Hazlitt B. Marts and Mrs. Paul Lago. "The High Calling" by James Street will be reviewed by Mrs. Nell Allison on Nov. 12.

A current Broadway play will be reviewed on Jan. 12 by Alice Campbell Wrigley. Mrs. Wrigley will also present a brief resume of this year's drama season in New York. Herbert H. Duenow will present his March review selection chosen from the best-seller lists on Feb. 26.

March 26, Ruth Maxine McCormick and Myrth McLaugh Culp will select a currently popular musical comedy for their presentation. "The Ides of March" by Thornton Wilder will be presented April 17 by Mary Haymaker.

The reviews of the literary works will be presented in the University Auditorium with musical selections by the School of Music students.

Single admission will be 75 cents. Season tickets will sell for $2. Season tickets can be obtained by contacting the Women's Aeronautical Association or the University of Wichita Extension Division.

Librarian Staff Attends Meeting

Members of the University Library staff attended the annual meeting of the Kansas Librarian Association last week in Hutchinson, according to Prof. Downing P. O'Harra, librarian.

Representing the University Library were: Miss Josephine Cowles, library cataloguer, Miss Marjorie Barr, serials librarian, Miss Clara Francis Rumpf, clerical assistant, Miss Helen Ferrell, reserve desk assistant, and Professor O'Harra.

The Kansas Librarian Association meeting was held in Hutchinson's new library building.

Both school and public libraries throughout the state were represented. The theme, "Our American Heritage," was touched upon by various speakers at the Friday night session, Professor O'Harra said.

Parking Is Problem On U of W Campus

"Parking is our major problem on the campus," stated John W. Gaddis, superintendent of buildings and grounds, recently.

City police patrol the campus streets every day and write out an average of twenty to thirty violation tickets, he pointed out.

"Double parking is the greatest offense. It not only slows down traffic but endangers others' cars," Mr. Gaddis said.

Cliff's Column

By Clifford Kraus

Highlights of the American Collegiate Press convention in Pittsburgh—Hotel William Penn and Pittsburgh were gracious hosts to more than 500 delegates to the ACP conclave last week.

Not only were there first class accommodations for everyone present but also plenty of outside entertainment to suit every taste. Friday night following the banquet, delegates heard Marquis Childs, author of the "Washington Calling" column.

Mr. Childs said Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was a definite contender for the Republican presidential nominee in 1952. Speaking of President Truman's possibility of running again, Mr. Childs said it would depend upon whether or not General Eisenhower got the GOP nomination.

The top attraction in the Steel City during our stay was the Notre Dame-Pitt football game Saturday afternoon.

According to sports writers, neither team was at its peak yet 60,127 spectators were on hand. This is a fair indication that Notre Dame always was and always will be a good drawing card. Pitt has yet to pick up its first win of the season.

Incidentally, if you ever anticipate seeing a game at Pitt Stadium we suggest that you be ready for a bit of mountain climbing.

The Stadium is built on a hill and a high hill at that. From our seats we couldn't even see the University's main building—the Cathedral of Learning. The Cathedral is 42 stories high.

Among other things to see in Pittsburgh last week were a Concert in Jazz featuring Duke Ellington, King Cole, and Sarah Vaughn; Veronica Lake in "Peter Pan"; the Italian Fair at Kaufman's Department Store; and Carnegie Museum.

Pittsburgh and the outlying district are fine examples of what has made America great. At present three skyscrapers are going up downtown. Outside the city, steel mills are busy day and night keeping up with the mighty industrial and defense program which is going on in this country today.

Since several Shocker athletes and other students come from the Pittsburgh area, your truly had the additional job of "Good Will Ambassador." Included among the Shocker mothers we talked to were those of Joe Kusha, George and Elias Thomas, Norb Moran, Bob Messenger, and Mike Hryniewicz. Mrs. Thomas was busy preparing for her trip to Wichita this week where she will see her sons in action against Tulsa. If their play will match her enthusiasm, then the Golden Hurricane could be in for a rough time.

The trip also gave us a chance to visit with Lou Brown, a former music education major here from McKeesport. Lou is now attending Pitt and majoring in business.

Getting back to the convention itself, it was a success as usual. The business sessions were informative and were geared to meet the needs of everyone. If you didn't come back with at least one good idea it wasn't the fault of the convention directors. Our general conclusion was that we aren't the only college editor with problems.

Can you imagine getting out a four-page paper every week in a school of only 160 enrollment? That's exactly what one editor of a small girl's school newspaper in Pennsylvania is doing.

Another girl's school editor had a problem of posing the hockey team in order to get variety in pictures. She got plenty of advice from male editors from northern schools but none of them knew she was referring to field hockey.

