Inductees Will Serve 2 Years Active Duty

Provisions of the Universal Military Training Act were explained this week by Dr. L. Hekhuis, dean of the College of Liberal Arts. Although the Act has not been passed Dr. Hekhuis believes these provisions will be of interest to all of those concerned.

The Act is based on the induction of personnel for training only, and to keep them ready to serve in the event of an emergency. Universal is meant to signify the intent to train every able-bodied young man, rather than to select only those needed for service. Dr. Hekhuis explained. Minimum term of service will be 24 months.

Eight Year's Service

All persons entering the service before June 19, 1951 will serve a total of eight years active and inactive duty. Personnel inducted now will serve 24 months on active duty, to be followed by six years on reserve duty.

Eligible men will register on their 18th birthday. They will be liable for induction at the age of 18½, also standards for induction will be markedly reduced.

Persons deferred while in Selective Service age and not called to duty prior to their 26th birthday, will continue to be liable for induction until 35 years of age. Actual decisions about deferring students is left to the local Selective Service Boards.

College students ordered for induction during a school year must be allowed to finish that academic year, but may be given only one such deferment. An academic deferment ends in the event the student stops doing satisfactory school work.

No one will be called upon to fight without training. Every inductee shall be kept within the continental limits during full and adequate military training of four months.

Dr. Hekhuis stated that, "From all services there is an emphasis on the more training a person has, the better he can serve his country, the more rapid will be his progress, other things being equal."

Student Tourist Facts Available

Students who are interested in going to Old Mexico this June, may obtain special information concerning expenses and points of interest along the proposed tour by contacting the Spanish department, sponsor of the tour.

The trip will include special stops at Mexico City, Puebla, Cuernavaca, Taxco and Xochimilco. The group will leave Wichita, June 2, and will take 18 days for the trip.

According to the tour sponsors, a special student price is available to those interested. A descriptive folder of places to be visited is also available at the Spanish department office.

New Time Interval Machine Devised By Psychology Grad

Imagine you are driving along in your car. A car speeds into your path. How long will it take you to start to move your foot to the brake pedal when split seconds count?

Psychologists interested in applying psychological knowledge to accident prevention can now use a chronoscope perfected by Charles W. Snyder, graduate student and former consultant in the department of psychology at the University.

The apparatus, called an electronic precision chronoscope, is used in experiments at the University to measure time intervals to 1/10,000 of a second. Equipment of psychologists that previously did the same work usually had many moving parts. Former chronoscopes had to have special insulation to keep noise from distracting the subject. Mr. Snyder's machine has an

Blood Donations Total 115 Pints

A total of 115 pints of blood was donated by the University of Wichita students in the first two days of the campus blood drive this week, according to Maj. Russel B. Smith, assistant professor of air science and tactics.

Only 25 students on Monday and 90 students on Tuesday donated blood. Major Smith said that because he had not passed out release cards to the Reserve Officers Training Corps was one of the reasons that the amount of blood was so low these two days.

"Contrary to rumors around the campus, none of the blood donated will be sold," said Major Smith. "No Red Cross service is ever sold."

"The blood donated by the University students will be distributed by the Red Cross according to need. Most of the blood however, will be used by the armed forces in Korea," he added.

3 WU Debaters Win Excellent Rating At Meet

Three members of the University's debate team received excellent ratings in the discussion events of the Intercollegiate Debate Conference at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebr., last Friday and Saturday.

James Hotchkiss, Education junior; Doran Leek, Liberal Arts sophomore; and Richard Roembach, Liberal Arts junior, were the three team members who topped the individual honors.

From a field of 164 debaters representing 44 Midwestern universities and colleges less than 20 individuals received superior ratings in the discussion events and an equally few number of excellent ratings was received.

After competing in the four rounds of debate Leek, Doran Oneale, Business junior, and Wesley Faires, Fine Arts sophomore, each received individual ratings of excellent.

The negative team, comprised of Leek, Hotchkiss, and Faires, also received an excellent rating for debating the question "That the federal government should adopt a permanent program of price and wage control."

"University and college winners were not announced," Merrill T. Baker, director of forensics, said.

Announcements To Go On Sale

Senior announcements will go on sale in the Administration Building tomorrow, Feb. 29, at the rotunda, according to Della Bates, assessor in the College of Education and chairman of the senior announcement committee.

The student directories that were on sale in the same place recently, are still obtainable at the Public Relations office, Room 153 in the Administration Building, Miss Bates said.

Corbin Appoints Student To Athletic Board Here

Saving A Life

L. Jones Named To Post Today

Appointment Results From Reorganization

Larry Jones, a junior in the College of Business Administration, today was appointed by Pres. Harry F. Corbin to the Athletic Policy Committee of the University.

