Romulo, First Forum Speaker, To Talk Here on January 25

General Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine ambassador to the United States and well known international figure, will be the first Student Forum speaker of the season Jan. 25.

General Romulo was born in Manila. He graduated from the University of the Philippines, Manila, and later from Columbia University in New York.

He has received honorary degrees of doctor of literature from Rollins College in Florida and doctor of philosophy from the University of Athens in Greece.

He also holds honorary degrees of doctor of law from 16 American universities.

During 1949 and 1950 General Romulo served as President of the General Assembly of the United Nations. He also headed delegations of his country at international conferences.

In 1942, General Romulo won the Pulitzer Prize in journalism for distinguished correspondence. He was also nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize for his efforts toward international peace.

As an author, General Romulo has written some best sellers, including "I Saw the Fall of the Philippines," and

"My Brother Americans." His most recent book is "Crusade in Asia."

BULLETIN

All veterans attending under the Korean GI Bill should have their January attendance forms signed by instructors at the time of first semester finals, and should sign their vouchers in the Registrar's office following their last final. Dr. Worth A. Fletcher announced.

Dance Ticket Sales Lagging

Ticket sales for the Parnassus dance are lagging, according to Cathy Waters, yearbook editor.

The dance will be held the last night of final examinations, Jan. 17, at the Trig Ballroom. The University Dance Band will provide music for the annual affair. The dance is scheduled to start at 9 p.m., Miss Waters said.

The 1955-56 Parnassus queen will be announced during the dance intermission.

Tickets are on sale in the Commons Lounge from 8 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. daily, according to Miss Waters. Price per couple is $2.50.

Engineers Sell New Decals

Engineering decals went on sale in the Engineering Building Library, yesterday.

The decal, which is drawn with three dimensional views, features a Wushock figure sitting on a slide rule. The words "engineering" and "WU" appear on the decals. The decal is printed in black, white, and green, according to Gene Maxon, public relations director of the Engineering Council.

Tom Spring, Engineering senior, made the original sketch from which the decal was produced. Kenneth Harper, Engineering senior, is in charge of the decal sales.

University Adopts Program To Attract More Teachers

A program to attract more elementary teachers to Wichita's schools will be inaugurated jointly by the city's public school system and the University College of Education.

Under the plans announced last week, graduates of any four-year accredited college may be able to enter elementary teaching next year and receive full certification from the State by 1958.

Primarily for liberal arts graduates, the program seeks to prepare for careers in teaching women who have reared families, who now have minimum family obligations, and have a desire for a career.

Announcement of the joint plan was made at a press conference last week by Dr. Jackson Powell, dean of the College of Education; Dr. Wade Fowler, superintendent of the Wichita public schools; and Miss Delore Gammon, assistant superintendent of elementary education.

Although it was emphasized that the program can only partially supply the serious shortage of teachers in Wichita, it was pointed out that the plan is not a compromise in teaching standards.

It is rather an opportunity for women with college education to

New Student from Formosa To Do Graduate Work Here

A new face was added last week to the University's foreign student population.

The newcomer is Mrs. Helen C. Chen of Taipei, Formosa, who will do graduate work in educational psychology.

Born in Shanghai, China, Mrs. Chen attended the Great China University in Shanghai where she received a Bachelor of Arts degree in education.

Since her graduation she has devoted her time to teaching until she was forced to leave the mainland of China by the Communists.

She moved to Formosa where she was employed by the Taiwan College of Engineering as a teacher of English. During that period she also served as secretary to the president of the college.

Her choice to attend the University of Wichita came upon the recommendation of a Purdue University professor at the Taiwan College. The Taiwan College of Engineering in Formosa is an affiliate of Purdue University.

Mrs. Chen was scheduled to arrive here last September but a bus accident she was involved in altered her plans. She had to remain in the hospital (Continued on page 6)

Lindquist Attends Deans' Conference

Dean Emory Lindquist of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences is attending the annual meeting of the American Association of Academic Deans in St. Louis.

