Regents Hear Arena Report

Board Approves Plans For Air Conditioning

Plans for future installation of an air conditioning unit in the sports arena soon to be constructed were reinstated at the Board of Regents meeting Friday at the Hotel Lassen.

Original plans which called for air conditioning were abandoned at a previous meeting due to financial reasons.

Mr. S. C. Brennan, chairman of the Board, said at Friday's meeting, "We would be remiss in our duty if we failed to provide for the installation of air conditioning in this public facility in the long range picture."

The Regents then instructed the architects, Schmidt, McVey, and Peddie, to plan for year round air conditioning in the auditorium half of the building, which is to be completed by September 1955.

The Regents Board heard a financial report from the business office on the financing of the new arena and authorized the issuance of revenue and taxation bonds for financing the structure.

An allocation of $2,350 was made at the meeting for the completion of the audio-visual laboratory in the basement of the library.

Mr. Lawrence Hall, assistant professor of Engineering, was granted a leave of absence for the spring semester. He plans to do graduate work during his leave.

Profs, Students Exhibit Paintings

Three instructors and three graduate students of the art department were represented in the seventh annual oil painting exhibition conducted by Missouri Valley artists.

The one-week exhibition was held in the Mulvane Art Museum, Washburn University, Topeka, Kansas, Nov. 11 to 18.

Artists representing the University in the exhibition were Eugene McFarland, head of the art department; Prof. Robert Kiskadden of the art department; Patric Rowley, lecturer; Oscar Larmer, graduate student and assistant to the museum director; Dwayne Baumgartner and Hobart Hays, both graduate students and teaching fellows of the art department.

Dr. McFarland and Hays presented two paintings while others displayed one.

The exhibition is open to artists from Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, and Missouri. Selections were made by Dwight Kirsch, director of the Des Moines Fine Arts Center, and Eugene Kingman, director of the Joslyn Museum in Omaha, Nebr.

Leadership Workshop

To Outline Officers' Duties

Four members of the University faculty will speak in the Commons Lounge today from 8 a.m. through noon in connection with the Leadership Workshop, which is being sponsored by members of the Senior Honor Women's group.

Fifty campus organizations will be represented by two members each at the Workshop.

The four speakers will speak simultaneously in the various rooms of the Lounge, with each speaking four different times during the morning. Representatives may then have a chance to attend whichever discussion they choose. Purpose of the Workshop is to acquaint the organizations with responsibility and leadership problems which they may face on the campus.

Discussing the problems presidents and vice-presidents may be faced with will be Dr. Emory Lindquist, University professor. Mrs. Kathryn Griffith, assistant to President Harry F. Corbin, will speak on the responsibilities of campus organization secretaries. Assistant Professor of Accounting C. H. Krueger will report and discuss treasurers problems and re-

Pix Proof Deadline Set For Nov. 25

Final date for returning proofs of individual pictures for the Parnassus has been set as Nov. 25 by co-editors, Katie Shea and Dick Franklin.

They said the yearbook staff could not assure the use of pictures proofs of which are not returned before Thanksgiving.

Herman Heads Planning Group

"Wichita—Its Children and Youth" will be the subject when the University holds its second conference on public affairs next spring.

Dr. Hugo Wall, chairman of the conference committee, announced this information last Saturday. Dr. David Herman, associate professor of psychology, was appointed chairman of the conference planning committee.

"The committee will attempt to analyze the city as a place for our children to grow up," Dr. Herman said.

The university will seek the aid of a community advisory council in conducting the conference which will be held next April. The program will last three days.

A similar conference, known as the Mid-century White House Conference on Children and Youth, was held in Washington, D. C., in 1950. Many of the problems to be discussed will be a repeat of this conference. Consideration will be given to mental, physical, and spiritual qualities.

Dr. Herman said that the conference would consist of a series of roundtable discussions having to do with the family, church, and school. Juvenile delinquency will be one of the major topics to be covered.

Two years ago the university held its first public conference on city problems of Wichita.

Dr. Baker's

Condition Improved

Dr. H. H. Baker, professor of education, is progressing satisfactorily at his home following an illness and an extended period of medical treatment in Wesley Hospital, according to a report issued by his family. If he continues to improve, he intends to assume office hours in the near future, according to his wife, Mrs. Baker.

responsibilities. Dean of Women Jean F. Baird will speak on the responsibilities of social chairmen.

A banquet in the Alibi from 6 until 8 p.m. will close the Workshop. After dinner speaker will be Dean Jack Matthews, dean of students at Missouri University. His topic will concern the responsibility of leadership on this campus. His speech will acknowledge organizations whose problems are constantly changing due to a growing university.

Officers of the Senior Women's Honor Group are Shirley Meyers, president; Frances Spalding, vice-president; Marilyn Chamberlain, secretary; Pat Terrill, treasurer; Marjorie Coover, publicity chairman; and Lee Ann McIntosh, historian.

Due to error last week's issue of the Sunflower reported the Workshop as convening Tuesday.