Jones' appointment to the Committee came as a result of a reorganization move in the group that took place last year. The first student to be appointed to a faculty committee, Jones was selected from a list of five submitted by the Student Council to President Corbin.

The only other faculty committee on which students serve is the Student Alumni Fund Committee, to which the students are elected.

The Athletic Policy Committee formulates the athletic policies of the University. They approve of football and basketball schedules, and the actions of the athletic director concerning the let-

IT DOESN'T HURT A BIT, says Jerry Holland, as he was giving his pint of blood Monday at the ROTC armory. One hundred and fifteen students donated blood during the first two days of the blood drive.

ISA To Sell School Songs

Records of the University school songs will be sold between the halves of the Tulsa-WU game tonight by members of the Independent Students Association.

The 78 rpm records, which were made by the University Marching Band, the A Cappella Choir, and the Men's Chorus, are of the "Alma Mater" and "Hall, Wichita." The records were sold on the campus first semester.

Bill Sandstrum, ISA treasurer, announced that the records would be $1 each. Profits from the records go to the School of Music and ISA.

Job Interviews

To Begin Monday

Beginning Monday, Mar. 3, a series of employment interviews with representatives of business firms will be conducted by the Student Alumni Bureau.

This Monday a representative of the Washington National Life Insurance Company of Evanston, Illinois, will interview prospective applicants at the Bureau's office, Room 113, Administration Building, according to James K. Sours, administrative assistant in charge of the Bureau office. All persons interested in this type of employment should contact Mr. Sours to arrange an interview.

Twirlers Sought For Drum Corps

Drum majorettes will soon add additional color to the Arnold Air Society Drum and Bugle Corps, according to Maj. Herbert A. Hartman, professor of air science and tactics.

University women interested in applying for the drum majorette positions should have previous drum majorette experience, not be beyond their sophomore year in college, and must be willing to show considerable interest in Drum and Bugle Corps work, Major Hartman said.

The Drum and Bugle Corps was activated during the fall semester and since that time has appeared at many public functions throughout the Wichita area.

Dr. Lloyd C. McKinley, immediate past president of the Missouri Valley Conference and Wichita University's 1951-52 faculty representative to the Conference, heads the group.

Seniors Plan Class Meeting

Plans for senior sneak day and a class gift will be discussed at a senior class meeting at noon, March 6, in the Commons Auditorium, Bill Holland, class president, has announced.

The time for making final decisions on these plans is drawing near, therefore it is necessary that as many class members as possible attend the meeting, Holland added.

CHARLES W. SNYDER, graduate student and former assistant in the psychology department, holds the old electronic timer that the department used in experiments. Displayed on the table is the new electronic precision chronoscope he invented.

Service Staff Plans Work On Veterans Field

"We plan to have the most beautiful grass of any athletic field in the state of Kansas," John Gaddis, superintendent of buildings and grounds, said in an interview this week.

Within a few weeks, seeding of Veterans Field will begin, as the final step toward preparing the field for next year's football season.

Preparations for improvement began with the installation of 400 feet of drainage tile under the gridiron to facilitate drainage and produce a drier field in rainy seasons.

Approximately 1,500 yards of dirt have been added to the field, filling in low spots and further aiding in draining.

Merion blue-grass is the type of turf to be planted. This is a new blue-grass which is especially adapted to the rough usage a football field receives.

FEW students on the campus remember the last "Haul Your Man" dance that occurred during Leap Year. So here's some advice, girls. When taking your exercise, practice on your knees, for not only can you—tow the men—check their coats—serve them drinks, but—you can pop the question!

Mademoiselle magazine is offering $500 each to winners in a College Fiction Contest. This contest is open to women undergraduates only. The length of the story must not exceed 5,000 words. But don't let the length discourage you, for each contestant may submit more than one story.

ENTRIES must be postmarked by midnight, April 15.

The University Symphony was minus one viola player at their concert in St. Louis. Don Elliott, viola player for the group, missed the bus when it left Saturday morning. Doctor's orders were the cause. Elliott had the measles.

THE latest of the oldest to beautify the hair is the curling iron. Flappers in the "Flaming Twenties" used this instrument.

Now the curling iron is being brought from retirement to make the short curls in the new "poodle cut." Hairdressers over the country are learning how to wield the prones of this instrument on milady's hair.

BUT a slight difference exists in the curling iron of the present day. Now the prones fit into a wall socket instead of a lamp chimney. But no doubt the same method of spit on the finger is used to test its heat before applying it to the hair.