George Smith, class of '26, stood at the foot of the hill and looked upward in gleeful anticipation. Today was the day he had looked forward to for years. He was about to attend his first Homecoming celebration since graduation.

He felt young. The years seemed to melt off as his thoughts turned backward to his school days and his boyish pranks, such as the time he had set fire to his dean, and to the women he had known.

There was Lillith with the golden eyes. How that girl could crochet, he thought. And of course he couldn't forget Miriam. She had been the most popular girl in the class, shy, sweet, and completely loveable. How that woman had changed since he married her, he reflected.

Returning to his surroundings he started up the long steep hill with an anticipatory grin. It was good to be back. A few minutes later he was sure that the hill had been made at least twice as long as it had been. By the time he got to the top he was aware as he never had been before, of the extra thirty pounds he had picked up over the years.

He was met at the top by an officious gent who he vaguely remembered as the class dope who took him in tow.

In the next two hours, he climbed 2,323 steps, inspected 41 buildings, greeted and was greeted by several hundred people and found himself thoroughly exhausted.

At the Dean's tea, he spilled his, was bitten by a large Saint Bernard, and had his ear numbed by a large lady graduate who was convinced he was a famous African explorer.

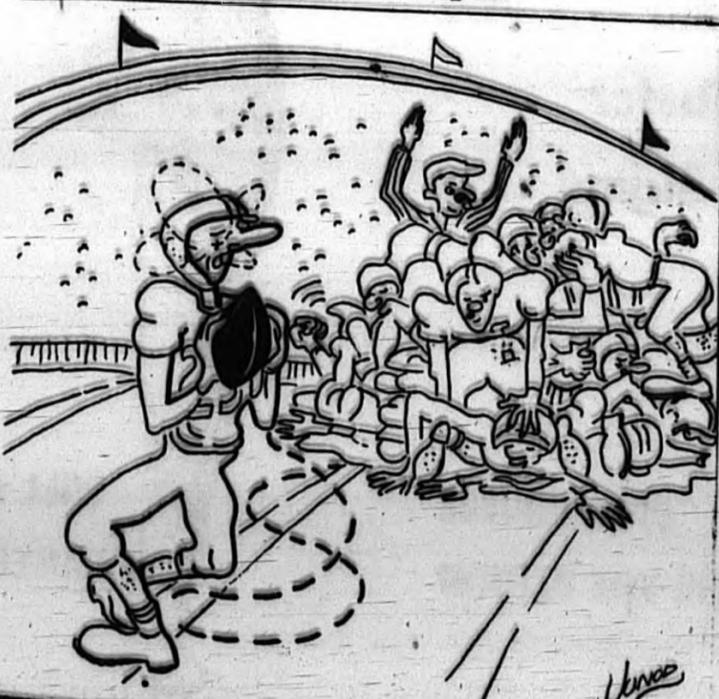

He sat on the goal line in the last row, at the game, and saw nothing but a back in front of him, and once, a small section of the referee. His old school team lost, 110-0 and his only pair of bifocal glasses were stepped on by an excited fan.

After he attended a fraternity reception at the wrong house, by mistake, he decided to go home.

Puffing his way down the hill, bent and weary, George wondered if it was possible that he had gone through such punishment in his school days and enjoyed it.

An hour later, he was comfortably seated by the fire, telling his wife all about his wonderful day and how much he had enjoyed it. "Can't wait till next year," he informed her.

Western Garb Is UW Style

University students were asked by Doran Oneale, pep coordinator, to wear Western-type clothes to class Friday, in keeping with the Homecoming celebration this weekend. In addition, Oneale today released the words to the new pep song to be introduced at the convocation tomorrow morning and at the bonfire tomorrow night. It is to be sung to the tune: "Fairmount Will Shine Tonight." The words are:

First verse:
Roll on old W. U.
Go down the field,
Fight for the Black and Gold—
We'll never yield!

Second verse:
Fight on you Shocker lads,
Roll up the score,
For Wichita, our Varsity,
Stand up and roar!
Rah!

Play By Moliere Cast This Week

The story of a clever son who outwits his miserly father and wins the hand of the girl they both want in marriage is the plot of the next University drama production.

Casting for the play, "The Miser," by the French dramatist, Moliere, began yesterday, Mrs. Mary Jane Woodard, assistant professor of speech and drama, announced this week.

Tryouts for the comedy are being held in the Commons Lounge today and tomorrow at 3 p.m. Mrs. Woodard, the play's director, will be in charge.

Any students who are interested in drama may try out, Mrs. Woodard stated. Previous experience or courses in speech or drama are not necessary, she added.