Sunflower To Rest Until December 3

The Sunflower will take a vacation next week, but will return to the newsstands Dec. 3. The paper will not be published next week due to the intervening vacation period.

According to Dave Wilkinson, editor-in-chief, 15 issues of the paper will be published this semester. Five editions will be published yet this semester, he said.

Vaughn Monroe, Sauter-Finegan Will Give Show Here Tuesday

The Camel Caravan will bring to the campus next Tuesday three of the leading names in popular music. Scheduled for 4 p.m., the show will be in the Commons Auditorium.

The show will feature popular ballad crooner, Vaughn Monroe and the 21-piece orchestra of Eddie Sauter and Bill Finegan.

Vaughn Monroe has been an audience favorite for many years. Three of his records, "There I've Said it Again," "Mule Train," and "Racing with the Moon," have sold over a million copies each.

Appeals To Public According to Time magazine, the Sauter-Finegan Orchestra has done much to disprove the Tin Pan Alley axiom that the average mental age of its clientele is 12 years. When the first Sauter-Finegan record, "Doodletown Fifers," became a hit, the record industry was amazed that something so uncommercial would appeal to the public, the magazine said.

The New York Times sums up the band's originality by saying that it uses a, "Startling departure in rhythmic and harmonic concepts." Altogether 21 players, 77 instruments, and 10 microphones are used by the band.

Show Will Be Aired Members of University Radio Station KMWU staff will observe the techniques of the CBS engineers recording the show. Thirty minutes of the 90-minute show will be recorded and played back on the

To Start Work On New Lab

Additional Facilities For Industrial Research

A new one-story building will be added to the University's Industrial Research Foundation's facilities here. Construction will commence this week, according to Dr. Luther Lyon, director of the Foundation.

The new laboratory building, to be located north of the Wind Tunnel, will increase the Foundation's present available floor space by 9,000 square feet. General mechanical engineering research facilities, a combustion research laboratory, a chemical engineering pilot plant, and staff offices will be housed in the building. Foundation officers, however, will remain in their present location, first floor, Science Building.

Upon completion of the building, several of the larger engineering projects will be shifted to the new location, Dr. Lyons said. The vacated area on the fourth floor of the

The second annual opera sponsored by Opera Workshop will open a four-day run at 8:30 tonight in the Commons Auditorium.

"Marriage of Figaro," is directed by Robert Minser, instructor in voice. He is assisted by James Fudge, assistant professor of music. The cast is composed of students from the School of Music. The University Orchestra will accompany the group.

Rehearsals have held several afternoons and evenings each week for the past month despite the other musical engagements of the cast members and the illness of Mr. Minser who underwent an appendectomy two weeks ago. During his absence, Professor Fudge was in charge of the group. Mr. Minser returned after a weeks convalescence.

Count Desires Susanna

Figaro, known as the "Barber of Seville," falls in love with the lovely Susanna, lady in waiting to the Countess, and wishes to marry her. The Count Almaviva, husband of the Countess, desires Susanna for himself and tries to enforce the ancient custom of "Droit du Seigneur" to prevent the marriage.

The marriage is further complicated by Marcellina who wants Figaro as her lover. The Count is forced by his subjects into allowing the marriage after much intrigue during which a page masquerades as Susanna and embarrasses him into allowing the ceremony. Marcellina withdraws her objections when it is discovered that Figaro is in reality her long lost son.

Leadership, Camp Topics Of Meet

ROTC summer camps and methods of evaluating the leadership ability of cadets were two of the main topics discussed here Tuesday at the Air Science and Tactics Conference.

Eleven colleges and universities in the area were represented at the conference.

Heads of air ROTC departments from schools offering the course in Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Kansas met on the local campus to discuss problems in administration.

This was the second such conference sponsored by the Air Force. According to Major Raymond Heberling, assistant professor of air science, the local campus was picked as the meeting place because of its central location.

The day long conference ended with a tour of the local ROTC facilities.

Experienced Cast Chosen For 'Angel Street'

"Angel Street," a Victorian melodramatic mystery, will be presented by the University Theater Dec. 10, 11, and 12.

Three members of the cast of "Angel Street" have had wide high school, University and service dramatic experience, George D. Wilner, director of the play, said Monday.

The three, all sophomores, have appeared in several Community Theater, University Theater, and high school productions.

Judy Greenberg, who plays Mrs. Manningham, appeared as Felice in the "Happy Time," and as the baroness in "First Lady," which were presented by the Community Theater. She also appeared in "Pride and Prejudice," "George Washington Slept Here," and "Murder By Morning," at Wichita High School East. She also directed several high school plays and skits.

Jerry Hurley, who appears as Mr. Manningham, played the part of Gratiano in "Othello," which was presented last year. At St. Mary's High School he played the lead in "Peg 'O My Heart," and a minor role in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

Joseph Seaton, who portrays Inspector Rough in the play, gained his dramatic experience from several English community theaters. For several months he directed community theater groups in Reading, Newbury, and London. He appeared in the title role in "Macbeth," and as Benedict in a modern version of "Much Ado About Nothing."

