June Date Set Council Reveals For Completion Finance Report Of WU Dorms

Steel Strike, Shortage Hinder Construction Of New Residence Halls

June 1 has been set as the approximate date for the completion of the men's dormitory, located at 17th Street and Yale Avenue, noted this week John Gaddis, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds.

Foundation for the structure has been completed and the contractor is awaiting steel for further construction, Mr. Gaddis added.

Will House 134 Men

The four story brick and concrete building will house 134 men and will be ready for occupancy early in June.

Across the campus, construction on the women's dormitory is expected to begin the 15th of this month. According to Mr. Gaddis, the women's residence hall will be completed in early June if structural steel can be obtained soon. The hall will be built east of the sorority houses on Clough Place.

Construction of both dorms was slowed by the steel strike and the present shortage of steel.

No Names for Halls

Names have not as yet been selected for the halls, nor has the amount been set as to how much will be charged residents of the halls.

The A. W. Soderberg Construction Company was awarded the contract on the men's dorm for $274,850. The Clarence Vollmer Construction Company received the contract to build the women's dormitory for $326,430.

The women's hall will include recreation facilities and a dining hall for both men and women staying in the dorms.

The Time Will Come

IT MAY NOT LOOK IT NOW, but in June this will be the new men's dorm, with facilities for 134 University men. The building is on the corner of Seventeenth Street, facing east toward Yale Avenue.

Dr. Powell Named ROTC Liaison Man

A University dean and army veteran will serve this year as administrative liaison officer for campus military units, Pres. Harry F. Corbin announced recently.

He is Dr. Jackson O. Powell, dean of the College of Education. Dr. Powell will assist the president's office in coordinating activities of the University's military and air science organizations.

The post formerly was held by Dr. Ross Taylor, English professor now on active duty as an intelligence officer.

Freshman Week Activity Over; 700 New Students Register

Student Attendance At Convocations, Mixers Larger Than For Many Years, Say Officials

Freshman Week came to its conclusion yesterday with registration of approximately 700 freshmen and new students.

The week started last Thursday morning with the President's convocation with other administrative officers participating. In the afternoon there was a general orientation convocation explaining various services and general procedures of the school.

Commons lounge and the Alibi room were the scene of a mixer Thursday night with an unusually large crowd on hand. Miss Dryden Quist, director of food service, said it was by far the largest crowd the Commons has had in a long time.

AWS Sponsors Lunch

Friday was spent testing. During noon hour the Associated Women Students had a dutch lunch for women in the commons cafeteria. A recreational film was shown in the evening.

Saturday morning the Student Council was in charge of the convocation in which various students explained campus pep, intramural sports, AWS, YWCA, Student Forum, Campus Religious Council, and honor groups.

In the afternoon an all-school picnic was held in Fairmount Park and in the evening an all-school dance, honoring new students, was held on the tennis courts.

"Go-to-Church" Morning

Sunday morning the Campus Religious Council and YWCA sponsored a "go-to-church" morning. They saw that out-of-town students had transportation to the church of their choice. A musical program and informal reception for new students was given by the faculty Sunday afternoon.

A convocation on general University organizations, and requirements was held Monday morning followed by meeting of the women with Grace Wilkie, dean of women, and men with James Sours, director of student services. In the afternoon there was a convocation on registration procedures and requirements. A film on freshmen orientation was shown Monday evening followed by a social hour sponsored by Wheaties Pep Club.

Physical Examinations

Tuesday morning was spent taking physical examinations with a convocation on University departments in the afternoon and a Pan Hellenic meeting for men and a coke party for women in the evening.

Approximately 700 new students attended the convocations during the first of the week and around 500 the latter ones. Friday morning, 710 freshmen—200 more than expected—took tests, according to Mr. Sours. A makeup of these tests will be held all day today. Each new student must complete tests before registering.

Math Professor E. B. Wedel Dies

Edward B. Wedel, associate professor of mathematics and a member of the University faculty for the past 11 years, died July 8 at Wesley Hospital.

Professor Wedel, who joined the faculty in 1941, was born Feb. 20, 1890, in Moundridge.

He received his bachelor's degree in 1917 from Bethel College, North Newton, and a master's in education from the University of Kansas in 1928. He obtained a second master's degree in mathematics in 1935 from the University of Oklahoma.