The theme of the conference, which opened yesterday, is "Increasing Enrollments and Attendant Problems for the Academic Dean."

84 Graduate At Mid-Term

Jan. 17 will be a day long anticipated by 84 students graduating at mid-term. On this day, students from various colleges will officially be graduated although they will not receive their diplomas until spring graduation ceremonies.

Dean Modifies Housing Rules

New factors have arisen in connection with Grace Wilkie Hall and off-campus housing, according to Mrs. Justus Fugate, Dean of Women.

A new rule has been adopted which will not allow women carrying less than nine hours and having full-time jobs to live in the dormitory. However, Dean Fugate said, any exceptions to the rule will have to be approved through her office.

In regard to off-campus housing, it has come to the attention of the Office of Student Services that some of the rules are being violated, said Dean Fugate. Freshman and sophomore women students from out-of-town must live in the dormitory or with relatives, while juniors and seniors from out-of-town may live in housing approved by the Office of Student Services. At present time, a check is being made to see that these rules are enforced, Dean Fugate said.

This year more students are graduating at the end of the first semester than in the past five years. This is an increase of one over last year when 83 students graduated at mid-term. In 1954 there were 66; in 1953, 75; and in 1952, 42.

Graduating from the College of Fine Arts is Pat Holl, and from the College of Business Administration and Industry are Paul Sharp, John Swanson, and Harry Watt.

Registration Ends Tomorrow; Enrollment Begins Jan. 23

Pre-registration for second semester will end tomorrow. Only students whose names begin with letters A and B may pre-register at this time.

Mrs. Helen C. Chen

Students who have pre-registered will begin enrollment Monday, Jan. 23. Class cards and enrollment forms will be assembled for them and will be available in Rm. 103, Women's Gym. Students will proceed to the Men's Gym and continue with registration from there.

Any student failing to pay his bill on or before Tuesday, Jan. 31, will surrender all class rights and his name will not appear on class lists. Payment after this date will be subject to a late registration fee of $5.

Enrollment for night classes begins Monday, Jan. 23. Students whose names begin with letters A through D will enroll from 7 to 7:30 p.m.; E through K, 7:30 to 8 p.m. on Monday. Students whose last names begin with letters L through Z will enroll on Tuesday. (Continued on Page 6)

Glance at the Globe

By ED ANDREPOULOS
Sunflower News Editor

During the past year a change has taken place in Soviet foreign policy.

From a policy of "immobility" which characterized the era prior to Khrushchev and Bulganin, there was a shift to extraordinary Russian diplomatic activity.

Bulganin and Khrushchev introduced a flexibility to Soviet policy, an apparent Soviet willingness to discuss major issues while acknowledging that atomic war might mean mutual suicide.

This was evidenced in Moscow's establishment of diplomatic relations with the West German government, its sudden leap into the Middle Eastern conflict, and its efforts to repair the breach with Yugoslavia.

Finally, it was evidenced in the recent intense Russian campaign in Asia, when Khrushchev and Bulganin toured India, Burma, and other nations.

Far from representing any change in basic Soviet aims, these moves have added up to a pursuit of the old objectives by new and possibly more effective means. Recently Russia has made clear that it won't accept the "open skies" inspection plan proposed by President Eisenhower before a "ban" of atomic weapons in advance of any system of controls.

The West contends that such a ban would be meaningless without any control and inspection plan such as the one proposed by President Eisenhower.

In regard to the satellite countries Russia has rejected any discussion. "Liberation" of these countries was one of the planks of the Republican party in the 1952 campaign.

In the Middle East, Communist arms and shipments to the Arab countries have upset the balance (Continued on page 5)

Braves Drop Shocks To MVC Cellar, 80-59

University of Wichita cagers sank to the depths of the Missouri Valley Conference after Bradley handed them an 80-59 lacing at Peoria Saturday night.