The remaining two members of the five-member cast are freshmen. Kathy Blocker, who plays the maid Nancy, was active in dramatic productions at Haven High School.

Phyllis Gaskill, who portrays the other servant, Elizabeth, played prominent parts in presentations at Wellington High School.

PI KAPPA PSI sorority house is located at 3616 Clough Place, commonly known as Sorority Row. The sorority was organized in 1922 by members of other sororities and freshmen women.

Members Of 3 Social Groups
Formed Pi Kappa Psi Sorority

By Jenive McGrew

Pi Kappa Psi sorority was formed "because of the love of girls for girls." In 1922 the number of girls on the campus made it impossible for the three existing societies to take them into membership.

To preserve the spirit of democracy on the campus, the organizations decided against closed membership, and 10 girls from Alpha Tau, Sorosis, and Delta Omega sororities, and 10 freshman girls formed Pi Kappa Psi.

This meant that every girl who entered college here might become a member of one of the organizations.

Honors Are Frequent

Honors of the sorority are many and frequent. Two queens have been chosen from Pi Kap this year. Eva Jo Rucker was "Varsity Sue," and Lee Ann McIntosh was chosen "Homecoming Queen."

Social functions of the organization include: semi-annual pledge dances, Christmas formal dances, Spring formal dances, a Birthday Dinner, and a Christmas Mothers' Party. Each year at Christmas time the sorority participates in a charity project.

Choose "Joe" College

Traditionally, a "Joe College" is chosen by women of the sorority and honored at the Christmas formal dance. Dan Carney, Alpha Gamma Gamma, was chosen for the honor last year.

President of Pi Kappa Psi is Lee Ann McIntosh; vice president, Susan Austin; treasurer, Elaine Earl; secretary, Charlotte Noe; pledge mother, Virginia Fullerton; sergeant-at-arms, Lounelle Smith and Phyllis Smith; corresponding secretary, Norma Hoagland.

Mrs. Laura Cross is sponsor of the sorority. First sponsor of the organization was Dr. Hazel Branch, head of the Zoology Department.

Outstanding Kansas high school graduates are eligible to apply for University of Wichita Alumni Fund scholarships which cover the full cost of tuition at the school.

College students usually don't spend too much time worrying about anything—with rare exceptions during examination periods. They can go for several weeks with only a few hours' sleep a night and not complain. But when they have to wait in line for meals, the complaints start to be heard. Wichita students are not exceptions in this practice. Since the Cafeteria has been reserved for residents of the Men's Dormitory, thus adding to the noon hour congestion of the already crowded Alibi Room, they have become vocal in their complaints.

The reason for restricting the Cafeteria for the use of Men's Dormitory residents was to be able to serve adequate meals at a cost allowed by the dormitory fees. By feeding one menu to a specified number of persons, much of the waste and extra expense of preparing food is saved, and better meals are assured for the Dorm residents.

In an attempt to ease the congestion in the Alibi Room, the University has considered several solutions. Opening the Cafeteria to the public after the Dorm residents have been fed, or selling meal tickets which would be used within a specified period have been suggested. Plans used by other colleges are also being studied.

By the start of the second semester a satisfactory program should be in operation.

An Unavoidable Mess?

Farmers sometimes pray for rain to revive their crops. City officials talk of seeding clouds to produce rain to fill dwindling reservoirs. Custodians at the University, however, have reason to dread rain.

Immediately after rain starts falling on the campus, mud starts covering classroom floors. Unfortunately it seems to be an unavoidable mess on the campus.

There are several choice spots on the campus for wet weather hog raising. One of significant mud production is the area east of Neff Hall, between that building and the ROTC Armory. Here, under the auspices of rain or snow, a heavy yield of mud is churned up by students commuting between the two buildings. Another source of nuisance is the ungraveled paths and undrained gutters.

Recently a contribution to clean classrooms was completed when a concrete walk was laid between Grace Wilkie Residence Hall and Neff Hall. Forms are being set for another walk connecting the two buildings. It's good to see this type of work finally being initiated on the campus, however, it should be extended to other needy areas of the campus.

Mud has its place, but it's not in the classroom.

Worth To Discuss Federal School Aid

"Shall There be Federal Financial Assistance to the Public Schools?" will be the main subject at the November meeting of the Wichita Council on Education.

Stephen W. Worth, assistant professor of political science, will discuss the topic at the meeting with Miss Phyllis Burgess, counselor of West High School.

The meeting will be held at the Innes Tea-room at 6:15 p.m. Tuesday. Dr. Jackson Powell, dean of the College of Education is program chairman for the meeting.

English Office

Adds Modern Touch

Art in the English department office took a modern turn recently with the presentation and display of a novel form of artistic endeavor, a suspended, mobile sculpture. John Pearson, junior majoring in English, constructed the mobile and hung it over Prof. William Nelson's desk in the English office.

