Red Feather Campus Drive Records Fall

New High Of $2000 In Contributions Set; Thorpe Is 'Ugly Man'

A record of over $2,000 was contributed to the 1952 Campus Red Feather Drive, James Sours, Campus Red Feather chairman, announced this week.

The drive, which officially ended Oct. 18, surpassed the former record of $1,350 by more than $650.

Gene Thorpe, of Alpha Gamma Gamma fraternity, was proclaimed "Ugly Man" on the campus by George Helsel, "Ugly Man" chairman. Thorpe was presented with his trophy, a mug, in a pre-game ceremony Saturday night. The contest was sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, in conjunction with the Red Feather Drive.

Mr. Sours expressed delight with the outcome of the drive and stated, "I believe that our success at the University was of much help in the overall success of the drive."

University faculty and staff members topped their goal of $1,645 and, Mr. Sours stated, were mainly responsible for the "wonderful" outcome of the drive. Students failed to meet their goal of $275 and contributed only $163. This is compared to a 1951 contribution by students of $176.

30 HS Bands Perform Here

Band Day was proclaimed on the campus Saturday afternoon when 30 Kansas high school bands marched on to Veterans' Field in an example of precision and coordination and spelled the words "Kansas Bands."

Under the direction of James Kerr, director of bands at the University, the combined band of 1,915 high school students played the national anthem, and Home on the Range. The selections had not been rehearsed.

Preceding this there had been an afternoon of individual band exhibitions and members of the National Baton Twirlers' Association gave a performance.

The activities were climaxed when the combined bands performed during the half time period of the W.U.-Miami U. game at Veterans' Field Saturday night. Also performing were marching bands from Ponca City, Okla., and from Cimarron, Kan.

Bands participating in the day long activities were from Reno, Goessel, Mulvane, Arlington, Chanute, Ellinwood, Turon, Russell, Udall, Wellington, Valley Center, Plains, Burns, Minneola, Bushton, Geneseo, Planeview, Protection, Miltonvale, Norwich, Douglass, Cunningham, Anthony, Clearwater, Derby, Lakin, Kiowa, Haven, Belle Plaine, and Dexter.

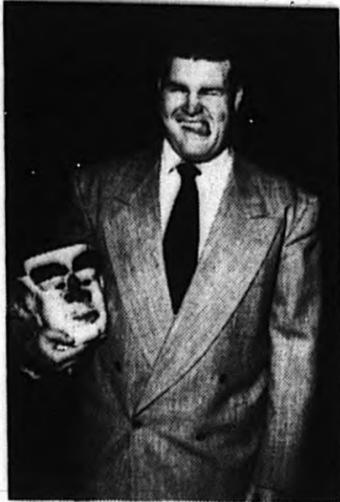

Board Opens For New Members

New Student Forum Board membership openings are available to students of sophomore or junior standing. Russell Watson, vice-president, announced this week.

Application blanks may be obtained from Mrs. Ruth Price, hostess, in the Commons Lounge. The blanks should be filled out and returned to her by next Thursday.

Students who applied before Oct. 1 this year must re-apply, Watson said.

He Sure Is . . .

THE UGLY MAN contest winner was Gene Thorpe of Alpha Gamma Gamma. The traditional beer mug was given to him before the Wichita-Miami football game last Saturday night.

Set Two Rallies Before TU Game

A pep rally will be held Friday at 8 p.m. in front of the Mayo Hotel in Tulsa for the students attending the Wichita-Tulsa football game, said George Parsons, University pep coordinator.

Another rally, followed by a parade, will begin at 4 p.m. Saturday at Skelly Stadium.

Begin On Class Photos Monday

Freshman class pictures will be taken next week in the Commons Lounge by Rorabaugh and Millsap Studios, official Parnassus photographers, Ann Earp, editor, disclosed.

Students will have their photographs taken in alphabetical order. On Monday freshmen whose last names begin with A to C will be photographed; Tuesday, D to H; Wednesday, I to M; Thursday, N to S; and Friday, T to Z. No appointments are necessary, Miss Earp said.