Professor Wedel became an assistant professor in 1946, and was promoted in 1950 to associate professor.

(The following was written by President Corbin as a beginning-of-school message to University students.)

"Superiority to fate is difficult to learn
'Tis not conferred by any, but possible to earn."

Thus Emily Dickinson reminds us that we must achieve "superiority to fate." While we have many blessings in the world, most of us will meet adversity somewhere along the line. In the meantime there is much that we can undertake to minimize our problems. There is much we can accomplish through determined effort and a proper use of our time. We can "earn" a high degree of independence from the winds of fortune. We can learn to ride the currents occasionally; we can stand firmly another time and even give ground. Such a decision, even one to give ground, should not render us helpless nor should it destroy our confidence. Constant study will provide new understanding, give wider perspective—will give one a confidence that runs deep and is trustworthy. You can achieve "superiority to fate"—'Tis not conferred by any, but possible to earn."

When's the best time to plug a leak?

Anybody can answer that one: as soon as you notice it. For drops lead to trickles, trickles to torrents—and you've got a whole roof to replace instead of a patch.

It's the same way with socialism, which has grown to such a real threat to our way of life. It's crept into the electric light and power business, for example. The first "drops" were "special cases where the planners decided the federal government ought to take over." But that leak has grown and grown. The whole electric business is threatened by the people who are trying to drive America into socialism. And the first drops are appearing in other industries and services, too.

When socialism spreads, it isn't a roof you lose—it's your rights and freedoms. And they're much harder to replace than shingles.

KANSAS GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

Only a few weeks ago, school was dismissed for the summer. The short summer passed quickly and here we are with nine more months of college staring us directly in the face.

Those two school terms are, in many ways, like a good patch of ground. They can be treated idly, with a choked, tangled growth as the result. They can receive indifferent treatment and produce indifferent crops, subjects half learned, teachers half pleased, and promises half fulfilled.

Or they can receive thoughtful, vigorous work which will be returned in grades, a feeling of fulfillment, and many new friends.

The student can be compared with the farmer. The land and the college are both there. What is done with them depends on the individual. Persons may advise and counsel, but the final choice rests with the individual.

Our teachers are here to give what is needed. They can not and will not force knowledge. If it is not taken while available, it is liable to sour and turn bad.

Planting, cultivation, and harvesting takes character, a desire to learn, and above all, courage. It takes a lot of courage to get through one year, to say nothing of four years.

With hard work much can be accomplished at the University of Wichita in the coming year, but it is entirely up to the students. It is entirely up to you.

Welcome back, and The Sunflower hopes your efforts reap ripe fruits.

Faculty, Students Compliment New Freshman Week Program

By Sara Goeller

An experiment formed by the Student Council and counseling committees of the University was concluded yesterday. The experiment was Freshman Week.

During the latter part of last semester and throughout the summer and Student Council met with members of the faculty to plan a new and different orientation period for the new students.

Continuation of this new kind of orientation in the future depended upon the success of Freshman Week. The outcome of this week has been considered excellent by all those concerned. Some of the comments were:

President Harry F. Corbin: The week as a whole was very successful and I was thrilled to see so many students participating. Such an organization brings students together as a class and helps to make better students.

James Sours, Director of Student Services: I am very gratified at the cooperation of the new students, upperclassmen, and faculty members for helping to make such a week so successful. We had unusually good attendance for all events.

Doran O'Neale, Vice-president of Student Council: The success of Freshman Week went over due to the help and guidance of Mr. Sours.

Gynith Giffin, Student Council member: Participation was grand on the part of freshmen and new students. The success of this week has been dependent upon this factor.

Nedra Baker, freshman: I have enjoyed every minute of it and it has been very helpful to me.

Marilyn Arp, freshman: It was all very nice and helpful.

Eleanor Walker, freshman: If college is like that it will be wonderful, except for the testing on Friday.

Pronko Goes To Istanbul Position

Dr. N. W. Pronko, professor and head of the department of psychology, has been granted a year's leave of absence by the University to accept a Fulbright Fellowship to lecture at the University of Istanbul, Turkey.

