Track Opens Under Patton

First Drills Begin Today

Wichita University's first cross-country track team will begin practice this afternoon under the direction of new track coach, Mel Patton.

He will still jump ahead by simply moving up yards per carry.

In scheduling cross-country meets, coach Patton is attempting to arrange with other midwestern colleges to allow Shockers freshmen to participate.

The prediction stems from the fact that Wichita has won the last three years and finished second and third in the second, third and fourth quarters. They added one game early in the fourth only to let the Sun Devils through.

Before the surprise Shocker could get a long gain off an underplay, Arizona scored again. The Shocker had slowed the Arizona drive to third and nine yards to go when the Illinois clock stopped, the ball on the 11 and the Shockers were penalized.

Frank Bramman took the kickoff out to the San Jose 64 yards to go in Arizona's 49. Later a pass put the ball on the 10. Jim Kimbrough and Bramman gathered 18 yards.

There was a dropped pass for a loss of 10, the backfielder's fourth.

The Sun Devils scored the last touchdown of the game when they were penalized.
Old Problem Remains
A problem which has confronted the University each year since the rise in enrollment still remains unsolved. It is the same old question: Where can I park my car?

Hundreds of cars literally park the streets each morning during the hubub of rush to early morning classes. To drive a car to a building near the building in which the student has first class requires an early trip from home. To avoid the need to arrive immediately from this problem it is up to the students themselves to do something about the traffic congestion.

One answer, and the most reasonable it seems, is to form car pools. Contact friends who live in your area of the campus and arrange a schedule to pick them up. In payment, the car passengers can take the cars on alternate weeks or even a fixed fee.

This could also work for students who do not have cars and face the task of traveling on city buses and getting a long distance out of their way to get to school each morning.

Of course, car pools and parking lots are not workable and will not relieve the congestion. The problem is not one only for the University and the city but one for every student to consider and help solve.

FRESHMAN LECTURES Will Be Conducted
A series of lectures for new students conducted by a selected group of University professors will begin shortly under the sponsorship of Student Service.

The lectures, primarily designed for freshmen, are expected to be successful in college work, will be held once a week, said Mrs. Judy Dean, director of student services.

Time and date of the first lecture will be announced later.

And in the United States.

The foreign student arrived in the United States with a group of 56 other Fulbright students from the Federal Republic of Germany and West Berlin.

Before coming to Wichita, Brozy participated in an experiment in international living, at Heidelberg. The purpose of this experiment was to acquaint the group with American family and community life.

He was impressed with this experience. “It was a good experiment,” he said. “It has provided us with a richer picture of American life than we had before. Most of our information about this country is obtained through motion pictures, magazines, and newspapers. In movies we see mostly Broadway, Hollywood, Elvis, and almost nothing about ordinary daily life of people in small communities,” Brozy commented.

“After the experiment I learned that in many respects there is no great difference between people over here and people in my country. Best way to obtain true information about people is to live with them and learn about them through observation and conversations,” Brozy added.

Brozy is the first Fulbright foreign student to attend the University of Wichita.

Pranko, Leith Plan Lab Test For Disaster, Panic Reaction

"What do people do?" a research project on how people react in a panic situation will be conducted by Dr. Henry Pronko, professor in the sociology department, and Dr. William Leith, professor of logopedics.

The study will be conducted in the university's psychology laboratories through an $1,800 research grant awarded to the University's Psychology Laboratory by the National Research Council. The study is one of several that Dr. Pronko has sponsored or is involved in. He is one of a small number of researchers in the United States who have conducted experiments and studies on panic reactions.

Individuals cooperating in the study will be divided into three homogeneous groups. These three groups will then be subjected to laboratory conditions, the purpose of which is to determine the effectiveness of various laws or rules that individuals have no control over.

For example, some members of the group will be told that they are participating in a ""sink or swim"" group, and will receive no briefing before the experiment.

The second group will be prepared to anticipate the disturbing effects of each group under the three conditions. Doctor Pronko's research will deal mainly with behavior of the individuals tested under panic conditions.