Three new pledges were named at the Monday night meeting of Pi Alpha Pi. These pledges are Bill Neal, Jerry Hanselman, and Sam Hilton.

'Haul Your Man' Dance Friday Night

Off To The Dance

YWCA To Honor Senior Men, Bill, Belle Of The Ball

Ten senior men will be honored at the Young Women's Christian Association's annual "Haul Your Man" dance Friday night. The honored men will be chosen by the YWCA officers and cabinet members.

Bill and Belle of the Ball will be announced at the dance. The candidate selling the most tickets to the entertainment will be the Belle. She will crown the man whom she has escorted to the dance as Bill of the Ball.

Belle of the Ball candidates are: Colleen Schreffler, unaffiliated; Janie Hollingsworth, Alpha Tau; Maxine Welch, Pi Kap; Pat Warner, Delta Omega; Veoma Richardson, Kappa Rho; Kathy Hieger, Sorosis; and Rosalyn Newport, ISA.

The man wearing the cutest corsage at the dance will be presented a prize. The corsages will be made by the men's escorts. Chaperons at the event will be judges of the corsages.

Bob Bashford's orchestra will furnish the music for the dance which will be held in Henrion Gymnasium from 9 p.m. to midnight. The men's wraps will be checked by the women in the girls' section of the gym. Dancing will be in the men's section.

Tickets, to be bought by the women, can be purchased from the candidates or their designated agents. The tickets cost $1.50 a couple.

Country Club Sunday night. Sharing the festivities were two other Gammas, Dan Tevis and George Parsons with their dates. Sharon Tarrant, an Alpha Tau, and Bobbie Smith, a Pi Kap.

MERRY mad-cap mixups, social wise, may well be expected by Alpha Tau Sigma and Pi Kappa Psi, so nearly identical are their phone numbers. We'll wager there'll be more than one swain who'll call the Alpha Tau number and ask for Mary Jane only to be told, crisply, that she's a Pi Kap. And vice versa. Oh well, look up the numbers yourselves. We don't want to heap confusion higher.

Date Book Data

New numbers for old friends.

That's the situation among four of the five social sororities here who recently had their telephone numbers changed.

At the present time, the sorority telephone numbers are: Alpha Tau Sigma—63-8481; Delta Omega—63-8201; Epsilon Kappa Rho—63-5281; Pi Kappa Psi—62-8481; and Sorosis—63-8332.

Pep Group To Select 'Wheaties Sweetie', 'Jack Armstrong' At Tulsa Contest Tonight

"Jack Armstrong" and "Wheaties Sweetie" will be crowned at half-time of the Tulsa-University of Wichita basketball game tonight. Starting time for the Forum game is 8 p.m.

The most outstanding senior athlete on the campus is named "Jack Armstrong" by Wheaties, women's pep club. "Wheaties Sweetie" is selected yearly by university football and basketball players from six candidates, all members of the Wheaties organization.

Candidates for the Sweetie title are chosen by the pep club on the basis of participation in Wheatie activities during the year. Phyllis McMichael, president of the organization, said.

Both "Wheaties Sweetie" and "Jack Armstrong" will be presented with a gift at their crowning by the club. "Wheaties Sweetie" will also be given a bouquet of flowers by the pep organization.

Mrs. Norma Haley Smith was named "Wheaties Sweetie," and Cot Friesen won the "Jack Armstrong" title at the WU-Oklahoma A and M game last year.

Married Recently In Church Rites

Virginia Bing and David Wright were married Friday, February 22, at the First Unitarian Church by the Reverend John H. Telfer.

Eileen Layton of Oklahoma City, Okla., was the only bridesmaid and James Stearns served as best man.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wright attend the University where she is a junior in the College of Liberal Arts, and he is a sophomore.

National Prexy Here For Speech

A breakfast was given Tuesday morning by Zeta Phi Eta, honorary women's speech fraternity in honor of the organization's national president, Mrs. Mary Eloise Schoch of Des Moines, Iowa. The breakfast was held at 8 a.m. at the downtown Continental Grill.

Mrs. Schoch spoke to the members of the organization on the importance of the fraternity to the individual.

After the breakfast, the pledges of Zeta Phi Eta were initiated in the home of Mrs. Harry Mahan, 1613 N. Vassar.

The pledges initiated were Anita Dinsmore, Ann Graham, Barbara Dolsen, Rosalyn Newport, and Elaine Neer.

Following the initiation the fraternity had lunch in the Commons.

Faculty's Column

The importance of classroom teaching in the rehabilitation of the speech handicapped was one of the primary points emphasized by Roy Eblen, supervisor of the Institute of Logopedics, in a recent address given to members of the Association for Childhood Education.