Accompanied by his son, Michael Pronko, former student at the University, Dr. Pronko will take up his duties at the Turkish university at the opening of the fall term.

In addition to his position at the University of Wichita, Dr. Pronko's teaching experience includes lecturing in four foreign countries. In 1945 and 1946 he taught at Biarritz University in France followed by a position at Shrivensham University in England. After the German occupation he lectured to American forces in Germany and Austria.

Dr. Pronko will return to the University in time for the fall term of 1953.

Student Forum Board Has Openings

Applications for admission to the Student Forum Board may be obtained from Mrs. Ruth Price, Commons hostess, at her office in the lounge Monday, Dick Roembach, Forum Board president, disclosed this week.

Applications will be available for a week or ten days, Roembach said. Membership is limited to students who have at least sophomore standing, and the board has a maximum of 50 members.

Applications should be returned to Mrs. Price's desk when completed, although no deadline has yet been set for their return.

ROTC Cadets May Fly Later

The idea that separation of the air forces from the army put the ground forces completely out of flying is a misconception, the Reserve Officers Training Corps chief at Wichita University pointed out recently.

Lieut. Col. Robin Montgomery said that, on the contrary, the army "has continued and even expanded the type of flying which is fun—light aircraft."

And perhaps the most-used plane by the army is the Wichita-built Cessna L-19, employed throughout the ground forces for observation and liaison work, he continued.

In this connection, Montgomery has recently been advised that Army ROTC cadets now are eligible to apply for army aviation training as early as six months before active duty with the army.

He explained that actual flight training must wait until the student is commissioned upon the completion of four years ROTC work, but that the University will now provide an orientation program in conjunction with Cessna's local army representative.

Montgomery and Maj. K. A. French, a former University of Missouri ROTC trainee, and now stationed at the Cessna plant here, have worked out an agreement by which W.U. cadets will be taken on guided visits of Cessna's army aircraft program.

Orientation programs will explain to cadets the type of flying carried on by the army and sample flights will be provided more interested cadets.

Colonel Montgomery explained that although flying is the primary responsibility of the air forces, the army is interested in manpower for its own growing flight program.

Council, Class Petitions Due

Petitions for candidates in the forthcoming elections of class officers and proportional representatives to the Student Council must be in the office of Dean of Women Grace Wilkie by noon, Friday, Sept. 19, council officers announced Monday.

Petitions for class officers — president, vice-president, secretary, each. Petition for proportional representative candidates must bear the signatures of 35 students. Five representative posts are open on the council.

Council members also disclosed that the deadline for petitions for homecoming queen candidates will be September 26. They are to be turned into Dean Wilkie's office, carrying 35 names, including that of the candidate.

At the general election when class officers are picked, two senior students will also be named to the Student-Alumni board. These two students aid the alumni committee in the allocation of funds to the Student-Alumni Placement Bureau and to alumni scholarships.

Plays Together

WU, Community Theatres Unite Forces This Year

The University and Community Theaters will join forces this year in a cooperative venture to produce four dramatic productions.

The union of the theatres was announced recently by Pres. Harry F. Corbin and Mrs. Rene R. Gouldner, Community Theater board chairman. Beginning this fall, the Community Theater will move from the Unitarian Church to the University campus. Both students and townspeople will have parts in the four cooperative plays.

Mrs. Mary Jane Woodard, assistant professor of speech and director of the Community Theater, will direct Community Theater productions. James Stearns will be retained as technical advisor. George D. Wilner, professor of speech and dramatics, will direct the regular University season offerings.

Mrs. Gouldner stated that "we are proud of our new association with the University and deeply appreciative of the fine cooperation which it has shown us. No longer will we have to limit our audiences or our activities because of limited space. We can now become a truly community theater—operating by and for all the people of Wichita."

According to President Corbin, the University is "happy to have the community drama group come to the campus. This move will help strengthen the University's cultural ties with the community. With these two dramatic organizations working together Wichita can highlight its cultural importance in this year."

Law Curtails Wolfish Whistles

The wolf whistle, traditional expression of approval among males, is being curtailed by law, city prosecutor Ted Hill revealed recently.

Under the new city ordinance on indecent offenses, women can take court action against men whistling at them or making wolfish remarks. Hill stated that if a woman signed a complaint, he would have to prosecute.