It was the second straight loss for the Shockers. It was also the first league win and probably an impressive victory for the above-par playing of the tall sophomores from Bradley.

Dominating the shooting and floor play, Bradley's Barney Cable performed with 25 points while teammate Curley Johnson sank 22. The Bradley quintet poured in almost 50% of their shots and captured a majority of the rebounds.

The Shockers' accuracy at the charity line was better, but the Braves' zone defense made the difference by holding Wichita to a cold 22.9% from the field.

Bob Hodgson carried the brunt of the Shocker attack with 22 counters and 10 rebounds. He pushed the Shockers ahead once, to a 9-8 advantage, and the team spurred to a 21-21 tie later. But they couldn't withstand the fired-up Braves who put on the pressure at that point and were still pulling away at the end of the game.

While Wichita bowed to Bradley, the two defending co-champions of the MVC both won loop games. Detroit topped Tulsa, 80-72, while other games in the league saw St. Louis downing Houston, 76-73, and Drake blasting Chicago Loyola 80-74.

'Mural' Volleyball Tourney Opens Winter Sport Activities

Winter intramural activities moved into action last week with the opening of the round-robin volleyball tournament.

Two six-team leagues went into action last Thursday and will continue competition until Feb. 2. The top two squads from each league will then vie for championship honors in the post-season playoffs.

In the day league, the faculty squad, led by former all-America volleyball player Dr. Robert Holmer, jumped into the lead along with AFROTC Blue and Webster A.

Y's Crackers and Webster B posted first round victories in the night league to share first place laurels after one week's play.

He stressed that complete schedules, current standings, and special notices are posted across from the men's intramural office. Anyone desiring intramural information may contact Coaches Mel Patton, Robert Holmer, or himself, Bupp said.

Tillman Seeks Tougher Teams

With plans of returning home with much improved grid schedules for two and three seasons from now, three University athletic officials took off this weekend for Los Angeles, Calif. to attend the National Collegiate Athletic Association football meeting.

The future schedules Coach Pete Tillman was attempting to include strong non-conference competition with teams such as Stanford and Kansas State. He also indicated that there was an outside chance for additional Big Seven or Big Ten competition.

Already on next year's grid slate are newcomers Hardin-Simmons, Brigham Young and Dayton.

Accompanying the Shocker coach to the important meeting were Athletic Director Robert Kirkpatrick and Dr. James K. Sours, chairman of the Athletic Policy Committee.

Dr. Sours plans to present to the Missouri Valley Conference coaches and athletic directors a proposal to establish a Sportsmanship Trophy to be given to the school with the best conduct during major sports.

Dr. Sours expressed his idea to the University Student Council last Tuesday to see if there would be support for such a trophy. The council approved the suggestion unanimously.

The idea was the result of the behavior of fans during the holiday basketball contests, and similar awards in other conferences.

The Review

The first big news of the semester was the arrival of Mel Patton, new track coach. Patton, well known on the cinders, and his appearance added emphasis to the University's growing and increasingly better athletic program.

The tracksters' lack of wins was not important. Patton was impressed and satisfied by the experience and physical fortitude gained for the com-

ADVENTURES IN SOCIAL SCIENCE: NO. 2

Do off your caps and bells; there will be no fun and games this day. Today, with earnestness and sobriety, we make the second of our forays into social science. Today we take up the most basic of all the social sciences—sociology itself.

Sociology teaches us that man is a social animal. It is not his instincts or his heredity that determine his conduct; it is his environment. This fact is vividly borne out when one considers any of the several cases of children who were raised by wild animals. Take, for example, the dossier on Julio Sigafos.

Julio, abandoned as an infant in a dark wood near Cleveland, was adopted by a pack of wild dogs and reared as one of their own. When Julio was found by a hunter at the age of twelve, the poor child was more canine than human. He ran on all fours, barked and growled, ate raw meat, lapped water with his tongue, and could neither speak nor understand one single word. In short, he was a complete product of his environment.