The Women's Advisory Council of the Institute of Logopedics entertained members of campus groups with a coffee given at the Institute on Feb. 18.

Following the coffee, a demonstration of the work being done by the Institute was given by Mrs. Virgil Barritt, supervisor. After the demonstration, the guests were taken on a tour of the school.

Miss Grace Wilkie, dean of women, and Mrs. Ruth Snodgrass, Institute supervisor, were guests at the coffee.

Harold A. Decker, head of the department of voice and professor of choral music, will direct a chorus of approximately one thousand voices at the Southeast Kansas Choral Festival in Columbus, Kansas tomorrow.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 34...THE FERRET

Descended from a long line of distinguished researchers, this studious scholar has burned too many gallons of midnight oil to gloss over a subject lightly. Especially such an important item as cigarette mildness. He burrowed into the matter with his usual resolution and concluded that a "quick puff" or a "fast sniff" doesn't offer much evidence. Millions of smokers agree there's but one true test of cigarette mildness.

It's the sensible test...the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

Shocking . . .

Last week-end, members of Arnold Air Society, honorary Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps fraternity, erected a display in front of the Commons building to emphasize the Blood Donor Drive.

The exhibit included a wrecked light plane and two dummy bodies. It was to be a progressively built display with details added every day, but individuals or a group of individuals on this campus decided otherwise.

When Arnold Air members went to the exhibit with their latest props Monday morning, they found that the plane had been stolen, and it was later discovered on the front lawn of a house in Sorority Row.

A small occurrence? On the surface it may sound like it, but sometimes seemingly minor incidents like this have far reaching results.

Firstly, the Arnold Air group went to a great deal of trouble to procure the plane, and stand liable for any damage sustained. Several parts of the plane have either been lost or stolen, and as matters stand now, the group which was doing the campus a service will have to stand the expense out of their own pockets, unless the missing sections are returned.

The damage this vandalism has done to the blood drive can only be estimated, but the damage done to the reputation of the University and of college students as a group is obvious.

Non-college students can only think poorly of individuals or a group which would do such an unthinking, selfish thing. The whole University or all members of any one group can not be blamed for it, but their act cannot help but reflect on the whole.

These juvenile vandals do not seem to realize that a blood drive isn't, and can not be, a joking or light matter. Perhaps if some of them were in Korea today, which some of them will no doubt eventually be, they would have the proper perspective on such childish pranks.

Arnold Air officers and Major Herbert A. Hartman, are willing to forget the matter if the missing plane parts are returned. Perhaps it might help if each of the guilty parties added a pint of blood as his payment.

Wanted: Spirit . . .

Time has come again for another dissertation on campus pep.

Tonight is the last home basketball game of the year and will afford just about the last opportunity for University students to show off their spirit this year.

Maybe the showing made thus far by our basketball team is nothing to get excited about but it is the best aggregation to represent this school for a long time if not in its history.

Not only is that true from a team standpoint but especially true in view of the individual players.

Already Cleo Littleton, a freshman, has broken practically every Shocker basketball record in the books. And tonight he will be going after the Missouri Valley's individual scoring crown. Seldom are such feats accomplished by a first-year player.

It has been said that the crowd at the Forum at a basketball game resembles one at some fight arena—all adults and residents of the city. The same group claims that we as students have a defeatist attitude towards spirit and we no longer care whether we win or not.

If any of you are willing to take such charges lying down then you don't rightfully belong as a student.

At this stage there is only one alternative left for the students to take—attend tonight's game en masse and really show your spirit. It's a cinch that the team and Littleton will be going all-out for their goals.

How about going all-out for a goal of your own—PEP?

Men, let's head for the hills. Tomorrow night is the "Haul Your Man" dance sponsored by the Young Women's Christian Association and if any of us come out of it a free man it will be a stroke of luck.

Remember this is Leap Year and the reports we have had give every indication that the women on this campus are getting mighty desperate. Or haven't you been bothered by lassoes or the traps dug around the campus?

While we are going to the hills maybe we should stay for a year or two and let the women take over the world. It surely couldn't get in much worse shape than it is now. After all, the women for a long time now have been asking for more power and privileges. This looks like as good a time as any to let them have the whole works.

Maybe when we returned Mrs. Joe Stalin and Bess Truman would be playing bridge. On second thought that might be worse than war.

Remember the old days when western movies were usually limited to small-town theaters for a Saturday night run? Now today they are being offered as hit pictures and rate at least week's run at the very best of theaters.

Of course the second or third rate western is still with us but in our estimation the super productions are along the same line except for bigger stars and technicolor.