The section of the ordinance which covers this action reads: "Any person who shall, in the city of Wichita, make any impudent, insulting or licentious advance or salutation to a person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor."

Members of the legal profession were of the opinion that any woman at whom a wolf whistle is directed is entitled to sign a complaint if she considers herself insulted.

It was pointed out that the ordinance also gives the men protection against wolverines, although it was thought highly unlikely that the ordinance would be invoked frequently on behalf of men.

The ordinance, which went into effect a few weeks ago, gives police stronger powers in the handling of indecent offenses, broadens the scope and interpretation of the law, and imposes more severe penalties than before. Penalties range up to a year's imprisonment and fines up to $300.

The Barber Shop

By Bob Barber

School is out! The cry goes echoing through the dignified, peeling walls. Vacation comes at last to weary undergraduates, proud and embarrassed graduates shuffle across a dusty stage, and classes are over for another year. Everyone is through.

But wait. Notice that small group huddled over in the corner? Why don't they go home? Those people won't go home. They will spend the summer on the campus of good old Lucky University deeply submerged in their highly important work.

They Are Not

No, they aren't the Board of Regents or the Athletic Committee. They are not the group who approves the budget and they care nothing about keeping the lawn fresh and green for the appreciative eyes of college students.

This group has a more important, a far more important, duty to perform. Officially called the "Questionnaire Gang" they are responsible for student information cards.

They decide how many groups on the campus want information from various students, then double the number. The Questionnaire men have found that the average student can write 5,987 lines before losing for life, the use of one or both arms, and they govern their total accordingly.

Much Work

Much work goes into making the questions vague, general in character, and meaningless because they believe in making students work for what they get.

Questionnaires are made out by the group for the following organizations: Vice-President's Office, Vice-Dean's Office, Stamp Collectors Club, Library, both due and over-due, Women's Fulfillment Group, County Embalmers Assn., Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Brownies, Association for the Prevention, and Merchant's Self-Enriching Guild.

A sample group of students takes time tests with the cards. If any are able to completely fill out the blanks in less than three hours, the whole procedure is thrown out, and the fellows start from scratch.

After registration is over and every blank is carefully accumulated and stacked in neat piles, the men perform their last duty. They gather up all the material and burn it.

Wichita Museum Sets New Exhibit

The Wichita Art Museum, under the direction of Dr. Eugene MacFarland of the University of Wichita, will exhibit the works of two Chinese-American artists in a display which will open officially at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Works of several Wichita artists will be included in the exhibit of gouaches, lithographs, watercolors and stencils.

The museum, located at Sim Park and Little River, is open from 2 to 6 p.m. on Sunday, and from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Perkins Will Teach Fall Night Course

The addition of Stuart E. Perkins to the faculty of the fall night class program of the University was announced recently by Mrs. Helen Crockett, executive secretary of the extension division.

Mr. Perkins, who will teach a course in juvenile delinquency, holds degrees from St. Olaf College, Norfield, Minn., and Washington University, St. Louis.

A former Missouri child welfare service supervisor, Mr. Perkins has worked as a Red Cross field representative, a juvenile court probation officer, and a family service case worker.

He is now with the Family Consultation Service, 720 West Douglas.

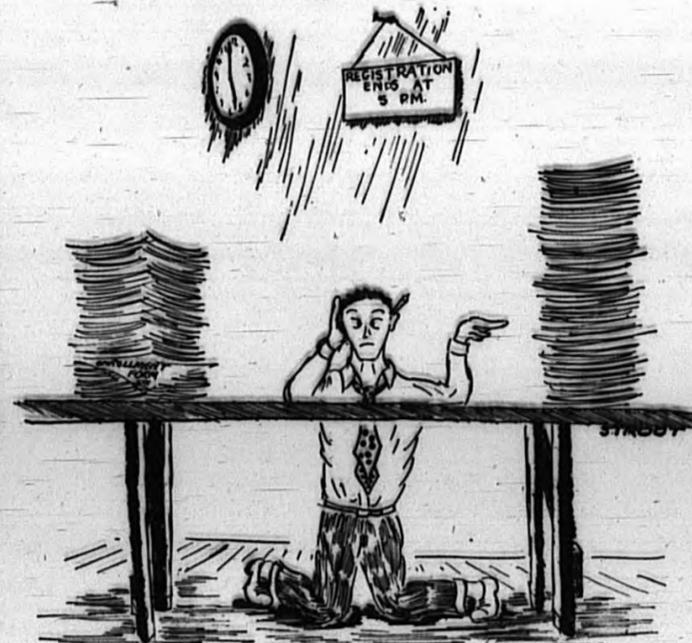

Publishers Decide

Book Price Practice

Book prices in the University's bookstore are established by the publishers and not by the University, according to Frank Robertson, bookstore manager.

