Selection of the 1956 Men's Honor Group at the University was announced Thursday noon in ceremonies naming senior men in the fields of business, logopedics, music, and engineering as the "outstanding students of their graduating class."

Members of this year's group are Ben Kubes, James L. Mann, Jay C. Decker, and Ronald M. Carey.

The group selected Kubes, a senior studying logopedics, as president and named Carey, an engineering student, as secretary.

Kubes, a three-year letterman on the University's football team, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Kubes Sr. of New Prague, Minn. Carey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Carey of 719 Woodrow, Wichita, and is president of the Student Forum Board.

Student Council president and former president of his fraternity, Alpha Gamma Gamma, Mann is a business administration major. He is married to the former Nancy K. Brasted, a former student at the University.

University State Aid Hinges on Revenue Bill

The passing of two bills is now necessary if the University of Wichita and Washburn University are to receive State Aid to balance the increasing enrollments and larger facilities needed, Glen Gardner, director of finance, said Wednesday.

The bill was submitted to the Senate by Garner Shriver of Sedgwick County.

The Kansas Legislature must first pass a Revenue Bill before the State Aid Bill can be considered. "If this Revenue Bill is not passed," Gardner said, "we will have no money from the state to support us this year."

Gardner pointed out that the actual State Aid Bill had already gone to the House and a similar bill went to the Senate a week ago Thursday.

The state representatives who presented the bill to Senator Shriver were Vernon Williams, John Madden and Phil Manning.

Board Names Museum Head

Vernon Nestor was appointed this week to succeed the late Dr. Eugene F. McFarland as director of the Wichita Art Museum.

Nestor, 24, was named acting director of the Museum by the Art Museum Board. He is a 1955 graduate of the School of Fine Arts of the University.

The appointment was made for an acting director who will serve on a month to month basis in order to allow the board to employ a permanent director.

2nd Semester Enrollment High

A record-breaking second semester enrollment figure was set at the University this week, according to Dr. Worth A. Fletcher, registrar. Wednesday evening, some 3,941 students had enrolled with late registration continuing the rest of the week. Dr. Fletcher said an estimated 4,000 students are expected to enroll. First semester enrollment numbered 4,247 students, an all-time high. Enrollment for the second semester of 1955 was 3,797 students, previously a record.

"There was wide acclaim of the plan of pre-registration by both the students and faculty. Much credit for the success of the plan can be given to members of the industrial engineering department who planned and made the signs used in registration," stated Dr. Fletcher. This semester 2,059 students pre-registered, 559 more than first semester.

Romulo Places Emphasis On Today's Universities

"The universities here in America and abroad can aid in fostering international mindedness in the youth. It is the place where you have humanities and a liberal education," Gen. Carlos P. Romulo said in a press conference at the Lassen Hotel, Wednesday afternoon.

General Romulo added that the mental grooves can be turned and fashioned to be more broad, and that with a liberal education students can understand best that they cannot be an island unto themselves.

During the press conference, General Romulo pointed out that the communist situation in the Philippine Islands has been wiped out by President Magsaysay. He said this was done mostly through the opening of land to the masses; therefore, in appreciation, the masses threw their support to the President.

Romulo is against the admission of Red China into the United Nations. It is his belief that if Red China is admitted because of political experience, the moral basis on which the UN is formed would be destroyed.

It is General Romulo's hope that the letter Premier Nikolai Bulganin is sending to President Eisenhower will not follow the pattern of the Geneva Summit Conference.

Some people have said that President Magsaysay is a puppet of the Americans; however, General Romulo says this is definitely not so. The General said that the people of the Philippines believe and support their President in his idea of a closer alliance with the United States.

In connection with the situation in Asia, General Romulo said the people don't realize that communism is a more definite form of colonialism.

President Greet Incoming Students

There are many new students on the campus at this time and on behalf of the faculty and students I should like to express a welcome to them.

We all hope that you make a quick adjustment to your new surroundings and that you make many new friends while at the University. Work hard, but enjoy every day.

—Harry F. Corbin, president.

Press Women 'Arts' Ball Is February 4

The sixth annual Beaux Arts Ball, sponsored by the Wichita Press Women Club, will be held Feb. 4 to raise funds for a scholarship to be awarded to an upperclass woman majoring in journalism or radio.

The scholarship winner will be selected by the University scholarship committee in the spring. Winner of the award last year was Virginia Christenson, Liberal Arts junior.

"Carnival of Nations" will be theme of this year's costume ball, which will be held from 10 p.m. until 2 a.m. at the Hotel Broadview Ballroom, according to Mrs. Elizabeth Clark, member of the club.

Tickets for the ball are $5 a couple and may be purchased from Mrs. Clark in the Public Relations Office or from other members of the club.