Their formula is rather simple just throw in some beautiful dame, a couple of guys fighting over her and fill in the rest with horses, cows, Indians, or if you must just more people.

The producers of these super-colossal productions tell us they are historical sagas or something on that order. Personally, we'll settle for a history minor. It's less painful.

Want to write a song? Well, here's some answers you might get from the publishers. They came to us by way of Music News, a Capitol records publication. For instance the publisher might tell you that your song is a back-breaker meaning it's too tough to put over. Or he might tell you that it's a "big hypo" which means you may have a lot of talk and a lot of pressure but the song hasn't got it.

The worst that can happen to you is for the publisher to say "It doesn't hit me." That means "Who let that guy in here with that song?"

We'll let you go this week with this reminder from Arch Ward's column in the Chicago Tribune. If Venetian blinds ever go out of style, it'll be curtains for all of us.

The Barber Shop

By Bob Barber
Sunflower Managing Editor

Have you ever known a person who had a stock answer for everything? The type of guy who says "drop dead," or "your great-grandmother was an army engineer," is common on the American scene.

Such an individual was Hackenschmidt Hubb. A precocious child, before he was thirteen, he had spoken his first word, as follows: "Glouftrbz." His parents were naturally astounded and gratified at signs of early learning in their off-spring.

In the first grade little Hackenschmidt, proudly clutching his first razor, made the statement that was to gain him recognition and renown. The kindly teacher had asked the youngster to add a few simple (well suited to the boy, she later claimed) sums.

"That ain't my line," the grammatically correct youngster stated, drawing an exclamation of rapture and a rap on the head from his teacher.

That was his watchword. In mechanical drawing, when asked if he had drawn a particularly shaky line, he declared, "That ain't my line."

As manager of the football team in high school, he was told that the whole team was lousy, particularly the end, guard, and tackle. His reply was characteristic. "That ain't my line."

Parked beneath a full August moon with a beautiful senior an eavesdropper might have heard this particular conversation: "Hackenschmidt, don't you think I am beautiful, talented, and your pre-destined soul-mate?" "That ain't my line."

In college, H. Hubb, now a mature 48-year-old, majored in journalism and was in trouble from the start. He was told that the College of Final Arts, the Department of Agrarianism, which specialized in early morning bird calls, and the basket-weaving instructor, were to be his "beats."

His highly original reply was, "That ain't my line." He was tried in the language department, but just couldn't write meeting reports in Sanskrit. He was assigned to the registrar's office and lost that beat for failing to know where to draw the line with the girl who worked in the office.

In desperation, he was assigned such highly interesting features as, "How many students on the campus do at least 10 push-ups before rising?" and "Which general of the War of the Roses was your favorite?"

None were in his line. A crisis arose in the journalism department because the Queen of the 300 Block on West Alm Street (officially chosen by a panel of judges) was in the office and wished to be interviewed.

Every reporter in the department was out and only H. Hubb was available. With a sigh the editor told the lad to talk to her.

Hubb walked into the small room where the queen was waiting with a cigarette nonchalantly held between her first two toes, and took one look at her ample curves.

The peace of the whole building was shattered a moment later with his shouted words, "THAT'S MY LINE!!!"

Educators Hear Symphony Group

The University Symphony Orchestra, conducted by James P. Robertson, professor and director of the University Symphony, presented a concert before 6,000 members of the American Association of School Administrators in St. Louis Sunday. The concert was held in Kiel Auditorium.

The concert opened with the "Masonello Overture" by Auber. Highlighting the program was the selection "Symphony No. 2 in E Minor," by Bach.

Symphonic selections from Kerns' "Show Boat" were also played by the orchestra.

Professor Lectures As Ceiling Collapses

According to the Silver and Gold, University of Colorado paper students attending a morning lecture recently got exactly what they were wishing for—the roof fell in.

While the professor droned on, the ceiling began to crack loudly. The professor screamed a hasty warning and students fled in all directions. Two jumped out the window while others hid under furniture.

The professor was unhurt.

Noises Greet All Who Enter Communication's Creaky Hall

By Bill Stinchcomb

Kreek—bang! Tromp-tromp—boom-boom—tromp-tromp-kreek—bang! What's this! Part of a script to the Lone Ranger program, or a dissertation on the life of Wild Bill Hickock? No, it is not the activity carried on by a Wild West show. Nor is it a description of the Battle of Bull Run, Gettysburg, or Iwo Jima. Believe it or not, the noise is created many times in the comparative quiet of the Communication Building.