The campus bookstore is operated and owned by the University. It is located in the frame structure east of Science Hall and the Administration Building.

New Uniforms

Shockers Start Season Spruced Up In Slick Suits

There will be new glow and sparkle on the football field this season. The reason—new uniforms for the Wheatshockers.

On the home field under new Missouri Valley rules the Munies will appear with black jerseys. In other years the home team wore light-colored jerseys.

Headgear for the Shockers will also be new. The gridders will be outfitted with the new "air-force-type" football helmets. The helmets are gold with a one-inch black and white stripe over the top and are lined with sponge rubber.

On the road the Munies will wear white jerseys with 8-inch black-and-white trimmed numerals. Pants, for both home and games away, will be gold with a black-and-white stripe running down the outside of the leg.

First appearance of the Shockers' new wardrobe will be in Veterans Field Sept. 20.

'Murals Meet to be Monday

There will be an intramural meeting at 1:15 p.m., Monday, in room 103, Men's Gym, to discuss plans for a touch football league and doubles in tennis. Robert Kirkpatrick, director of intramurals, announced today.

Band Needs 3 Majorettes

What's a band without majorettes? That's what the Wichita University Football Band is up against. They have openings for three women to lead the band in one of its first appearances of the season Sept. 20 at the Wichita-Boston game.

The band also has several spots open for clarinet and brass instruments. Those in the football band receive one hour credit and fill their Fine Arts requirement.

Jim Trimble Named Pro Eagles' Coach

Jim Trimble, former University football coach and athletic director, was named head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles professional football team earlier this week.

Trimble joined the Eagles' coaching staff after resigning as athletic director here in the spring of 1951. He came to the University as line coach under Ralph Graham and moved into the head coaching post when Graham went to Kansas State College in 1948.

1952 Shocker Football Hopes Rest On Light Returning Squad

But WU Gridders Might Make Up In Quality For Team's Lack Of Depth, Say Observers

Wichita's football fortunes this year will rest on a squad of only 38 men. But the Shockers will make up in part for their lack of numbers with quality players and high spirits.

In Coach Bob Carlson's second year at the helm, he will start with 20 lettermen, five other returning squadmen, 11 transfers, and two more newcomers. Injuries have been few as yet, but may hamper the Shockers should they become numerous or serious during the ten-game campaign.

In the line, the tackle and guard positions are manned by a number of veterans, but the center and end ranks are thin. At guard, two all-conference selections, Gene Paluzzi and Wayne Ubben, will be on hand, plus veterans Bob Mihalsky and Dan Zollars. A transfer from San Francisco, Bob Schaeffer, and sophomore Bob Hadicke will also see action.

Four Regular Tackles

Tackle positions will be filled by four regulars from last year: George Thomas, Ron Summers, Darrell Hill, and Charley Varner. John Frezza, another letterman, has been shifted from guard to bolster the tackle ranks.

Ubben, defensive bulwark two years ago, will see defensive action at tackle and linebacker, after being out for a year.

Vern Speicher, a husky junior, and Larry Slajchert, a transfer, will both play center, although which one will start is not known. Dean Stuart, six-foot-six, 220-pound transfer from Garden City Junior College, is slated for limited service at center.

Offensive Changes

Coach Carlson will have to find replacements for Mike Knopick and Norb Moranz, top Shocker offensive ends for two seasons. John Walor and Joe Dinda, a pair of defensive aces, may see some action on offense. Elias Thomas, another letterman, will be the only offensive end back, and scheduled to see plenty of action. John Holm, San Francisco transfer, and Bill Pace, moved from the backfield, are figuring in offensive plans. Two frosh, Larry Parker and Tony Struppa, plus Vince Angier, another transfer, are also being readied for action.