"The play is a broad comedy with a variety of parts—character roles, lovers, and three extremely thin servant girls," Mrs. Woodard said.

Anyone who cannot make the regular tryout time may see Mrs. Woodard in the drama office and arrange for a special tryout.

U of W Convo Friday At 10:50

A 25 minute pre-Homecoming pep convocation will be held tomorrow morning at 10:50.

The features of the convocation include a short speech by football coach Bob Carlson, introduction of several new yells by Doran Oneale, pep coordinator, and a skit by Wheaties, women's pep club. The skit was written by Jack Campbell, 1951 graduate of the University.

The winner of the Red Feather "Ugly Man" contest, whose name has been kept secret, will also be presented, Russell Watson, chairman of the campus Red Feather drive, revealed Monday.

N. W. Edwards, chairman of the convocation committee, said that 8, 9 and 10 a. m. classes will meet as scheduled, with the convocation set for 10:50. 11 a. m. classes will meet from 11:25 until 12:15 p. m.; noon classes from 12:20 to 1 p. m.; 1 p. m. classes from 1:05 until 1:50. Regular schedules will be resumed at 2 p. m.

'Industrious Young Man' Gave Grads Shot Of College Life' In '30 Event

By D. R. Stewart

"WANTED — Industrious young man to take charge of an alumni bon-fire to celebrate Homecoming and give the old grads a shot of college life again."

This advertisement appeared in The Sunflower, October 29, 1930, as plans were being made for the University Homecoming that year. Before and since then, alumni have been greeted by cowboys, gypsies, and students in Hallowe'en regalia.

Again it is Homecoming time, so let's go back, by the magic carpet of Sunflower files, and see what was done to celebrate in the past.

Apparently the young man advertised for in 1930 was found, for the celebration featured a parade down Douglas Avenue, and at the bonfire that night awards were made for the best floats in the parade. Attending alumni were invited to inspect the then-new Science Hall and Administration Building. An award was made to the alumnae who traveled the farthest to attend Homecoming that year.

Ten years ago, in 1941, Homecoming went western, with a "Roundup" as the theme, complete with western clothes, and pioneer-style beards. Friday night of Homecoming week was Hallowe'en, and after the bonfire and pep rally, students held a weiner roast. Food tickets were good for two buns and weiners, an apple, candy bar, and a sack of potato chips.

Another Hallowe'en Homecoming was back in 1931, and the dance was held in an appropriate atmosphere. "Gypsies" inhabited the campus and gaily dressed beggars, chiefs, and dancers capered alongside floats in the downtown parade. The queen, who was a brunette, had the assistance of a king to rule over the proceedings.

Although the history of Homecoming celebrations that were known by that name goes back only to 1922, University students and graduates from 1914 to 1922 regarded the Thanksgiving Day football game as the Homecoming celebration.

The first homecoming that was truly a Homecoming was in 1922. After the pep rally freshmen threw their green caps and hair ribbons into the bonfire as the class roll was called. Wood for the fire was piled 15 feet high, and the heap was topped by a pole with "Fairmount" at the top in large letters.

The celebration moved from downtown to the University campus for the first time in 1925. The football game, previously played at Island Park, which was removed in a flood prevention measure in the 1930's, was also moved to the school athletic field for the first time.

A woman student was usually honored at early celebrations but not until 1929 was she given the title of "Homecoming Queen."

Football, especially in the early Homecomings, was the main feature of the day. At first the opposing team was usually Friends University, and the cross-town rivalry drew alumni and students alike to pep rallies, bonfires, and yearly effigy-burning as well as parades, dances and games.

Football is the main attraction of Homecoming, but the traditional dance, fraternity and sorority house decorations, pep rally and bonfire, and various yearly themes have added their parts to the picture that is Homecoming, 1951 style.

Contrary to rumors that are circulating on the campus, Parnassus picture appointments can still be made from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. in the Commons Lounge. The cost of the picture is $1 a student.

Joan Kallall, Parnassus editor, requested this week that all clubs not listed in the University catalog call at the Parnassus office in Room 118, Communications Building, for a picture appointment.

KMUW To Air Spot Interviews

"Week In Review," featuring on-the-spot interviews by members of the KMUW news staff, will take to the air this Friday at 3:05 p.m. The program will be under the direction of Morris Reichley, KMUW staff member. The program will present a summary of the preceding week's news events throught the local area.

Gemar, Program Director of KMUW, also announced that the station will carry the annual intra-squad basketball game Friday evening. Air time will be 7:55 p.m. Saturday KMUW will feature the Tulsa-Wichita homecoming game. Air time for this event will be 7:45 p.m.