This unusual office equipment was made from piano wire and thin painted brass sheets. Pearson entitled his sculpture in motion, "Fireflies Listening to Violin Music."

The mobile is suspended from the ceiling by a series of paper clips woven together. Pearson chose the position above Professor Nelson's desk because windows can be opened allowing necessary draft for the mobile's movement.

Pearson has sold several mobiles in Wichita. He feels that his latest achievement is an improvement over some of his earlier works in this media.

'Italian-look' Influence Keeps Gals Hair Short

By Babs Spivey
Sunflower Society Editor

Short and smooth with a European influence, marks the new trend in hair styles for the college woman these days.

Hair styles, with the Italian influence being the most popular, are soft and casual with sweeping lines that curl the hair softly around the head framing the face.

Some of the Italian designs most popular with the college co-ed are the "Italian boy," which has replaced the "poodle cut," the "Italian flair," the "new mood," and the "pointed shortie," in popularity.

Frame Face

The "Italian boy" cut features soft half curls that swirl down from a high crown and frame the face, with the part in the middle.

A sophisticated hair-do is the "Italian flair." Wispy locks of hair flow over the temples and above the eyebrows, while soft curls are brushed in all directions on the sides. A contour molding is achieved in the back with ends brushed straight to hug the neck.

The frivolous "new mood" design also lends a sophisticated air. Parted on the left, and brushed high in front, the "new mood" has soft curls around the head with a wave low in back. Wispy half-curls frame the right side of the face, especially over the temple.

Gives Wind-blown Effect
"Tornado" effects are achieved in the new "pointed shortie." From the pivot on the crown, tiny jagged wisps of half-curls are brushed in all directions. This creates a wind-blown effect that is very becoming to most face shapes.

Another popular style this year is the "Peter Pan" variation. The hair is cut short and straight. A wave is placed low in the back where the hair hugs the nape of the neck.

"Fringe-in-front" is also a short and straight design with a wave all the way around the head. The bangs from which the style derives its name, are somewhat jagged and fall forward in a rolled effect.

More of the new designs created this season are the "shepherd boy," "umbrella," "swing and swirl," "starlight," "little sis," "swing about," "fantail," "bobcat," "holiday belle," "sweet delight," and just about any other name that is in the hairdressers' vocabulary.

This year's most popular tint is red. All shades from auburn to true red are being featured.

Hair stylists say that any shape of face can wear the new short and

'Rabblouser'

Paper Keeps Staff In Line

By Jenive McGrew

It has been said that a newspaper is a transitory thing, here today and gone tomorrow. But it is improbable that there exists a more transitory newspaper than an ethereal publication named "The Rabblouser," produced silently and rather mysteriously by the upperclassmen of the journalism department.

This chalky news page is an occasional publication, in the literal meaning of the expression, appearing at intervals ranging from two to four times a week.

Started in 1949 under the original title of "Red Star Gazette," the "Rabblouser" has for several years helped produce an esprit de corps among student journalists at the University.

With a blackboard in The Sunflower newsroom in the Communications Building as both its location and its substance, it has provided a means of professional self-criticism for the very persons who edit it, and for its sister publication, The Sunflower.

A five-column tabloid lettered neatly, although laboriously, in chalk, it is one of the few news publications, if not the only one, in the country with no circulation problems, mechanical printing headaches, advertising, or overhead costs, and published on no more than a single page (on one side only, of course).

Who edits the publication is somewhat of a mystery except that tradition and custom delegate the task only to upperclassmen active on The Sunflower, its sister journal.

Produced on off-duty hours, in no way encroaching on staff jobs or class time, the smudgy tabloid's columns are read with interest by all who pass before it during the working day. It is estimated to have a reading circulation of about 60.

Its peaks of editorial activity occur in the early morning hours before the hustle of 8 o'clock classes and in late afternoon after the last Sunflower headline has been written and editors' pencils placed aside.

Journal Deflates Egos

Sometimes caustic but never cruel, the lampooning blackboard journal, say those closest to it and the objects of its articles, plays a part in diminishing the questionable sentiment of self-importance.

The chalky-talky, one page newspaper consists largely of informative headlines without lengthy stories. It is a parody of other newspapers and presents a humorous self-analysis of the faults and weaknesses of journalism majors and minors.

The chalky periodical traditionally ridicules sharply Communist dominated publications by giving a humorous Communist cast to reporting, in a friendly way, the foibles of those participating in its publication.

Changed Name In 1950

In late 1950 the name was changed from Red Star Gazette to "The Rabblouser" as a more direct means of ridiculing Communist dominated newspapers.

The ethereal tabloid is produced uncensored, but not once to date has it crossed the line of good taste or decency. Moral and ethical tone, although humorous, is high. It maintains dignity with humor, and is considered by staff members to be a healthy sign.

A list of its past editors and numerous contributors reads like a roll-call of many well-known names on the campus during previous years.

Drew Staff Together

Mike Miller, editor-in-chief of The Sunflower, and also of the class of '51, used the ghostly publication frequently to get a point across or to draw his staff together with mutually-shared humor.