... He was a complete product of his environment...

(Julio, incidentally, was more fortunate than most wild children. They never become truly humanized, but Julio was exceptional. Bit by bit, he began to talk and walk and eat and drink as people do. His long dormant mental processes, when awakened at last, turned out to be remarkably acute. In fact, he was so bright that he learned to read and write in a month, got through grammar school in five years and high school in two. And last June, as thousands of spectators, knowing Julio's tragic background, stood and cheered, he was graduated valedictorian from Cal Tech with a degree in astrophysics!)

(Who can say to what towering heights this incredible boy would have risen had he not been killed the day after commencement while chasing a car?)

But I digress. To return to sociology, people tend to gather in groups—a tendency that began, as we all know, with the introduction of Philip Morris Cigarettes. What an aid to sociability they are! How benignly one looks upon his fellows after a puff of Philip Morris's gentle, pleasant, flavorful tobacco! How eager it makes one to share, to communicate, to extend the hand of friendship! How grateful we all are to Philip Morris for making possible this togetherness! How good not to live in the bleak pre-Philip Morris world, with every man a stranger!

The groups that people live in today (thanks to Philip Morris) vary widely in their customs. What is perfectly acceptable in one society may be outlandish in another. Take, for instance, the case of Ug Poopoomoogoo.

Ug, a Polynesian lad, grew up in an idyllic South Sea isle where the leading social event of the year was the feast of Max, the sun god. A quaint all-day ceremony was held, with tribal dancing, war chants, fat lady races, pie eating contests, and, for the grand finale, the sacrifice of two dozen maidens.

According to Ug's folkways, sacrificing maidens was quite acceptable, but when in his eighteenth year he was sent as an exchange student to the University of Wisconsin, he soon learned that Americans take a dim view of this practice—in Wisconsin, at any rate. The first twelve or thirteen maidens Ug sacrificed, he was let off with a warning. When, however, he persisted, drastic measures were taken—he was depledged by his fraternity. A broken man, Ug quit school and moved to Milwaukee where today he earns a meagre living as a stein.

Shocks, Aggies Collide in Loop Tilt Tonight

'Pokes Boast
9-3 Record

One of the biggest drawing attractions in Shocker sports, Oklahoma A and M, tests its perplexing defense in search of its twenty-first win over the Shockers in the Cagarena tonight.

Although the Shockers have managed only 5 wins in 25 meetings with the Cowpokes, they have won three out of their last five encounters. Only 8 out of 103 schools have beaten the Aggies as often as Wichita has beaten them.

Three of last season's top Aggie scorers, including sharpshooting forward Mack Carter, bolster Iba's starting lineup. Coach Miller has only Bob Hodgson back from last year's top six scorers.

A stronger bench and a better season's record strengthen Aggie hopes of winning their initial Missouri Valley Conference game. Sophomore's Henry Kemple, Jerry Hale, and Roy Carnery have given help to the Aggie's in winning nine of twelve contests this season.

Herb Coin, 6-foot, 6-inch reserve center, returned to Shocker workouts last week, but his inactivity continues to hamper Miller's bench. Bright spots in the Shocker lineup have been the recent scoring splurge by Guard Joe Stevens and Forward Don Woodworth's rebounding.

Kansas University provides the only clue in establishing a favorite for tonight's game. The Jayhawks, pressed until the final minute, edged past Wichita, 56-55. Kansas whipped the Aggies, 65-62.

Dick Miller's yearling squad will square off with the Aggie Frosh at 6:30 p.m. in the preliminary and the main game starts at 8:30 p.m.

Drake, OCU Follow Co-Champs

Ralph Miller's win-hungry Shockers, still looking for a lapse in their hectic schedule, collide with Missouri Valley co-champion Tulsa Saturday night before meeting Drake and Oklahoma City.