Pictures will be taken from 9 a.m. to noon daily. A deposit of $1 will be required at the time the picture is taken. Proofs will be ready in three days and should be returned within ten days, Miss Earp said.

The week of Nov. 3 to 7, senior pictures will be taken; Nov. 10 to 14, juniors; and Nov. 17 to 21, sophomores.

Directory Sales Begin Next Week

Students directories will go on sale late next week, Sara Goeller, chairman of the student directory committee, said this week.

Price for the directories has been set at 50 cents by the Student Council, sponsors of the project. Students may buy directories in the Commons Lounge.

Instructor Donates To Math Scholarship

The Phi Mu Epsilon mathematics scholarship fund received its second donation in two months, this time from Henry K. Sears, University mathematics instructor.

Mr. Sears asked the income from securities turned over to the University be added to the scholarship fund in memory of his wife, Marion Tessie, who passed away last year.

The previous donation was made by Mrs. E. B. Wedel in memory of Professor Edward Wedel, who died last July.

The fund was established in 1950 by the University chapter of Phi Mu Epsilon, with the income from the fund going to a senior majoring in mathematics. The holder this year is Ann Klein.

'Happy Time' Cast Sips 'Wine,' Studies French For Realism

Did you ever try singing "Loch Lomond" with a French accent? Maybe substituting tepid tea for wine doesn't strike your fancy. Actors in the University Thetaer-Wichita Community Theater production of "The Happy Time" are working on these angles.

Annual Sponsors Picture Contest

A Parnassus-sponsored picture contest will be held on the campus to obtain candid shots for the year book. The pictures will be used in a special section of Parnassus to display campus life.

The contest will be open to all student photographers, according to Ann Earp, Parnassus editor. First prize will be $10; second prize, $7.50; and third prize, $5. All pictures entered must be glossy prints and no smaller than 8x10 inches. Subject matter is unlimited.

Normal Scenes
"Some of the best kinds of pictures can be found in the cafeteria line, the locker chats, the rush to school, and in countless other everyday happenings," Miss Earp said.

All pictures become the property of the year book and will not be returned. Winners and others will be used in a ten-page section of the Parnassus entitled, "Candid Views of W.U."

Deadline in January
The deadline will be Jan. 16, 1953. Winners will be notified before Feb. 5. Members of the year book staff and Gary Millsap of the Rorabaugh-Millsap Studio, official year book photographers, will judge the prints on the basis of naturalness, realism, originality, and technical skill.

Miss Earp said, "We are not seeking snap shots or 'gag' shots; but rather pictures which show some phase of campus life."

Submitted pictures should have identification tags with them unless they are of an extraordinarily large group.

'Barkers' Five Candidates Speak In Arcadia At 'Fair' Tonight

Have you ever desired to face a political candidate and express your views? The opportunity is yours at 8 p.m. tonight in the Arcadia Theater.

Almost every candidate on the state and local scene will be on hand for a Candidates' Fair, sponsored by the League of Women Voters in cooperation with other civic-minded organizations in Wichita.

Five "barkers" will highlight the Fair program as each candidate will campaign for five minutes. These speakers include Ed Rees, Republican incumbent for United States representative, fourth district; Bill Porter, Democrat for United States representative, fourth district; Charles Rooney, Democrat for governor of Kansas; and Garner Shriver, Republican for state senator of Kansas.

Informal Session Follow
Following the speeches, an informal session will be held in the Rose Room, adjacent to the Arcadia in the Forum.

Booths will be set up "along the midway" from which each candidate will distribute campaign literature and answer questions.

Also in this room will be the voter information booth of the League of Women Voters. A booklet on the qualifications of candidates and proper instructions for marking a ballot may be had at this booth.

Good Opportunity
"This meeting affords the opportunity to get in one place the kind of information which would take weeks to collect from different courses," Stephen W. Worth, assistant professor of political science at the University, said recently.