The Kreek-bang represents the sound made by the front door as someone enters. The automatic door closer has long since ceased to work, and the front door is slowly banging itself to splinters. The tromp-tromp represents steps taken by a person walking over the not-so-stable front hall floor.

The height of this percussive effect is reached when the person steps onto the stairs leading to the lower half of the building. Boom-boom-boom. No matter how lightly the 6 1/2" high steps are taken, the stairs are insistent in their drum-like sound. Coupled with the booms are numerous squeaks and groans, which, even though they are over-powered by the booms, still manage to make themselves heard throughout the building.

The tromping which follows is the person continuing on his way after weathering the rickety stairs. The kreek-bang is, of course, another door closing that oil and door-sash has failed entirely to silence.

The student who tries to slip in or out of the classroom quietly in order not to disturb students and teachers is stumped when faced with this seemingly unconquerable obstacle course. The noises will continue no matter how you attempt to slip past them.

They are the bodiless sentinels of the Communication Building. They challenge anyone and everyone who enters through the front door. They let no one pass without first announcing his presence to all in the building. They interrupt classes, detain the speeches of students in speech classes, make correlated thinking impossible, and on particularly busy days throw the whole building into a complete state of chaos.

Even with all of these disadvantages, the Communication Building would not be the same without a noisy chatter. They make the place home to those who spend many hours unconsciously listening to their voices.

KMUW Begins With Minutes; Goes To Hours In 5 Years

By Tom McGraw

From 35 minutes to 12½ hours in the space of five years!

These figures represent the daily broadcasting time of the University's radio station when it began using its own facilities in 1947, until it started its record-breaking schedule of programs last Monday.

When the station began operating in 1947 its call letters were WU, later changed to WUCR, a 10-watt AM station, the first 10-watt station in the history of the United States. It was located on the radio dial at 650 kilocycles. Today the call letters are KMUW and it is a 10-watt FM station, and is located at 89.1 megacycles on the dial.

WUCR had so little power that it could only be heard in the immediate campus area. For this reason a request was made to the Federal Communications Commission for an FM station.

Since the FCC granted KMUW its license in the spring of 1949, WUCR disappeared. KMUW has received letters from Newton, El Dorado, Hutchinson, and McPherson telling of reception in those nearby towns.

Since last Monday KMUW signs on the air at 11 a.m. with a program called Memory Time, and completes its broadcasting day at 11:30 p.m. following an hour-and-a-half show called Open House.

The recent affiliation with the tape network of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters now enables KMUW to broadcast, via tape recordings, cultural and educational programs that originate on other campuses and in other lands.

At present the bulk of KMUW's programs consist of recorded and transcribed music ranging from religious and classical types to popular, jazz, and old American folk music.

Programs of news, sports, discussions, and special events also are included in the regular daily presentations Monday through Friday.

With the beginning of this semester the entire operation and management, as well as the programming of KMUW is being conducted by University students. Bill Gemar, education senior, is the station manager. Don Hofmann, Liberal Arts junior, is program director and is in charge of daytime operations. Morris Reichley, Liberal Arts senior, is the assistant program director and is in charge of night-time operations.

The chief engineer in charge of all technical details is Jon Baumunk, engineering sophomore. The sports director is Gene Herriott, Liberal Arts junior.

Work Of Commercial Artists To Be Seen

The first annual exhibition of commercial art will be shown at Morrison Hall art gallery from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday, and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. during March 3 to 7. Robert W. Cook, associate professor of art and chairman of the University art committee, announced today.

The commercial art works will include painting, illustration, advertising design, and photography. These works are from the Art Center School, Los Angeles, Calif.

Edla Rickard Plans Senior Organ Recital

The School of Music will present Edla Rickard in her senior organ recital at the St. Paul's Methodist Church, Thirteenth and Broadway, Tuesday at 8 p.m.

A student of Mrs. Thelma Ragle Coombs, instructor in organ, Miss Rickard is organist at the Hillside Christian church. She is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, Kappa Delta Pi, and the American Guild of Organists.

Included in Miss Rickard's program will be "Fantasie and Fugue in G minor" by Bach, Franck's "Chorale in A minor," and "Vierne's Finale" from the First Symphony.

WU Musicians Hear Noted Educator Talk

Miss Rose Marie Grentzer, chairman of the music education department of Oberlin Conservatory, Oberlin, Ohio, spoke before the students and faculty of the University School of Music last Friday in the University Auditorium at 2 p.m.

'East Lynne', Old Time Play, Was Best Known Melodrama

The most talked of play ever written and the one that has elevated more actresses to stardom than any other in the history of the theatre — that's "East Lynne," the next student production at the University.

This old-fashioned melodrama will be presented Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, March 20, 21, and 22 in the Commons Auditorium.