Winning 10 of their first 11 games this season, the Hurricane has swept by such opponents as Texas A and M, Arkansas and Drake. They whipped Oklahoma City 65-58 in capturing this season's Oklahoma City all-college tournament.

Let by guard Junior Born, who is currently averaging 13.7 points per game, Tulsa is ranked in the country's top defensive teams. The Hurricane defeated Wichita 67-65 and 77-62 last season. Iowa State holds the only win over the Tulsans, 62-50, this year.

Drake, victims of a 63-62 heart-breaker to Tulsa early this season, will host the Shockers Jan. 18 at Des Moines. The Bulldogs, whose schedule is sprinkled with Big Ten and Big Seven opponents, should provide plenty of trouble, as indicated by their Tulsa showing and home court advantage.

The Oklahoma City Chiefs, who have streamlined past nine of ten opponents this season, will make their Cagarena debut Jan. 24. The Chiefs starting lineup averages 6 feet, 5 inches, including forward Lyndon Lee, who scored 513 points last year. Texas Christian, which bowed to the Shockers 79-69 in an overtime, was chopped 84-56 by the Chiefs.

ing season.
Success went to the grid team After a slow start, Coach Pete Tillman's squad came back strong to tie for the co-championship with Detroit, by dumping the highly-touted Houston team, 21-7, for the biggest win of the season.

Shocker basketball, now halfway through the roughest schedule in the school's history have climbed to a 5-6 record in spite of games with teams like San Francisco and Kansas.

The roundball players have been impressive with wins over Nebraska and UCLA in the big brand new Cagarena. Ahead of them lies conference competition, and possibly the big tournaments.

This semester has been big in sports, studded with success and impressive showings, and indications of even bigger and better years ahead.

Shocks, Aggies Collide in Loop Tilt Tonight

'Pokes Boast
9-3 Record

One of the biggest drawing attractions in Shocker sports, Oklahoma A and M, tests its perplexing defense in search of its twenty-first win over the Shockers in the Cagarena tonight.

Although the Shockers have managed only 5 wins in 25 meetings with the Cowpokes, they have won three out of their last five encounters. Only 8 out of 103 schools have beaten the Aggies as often as Wichita has beaten them.

Three of last season's top Aggie scorers, including sharpshooting forward Mack Carter, bolster Iba's starting lineup. Coach Miller has only Bob Hodgson back from last year's top six scorers.

A stronger bench and a better season's record strengthen Aggie hopes of winning their initial Missouri Valley Conference game. Sophomore's Henry Kemple, Jerry Hale, and Roy Carberry have given help to the Aggie's in winning nine of twelve contests this season.

Herb Coin, 6-foot, 6-inch reserve center, returned to Shocker workouts last week, but his inactivity continues to hamper Miller's bench. Bright spots in the Shocker lineup have been the recent scoring splurge by Guard Joe Stevens and Forward Don Woodworth's rebounding.

Kansas University provides the only clue in establishing a favorite for tonight's game. The Jayhawks, pressed until the final minute, edged past Wichita, 56-55. Kansas whipped the Aggies, 65-62.

Dick Miller's yearling squad will square off with the Aggie Frosh at 6:30 p.m. in the preliminary and the main game starts at 8:30 p.m.

Drake, OCU Follow Co-Champs

Ralph Miller's win-hungry Shockers, still looking for a lapse in their hectic schedule, collide with Missouri Valley co-champion Tulsa Saturday night before meeting Drake and Oklahoma City.

Winning 10 of their first 11 games this season, the Hurricane has swept by such opponents as Texas A and M, Arkansas and Drake. They whipped Oklahoma City 65-58 in capturing this season's Oklahoma City all-college tournament.

Let by guard Junior Born, who is currently averaging 13.7 points per game, Tulsa is ranked in the country's top defensive teams. The Hurricane defeated Wichita 67-65 and 77-62 last season. Iowa State holds the only win over the Tulsans, 62-50, this year.