"College students have more than a responsibility to merely vote," Professor Worth said. "They have a responsibility to inform themselves on the relative merits of the candidates and of the issues."

'Un-Secret' Balloting To Test Popularity Of Eisenhower, Stevenson

Plans for an unprecedented type of presidential election were announced today by the editors of the University newspaper, The Sunflower.

The unofficial campus-wide presidential election, which begins today and ends tomorrow, has the unique qualities of being simple, "un-secret," and open to all University students and personnel.

Editors of The Sunflower explained that the election is designed to arouse interest among all members of the University community in the forthcoming national elections. It will also provide a means of enabling those under age to express their choice. It is hoped that, by allowing this under age group to vote in this election, the opinions of this heretofore politically voiceless group, can be expressed.

Simplicity Is Achieved

By using only two names on the ballots greater simplicity is achieved, Bob Barber, Sunflower editor-in-chief, explained.

The two names appearing on the ballot are: Eisenhower and Stevenson. With such a ballot, University opinions on these two candidates can be gathered. It should also be noted that there will be no write-in spaces on the ballots.

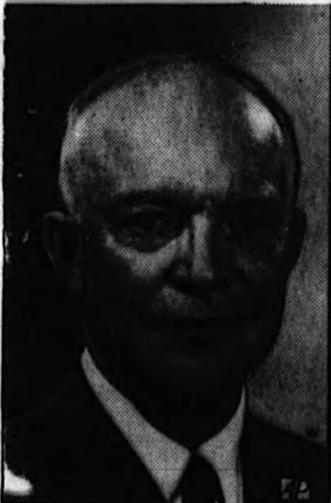

Barber also explained that the vote will be "un-secret," in the fact that voters are required to sign their ballots. Voters will sign their names, not as a method to check individual opinions, but to limit the vote to students, faculty, staff, and other University personnel.

Ballots Appear

That Way

By Virginia Stafford
Sunflower Society Editor

Viewing a football game from the west side of Veterans' Field is like seeing a game away from home according to seniors in the journalism department. They should know, for these students were guests of the University along with the Fourth District editors at the Miami game Saturday night.

The seniors could have seen the tilt from the students' side but it seemed so much nicer to enter the gates showing a red ticket than presenting photo that looks like that of a partner of a guy in Alcatraz.

Of course, it did not matter that the seats were on the 15-yard line and high up in the stands. They were reserved and that made up for lack of yards and depth.

Seats Not Stable But even these reserved seats were not too stable for the ushers got the "I" and "L" rows mixed up so holders of tickets in those two rows were moving about all during the first quarter. The stylish latecomers added to the general confusion as these persons usually held the last places on the end of the 14-seat rows.

Miami players looked like wolves in Little Red Riding Hood clothing in their brilliant colored sideline capes with attached caps. Over on the other side of the field, the WUFFS, Wichita University Football Fans, comprised of grade school students, made an impressive hubbub for our team.

Engagements Named Cupid with his weapon is around again. Friday night at the Delta Omega pledge dance, Betty Summerfield and Bill Holland, ISA member, announced their engagement.

Saturday night, Peggy Sue Rorabaugh, Sorosis member, and Jim Sanders, revealed their engagement.

Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Savaiano announce the birth of a daughter, Nicolette, Oct. 15 at Wesley hospital. Dr. Savaiano is head of the Spanish department.

The couple have one other child, Charles Peter, age 16 months.

Other officers elected at the last meeting of the group are: Spencer DePew, men's vice-president; Wanda Slagle, women's vice-president; Shirley Booth, secretary; Ted Schwieter, treasurer; Ted Poulson, parliamentarian; and Katie Shea, historian.

Buenos Dias Students To Give Summary Of Trip South Of Border

The Spanish Club will hold its regular meeting at 7:30 p.m., tonight at the Alpha Tau Sigma sorority house. Mary Ellen Love and Charles Stansifer will give a summary of the University tour to Mexico which took place this past summer.