Claudia White Reigns at Dance

By MERLE BLOCK
Sunflower News Editor

The crowning of Claudia White added another touch of royalty to the University's many queen selections when she was chosen as Parnassus Queen at the annual 1956 Parnassus Dance held between semesters.

The pretty Education junior was chosen from a host of 10 candidates by three judges who made their choice through personal interviews. Their attention was focused on the contestants' poise, personality, scholarship, and beauty.

The candidates shared a portion of the ceremony as they walked separately to the stage accompanied by the luminous sparkle of the spotlight, soft strains of music, and the voice of yearbook editor, Cathy Waters, who introduced each candidate.

During the ceremonies that followed, the new queen was crowned by Fern Sibbitt, 1955 Parnassus Queen. Miss White also received a gift of an 11 by 14 oil portrait of herself, a dozen roses, and an engraved bracelet.

The queen and her escort then led the coronation dance.

Miss Waters believed that the dance was a success financially. She said that the attendance was good in spite of the weather.

Chiefs Stall Out for 56-55 Victory Detroit Boasts Top Scorers

Titans

Sporting the cream of the Missouri Valley Conference scoring crop, Detroit invades the University of Wichita Fieldhouse Monday to stop an improving and winning Shocker club.

The top scoring artist in the MVC, Bill Ebben, who averages 25 points a game, has led the Titans to a 9-6 all game record.

The Titan offensive powerhouse claims two other leading scorers, Don Hasse and Ralph Goldstien, who make up a Detroit trio in the top six scoring spots in the Valley. All three lead Wichita's Bob Hodgson and Joe Stevens who provide the majority of points for the Shockers.

Sustaining speed and depth advantage, Detroit has depended a great deal on the fast break, with plenty of substitutions.

But Titan rebounds have been the main criticism of Detroit Coach Bob Calihan. On the other hand, Wichita has less speed and depth but better scoring average and have controlled the backboards despite their height lack.

OCU

Oklahoma City University combined accurate free throwing and a nine-minute stall with Wichita's once again cold shooting to down the Shockers, 56-55, Tuesday night.

The Shockers started fast, then cooled off until the final minutes when they narrowed the margin to three points, but never quite caught up, due to the Chiefs' stall and Lyndon Lee's work at the free throw line in the second half.

Lee hit 11 of 14 charity shots, almost single-handedly keeping the Chiefs in front, and twice put them ahead by five points in the final minutes. His total of 22 points was high for the game.

Bob Hodgson and Don Lock hit three field goals in the last 40 seconds, but the Chiefs' stall had run out the clock and Wichita's inability to hit from the field earlier cost them the game.

Joe Stevens led the Shockers with 20 points; Hodgson and Jim Strathe each hit 11. Big Hubert Reed, with 13, and Cecil Magana, with 10, were the other top scorers for the Chiefs.

BOB HODGSON

Hodgson Now 2nd Among WU Scorers

Second place on the list of high-scoring Shocker cagers changed hands Tuesday night when Bob Hodgson sank 11 points against Oklahoma City University, to raise his total to 936 points.

The big center from Weir, Kans., passed former runner-up John Friedersdorf, who scored 927 points before graduating in 1952.

Hodgson also pulled down 16 rebounds for a season total of 175 and is expected to beat the record of 212 set by Cleo Littleton.

Old Story Aggies, Bills Top Valley

Missouri Valley Conference leaders looked like a carbon copy of past years this week as perennial title contenders St. Louis and Oklahoma A and M stood alone atop the standings with perfect league records.

Co-champion Tulsa has taken its knocks early and appears hopelessly lost unless some miracle pulls them out of their slide to the cellar position. Houston with a 5-2 mark in loop play, is still a definite threat to the Aggies and Billikens if their team can rally around their seven footer, Don Boldebeck.

Conference activity this week highlights the brother battle between Tulsa's Clarence Iba and the Oklahoma Aggies' Henry Iba at Tulsa. The Hurricane began the season like title repeaters, roaring to a 10-1 streak crowned by the Oklahoma City all-college tournament title. Since then, they have dropped five straight, four at home and all by at least eight points.

Monday night, Wichita hosts the Titans of Detroit. Six interseasonal tilts will be played by Valley teams and if records are any indication, Conference teams should fatten up their win column. In all games played, the Missouri Valley teams won 67 games and dropped 31.

Missouri Valley Standings:

	MVC		All Games
St. Louis	4	0	11	2
Okla A and M	2	0	11	3
Houston	5	2	11	3
Bradley	2	2	9	5
Detroit	2	5	9	6
WICHITA	1	3	7	7
Tulsa	0	4	10	6

AS I SEE THEM
by MILT BRANTLEY
SPORTS EDITOR

During the weekend of rest between semesters, a glow rose over the campus to temporarily block out the horrors of examinations.

That glow was caused by the Shockers as they stepped on Missouri Valley co-champion Tulsa to advance to a win rung on the Valley standings ladder. This win brought to an end the starvation diet that the team has had imposed on them by Houston, Bradley, and Oklahoma A and M.