Cliff Kraus, editor-in-chief of The Sunflower and graduate of '52, and Jack Campbell, sports editor, desk editor, and member of the class of '51, left their imprint on the blackboard journal. So did Bob Barber, editor of The Sunflower in 1953 and member of the class of that year, whose chalky and caustic headlines in "The Rabblouser" are talked about even today.

Many others contributed too, men and women now professional newspaper people who participated in and well remember that most transitory of all newspapers, the ethereal "Rabblouser" — focal point of journalistic humor and good-natured self-criticism.

Larmer Art Show Now In 2nd Week

An exhibition of nine paintings by Oscar Larmer, graduate student in the art department and assistant to the director of the Wichita Art Museum, is now in its second week of display at the McCormick-Armstrong Printing Company office, 1501 E. Douglas.

The exhibition, five water color and four oil paintings, started Nov. 9 and will continue until tomorrow evening.

Larmer is president of the Wichita Artists Guild, an organization of local professional artists.

Mitchell Men Use New Weapon To Outscore Jacks Saturday

84-yard Run By Hollmer, 2 Short Plunges Pile Up Early Lead Over South Dakota Team

The University of Wichita sprung a new offensive weapon—the long break-away run—and went on to a convincing victory over the high scoring South Dakota state Jackrabbits, 39-13.

The Shockers left little doubt as to the outcome when they tallied three times in the opening quarter on one yard plunges by Bob Burton and Allen Harp plus an 84-yard scoring jaunt by fullback Chuck Hollmer.

Welch Tallies First

The Jackrabbits, who entered the game with a 31-point per game average, got their offense rolling in the second quarter and scored all their points for the night. Jerry Welch, leading ground gainer on the State squad, tallied first on a 17-yard end sweep and Ashmore completed the Rabbit scoring on a one yard plunge.

But the Shockers matched the Staters point for point in the second period with a one yard TD smash by Burton and a 65 yard sprint by fullback Bennie Lee.

With a 32-13 halftime cushion, coach Jack Mitchell substituted freely in the final periods.

Bob Burton scored the final touchdown of the night as he slipped off right guard and went 40 yards behind good blocking for the score.

Hollmer, Burton Gain

For the second consecutive week Chuck Hollmer and Bob Burton turned in creditable ground-gaining performances as they ran for 125 and 117 yards respectively.

Although the Shockers crashed the South Dakota defense for numerous long gains, their national defensive average received a blow as the Staters rolled for 286 yards on the ground and in the air, far and above the 160.1 average yards yielded, which rated the Shockers first in the nation on total defense last week.

Wichita closes the season against Detroit University on Thanksgiving day in Veterans Field.

What's The Score?

By Mike Anderson
Sunflower Sports Editor

Although flashing a strong running attack against South Dakota State, last weekend, the Shockers weakened enough on defense to be knocked from the top spot in the national total defense rating. The Shockers were replaced in the top spot by Southern Methodist University, who by virtue of a stingy defense against Arkansas, climbed into the first place position with a 168.0 average. Wichita dropped to second place with a 175.9 average as compared with last week's 160.1.

Much credit should be given to line coaches George Bernhardt and Pete Tillman for the defense showing the Shockers have shown this year. Although expressing disappointment over last week's defensive weakness, Bernhardt still held an optimistic attitude. "We still may finish in first place if our defense is up to par against Detroit but we will have to show a better defense than we did last week."

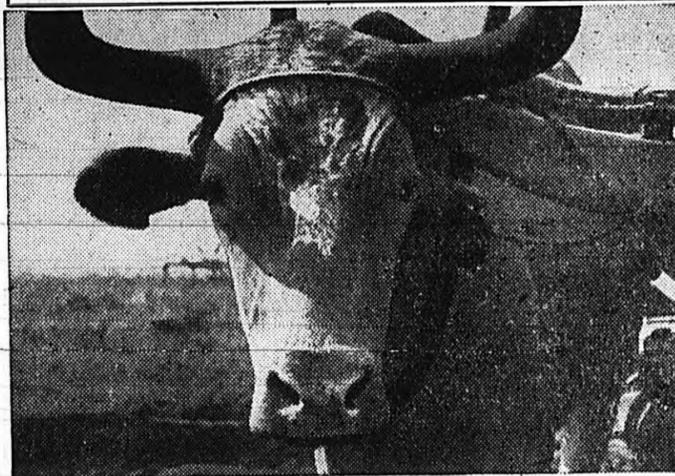

Bernhardt added that the second unit gave up most of the yardage which the Jacks ground out in the second quarter.

Missouri Valley teams gave a good account of themselves in last week's games. Topping the list was Houston, which had been beaten two times in valley play this season. They walloped a Baylor team 37-7 last Saturday and only two weeks ago the Bears from Baylor were listed in the top ten in the nation. Almost as shocking as the Houston victory was the way the Oklahoma Aggies ran over Kansas University, 41 to 14. Although Kansas is not as strong as in past years, it shows that the Valley is no pushover for anyone.