The Modern Dance Club will hold its regular meeting tonight at 7 p.m., in the Women's Gymnasium. Jeanine Crowds, president, will preside.

The Women's Recreational Association executive board will have a short meeting tomorrow at 1 p.m., in the Women's Gymnasium.

Gamma Delta, international association of Lutheran students, will hold a progressive supper this Sunday evening at 6 p.m. Members and friends are to meet at Holy Cross Parish Hall, Ninth and Oliver.

Wheaties members are to wear their sweaters for the Tulsa pep rally and game. If possible, members will sit together at the game, Virginia Whitaker, club president, stated.

Miss Faye M. Ricketts, head of the department of secretarial training, was the first graduate of the University College of Business Administration.

Radio Award To Armour

Because of her work with college students, Mrs. Minnie Armour, Alpha Gamma Gamma house-mother, was selected by news commentator George Gow for the "Good Neighbor Award."

Mr. Gow selected Mrs. Armour for the award on an Oct. 17 news program on station KANS. He presents the award to outstanding Kansans on the merit of their contributions to civic betterment and their "good neighbor" qualities.

Mrs. Armour was presented with the "Good Neighbor" certificate and an orchid at a ceremony at the fraternity house Monday.

Subjects Similar To Today But Advice In Column Differs

If a "lovelorn column" would appear in the next publication of the Parnassus, in all probability the answers would be different from replies made in such a column 46 years ago in the University yearbook.

No doubt the subject matter would be the same, for students are still interested in reciprocity, invitations, engagements, holding hands, parties, and grades.

In the 1908 Parnassus, a page was devoted to "Answers To Correspondents," conducted by the correspondence editor of the Parnassus. The answers read as follows:

Maude—No it is not proper to indulge in reciprocity too fully.

Erma—Yes, it is perfectly proper for you to invite a young man to call on Sunday evening, if you are well acquainted with him.

Overton—R.S.V.P. are the letters generally put at the end of an invitation meaning "refreshments served very promptly."

Dr. D—d-g-r, Yes, we think we can recommend Varney's as a reliable place to purchase rings and have engravings done.

Kirk—Certainly, if you receive an invitation with a girl's name on it, let her know at once. She might have another engagement if you leave it until you go after her.

C. Poole—If you ask a young lady to accompany you anywhere, it is under all circumstances your duty to escort her home.

She Say Yes
Martin—Yes, if you are too bashful to give the young lady your picture yourself, it is all right to ask some friends to do it for you.

O. C. G.—If you are quite sure the young lady understands that you intend to take her to the class party, it is not necessary to say anything to her about it.

E. H—g—No, it is not proper to exchange cards with a young man on the street car whom you do not know. If he cares very much he will find a way to be introduced.

Mac—We hardly think it necessary for you to have a special invitation from each member of your class before you can attend the class party.

On Holding Hands
Olive—It is all right to let someone hold your hands if you can't get them warm any other way and are afraid of their freezing, but I wouldn't do it in history class.

Florence—Yes, I should say the family Bible would be a very good place to keep your algebra paper. A grade of 70 certainly ought to be preserved.

At the beginning of "Answers To Correspondents" was written the following:

"Any persons desiring information through these columns will please address letters to Aunt Jerusa, Correspondence Editor of 'Parnassus.' This department is conducted in all secrecy. The names of correspondents at no time being published without full permission."

Florence Hildebrandt, assistant librarian, served in the Women's Army Corps in Europe for 19 months during World War II.

Dr. N. K. Pronko, head of the University psychology department, has lectured in England, France, Germany, Austria, and is at present lecturing in Istanbul, Turkey, as a visiting professor.

THESE HANDS ARE PRICELESS!

They protect the American way of life . . . our homes, our freedoms, our future.

These Hands, sensitively trained to respond acutely to the commands of an alert mind and courageous heart, are the hands of a United States Air Force Pilot.