U of W Co-ed Receives Award

Patricia Terrill, a sophomore in the College of Education, has received a scholarship from the Southern California Chapter of the Alumni Association of the University.

According to Miss Beulah Mullen, executive secretary of the alumni association, this is the second year that the scholarship has been given by the chapter. Miss Terrill has been the recipient of the award for both years. The scholarship is $200.

Miss Terrill was chosen from all students by a scholarship committee at the University on the basis of her scholastic ability. Dr. Hugo Wall, head of the political science department, is chairman of the committee.

SPORTSCLOCK ALARM of the week and one reporter's opinion in an open letter to Commissioner A. E. Eilers of the Missouri Valley Conference . . .

Dear Mr. Eilers,

How long will the statement, "We play hard to win and make a good showing," be used as an excuse to cover up unsportsmanlike conduct and vicious illegal tactics by football teams?

The Johnny Bright incident is the first to be wholeheartedly exhibited before the public, but NOT the first of its kind. In 1949, Wichita end Wes Hodre was carried off the field and to a hospital with a brain concussion after a game played at Stillwater. Nothing was said about the incident because everyone thought the Aggies played hard to win against any team.

In 1950 and 1951, Wichita back Herb Edington was also given the "Play hard to win" treatment and again no publicity was made of the fact except for calling some of the tackles "pretty hard." Some Shocker players have stated that Bright was not the only player A and M was "out to get."

It is a strange coincidence that all three players—Bright, Hodge and Edington—are negroes, but this, as we have said, may be just a coincidence. Bright has been the only player of the three to issue a statement against these tactics.

What, Mr. Eilers, is the true story behind these occurrences? There are numerous investigations going on thru-out the country to weed out wrongs in politics and in sports; so if there has been dirt in these A and M incidents, now is the time to shock an already numb public.

The sportseyes of the American public are on the Missouri Valley waiting for an answer. If one can be found, let's have it before some player is really hurt.

Sincerely yours,
Al Alvarez

AROUND THE CLOCK running backwards with quarter-backs Dick Sanders and Gene Kuhns. Sanders has gained 40 yards and lost 73 in 20 carries for a net gain of -27. Kuhns has picked up no yardage in two carries but lost seven yards for a net gain of -7 . . . The CLOCK'S pick for player to watch in Saturday's game, is Wichita's Jess Brooks. A lineman, Brooks tackles fast and hard and is sure to give Tulsa's ground gainers a lot of trouble . . . George "Chico" Thomas and his brother Elias will have a very interested observer in the crowd when their mother visits Veterans Field to watch the two play against the Golden Hurricane on Saturday night . . . Former Shocker player Mike Hrynewich says the big reason for Arkansas' upset over Texas, was "spirit". Hrynewich, who with Norb Moranz saw the game, stated, "The crowd was yelling so hard at times, that some of the members of the Arkansas team had to raise their hands for a little silence so that they could hear the signals being called."

team, originally hails from Tecumseh, Neb., but prefers to have his hometown listed as Glendale, Calif., because much of his hoop career has been spent on the Coast . . .

SPORTSCLOCK ROUNDUP . . . Understatement of the year was made by SMU football coach Rusty Russell, when he said that the Mustangs were out of their class in playing Notre Dame. "Frank Leahy," said Russell, "didn't even have to make the trip to scout us. I don't see how we can win with such fantastic odds against us." The Mustangs went on to win over Notre Dame in one of the greatest upsets of 1951 . . .

An upset over Tulsa is not "impossible". No one gave the Giants a chance back in September, and neither did the so-called experts figure that Jersey Joe Walcott would upset Ezzard Charles, or that Randy Turpin would beat Ray Robinson. The Philadelphia Athletics upset the dopecart by knocking the Boston Red Sox and the Cleveland Indians out of the pennant race, and the University of Southern California upset the top team in the nation, California, Arkansas over Texas, Indiana over Ohio State, and other major upsets of 1951, show that it can happen. Spirit was the key in these upsets, maybe it can be the key to Shocker hopes on Saturday night.

2 Veterans Of '49 Win Over Tulsa Recall Spirit Of Wheatshocker Squad

By RALPH VAUTRAVERS

When Wichita meets Tulsa at Veterans field Saturday night, Shocker seniors J. D. Edmiston and Eddie Zegler will be playing for the third time in this traditional rivalry. They both had the thrill of helping defeat the Golden Hurricane, 27-21, in 1949. They also remember the crushing power the Tulsans displayed in their 48-0 victory of the Shockers at Skelly Field last year.