According to Prof. George D. Wilner, director of the play, "East Lynne" belongs in the same class with "Rip Van Winkle," "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," "The Old Homestead," and "The Drunkard."

In this version, based on the 1847 novel by Mrs. Henry Wood, the heroine leads a double life. She is Lady Isabel Vane, winsome and tearful by turn. Rosalyn Newport, Liberal Arts freshman, has this double role.

The rogue of all rogues, Sir Francis Levison, the heavily moustached villain with the mocking laugh, is played by Bob Barber, Liberal Arts junior. The noble, manly bosomed hero, Archibald Carlyle, is acted by Ronald Weidman, Education sophomore.

The play deals with the plight of Lady Isabel Vane who is left orphaned in her late teens.

The young orphan rejoices when Archie proposes to her and they elope. Her new husband brings Isabel back to her former home, East Lynne, to live.

Isabel is presented to Barbara Hare, played by Anita Dinsmore, Education junior, a young lady who has always loved Archibald and who hoped one day to become Mistress of East Lynne.

Francis Levison, Isabel's former suitor, comes to East Lynne and immediately starts a campaign to win Isabel away from Archibald.

By devious means, Levison convinces the distraught young wife that her husband longs to be rid of her. Half mad with jealousy and eager for revenge on her husband, Isabel runs away with the villain. She finds out Levison's connivance when he refuses to marry her.

Broken in health and disguised as an old governess named Madame Vine, Isabel returns to East Lynne to see her ailing child, Little Willie, played by six-year-old Jimmy Felmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Felmer.

All is not lost for at the final curtain a repentant Isabel dies in Archie's arms knowing that she has been forgiven.

Littleton Seeks Missouri Valley Scoring Title

Shockers Host Tulsa Hurricane

Wichita To Stillwater For Conference Final

Freshman forward Cleo Littleton will set out in quest of the Missouri Valley Conference scoring championship tonight when the Shockers tangle with Tulsa's Golden Hurricane at 8 on the Forum court.

Right now Detroit's Norm Swanson is leading conference scorers with 199 points in 10 games for a 19.9 average. Swanson completed his Valley season Monday night.

Going into tonight's fray Littleton has 153 points for eight games and 19.1 average and one other Valley contest remaining against Oklahoma A and M Saturday night at Stillwater which will conclude the Shockers' 1951-52 season.

In his last outing against Tulsa, the Shockers' scoring ace was limited to 14 points but he is expected to do better tonight on a home floor. The Hurricane swamped Wichita in that game 74-46.

Littleton In Front

As for total points in all games for the season Littleton is still well in front of Swanson leading the Titan center 520 to 474. Detroit has two non-conference games left to play.

Coach Ralph Miller's Shockers will try to snap a four-game losing skein against Tulsa's second-place Hurricane as well as trying to avenge the previous loss. Wichita has an overall record of 11-17 while Tulsa owns a 13-8 mark.

Tonight's game will mark the last home appearance in Shocker uniforms for Johnny Friedersdorf and Hank Hemingway. Friedersdorf is currently the fifth ranking scorer in both conference and all games played.

Both from Indiana, the two seniors will see action in the state AAU tournament which starts Saturday night. Friedersdorf will play with the Hesston Kings Motors while Hemingway will be a member of the Coleman Rangers.

second-place tie with the Aggies by downing Detroit 62-44 Monday night for a 4-3 conference record.

Chief threat to the Shockers will be sophomore guard Dick Nunneley who has picked up 337 points in 21 games for a 16-point average. Other sharpshooters on Coach Clarence Iba's club are Glen Dille and Warren Shackelford.

Saturday night, Coach Miller's youthful charges will go to Stillwater for their conference finale against Hank Iba's Aggies. The Cowpokes slipped by the Shockers here earlier in the season 49-45.

The Shocker reserve squad will play preliminary games in both the Tulsa and Aggie tilts.

Other games Saturday night: Detroit at Bradley; Drake at Houston; Marquette at St. Louis.

Pi Kaps Defeat Sorosis, 25-19, In Opening Clash

Pi Kaps led at the end of the first quarter 8-7 and extended the margin to 20-8 at the half. Sorosis closed the gap during the third quarter and trailed only 22-15 at the beginning of the fourth.

With the score standing at 25-19 and approximately 2 minutes remaining in the game Pi Kaps froze the ball and ran out the clock.

How to lose your side yard to your neighbor

It's easy. You just sit back and let your neighbor tend to things. Let him shovel the walk and rake the leaves and prune the trees—let him take over completely—five, ten, fifteen feet over your property line.