The skillful touch of these hands attunes the blasting speed of modern jet aircraft to effective missions in discouraging any enemy. These hands are supremely capable of flying and fighting these machines with devastating effect.

These Hands belong to young, spirited American men (not supermen) who desire to live unmolested in a free America . . . who want to enjoy the same rights and opportunities open to all real American people.

These Hands belong to our sons—yours and mine. Youths who must decide today how they can share in defense of our nation and also better themselves. To insure greater chances of their success, today's college men should be encouraged to complete their education and then serve their country best by enlisting as Aviation Cadets in the U. S. Air Force.

Theirs is the choice of becoming either a Pilot or Aircraft Observer. After graduation as Second Lieutenants in the U. S. Air Force, they wear the silver wings of flying executives and begin earning nearly $5800 a year.

These Hands represent a man ready to qualify for this tremendous task because he is between the ages of 19 and 26½ years, unmarried, and in excellent physical condition, especially eyes, ears, heart and teeth. He possesses at least two years of college and the inherent urge to fly.

These Hands shape the destiny of America . . . the difference between our survival and oblivion. The U. S. Air Force needs the hands, the minds and the hearts of young Americans who desire to make the American way a greater way of peace and happiness for all.

Can America
socialism?

SOME NATIONS COULDN'T. And there are people in this country who are trying to push America down the same road.

They don't speak out for socialism openly—they know most Americans don't want it. Instead, they give persuasive reasons for the steps that lead to socialism.

There's one clue that will help you recognize this hidden socialism. It's the old line: "Let the federal government do it—or run it—or take it over—or own and operate it." When you hear that, look out.

For the more things the federal government runs, the closer we are to socialism—whether we want it or not—and the fewer rights and freedoms we have left for ourselves.

America can escape socialism—here's how you can help: Recognize the steps that lead to it. Help your friends and neighbors see the danger. And use your ballot wisely!

Who's Your Choice?

The members of the staff of The Sunflower do not consider it important to announce their choice for the next president. But it will be important to know how the entire student body and faculty at the University stands on the coming election.

Not only will a complete poll be interesting to persons reading this paper but also many others will be interested in knowing the outcome of a straw vote from the University campus close to Dwight Eisenhower's home.

In all probability a candidate for the presidency of the United States will not be chosen from Kansas again during our lifetime. The many students who cannot vote in the November election are given a chance to mark ballots for the straw poll being taken on the campus today and tomorrow.

To get a full picture of the WU campus vote every faculty member and student who has registered should also mark and sign a ballot and drop it in a designated box.

This Younger Generation!

A story in one of last month's slick paper women's magazines outlined at some length the author's belief that the younger generation ain't what it used (or ought) to be.

The theme of the whole thing was that the kids are well down the superhighway to self-destruction and picking up speed all the time.

If one interpreted the piece literally he would entertain the idea that the high school and college set spends most of its time puffing marijuana, gulping highballs, speeding the family car through school zones and in general behaving like hardened profligates.

To some extent these things are true. They may be true enough often enough to warrant a lot of worry. But, frankly, reading constant variations on this theme is getting a little tiresome.

The older generation might well look to its own affairs. While it obviously is true that the child is a forerunner of the man to come, it is equally true that the child is pretty much what its parents make it.

In childhood and early youth, the human animal is an unsophisticated creature. It learns largely through contact with its elders. The conclusion is pretty obvious.

If the head of the household, for example, habitually conducts himself like Rasputin, the mad monk, the child may logically be expected to turn out a bad lot.

Not only does it seem a bit unfair to visit the sins of the fathers on the sons, but the premise that flaming youth will lead to flamboyant manhood doesn't always hold.

Papa Shickelgruber's boy, for example, was a quiet, peculiar sort of lad, obviously a little maladjusted, but apparently harmless. Shickelgruber senior was a bumbling civil servant who took out his ill temper on his frau and son. If he'd known just what he was doing he probably would have been paralyzed with fright.

