Sunflower Receives ACP Excellent Rating for Fall

The Sunflower Tuesday was awarded a rating of excellent, placing it among the top 19 papers in its circulation group, by the judges of the Associated Collegiate Press, national college newspaper critical service affiliated with the University of Minnesota.

Judges of the first semester Sunflower pointed, among other features, to the paper's coverage of the entire campus and its balance "between various news sources" as very good.

The paper was among 438 college and university newspapers from all areas of the country to be judged by ACP for first semester publications. The excellent rating was the seventeenth in about as many semesters received by the school newspaper.

Sports editor Mike Anderson, Liberal Arts junior, received special mention for the quality and brightness of his sports sections.

'Misalliance' to Continue Run Tomorrow, Saturday

A frantic hunt for the perfect man, an airplane crash, and an attempted murder are all hilariously portrayed in George Bernard Shaw's farce, "Misalliance," which opened a three-night run in the Auditorium last night.

"Misalliance" deals with the highly improbable, but thoroughly enjoyable, events of an English weekend.

Cast in the performance includes John Tarleton, a self-made underwear magnate; his wife; and their children, Johnny and Hypatia.

Hypatia's fiance, is Bently, whose father is Lord Summerhays.

Judges Pick 12 for Cheers

Twelve finalists for cheerleaders were named Thursday morning by Pep Co-ordinator George Parsons, following try-outs Wednesday night in the Women's Gym.

Parsons said a judging committee of two faculty members and three students selected the six men and six women to appear on the ballots for the all-school election May 13.

The finalists are: Jim Ashley, Judy Arther, Bill Allen, Margie Romine, Roy Rogers, Evelyn Murray, Len Pate, Joyce Phipps, Jim Bowles, Jackie Umshied, Vic Flippo, and Cindy Rader.

Parsons said final try-outs will be held during Hippodrome next Friday.

Judges serving on the selection committee were Dr. Albert Parker, Mrs. Frances Porter, Dale Richmond, Nedra Baker, and Stan Haring.

Council Vetoes New Constitution

Considerable debate preceded the passing of a motion to amend the present Student Council constitution instead of adopting the proposed new constitution.

The Council Monday night voted felt that the proposed improvements could only be effectively incorporated in a new revised constitution.

May Day Plans Set For Friday

Plans for May Day have been completed. The festivities will start with the May Dance Thursday night and will end with the coronation of the May Queen Friday, according to Stanley Haring, chairman of the Hippodrome committee.

Haring said that the schedule for rehearsals Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons would be as follows: 3:00-3:45, Men of Webster, 4:00-4:45, I.S.A., 5:00-5:45, Sorosis, 7:00-7:45, Delta Omega, 8:00-8:45, Alpha Tau Sigma, 9:00-9:45, Phi Upsilon Sigma, 10:00-10:45, Alpha Gamma Gamma, 11:00-11:45, Pi Kappa Psi.

Rehearsals will be in the same order Thursday, Haring said, but would start at 1:00 p.m. and will be cut to 25 minutes practice time per organization.

Thursday night the May Dance will be held from 9 p.m. until midnight at the Trig Ballroom with Herbie Reed and his orchestra furnishing the music.

Friday morning Hippodrome skits will begin, with Jim Krebs, Fine Arts Senior, acting as master of ceremonies. The production (Continued on Page 4)

Barbara Frost, constitutional revision committee chairman, said that work on the revision will be continued during the summer months as much as possible, but the bulk of the work and final consideration will be made by new members of the Student Council who will be elected in May.

According to one Council member, if the revision does pass it will probably not be put into effect until the school year of 1956-57.

Another motion concerning the revision was made to amend the preamble and article one of the constitution, both of which deal with Student Council composition, to add a section to include a judicial committee and to make any other changes which would increase the efficiency and expediency of the constitution.

May 13 Set For Spring Elections

The spring elections for Student Council officers and cheerleading positions will be held Friday, May 13, at the Commons Lounge.

Petitions for the positions are due today, according to Jim Mann, Student Council vice-president. The polls will be open at the lounge from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

A new president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer will be elected for the Student Council. Two seniors, one junior and one sophomore will also be elected as class representatives.

Mann said the proper voting procedure will consist of four basic steps. The student will obtain a registration card according to alphabetical order at the first table. Then he will present the card to ballot table number one and receive a ballot.

Then he will enter a ballot booth. Mann said all ballots are to be marked in the privacy of booths.

The registration card must be signed underneath the previous signature and together with the marked ballot, be returned to ballot table number two.

YOU GET MORE deep-down smoking enjoyment from Luckies than any other brand. The reason, plain and simple, is that Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better . . . cleaner, fresher, smoother. You'll enjoy the Droodle above, too; it's titled: Three on a match—Luckies, of course. Whenever smokers put their heads together, they agree you can't match a Lucky for flavor. ### Spectacular Changes Seen Frost Tinklepaugh, University alumnus, and former Sunflower and Parnassus editor, said the growth and changes in the University "are spectacular" when he and Mrs. Tinklepaugh visited on the campus last week.

The Tinklepaugh's were returning to New York from a western trip and stopped overnight in Wichita. It was Mr. Tinklepaugh's first visit to the University while school was in session since 1928, the year he graduated from the College of Business Administration.