"Your hair's no yoke" bellowed Sheedy's gal. "Those cowlicks look awful. Why not take the bull by the horns and get yourself some Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's favorite hair tonic? Keeps hair combed without greasiness. Makes you look cud-dly. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Relieves annoying dryness. Contains Lanolin. Non-alcoholic. I won't cow-tow 'til you start using it heifery day." Paul was udderly stunned, so he bought some Wildroot Cream-Oil for just 29¢. He told his girl the good moos and now they're hitched for life. So just steer yourself down to any toilet goods counter for a bottle or handy tube. And remember to ox your barber for Wildroot Cream-Oil too. You'll be the cream of the campus—and that's no bull.

Cage Season Begins With Inter-Squad Tilt

Basketball will steal the spotlight from football next week when the University of Wichita freshman meet the talented varsity Friday, Nov. 27 at 8:30 p.m. in the Forum.

This will give fans a chance to get a glimpse of the future Shockers and also the varsity which has been tabbed as one of the best ever to represent the University.

Coach Ralph Miller will have nine lettermen at his disposal including last season's starting five, the six top scorers, plus a group of sophomores, which last year as freshmen won the Missouri Valley A.A.U. cage crown.

University students and faculty members will be admitted to the inter-squad game on their activity tickets.

Wichita finished the 1952-53 season with 16 wins and 11 losses against some of the top notch competition in the nation. Included in the victories was a 73-62 victory over the always tough Oklahoma Aggies.

The Shockers open the regular season Tuesday, Dec. 1 when they take on the Ft. Hays Teachers of the Central Conference in the Forum and then take a western tour to meet Seattle University and Portland U. before returning to Wichita to meet Washburn University on the Forum Court on Dec. 10.

The Shockers will have a rugged 30 game schedule which takes them from Washington and Oregon to New York and from Michigan to Texas. Besides regular league foes Oklahoma A&M, St. Louis U., Detroit, Houston, Tulsa, the Shockers will face Bradley, Seattle, Hamline, Drake, Canisius, St. Bonaventure, Oklahoma City U.

Coach Ralph Miller says that the Shockers will lift themselves out of the conference cellar but did not commit himself as to who would have the unenviable spot.

Miller went on to say that the Valley produces some of the best basketball in the nation and it would be tough to predict how the Shockers would stack up.

"The Valley is always one of the nation's toughest leagues but this year is really going to be great," he said. "All of the second division teams are stacked with reserves and could beat the big teams on good nights."

Leading the Shockers into what could be their greatest season are Veterans Cleo Littleton, two time all Missouri Valley cager and leading scorer with 1,050 points in two years; Jim McEnerney, last year's most valuable player for the Shockers; Merv Carman, the towering 6-8 center; Gary Thompson, steady man and floor general; Paul Scheer, deadeye jump shot artist; and lanky Don Laketa, late season addition to the Shockers last year.

With the return of capable reserves Verlyn Anderson, Tippy Tucker, Alex Chuk, Dean Sutcliffe and talented sophomores Leo Carney, Jim Strathe, Bob Hodgson, Rod Grubb, Bob Argumedeo and Glen Boyer, the Shockers will have a strong lineup from top to bottom.

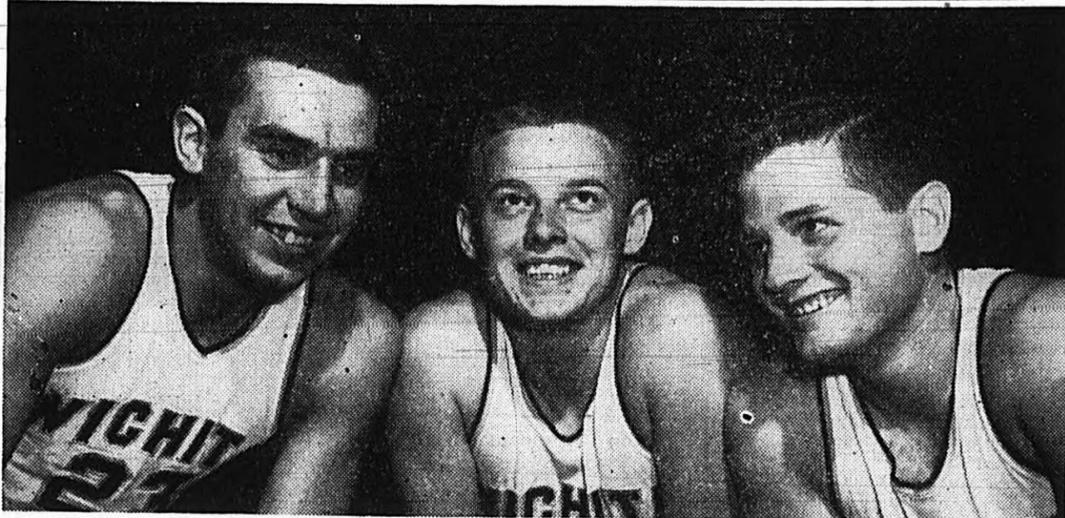

Phi Sigs, Gammas, Dorm Are Victors

Intramural volleyball started last Thursday with six games played.