For after some years of incubation under proper circumstances these peculiarities of little Adolf's built up a full head of steam and—presto! A full-fledged monster was let loose on suffering humanity.

It may be unkind—but not illogical—to suggest to Mama and Papa that they remember their child is their responsibility. By the time he's beginning to exhibit undesirable traits it's too late to do much about it.

Congratulations to Students, Council

After years of procrastination, something has been done to streamline the voting system at the University. Used for the first time during Homecoming Queen elections, the process speeded up the procedure considerably.

Formerly, students had to face a long table in the Commons Lounge, find the correct alphabetical place, ask for a name card, pick up ballots, vote, sign the ballots with their names and ballot numbers, and would then leave, exhausted.

The situation has changed. With the new process, the student shows his ID card, receives the ballots, votes, and on the way out, has his ID card punched.

There are many advantages. First is time. It takes about one-quarter as long to vote as it did. Doing away with the long table of attendants releases many people who would otherwise spend tedious hours passing out cards.

The Sunflower offers congratulations to the students who circulated the petition asking for the change and to the Student Council which passed the measure.

Art Works Worth $18,000 Added To Museum's Collection

First showing of the 1952 acquisitions of the Roland P. Murdock collection of American art was held Sunday at the Wichita Art Museum.

The new acquisitions which includes five paintings in oil, four in water media, and two drawings done by American artists of the current period, is valued at more than $18,000. This makes a total of 107 works in the Murdock collection evaluated at $200,000, according to Dr. Eugene McFarland, director of the Wichita Art Museum.

These new additions were brought to Wichita by Mrs. Elizabeth S. Navas, formerly of Wichita and now of New York, who is the Murdock estate administrator in charge of purchase for the art collection.

"Many of the paintings have increased greatly in value since their original purchase," Dr. McFarland said.

One painting included in the 1952 acquisitions of the Murdock collection, "High Noon" by Arthur Dove, is an oil work which will be reproduced in full color in a forthcoming issue of "Perspective U.S.A.," publication of Intercultural Publications, Inc.

Other paintings are: "Conference at Night" by Edward Hopper; "Skyline" by Charles Sheeler; "Girl with Shako" by Walt Kuhn; "The Islands" by Kenneth Callahan; "Winter's End" by Arthur Kelly; "Detail of Labyrinth" by Ben Shahn; "Terror in the Dawn" by Lawrence Kupferman; and "Field of Goldenrod" by William Kienbusch.

Louise C. Murdock was a pioneer citizen of Wichita and in her lifetime was instrumental in bringing art appreciation to her community. Her bequest to the city of Wichita provided a fund for the development of an art collection, preferably American.

Library Head Is Skilled At Stove: Bakes For Hobby

Library science and culinary artistry are widely divergent subjects, but the University's librarian has earned praise for skill in the stacks and at the stove.

Downing P. O'Harra, librarian here since 1935, says cake-baking is his only hobby. And his products have been popular ever since undergraduate days at Southwestern of Winfield.

In his profession, O'Harra has a reputation as an expert on book publishing in the United States in the period between 1861 and 1901. His research series on the subject, done at the University of Illinois, Urbana, was published in full in Publisher's Weekly.

O'Harra was graduated from Pontiac, Ill., high school and earned his bachelor's degree at Southwestern in 1925. He received his master's from Illinois in 1928. He returned to Southwestern as librarian, leaving in 1935 to head the University staff. He is a member of the Wichita Library Association, Kansas Literary Association and American Association of University Professors.

The Barber Shop

By Bob Barber

The American Institute for Recognition of "Fire and Ice" is plugging for a change. The "girl just like the girl that married dear old dad" is passe, and the modern girl just isn't modern enough.

They say that the experts who "set the feminine mood in beauty and fashion are launching a new American Prototype."

This statement brings up two questions: (1) Who are these fellows who skulk around in secret, not daring to reveal their identity, hiding behind the phrase, experts? (2) When they do get around to telling us what the "Fire and Ice" girl is, how much will it cost us to make our women fit the ideal?