Commenting on the work on the campus, Mr. Tinklepaugh said, "Things have certainly changed since I went to school here. The year I graduated we had the ground-breaking ceremony for the Science Building.

"President Harold W. Foght used a gold spade to break the ground and as president of the senior class, I used the same spade to turn a shovelful. The next day I was dressed in jeans, pushing a wheelbarrow and doing some real shoveling," Mr. Tinklepaugh said.

Mr. Tinklepaugh was instrumental in organizing the union of the New York Alumni Club for former students in that area. The meeting this year is scheduled for May 11, he said. President Corbin attended their reunion last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Tinklepaugh live at Huntington, Long Island, N. Y. They have two daughters, ages 17 and 12.

Shock Talk

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

Recent rainy weather reminds me of the time I spent on the farm . . . Those were the good old days, yea man.

My grandfather used to show me how to hold the hoe when I weeded cotton, how to guide the middlebuster plow when I "busted middles," when and where to pick the best ears of corn for roasting.

Now, my grandfather knew that he must be very careful to explain in every detail how to proceed with the farm work, for my grandfather was a "very wise man." He knew that I was a normal boy and had not been born with the sage of the ages.

How I wish some of the venerable intelligentsia of this campus could have been students of this gentleman of the old school. Perhaps they too would be more explicit and conscientious with their instructions.

Some are. Some aren't. The type who fall into the latter class are those who order one specific text for the book store, make assignments in this text, lecture from another, the whereabouts of which is unknown to the students; all the while condemning the first, and give quizzes, the material for which has been selected from a book not yet printed.

When their students flunk these masterpieces of progressive education the honorable professor fumes into the classroom, rants and raves for about 15 minutes, and finally leans over his table, looks down his nose at the peons in the audience and asks, with the poise and composure of a Russian HERO, "What's the matter with you knuckleheads, don't you ever study. You are college students now. Do you not know what that means? Well, idiots, it means that if your IQ is below 400 you should not be here. In other words all of you, yes, sadly enough, all of you should drop out of school. However, since I do not set the standards at this school, etc., etc.

Another interesting species of "Knowledge, Inc.," is our dear fellow who walks casually into the classroom as the bell is ringing, places his desk copy, open to the assignment, on his lecture (loosely used) table, trying all the while to look fully prepared to impart to his students Rembrant-chunks of information. But does he??? But of course not. He proceeds to ask the students to quote verbatim from the text, which, incidentally, the students must keep closed. When the unfortunate ones cannot staccato the required answers, the face in front of the class gently contorts from the mild Jeckle to the evil Hyde, and asks in tones as pathetic as the sound of an overturned, brimful beer glass,

"Have you folks not read the assignment?"

Ah, yes. That's life . . . Into the valley of confusion trod the 600. Theirs not to reason why, theirs but to do and die, three hours shot, 30 bucks gone, etc., etc., etc.

Yours truly,
Paul Bloodworth

Oh to be a Bachelor

"Instead of a recluse, I may become a Casanova," a Baylor University history professor said, after dating 38 coeds in one weekend.

The bachelor professor was the winner of the University's "Corrigan Dating Contest." Any hopes for a quiet Friday, Saturday, and Sunday were lost when he was presented with a signed schedule by campus damsels who had allotted his time among themselves.

The dates, beginning at 4 p.m. Friday, included lunches, dinners, breakfasts, one-hour coffee and malt dates, several Sunday church dates, and 17 trips to a local restaurant for meals and refreshments.

There were nine extra young ladies on a waiting list in the event of any cancellation due to illness.

1922—Roll-out of a Boeing-built fighter

1954—Roll-out of America's first jet transport, the Boeing 707

Progress is a Boeing-career hallmark

From the earliest days of aviation, Boeing engineers have produced an impressive number of trend-creating "firsts"—including the 707, America's first jet transport, shown above.

Boeing's 38-year history of Research, Design and Production progress has continuously opened up new career opportunities for engineers. Today Boeing employs more engineers than even at the peak of World War II.

At Boeing you'd work with engineers who developed: The world's first all-metal, 3-mile-a-minute commercial transport. The first pressurized airliner. The first effective four-engine bomber (the B-17). Today's fastest operational bomber (the six-jet B-47). The even more advanced B-52 eight-jet global bomber, and the 707, America's first jet transport. Boeing engineers continue to design "years ahead," doing research on nuclear-powered aircraft. They are also developing a new Air Force defense weapons system, based on the Boeing F-99 Bomarc pilotless interceptor. These long-range programs project Boeing progress far into the future.

One measure of the satisfaction of Boeing careers is given in the chart below. It shows that 46% of Boeing engineers have been with the company for five or more years; 25% for 10 or more years, and 6% for 15 or more years.

Here are other advantages: Boeing promotes from within and holds regular merit reviews to assure individual recognition. Engineers are encouraged to take graduate studies while working and are reimbursed for all tuition expense.

Of technical graduates at Boeing, 28% hold Mechanical Engineering degrees, 24% Electrical, 19% Aeronautical, and 9% Civil. The remainder is comprised of other engineering graduates, physicists and mathematicians.