Drake, victims of a 63-62 heart-breaker to Tulsa early this season, will host the Shockers Jan. 18 at Des Moines. The Bulldogs, whose schedule is sprinkled with Big Ten and Big Seven opponents, should provide plenty of trouble, as indicated by their Tulsa showing and home court advantage.

The Oklahoma City Chiefs, who have streamlined past nine of ten opponents this season, will make their Cagarena debut Jan. 24. The Chiefs starting lineup averages 6 feet, 5 inches, including forward Lyndon Lee, who scored 513 points last year. Texas Christian, which bowed to the Shockers 79-69 in an overtime, was chopped 84-56 by the Chiefs.

ing season.
Success went to the grid team After a slow start, Coach Pete Tillman's squad came back strong to tie for the co-championship with Detroit, by dumping the highly-touted Houston team, 21-7, for the biggest win of the season.

Shocker basketball, now halfway through the roughest schedule in the school's history have climbed to a 5-6 record in spite of games with teams like San Francisco and Kansas.

The roundball players have been impressive with wins over Nebraska and UCLA in the big brand new Cagarena. Ahead of them lies conference competition, and possibly the big tournaments.

This semester has been big in sports, studded with success and impressive showings, and indications of even bigger and better years ahead.

Construction, Progress Top '55 Campus News

Stuffed away in the form of a scrapbook, the 1955 year is already gathering the dust of time. The only remains are memories.

Looking back on the past year, it started in the same fever of excitement as 1956. A Campus face lifting was the theme. The Fine Arts Center and the Fieldhouse began to take shape.

In keeping with the changing pace, enrollment records were smashed by the largest second term figure in the school's history.

The students instigated a drive to improve Clough Place. To their satisfaction the road was improved.

News of the death of Dr. William Jardine, former President of the University, reached the school and it paused in its speeding activities.

Later in the year, tragedy again struck the campus. Dr. Eugene McFarland, head of the art department, was killed in a two car collision. Hurt in the accident were two other art instructors, Prof. John M. Strange and Dr. John P. Simoni.

About that time confusion developed over the Parnassus dance. Who was going to provide the music for the prom? The Sauter-Finegan band was finally signed and 1000 students turned out, the highest number to attend a school dance in 1955. Fern Sibbitt reigned at the dance as Parnassus Queen.

Additional competition struck up spring campaigning for Queen honors.

Nancy Hanna was chosen to wear the crown at the Military Ball. Bonnie Becker won the election for May Queen. The Press Queen, Dorothy Hirsch, was selected from 14 candidates.

The administration made some choices of their own as faculty changes and additions developed.

Dr. L. Hekhuis, former dean of Fairmont College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, relinquished his position to Dr. Emory Lindquist, then a professor in history.

Robert Kirkpatrick was named new athletic director. He succeeded Norval Neve, who was assigned new duties in the Business Office. And Lloyd Pickrell replaced Dale Critser, who resigned from the Board of Regents.

As the next semester opened after the brief summer vacation, everyone was talking football and enrollment.

With 4,400 entering school, a new enrollment record was established.

On the lighter side of the year's events, Bermuda shorts became a campus issue — should they be worn to class or not? AWS decided no . . .

A booster trip to Oklahoma A and M took 500 student supporters south to urge Shockers to a 14-7 win over the Aggies. The student body celebrated the win with a walkout that Monday.

Sports continued to set the theme. The students elected Marilyn Haney to reign as Homecoming Queen.

As basketball began to steal the headlines, a different student seating plan in the new cage arena required students to pick up reserved seat tickets which caused much anguish on the campus. The outcome settled on first-come first-served seating arrangements.

The possibility of a new student union to be determined by an investigation was authorized by the Board of Regents. An ISA house went under construction and was to be completed early in 1956.