Zegler, 165 pound veteran guard, was busy getting ready for practice Monday afternoon when this interview took place. When asked about the thrill of playing on the only team that ever defeated Tulsa, Zegler looked up from the job of taping his wrist and replied, "The biggest thrill in any game I have ever played was when end Tommy Allen caught a pass from Eddie Kriwiel on the 5-yard line and dragged a Tulsa tackler with him across the goal line. That put us ahead 27-21, with only three minutes to play."

"We went to Tulsa two years ago with a determined spirit to win. We were really fired up over that game, and the outcome didn't surprise me very much."

"Last year Tulsa had a much better team in my opinion than the one we defeated two years ago," Zegler continued. "They had a lot more depth, and a bigger and faster charging line. They also had more spirit than the team we played the year before."

In a comment about the Shockers' hopes this year, the husky line-backer said, "This year we're a little greener and we lack the experience of two years ago, but we have a lot of spirit and we're going to try and win."

About that time, 210 pound center, J. D. Edmiston, appeared for practice. His first comment was, "I was only a sophomore, but I think I played the best game of my college career against Tulsa two years ago."

"We knew Tulsa had a great team, but we had the feeling we were going to beat them before we ever went on the field. There were only 27 of us on team that year, and we had a lot of fire and enthusiasm about us," Edmiston went on to say. "What I remember most about that game," the big center continued, "was that Jimmy Ne caught three touchdowns played through by Eddie Kriwiel, on the same type of play. See, will the same play work for touchdown more than once in any game. But it did then."

"Last year Tulsa worked as a unit and they had more spirit than the year before. I just couldn't do anything when they beat us 48-0."

"Our team is a lot younger than the one which beat the hurricane, but we have just as much spirit. We're going to try to win this one, and if we do, school is going to have the best walk-out it has ever had," Edmiston concluded.

Staffs Return From Convention

Consideration of editorial ethics, new type faces for headlines, and extra wide columns on the editorial page were but a few of the ideas brought back by student staff members of The Sunflower and Parnassus at the annual convention of the Associated Collegiate Press, held this year at Pittsburgh, Pa.

More than 500 delegates from colleges and universities throughout the country attended the three-day meeting, Oct. 18, 19, and 20.

Editors and business managers of student newspapers and yearbooks, together with faculty sponsors, joined in a series of round table discussions, panel meetings, and general sessions to evaluate new concepts and review established techniques dealing with publication problems, journalism ethics, and editorial policies.

The convention in Pittsburgh was sub-divided into numerous sections, enabling college delegations to divide forces and attend a number of sessions simultaneously and in keeping with special interests.

The Wichita delegation consisted of Clifford Kraus, Sunflower editor-in-chief; Bob Malone, Sunflower business manager; Joan Kallal; Parnassus editor-in-chief; and Paul F. Gerhard, assistant professor of journalism and faculty sponsor of the two student publications.

England Is Second Home To Librarian Who Has Made 6 Trips Across Ocean

By Virginia Stafford

England is the second home of one of the University staff members. Miss Florence Hildebrandt, assistant librarian, has been to that country six times. It was home base to her during the 19 months that she served as a staff sergeant in the Women's Army Corps.

When a child, Miss Hildebrandt lived on the northern end of Staten Island overlooking New York harbor. Her grandfather's big white house stood at the southern tip of the island and the child would sit on his porch and watch the ships come and go through the Narrows. The small girl dreamed that someday she would be a passenger on a ship sailing eastward.

In the summer of 1930, Miss Hildebrandt visited Europe. Again in 1932, 1935 and 1937, she made the journey across the sea. Each trip she would add different countries to her itinerary, but she never missed stopping in England.

It was on her first trip to Italy that Miss Hildebrandt became interested in the history of art. Upon her return home, she resigned from her position as school teacher and secured a position in the art reference department of the Boston Athenaeum Library.

In 1943 she joined the WACS and was sent overseas. She was attached to the Adjutant General Public Library in the communication zone in Europe.

"My horizon was broadened and I developed more understanding of the others because of my service in the WACS," Miss Hildebrandt said.

Upon her return from service, she attended the University of Illinois where she received the bachelor of science degree in library work. At the university she became acquainted with Paul Bartolini, a fellow student. Mr. Bartolini later became assistant librarian at this university. Through him Miss Hildebrandt secured the job of circulation librarian.

In 1950 she became assistant librarian, the first woman to hold that position. It was in the summer of the same year that she again made a trip to Europe and England.

Miss Hildebrandt crossed the ocean on the Ile De France, the same vessel that she had traveled on six years before when it was a troop ship. During her visit she stayed in Cheltenham in England where she was stationed during the last war.

The assistant librarian has her Sundays off but she takes a busman's holiday and spends Sunday afternoon in the library helping students find assignments that have been meted out by professors. When Miss Hildebrandt was questioned about her plans for next summer, she said with a smile, "I plan to go to England—again."