At the end of twenty years, he'll have a legal claim to every inch of ground he's cared for.* And it will be too late for you to do anything about it.

We Americans can lose our freedoms in much the same way. We can sit back and let the federal government take over and run things—the doctors, the railroads, the electric light and power companies, for example. But the moment we do, we lose our way of life to socialism.

Most of us want to keep control of our property and our freedoms. And we can do it—if we don't let our neighbors or our government take over.

Lamb Receives National Rating

Rose Lamb, Physical Education major, received a national rating on basketball officiating Monday night in the Women's Gym.

This rating entitles Miss Lamb to officiate in any authorized National Section of Womens' Athletic game. The rating was issued by the Womens' National Officials Rating Committee, a part of the National Section of Womens' Athletics, which sets up all rules and regulations governing womens' athletics.

To earn a national rating one must pass a written examination over basketball rules with at least a score of 85. She then must officiate a regular game and obtain a score of 85 or more.

The national rating is the highest rating a woman may get. Other ratings include a junior national rating similar to the national but for women under 20 years of age; a local rating, given by the local Wichita Womens' Officials Board entitling the holder to referee any

Miss Lamb is the only woman student at the University who holds a basketball rating of any kind.

Students Enter Bridge Tourney

The first round of the National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament was played here last week. Six University of Wichita students have entered the contest.

Mary Helen Cochran, Joanne Harris, Beverly Régier, Mary Helen Roembach, Abbie Troup Smith, and Carlene Sturges are participants from the University.

This tournament is sponsored annually by the National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament Committee, a group of college alumni and officials interested in contract bridge as an intercollegiate competition in which men and women can participate on an equal basis.

Results of the first round will be received next month. The 32 highest scorers in the nation will travel to Chicago, Ill., April 18 and 19 for the final round to decide the winners.

The 1951 National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament was won by Washburn University, Topeka, Kans.

Busy Websters Enter Tournaments At Wichita, Augusta

The Men of Webster basketball team is entered in three tournaments to be played in the next two weeks. The Websters are defending their title as champion of the Augusta Tournament this week and are also playing in the University Intramural Tournament.

Next week the Websters will be playing in the Kansas Amateur Athletic Union Tournament at the Wichita Forum. Last spring they were eliminated in the semi-final round, and in 1949 they finished fourth.

The team is coached by Charlie Binford, an alumnus of the University.

Tentatively the team will consist of Larry Jones, John La Fever, Bill Eckholdt, Dick Coleman, Roger Pierce, Kendal King, Bob Burton, Rod Alford, Charlie Gill, and Ken Schlup.

Chiefs Skin WU By 76-51 Count

The Oklahoma City University Chiefs defeated a very cold shooting University of Wichita basketball team by a score of 76-51 last Saturday night. It was the 16th victory for the Chiefs this season. The loss was number 17 for the Shockers against 11 wins.

It was Oklahoma City all the way after the early minutes of the game. Wichita was leading 7-4 when the Chiefs started rolling. OCU led 16-14 at the end of the first quarter. The Shockers went into a slump and scored but 6 points in the second quarter. The score at the half was 43-20 and at the end of the third it was 65-38.

Cleo Littleton was high scorer for the Shockers with 24 points. Don Penwell and Arnold Short were high for OCU with 21 points each.

8 Teams Enter Basketball Meet

The University Intramural tournament started Tuesday and will be completed tonight, according to Bob Kirkpatrick, head of the intramural department.

The winner of the contest will be entered as a candidate from the University in the contest to choose the queen of the Drake Relays, to be held at Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa. The relays queen contest is sponsored by The Quax, Drake yearbook.

In order to enter the contest, University women should submit as many good photographs of themselves as possible to The Sunflower staff by March 7. Photographs should be any kind except snapshots, but preferably head-and-shoulder shots.

Several local photographers will then select one candidate each from the list of those entering and sponsor her in the finals.

Each of the photographers will then take two eight-by-ten-inch photos of his candidate and submit them to the staff and judges for the final judging set for March 20. The name of the winner will be announced in The Sunflower issue published March 27. Names of the judges for the contest have not been released by The Sunflower staff.

If the entrant from the University should be named queen of the Drake Relays, she will be sent to Des Moines with all her expenses paid by the Drake annual. The Relays will be held April 25 and 26 in Des Moines.

University women entering the "press girl" contest should place all photographs in an envelope along with a sheet containing her name address, grade point average, and extra-curricular activities, including sorority affiliations and other groups, if any. All entrants should have their photographs and other information in the hands of The Sunflower staff in the news room, Room 116, Communication Building, not later than noon, March 7.