Students Interview Candidates

Fifty University students participated in a co-operative project with Kansas colleges and universities in interviewing candidates for local elections and determining their backgrounds. The results are on display in the Reference Room of Morrison Library.

The Wichita students conducted interviews in 30 communities throughout the state, according to Dr. Virgil Shipley, assistant professor of political science. Over 500 students representing 12 colleges took part in the survey.

Businessmen were predominant as candidates in cities of all sizes. Those who owned or managed a business made up 40 per cent of the candidates. Salesmen, realtors, and insurance men contributed 15 per cent. Housewives were candidates in towns up to 2,000 in population, and again in cities over 5,000 in population, with a higher percentage in the larger towns.

The candidates of the larger cities used organizations to make their social contacts. In Topeka, Kansas City, and Wichita 71 per cent listed fraternal organizations. Fifty-one per cent of all candidates in the state were members of fraternal organizations.

Of those claiming fraternal organizations, 65 per cent listed Masonic affiliation. The Elks were second, while 39 per cent of the candidates listed a Chamber of Commerce affiliation.

Church membership was listed by 86 per cent of the candidates. The percentage of church members increased as the population increased.

Offices to Take Over Fiske Hall

New faces and activities will be seen in Fiske Hall after the first of February when the building will be turned into office space.

After the Music School has vacated the building and some re-decoration is done, several offices formerly located in Jardine Hall will be moved to Fiske.

Among the offices moving are the Public Relations offices, located on the second floor of Jardine Hall, and the employment bureau and testing and counseling departments of Student Services, located in Rm. 105, Jardine Hall.

Two Films to Be Shown

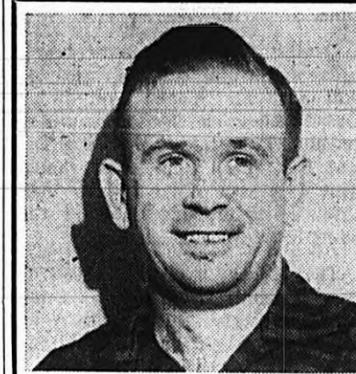

"Scotch on the Rocks," a comedy full of Scottish hijinks and dry humor, will be the next presentation of the Wichita Film Society.

The story concerns a small village's strike against Parliament until the government repairs the only road leading into the town.

"Renoir to Picasso" which has been acclaimed one of the most notable films on art, will also be shown. It is the study and comparison of the characteristics of Renoir, the sensualist; Seruat, the intellectual; and Picasso, the instinctive artist.

The films will be shown in the Commons Auditorium, at 8 p.m., tomorrow.

Coffee Corner

Student Manages Stock Room

Corks, glass rods, beakers, test tubes, thistle tubes—you name it and he's got it. Howard Wieditz, a graduate student in science, is stock manager for the chemistry department. His job is a carryover from the science seminar.

The stock room carries all supplies used in experiments and the items are checked out from here to the students. Various departments on the campus take advantage of the services, as they may order chemical items in any quantity.

According to Wieditz, the most common articles broken are thistle tubes, followed by test tubes, then thermometers. "Breakage usually varies," he said, depending upon the type of experiment being conducted.

The stock room serves another purpose, besides being an outlet for chemical supplies. Faculty members, secretaries, and other personnel of the department use a corner of the room to keep coffee brewing.

Back among the crucibles and Bunsen burners, the coffee is kept hot and faculty members are able to get a quick cup of coffee in their free time.

Traffic Resolution

The New Year, traditionally the time for resolutions, has come, but apparently no resolutions were made concerning the traffic situation at the corner of Seventeenth and Fairmount.

Students are still making their way across the street, dodging traffic as they go. To anyone who has to cross at this corner during the 8 a.m. or noon rush hours, or between classes, it is apparent that this intersection is not one of the safest in the city.

As things now stand, how long will it be before someone is injured, or worse yet, killed at Seventeenth and Fairmount? Because there have been no recent accidents there is no reason to assume there will never be any.