Lurking Manufacturers You can bet your last 49-cent dollar that clothing manufacturers are lurking somewhere in the background, eager to sell dresses, suits, scarves, and knitted mittens to the new "Fire and Ice" women.

These elusive experts are helpful, though. They become effusive in their description of this coming attraction. This lucious creature can be identified by her "siren-like prom gown," and her "skating-on-thin-ice" hairdo.

Slushy Ponds

Now they want our women to look like slushy ponds. It is hard to see how they are going to translate almost-melted ice into something to wear on the head, but it sounds interesting. Excuse us, but we would rather not see the results. We've always liked our women with hair on their heads.

Those hard-hearted old experts are advocating wholesale purchase of mothballs cause they say that is where they're going to put the old fashioned, sugar-and-spice girl. Sure hate to see them do that. Seems a little cruel somehow, but if that's the way they want it—

New Transformation

Ludiker Foresees Training Increase

University students interested in writing careers were called upon by Joe Ludiker, of the training department of the Boeing Airplane Company, to prepare themselves by combining journalism training with college work in industrial engineering, industrial psychology, and education.

Mr. Ludiker, who addressed a combined group of journalism and English students last Tuesday, was the first of a series of writers and editors scheduled to address University, journalism and English students.

He also presented to the students the variety of fields open in industrial writing. He cited such departments as public relations and personnel training as areas in which qualified writers can find ample opportunity for careers.

Mr. Ludiker predicted a rapid expansion in the training services of great industries and that qualified writers will be in demand.

Mr. Ludiker, who graduated from the University in 1951, was former editor of The Sunflower.

Mementos Of World Travels Decorate Dean Hekhuis' Office

Dr. L. Hekhuis, dean of the College of Liberal Arts, has in his office many interesting and highly unusual souvenirs of his world travels.

Those who have visited his office have seen these keepsakes and probably wondered about them. Well, here's the story.

For several years Dr. Hekhuis was head of Voorhees School in Vellore, South India. Many of the articles displayed in the dean's office were collected during his stay in Vellore.

Sahara Pictured Probably most unusual of Dean Hekhuis' south Indian collection is a painting of the Sahara Desert. In dominating blues and yellows, it does a great deal to depict the lonely dryness of the great desert.

Surrounding this picture hang others of lesser size. One of these is a painting of a rice cake shop, picturing some of the activities of south Indians.

Reproduction Displayed Perhaps the most interesting of all his mementos is an Aztec calendar.

This is a plaster replica of the stone original, which measured 14 feet in diameter. It was given Dr. Hekhuis by a friend who had been in the noted Indian ruins. The calendar supports a theory that the Aztec Indians are direct descendants of the ancient Egyptians.

These are only a few of the objects in the dean's office. To see them all you may take advantage of an open invitation from the dean.

Miami of Ohio came to town Saturday night, and there was little question in the minds of those who saw the Redskins play that they have a good team, probably one of the best to play on the Shocker schedule this year.

From Miami press representatives we talked to, the opinion around Oxford is that Miami has a good chance to go through the season undefeated. After seeing them play, we are rather inclined to agree, and say that they will be unbeaten at the end of the season, if they continue to play the way they have to date.

Shocker Coach Bob Carlson termed the Redskin team "terrific," and added that they were one of the best teams that he has seen play here.

Wichita is now halfway through their current grid schedule. The situation facing the Shockers is one not exactly inspiring. While the first five teams have been all classed higher than the Shockers, the remaining five are, with two exceptions, closer to the Shockers class, but still seem to be plenty good.

A reexamination of the first five games shows an increasing numbers of injuries to an already undermanned squad. Currently the injury list includes nine key players. The Shocker squad has done exceptionally offensively and defensively well in all five games, although it has lost four of them.

However, had injuries been less numerous, who knows—maybe the outcome of some of those games would have been different. We aren't using injuries as an alibi for losing games, but merely pointing out that on a small squad, even a few injuries to any player will hinder the squad considerably.