In the Gold League, the Phi Upsilon Sigma "B" opened with a victory over Phi Mu. Other games saw the Men's Dorm whip the Gamma "B" and the Webster "B" take ISA.

The opening game in the Black League saw Gamma "A" defeat FOF. Phi Sig "A" won over the Thirsty Throng while the physical education department rolled past the Webster "A".

Eighteen games are on tap for the race.

BACK AGAIN—When the Shockers take the floor for the season's basketball-opener against Ft. Hays, State, Dec. 1, three lettermen will be beginning their last year of eligibility. Playing their last season for the Shockers are (left to right) Alex Chuck, Paul Scheer, and Gary Thompson.

Websters Win Touch Crown

The Men of Webster team was crowned champions of intramural touch football last Tuesday afternoon. The Webster team won a close and hard fought game from the Alpha Gamma Gamma ball club. The final count was 15-13.

A safety in the third period of play proved to be the deciding factor.

Early in the first quarter the Gamma team drove into striking distance of the Webster goal but failed to score until the latter part of the period when Gene Kuhns passed to Don Bales. The try for point was missed and the quarter ended 6-0.

On a series of short gains, the Webster men tied the count in the second period. The scoring play went from Robert Bocock to Duane Clum.

Late in the first half, after an intercepted pass, Kuhns again fired this time to Dale Greenlee. The half-time score stood 13-6 in favor of the Gamma's.

Shortly after the half, the Websters pushed their rivals back for a safety. Then in the dying seconds of the third period a Robert Bocock to Gary Coover pass clicked for a touchdown. This ended the scoring although both teams threatened in the final period.

The game was evenly played, but bad breaks hampered the losers throughout.

Wichita, DU Tilt On Grill For Turkey Day

Winner May Grab 2nd Spot In Valley

Two present contenders for second place in the Missouri Valley, University of Wichita and Detroit University, will meet Thanksgiving Day in an afternoon game—the final tilt of the season for the Shockers.

Heavily laden with record-breaking backs, the Titans of Detroit toppled Oklahoma A and M last week to give the Cowpokes their first league defeat of the season.

Facing Tulsa at the Golden Hurricane's home grounds this weekend, Detroit claims a chance for a tie with the Oklahoma Aggies for the Missouri Valley crown. To gain this top spot, the Titans will first have to overcome Tulsa and Wichita next week.

Last week Boston College took advantage of a fast first half to beat the Titans 32-20. Detroit, however, showed a fast comeback from a 27-0 score at halftime with Halfback Bob Burgmeier scoring three touchdowns in third and fourth periods. Boston scored only once in the last half while the Titans were racking up their three counters.

Detroit's squad roster is padded with the Valley's top passer and pass receiver David Kline and Leon Riley. Kline has completed 46 tosses in 117 tries to gain the number one spot.

Offsetting the defensive lapse in the South Dakota State game last week was the surprising offensive power shown by the Shockers. Although losing their number one defensive spot to Southern Methodist University, the Shockers uncorked a brilliant offense that may halt the Titans climb to the top.

Offensive power for the Shockers will be hinged around Chuck Hollmer, Bennie Lee, and Bob Burton, top ranking Valley rushers. Allen Harp, hard running halfback, has become one of Wichita's top ball carriers, but may miss the Detroit game because of a shoulder injury.

Valley Squads Win 3, Drop 2

WU, Houston, A&M Take Non-league Foes

Three representatives of the Missouri Valley Conference played non-league foes Saturday and won handily over their intersectional opponents.

The Houston Cougars, beaten three times and tied once, toppled nationally ranked Baylor of the Southwest Conference 37-7 in one of the season's biggest upsets. Houston has won once and lost twice in regular Valley play.

Kansas University played host to the newly crowned champions of the Missouri Valley, Oklahoma A and M, and were soundly beaten 41-14. The Cowpokes showed their right to wear the Missouri Valley crown and, proved that they now have a team comparable to the unbeaten squad of 1945. By the victory A and M broke a Kansas jinx that had held them stymied for seven games.

The Wichita University Wheatshockers played host to another recently crowned champion, South Dakota State, top team in the North Central Conference. Wichita fared out better Saturday than the Jayhawk squad and topped the Dakotan 39-13.

Tulsa, with a 3-5 record, was trounced by the Red Raiders of Texas Tech 49-7. The Texas team

Hollmer Leads WU Offense

Wichita University gridders fattened up their offensive averages last week as they pulled out the stops in their 39-13 victory over South Dakota State.

Leading ground gainer and in total offense, is fullback Chuck Hollmer, a 185 pounder out of Arkansas City Junior College. Hollmer picked up 125 yards in nine carries to increase his rushing total to 437 yards and a 6.07 average for each play.