Solution Found For Vandalism On 3 Campuses

Colgate, Cornell and Syracuse universities seem to be making a genuine effort to keep out of each other's hair.

The president of their respective student governments met this week to discuss means of preventing students from committing acts of vandalism on rival campuses.

The move was prompted by recent episodes on the Syracuse and Cornell campuses. At Syracuse two weeks ago a statue situated prominently on campus was painted red and labelled "Cornell." This was in violation of last year's anti-vandalism pact which included provisions aimed against "the defacing of property."

Syracuse has been troubled with local vandalism too. Last spring 34 students were jailed following a grandiose water fight at one of the main campus intersections.

At that time Dean of Men Frank Piskor declared, "Any student who confuses the line between fun and destruction of the public property of his fellow citizens has no place on college campuses."

At Ohio State University it doesn't pay to cheat. Minimum punishment is failure of the course and an added five hours on requirements for graduation.

Shockers Seek Second Loop Win

Tulsa Owns Big Edge In Past 10 Meetings

The Golden Hurricanes of Tulsa University will invade Veterans Field Saturday at 8 p.m. for their eleventh meeting with the University of Wichita Shockers in the last 23 years.

This series, which began in 1928, has seen the Oklahomans capture eight wins, while losing one and tying another. Wichita's only victory, 27-21, came in 1949 at Skelly Field in Tulsa. In 1950, the Shockers were humbled by a 48-0 score.

Coach Buddy Brothers' Sooner State team has won three and lost one this year, and has a 1-0 record in Missouri Valley Conference play. They beat the University of Hawaii, 58-0, in their season's opener, lost to Cincinnati, 47-35, and then upended Valley rival Houston, 46-27, and Marquette last Saturday, 27-21.

The Shockers will be playing their third Conference game and their fifth contest of the season. They are 1-1 in Valley standings, having beaten Bradley, 15-6, and lost to Oklahoma A and M, 43-0. In non-league play, Bob Carlson's squad has lost to Miami of Ohio, 21-13, and to Utah State, 21-7.

Five members of the 1950 Missouri Valley All-Star team—Right halfback J. C. Roberts, Quarterback Ron Morris, Center Jim Beasley, Fullback Jack Crocker, and Left tackle Jim Prewett, will be among the 23 returning Hurricane letter-men. Roberts, the nation's tenth leading ground gainer in 1950 with a total of 954 yards, scored three touchdowns against Wichita last year. Other returning scorers for Tulsa in last season's drubbing are: John Pawloski, Willie Roberts, and Jack Egan.

The five Shocker All-star players for last season—Aggie Oleksak, Bob Harclerode, Jim Nutter, Ed Kriwiel and Wayne Ubben, will not be among the players Saturday.

Tulsa, rated 19th in the nation by the Associated Press last year, has continued to dominate the scoring columns in Valley play this season. They have played four games so far, and averaged 42 points per game. In this quartet of contests, the Hurricanes have a total of 1,847 yards gained both on the ground and in the air, for an average of 462 yards gained per game.

On the other hand, Wichita has gained a total of 903 yards in four games for an average of 225 yards per game or one-half the total yards Tulsa has run up. The Shockers have scored an average of nine points for each encounter.

Defensive statistics show that the Muniies have held opposing teams to a total of 873 yards gained for four games; while the Tulsans' opposition have gained a total of 1,127 against the Hurricane. In points scored per game, the Shockers hold a lead of 24 to 23 for Tulsa opponents.

Quarterback Morris is second in the Valley in percentage (57) for pass completions. He has hit 27 out of 47 tries for a net gain of 338 yards. Leading passer for the Shockers is Dick Sanders, who has completed 18 of 40 pass attempts for 141 yards, or an average of 45 per cent.

Top ground gainers for the Hurricane are fullbacks Jack Crocker and Howard Waugh. The former has 305 yards gained in 36 carries for an average of 8.2 yards per carry; and Waugh has lugged the ball 56 times and gained 406 yards for an average of 7.2 yards per carry.

Ray Coleman heads the Black and Gold ground gainers with a total of 201 yards gained in 48 carries, an average of 4.5 yards per carry.

Morris, voted "Missouri Valley Sophomore of 1950" is fourth in the Conference in points scored with 30. Only John Bright of Drake, Dean Seaman of Oklahoma A and M, and Gene Shannon of Houston have outscored the Hurricane Junior. Shocker Fullback Eil Romero has scored 12 points to lead the Muniies.

Coach Brothers will be seeking his fourth win over the Shockers, while freshman mentor Carlson will be looking for his first over Tulsa.