Miami Redskin Gridders Beat WU Shockers 56-7 Saturday

Miami's Redskins took the Shockers' scalps in Veterans' Field Saturday night, rambling to a 56-7 win. It was their sixth straight and widest yet over a Wichita team.

Led by the running of Tom Pagna, John Zachary, Bob Bronston, and a host of speedy sophomores, plus the accurate passing of quarterback Jim Root and Denny Studrawa, Miami racked eight touchdowns and gained a total of 541 yards.

Diminutive Paul Sautter had a perfect night, kicking eight conversions out of eight tries for the Tribe.

The lone Shocker touchdown came midway through the final period. Quarterback Connie Hoffmans passed to end John Holm for 42 yards and a first down on the Miami 21. An exchange of penalties gave the Shockers a first down on the five, and Ken Lawson carried to the two Fullback Eli Romero drove over for the score, and Wayne Ubben kicked the conversion.

Miami ripped off three touchdowns in the first quarter, with quarterback Root figuring in all three.

He hit Clive Rush and Zachary with scoring passes, the latter going for 51 yards. Another, to Pagna, was incomplete, but officials ruled interference, and Pagna carried over from the one on the next play.

Root added one himself in the second, Bronston and Zachary two more in the third, and Studrawa, a sophomore passer connected with back Dick Hunter and end John Stottlemeyer for the final two.

Shockers Seek Second Win Over Tulsa Oilers

Wichita's Wheatshockers will open the second half of their schedule when they take on the Golden Hurricane of Tulsa University at Skelly Stadium Saturday night.

Tulsa, packing a 2-1-1 record into the Wichita tilt, will move up the Missouri Valley ladder should they win their first Valley game Saturday. Previously they lost to Houston 33-7. In the Shockers' two Valley games, they have lost to Detroit and Oklahoma A. and M.

Coach Buddy Brothers will have five backs ranking in the top 17 in the Valley — Howard Waugh, Chuck Kelly, Ed Hughes, Dick Kercher, and Jake Roberts. Waugh is currently leading the pack in rushing statistics.

The Hurricane aerial attack is engineered by quarterback Don Morris, who ranks third in passing, with end Willie Roberts currently ranking second in receiving.

Coach Bob Carlson planned to hold the Shocker squad to light workouts this week in order to hold down the injury list, which includes a dozen key men on the Munie squad. However, most of these probably will be ready to go by Saturday, Carlson indicated.

ground out 17 first downs and 314 yards, operated mainly around the ends, rarely going through the middle of the line.

Wichita, however, was not as far out of the game as the score might indicate. Running by Romero, Lawson, Ray Day, Ray Coleman, and Allan Taylor, plus Hoffmans' passing kept Miami defenders busy, although they throttled most of the Shocker drives into Miami territory.

Hoffmans, who took over punting duties, because of a slight knee injury suffered by Romero kicked six times, averaging 36.6 per kick, and booting the Shockers out of danger more than once.

Shocker Frosh Edge By Tulsa

Two conversions by Jack O'Toole clinched a victory by the Wichita freshmen over the Tulsa freshmen last week. The Shocker frosh won 26-25 in a wide open game.

The Hurricane freshmen led at the half 18-7, although the Munies had scored first on a pass from quarterback Bob Marston to end Jim Hill in the first quarter. Hill intercepted a Tulsa pitchout and sprinted 37 yards to score early in the third quarter. Bob Ryley added another a few minutes later on a 40-yard run to put the Shockers out in front 19-18.

Tulsa climbed back on top on Bobby Waugh's 40-yard sweep late in the third, before Marston scored to tie the game. O'Toole's second kick was good to clinch the Shocker win.

Three of the Hurricane touchdowns came via the passing route with one being a 95-yard play, another good for 44 yards.

The game was played at Okmulgee, Okla.

NOSE, THROAT,

and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."