Runner up to Hollmer is Wichita's pint-sized halfback Bob Burton. Although the flashy halfback weighs only 146 pounds, he has ripped opponent lines for 388 yards. Ray Coleman, Bennie Lee, and Allen Harp have also shown outstanding performances in rushing.

Bill Pace and Connie Hoffmans continue to set a close race for passing honors with Hoffmans holding a slight edge with 27 completions out of 47 attempts for 268 yards. Hoffmans has heaved 51 tosses, completed 21 for 243 yards.

Lanky end Bob Kauffman has been the favorite receiver for Wichita tossers with nine catches for 141 yards and one TD.

Leading the scoring parade for the Shockers is Burton with six touchdowns for 36 points. Allen Harp has tallied four times for 24 points with fullbacks Bennie Lee and Chuck Hollmer rounding out the first four with 18 points to their credit.

Chuck Hollmer

playing under the pressure of a possible bowl bid, returned the opening kick-off for a score and completely outclassed the Tulsans the remainder of the game. Tulsa had third and fourth quarter offensive drives but only one was climaxed by a countering Texas drive of 64 yards, in the third.

Detroit, Wichita's Thanksgiving opponent, lost the only other game played by Valley teams Saturday, by bowing to Boston College 33-20.

You'll be at the head of the jet parade at Boeing

For long-range opportunities, it's hard to beat the jet aircraft field. If you want to get into this exciting branch of engineering after you graduate, get in at the head of the parade—at Boeing.

Through the fighter-fast B-47 six-jet bomber, and the giant new eight-jet B-52, Boeing has acquired more experience designing, flying and building multi-jet aircraft than any other company, either here or abroad. In addition, Boeing is the first American company to announce its entry into the jet transport field.

Engineering graduates will find in the aviation industry an unusually wide range of experience, and great breadth of application—from pure research to production design, all going on at once. Boeing is constantly alert to new techniques and materials, and approaches them without limitations. Extensive subcontracting and major procurement programs, all directed and controlled by engineers, afford varied experience and broad contacts and relationships.

Aircraft development is such an integral part of our national life that young graduates can enter it with full expectation of a rewarding, long-term career. Boeing, now in its 37th year of operation, employs more engineers today than even at the peak of World War II. Its projects include guided missiles, research on supersonic flight and nuclear power for aircraft.

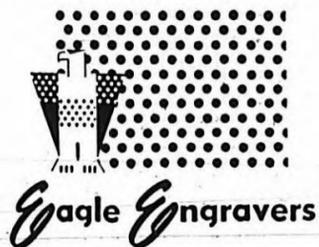

Boeing engineering activity is concentrated at Seattle in the Pacific Northwest, and Wichita in the Midwest. These communities offer a wide variety of recreational opportunities. Both are fresh, modern cities with fine residential sections and shopping districts, and schools of higher learning where engineers can study for advanced degrees.

There are openings in ALL branches of engineering (mechanical, civil, electrical, aeronautical, and related fields), for DESIGN, DEVELOPMENT, PRODUCTION, RESEARCH and TOOLING. Also for servomechanism and electronics designers and analysts, and physicists and mathematicians with advanced degrees.

Independents Meet, Elect

Resolutions calling for the organization of alumni associations and the publication of an annual Who's Who were adopted at the state convention of Kansas Independent Students' Association held here Saturday.

Plans for organizing the alumni groups were left to the individual chapters, because each school has different problems in starting such groups, Al LaVoie, state president, said. LaVoie is also president of the Wichita Chapter.

Jim Baird, from the University of Kansas, was elected president of the Association for the next year. Other officers elected are: Bob Pointon, Kansas State, vice president; Don Widdows, University of Kansas, secretary; and Georgia Karr, Kansas State Teachers' College, Pittsburg, treasurer.

In addition to members of the Wichita ISA chapter, 37 students from six other schools attended the convention. Member schools represented were the University of Kansas; Kansas State College; Washburn University, Topeka; Kansas State Teachers' College, Pittsburg; and Baker University, Baldwin.

Student council members from Ottawa University attended the convention as guests. Ottawa, which does not have an ISA chapter, is seeking to organize a group.

Dr. John Rydjord, dean of the Graduate School, spoke at the noon luncheon. His subject was "Nationalism, Nations, and Nonsense." Pres. Harry F. Corbin welcomed the delegates at an informal coffee, and invited them to be guests of the University at the South Da-

The exhibit of novels is comprised of 30 modern American works of fiction selected from a list of 1,200 books of general cultural reading, published by the Committee of College Reading sponsored by the National Council of English Teachers.

The juvenile literature is being displayed in connection with National Children's Book Week, Nov. 15 through Nov. 21, Downing P. O'Hara, librarian, said Tuesday. Carolyn Heghin, clerical assistant in the catalogue department, and Nancy Nickle, assistant circulation librarian, are in charge of the displays.

A good sitting posture preserves the fit of clothes and makes them wear longer.

The country's six leading brands were analyzed—chemically—and Chesterfield was found low in nicotine—highest in quality.