The intersection is now protected by a one-way stop, on Fairmount inside the University gate. This may be sufficient for vehicles, but the pedestrian has to fight his own manner of traffic control.

Either a four-way stop, or a pedestrian-operated traffic light, as on Douglas Avenue near Wichita High School East, and marked pedestrian lanes, would render this corner a much safer place for anyone who has to use it.

For a belated New Year's resolution that is entirely worthwhile, we would suggest the improvement of this intersection. It is an improvement which may require time to improve its worth, but the expense of installing safety devices should be much less than the value of a life.

Calf Conquers TV

By the Associated Press

Nobody in Britain seemed to care about a little bull calf named Conquest until he went on television.

Now 12,000 people want him.

Conquest, the calf, was born on the Hertfordshire farm of Mrs. Barbara Woodhouse, but he lacked a pedigree.

The British Broadcasting Corporation put him on television in an effort to save him from the butcher's knife. Now he'll probably be sent to one of the five farm institutions which asked for him.

Olympic Games

WU Student to Participate

The University may not be represented in the 1956 Olympic games by an athletic team; however, a student will participate in the equestrian events to be held in Stockholm, Sweden.

Warren Wofford, Liberal Arts sophomore, will ride in the equestrian events of the 1956 Olympic Games.

He will leave school at the end of this semester to begin a period of from six to eight weeks training at Tyron, N. C. Wofford said that there are two possible fields in which he may enter, the three day team, or the Prix de Nations team (prize of the nations.)

"The three day team rides through a schooling or dressage test on the first day, a 22 mile ride across country on the second day, and through a galloping and jumping test on the third day," he said.

The Prix de Nations team participates in a jump event over a severe course, he pointed out. The Prix de Nations team will fly to Germany early in April for several warm-up shows, Wofford commented.

The three day team will leave the United States late in April and will go by boat to Stockholm.

Wofford will take four horses from his home, Rimrock Farm, near Milford, Kans.

The equestrian events of the international sporting competition are being held in Sweden due to a quarantine period enforced on animals entering Australia, where the regular summer games will be held.

Wofford placed two horses in the trials held at Detroit to qualify for a position on the team. His older brother rode in the 1952 Olympic games in Finland, and also participated in the 1955 Pan American games.

Thought notes

If all the paper used in giving final examinations were laid end to end, the only thing it would prove is that most students have illegible handwriting.

of power in that area. Despite Russian contention that shipments were merely "routine transactions" open to Israel as well as to Arab countries, Khrushchev's statement last week in the Supreme Soviet appeared to be throwing full diplomatic weight on the Arab side by Russia.

In Asia, the Soviet strategy consisted of trying to turn the Asians against the West by opening old colonial wounds, other discrediting statements, and by promising Russian economic aid.

NEW YORK — When her son gave her a new parakeet, an elderly New Yorker was delighted — but realized in a few days she couldn't understand what the bird was saying.

Her minister happened to visit and fortunately had a knowledge of Greek.

The bird's previous owner was the operator of a diner. The parakeet was calling out orders for fried eggs.

Unusual Art Display Shown

A display in the Art Building shows what people with an I. Q. of 46 to 96 can do in an artistic way.

The display, on loan from the Kansas State Federation of Art, was done by patients of the Winfield State Training School who are from age 20 to 50. The display includes all types of water color, tempera, and crayon drawings and is non-objective.

Six of the pieces were done by a man who held the brush in his mouth, commented David Bernard, assistant professor of art.

The director of arts and crafts of the Training School, Sue Jean Covacevich said, "Painting experiences for these people provide emotional outlets, stimulates imagination and develops an appreciation of color and the practical feeling of doing and making something."

The style and method of these people is constantly changing in a bewildering and intensive manner, Miss Covacevich said.

The display will be up until Jan. 20, said Professor Bernard.