In the backfield, the loss of Dick Sanders will leave a gap at quarterback, but Connie Hoffmans, a sophomore who saw considerable action last season as a freshman, Gene Kuhns, another veteran, and transfer John Cronan will all call signals for the Shockers.

All three are good passers and runners. Kuhns, according to reports, will also work as a line-backer, and Cronan, a good runner, may add to the Munie ground game.

Eli Romero, captain and hard-driving fullback, will again run from that post, backed up by Allen Taylor, who will also work on defense.

Two Halfback Lettermen

At the halfback slots there will be lettermen Ray Coleman and Bill Klobuchar, along with transfers Bob Burton, Ray Day, Ken Lawson, and Benny Lee. Burton, a diminutive speedster, Lawson, and Coleman are regarded as probable offensive starters. Klobuchar is mainly a defensive player. Day and Lee also have looked good in practice sessions.

Sanders Signs Pro Contract

Dick Sanders, only three-sport letterman at the University, signed a contract this week with the New York Yankees organization. He will be assigned to Binghamton, N. Y., a Yankee farm club, next spring.

Sanders was a top Shocker football, basketball and baseball player, lettering in all three sports for three years. He also played with Wichita semi-pro teams in local league play, state, and national semi-pro tournaments.

Reported figure of Sanders' contract was around $12,000. He will enroll for the fall semester at the University, and report to the Yankee training camp for minor league players next spring.

During the three seasons, Sanders had quarterbacked Munie football teams; for two he was the total offense leader. In 1951, he had a 3.18 overall offensive average, and a punting average of 38 yards per kick.

In basketball, Sanders had a 4.1 average for the 1952 season, and was fifth high scorer on the squad.

Sports Stew

By D. R. Stewart

As a result of the Bright and Kazmaier incidents last fall, football rules makers have worked over the rule book for the coming campaign. Most of the revisions have been aimed at discouraging rough play and keeping the game under control.

If the reader has forgotten, the Bright and Kazmaier incidents were these: Johnny Bright, Drake's great halfback, received a broken jaw while playing Oklahoma A and M at Stillwater, and Dick Kazmaier, Princeton All-American, received a broken nose and other minor injuries in the season finale against Cornell.

The new rules prescribe that players committing flagrant personal fouls be removed from the game. In addition, the passer is now considered as a ball carrier, even though the ball has left his hands. Being considered as a ball carrier now means that the passer may use his hands and arms to ward off tacklers and protect himself from blockers.

And should the passer be fouled, the penalty is to be measured from the scrimmage line, whether or not the pass was complete. The rules-makers also resurrected the 1948 clipping rule, which prohibits all blocks from the rear.

We believe that the intentions of the rules committee are good, in attempting to curb rough play. But, there is the possibility that, in not calling a foul or removing a player, or otherwise bypassing the rules, some officials may undo the work of the committee.

Another step toward cleaning up football: several of the bigger conferences are not making public the names of officials until game time. Reason: to prevent possible bribes and cut down on gambling.

WICHITA football fans will get a look at more than a few good players this season, but in our opinion the best passer will be Boston's Harry Agganis, due in Veterans' Field for the Shockers' opener Sept. 20.

IN A FEW MORE WEEKS the Ike Waltons will put away their fishing tackle for the winter and haul out the old shotgun, with their sights on duck, pheasant, quail, goose, or just plain rabbit. To them we say, Good Hunting.

CHESTERFIELD

FIRST PREMIUM QUALITY CIGARETTE

TO OFFER BOTH REGULAR & KING-SIZE

BOTH regular and king-size Chesterfields are premium quality cigarettes and come in the smart white pack.

BOTH contain only those proven ingredients that make Chesterfields the best possible smoke: the world's best tobaccos, pure, more costly moistening agents (to keep them tasty and fresh), the best cigarette paper that money can buy — nothing else.

BOTH are much milder with an extraordinarily good taste and, from the report of a well-known research organization — no unpleasant after-taste.

BOTH are exactly the same in all respects. There is absolutely no difference except that king-size Chesterfield is larger — contains considerably more of the same tobaccos — enough more to give you a 21% longer smoke, yet costs little more.