Wheatshockers Were 'Rough 'n Ready' In The Days of Fairmount University

By Virginia Stafford

Things were not cheery many, many years ago the Fairmount Wheatshockers, as plans were made the homecoming game against Ottawa.

According to old newspaper records, Harold Reynolds, right end, will not be able to play because of four broken ribs obtained in the Southwestern game the preceding week. "Leon Eckles is disqualified because he is down in his studies. He can't play until he gets back into the good graces of the faculty."

Brains as well as brawn, eh?

Once upon a time an enemy was captured in the Fairmount fold. He was Phillip McMullen, student from Southwestern College in Winfield. He was caught registering as a freshman at Fairmount.

After his capture, the prisoner was forced to play and sing at Chapel and was then pushed down Douglas Avenue in a cage.

Retaliation followed. Four Fairmounters were picked off the streets of Wichita that night by Southwestern students.

The next night at Mulvane the exchange of prisoners was accomplished. A faculty member from each school witnessed the transfer.

Lopsided deal wasn't it? Another overbalanced affair oc-cured on Dec. 1, 1916. According to a written account the day before, "a mighty football from Friends University, posed for a state championship, in green, savage eleven from mount College."

The score was tied, 6-6. In closing seconds of play Wheatshockers made a kick from the 23-yard line, won, 9 to 6.

That night 14 Fairmounters caught by Quakers on the Fairmount campus, laden buckets of paste and sheave posters. The Fairmounters' faces were tied and their faces spattered by the Quakers. Quakers were captured in return.

The presidents of the schools entered the fray and armistice was hurriedly signed.

That's the way it was back the good old days.

Ralph Miller Offers Preview of Cagers Tomorrow Night

There are only 40 more days before local fans will be able to see the University's 1951 basketball team in regular season play, but the curtain will be up tomorrow night in a preview of what Shocker rosters will see in the first home game against Baylor on Dec. 14.

The intra-squad game, scheduled as a part of homecoming celebrations, will be played in the Union Gym immediately after the bonfire events.

Coach Ralph Miller's courtmen will have only two returning terms—John Friedersdorf and Hank Hemingway—from last season's fifth place Missouri Valley league. Seven members of the 20 freshmen squad will also be on hand along with 13 new-ners.

"For the most part," said Miller, "it will be a contest between the freshmen and upperclassmen. There will be a great deal of fast breaking and pressing maneuvers in the game, maneuvers which some of the players will be learning for the first time."

Miller explained that the separation of the squad into two teams did not signify classification as to the value of the players. Although there are exceptions such as two freshmen on the upperclassmen team and one senior on the freshman squad, he indicated that these were "just exceptions."

"Right at the present moment," Miller stated, "we are suffering from a lack of height and experience. More than half the squad will be new to college basketball and it will take a little while before they become accustomed to playing together."

Hemingway may not be able to play in the game because of injuries to both ankles, but the remaining 23 members of the squad are free of any major hurts, according to Coach Miller.

"We've been practicing for the last 27 days, and most of the boys are in good shape. The fans will see the results of the 27-day practice tomorrow night, he concluded.

Phi Sigs Win Football Title

The Phi Sig "B" football eleven gained a forfeit win over the RR's on Tuesday afternoon to clinch the intramural gridiron championship of 1951. It was the unbeaten and untied "B's" seventh consecutive victory this year.

Jerry Carlson headed the champions' scoring for the season with 36 points gained on six touchdowns. Second in points tallied was Pat Quinn with 18 on three TDs, followed in third place by Bob McGrath with 16 points on two counters and four points after touchdowns.

Other "B" team top scorers were Bob Young with 13 points, and Dick Linn and Ron Hatfield with 12 each.

The 12-man fraternity team swept over Phi Sig "A", 13-0; Webster "B", 7-6; Webster "A", 31-6; Pi Alpha Pi, 53-0; Alpha Gamma "A", 26-0; and the Alpha Gamma "B" team and RR by forfeits, in their championship sweep. They scored a total of 132 points in seven games while holding the opposition to only 12 points.

Other members of the winners were: Crawford Barber, Bob Hervey, Jerry Jonas, Jerry Maxwell, Jerry Lansdowne, and Charles Nelson.

In last week's play, the Phi Sig "B's" clinched at least a tie by whitewashing the Alpha Gamma "A" team, 26-0. Scoring in every quarter, they went on to win on touchdowns by Linn, Carlson, Hatfield and Hervey.

The Webster "B" team shutout RR, 20-0, in the only other game played last week.

Phi Sig "A" clinched second place in the league standings by winning over Webster "B" on Tuesday, 14-13.

Intramural football for the season will end today.

Civic Clubs Plan Statue Unveiling

The 65th anniversary of the Statue of Liberty, marking the date when France presented the statue to the United States, will be the occasion for a ceremonial presentation Sunday, at the Wichita East High School campus.

Wichita will have a permanent replica of Bartholdi's famous statue as a permanent reminder of the international goodwill it represents, according to information released by Robert Langenwaller, head of the United Nations Committee of Wichita.

This statue is being presented to the city of Wichita and the surrounding area by the Wichita Bar Association, and will be unveiled by city, United Nations and Bar Association officials at 2:30 p. m., Sunday.

Former citizens of foreign countries, wearing their native dress, will take part in the presentation ceremony. The public is invited to attend.

The statue, which will be illuminated at night, will be located on the extreme west end of the East High School campus.

Varsity Rifle Team Begins '51 Practice

The Shocker varsity rifle team, coached by Lieut. Joseph E. Byler, and M/Sgt. John C. Woods, began target practice Monday, in the ROTC rifle range, according to Col. Robin Montgomery, head of the ROTC infantry unit here.

The squad's schedule for the 1951 competitive season will be announced later.

Graduate Student From Iran Studies Bacteriology At UW

By RALPH VAUTRAVERS

Ali Mohit, a native of Tehran, Iran, is currently enrolled at the University, and is working on his masters degree in medical bacteriology.

Mohit was graduated from McPherson College, McPherson, Kansas, last spring with a Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry.

"I came to America to become acquainted with the culture of the people, and get a thorough medical education. My ambition is to go back to Iran and practice medicine," Mohit said in an interview Monday.

Mohit completed grade and high school in Tehran and went to the University of Iran for one year. He came to the United States upon the recommendation of an American Presbyterian Missionary in Iran. He enrolled at McPherson College in 1949.

"I chose the University of Wichita to complete my masters degree because I think they have a good bacteriology department, and also, the facilities for finding work in Wichita are good," Mohit said.

When asked about his experiences in this country, Mohit recalled his most precious memory, a trip to Washington, D. C., in November, 1949, to see King "Shah" of Iran.

"We think it is a great privilege to be able to meet the King, a privileged few people of Iran ever have," Mohit explained. "I was one of the first persons to meet with the King on his arrival in this country. I also attended the reception held in his honor, given by the Mayor of Washington."

In a discussion about the educational systems of the two countries, Mohit said: "I think the United States has developed the best system of education in the world. In Iran education is close to the English system, little lab work and no practice, all you get you read from books. Here everything you read in books, you go to the lab and put it into practice, and actually, practice makes perfect.

"I think the University of Iran is the outstanding school of the Middle East. Almost all teachers have degrees from European Universities, and a few have degrees from United States schools. We have over 12,000 students, and 2,000 graduate from the University of Iran each year."

Articles on the history and problems of Iran will be written by Mohit, and will appear in later issues of The Sunflower.

Stearns Prepares Creative Costumes For Production Of 'The Magic Flute'

The problem of what the well-dressed spirit wearing this season was answered this week by J. Stearns, technical director for the drama department.

The costumes designed by Stearns for the opera, "The Magic Flute", strive to capture the fantasy and unreal quality of the allegorical characters who represent the forces of good and evil. The forces of good, represented by Sorastro, High Priest of the Sun, and his retinue, are arrayed in pale muted pink, peach, and dawn-like colors. Similarly the wicked Queen of Night and her followers wear dark, soft, cloud-like blues in filmy net and crepe materials.

The opera, written by Wolfgang Mozart, will be presented by the University Opera Workshop, November 8, 9, 10. The plot is based on the struggle between the Queen of Night and Sorastro over the Queen's daughter, Pamina. The simple story is enlivened by the addition of every form of spirit and magical device.

The lines of the costumes are essentially Grecian, for the opera was written in the 18th century, a period of classical revival of music. Garlands of flowers and silver gold laurel leaves cover the draped garments. For the Queen of Night Stearns designed a mask and head-dress of silver with sparkling, silver strung on wires which seem to shoot from her head. The spirits are dressed in pink drapery which falls from the shoulder and silver bodices resembling armor. Silver helmets cover their heads.

"I have tried to capture the lyrical, graceful quality of Mozart's music in the drapery tones," explained Stearns.

Not only the costumes, but sets also are keyed to the usual mood of the opera. background will be entirely ranging from a light blue through the medium shades to an intense dark blue on the opposite of the stage.

The performance will be on different stage levels which will substitute for actual scene changes.

The sets are being built under the direction of Eugene Spang, assistant professor of speech, assisting Stearns with costumes Mary Jabara and Martha Rea.