The win over Tulsa more or less forecast the outcome of the game with Drake. The happy surprise of this game was Jim Strathe who sank 21 points to lead the Shocker's offense. Joe Stevens, who seems to like being runner-up in the scoring column, was again second with 17 points.

Don Boldebeck, the seven foot center of the University of Houston Cougars, reached the 2,000 point mark Monday night in the Houston-Tulsa game played at Houston. Only 10 players in college basketball history have entered the 2,000 point scoring club.

Boldebeck now has 2,013 points which is 151 points short of the total points scored by Wichita University star Cleo Littleton. Littleton ended his college basketball career with 2,164 points.

Little Chiefs Deal Frosh Third Loss

Shocker Freshmen were handed their third defeat in four games by the Oklahoma City University Frosh Tuesday night, 49-68.

The Little Chiefs spurred to a 13-6 lead midway in the first half, and led the rest of the game. The Greenies cut their lead to 24-27 at halftime, but OCU pulled away steadily in the second half.

Dave Dutton led the Shockers with 17 points, while Mike Kelly and Ed McGraw also hit 17 to pace the OCU Frosh.

Wichita outrebounded OCU in spite of the Chiefs' height advantage, 44 to 34.

Boeing engineers are insiders on top-secret work

Engineers are doing vital work on significant new developments at Boeing. For example, the Boeing BOMARC IM-99 pilotless interceptor. Its predecessor, the Boeing GAPA, is shown here, because photographs of BOMARC are highly classified. BOMARC is a supersonic long-range missile that spearheads an entirely new weapons system. It is a key weapon in America's defense planning.

BOMARC, as well as other "years ahead" Boeing projects, which cannot be discussed here, are complex challenges to all kinds of engineers. These men find real creative interest in the problems of very high speed flight: heat, compressibility, vibration, rocket, jet and nuclear power, miniaturization, electronic control, and others. Their goal is to design structures and components that will "weigh nothing and take no space," yet withstand extreme velocities and altitudes.

The prestige of Boeing engineers is second to none. They have created such recent aviation milestones as the B-52 global jet bomber, the 707 jet transport, and the B-47. There are superb facilities at Boeing: the multi-million-dollar new Flight Test Center, the world's most versatile privately-owned wind tunnel, the latest electronic computers, and much more.

Boeing engineers enjoy exceptional opportunities for career stability and growth. There are more than twice as many engineers with the firm now than at the peak of World War II. Living is pleasant in the progressive, comfortable-size communities of Seattle and Wichita.

There is room for top engineering talent on Boeing research, design and production teams. If you feel that you belong with aviation's leader, it will pay you to investigate the advantages of a career with Boeing.

'Forgotten Men'

'Our Senior Citizens' Tells Aged's Problems

By ERNESTINE SHINN
Sunflower Staff Reporter

An appealing story of "Our Senior Citizens," how they live and what their problems are, is vividly described by Dr. Donald O. Cowgill, head of sociology department, and his co-workers, in a recently published book.

The major work on the study of the aged in Wichita shows where they live, what kind of people they are, and prospects for their future. It was done in response to a request by the Wichita City Commission.

Included in the research are the numbers who have surviving mates, the living conditions, and those who still do some kind of work.

Using figures from the 1950 census which numbered 12,980 persons as being 65 years of age or older, the following significant points were brought out: One-third of the men interviewed and two-thirds of the women had no present marital partner.

One out of seven men and three out of 10 women lived in homes other than their own; two out of five men and one out of 10 women over 65 were employed. A high percentage of those with jobs had been on the job the week before the census was taken.

The basis for the interviews was a sample drawn by Miss Helen Brown, graduate student and lecturer at the University. It disclosed similarities of age distribution, sex ratio, and racial composition to that shown in the 1950 census.

The survey revealed that economically their needs are reasonably well met. The greatest problems seem to be social. Facilities for using free time, filling loneliness caused by lack of friends, finding recreation, and getting transportation are definite needs.

"Two-thirds did not attend church worship services and only a few participated in any other church functions. Many did not even have the comfort of visits from friends or their pastors."

"The old folks are truly "forgotten men" in our society. They are retired from employment, refused jobs, and dropped from community participation."

Letters of Lindsborg Pioneer Translated by Dean Lindquist

Dean Emory Lindquist of the College of Liberal Arts has translated and edited the letters of the Rev. and Mrs. Olof Olsson, pioneer founders of Lindsborg.

The letters, written between June, 1869, the date the Olsson's arrived in the Smoky Valley of central Kansas, and 1873, tell of their trials and triumphs as they, with a group of people from various parishes in Varmland, settled in the Lindsborg area.

Early settlers did not expect to become rich. They desired to own their own homes with sufficient sustenance for their needs, the Rev. Olsson wrote.

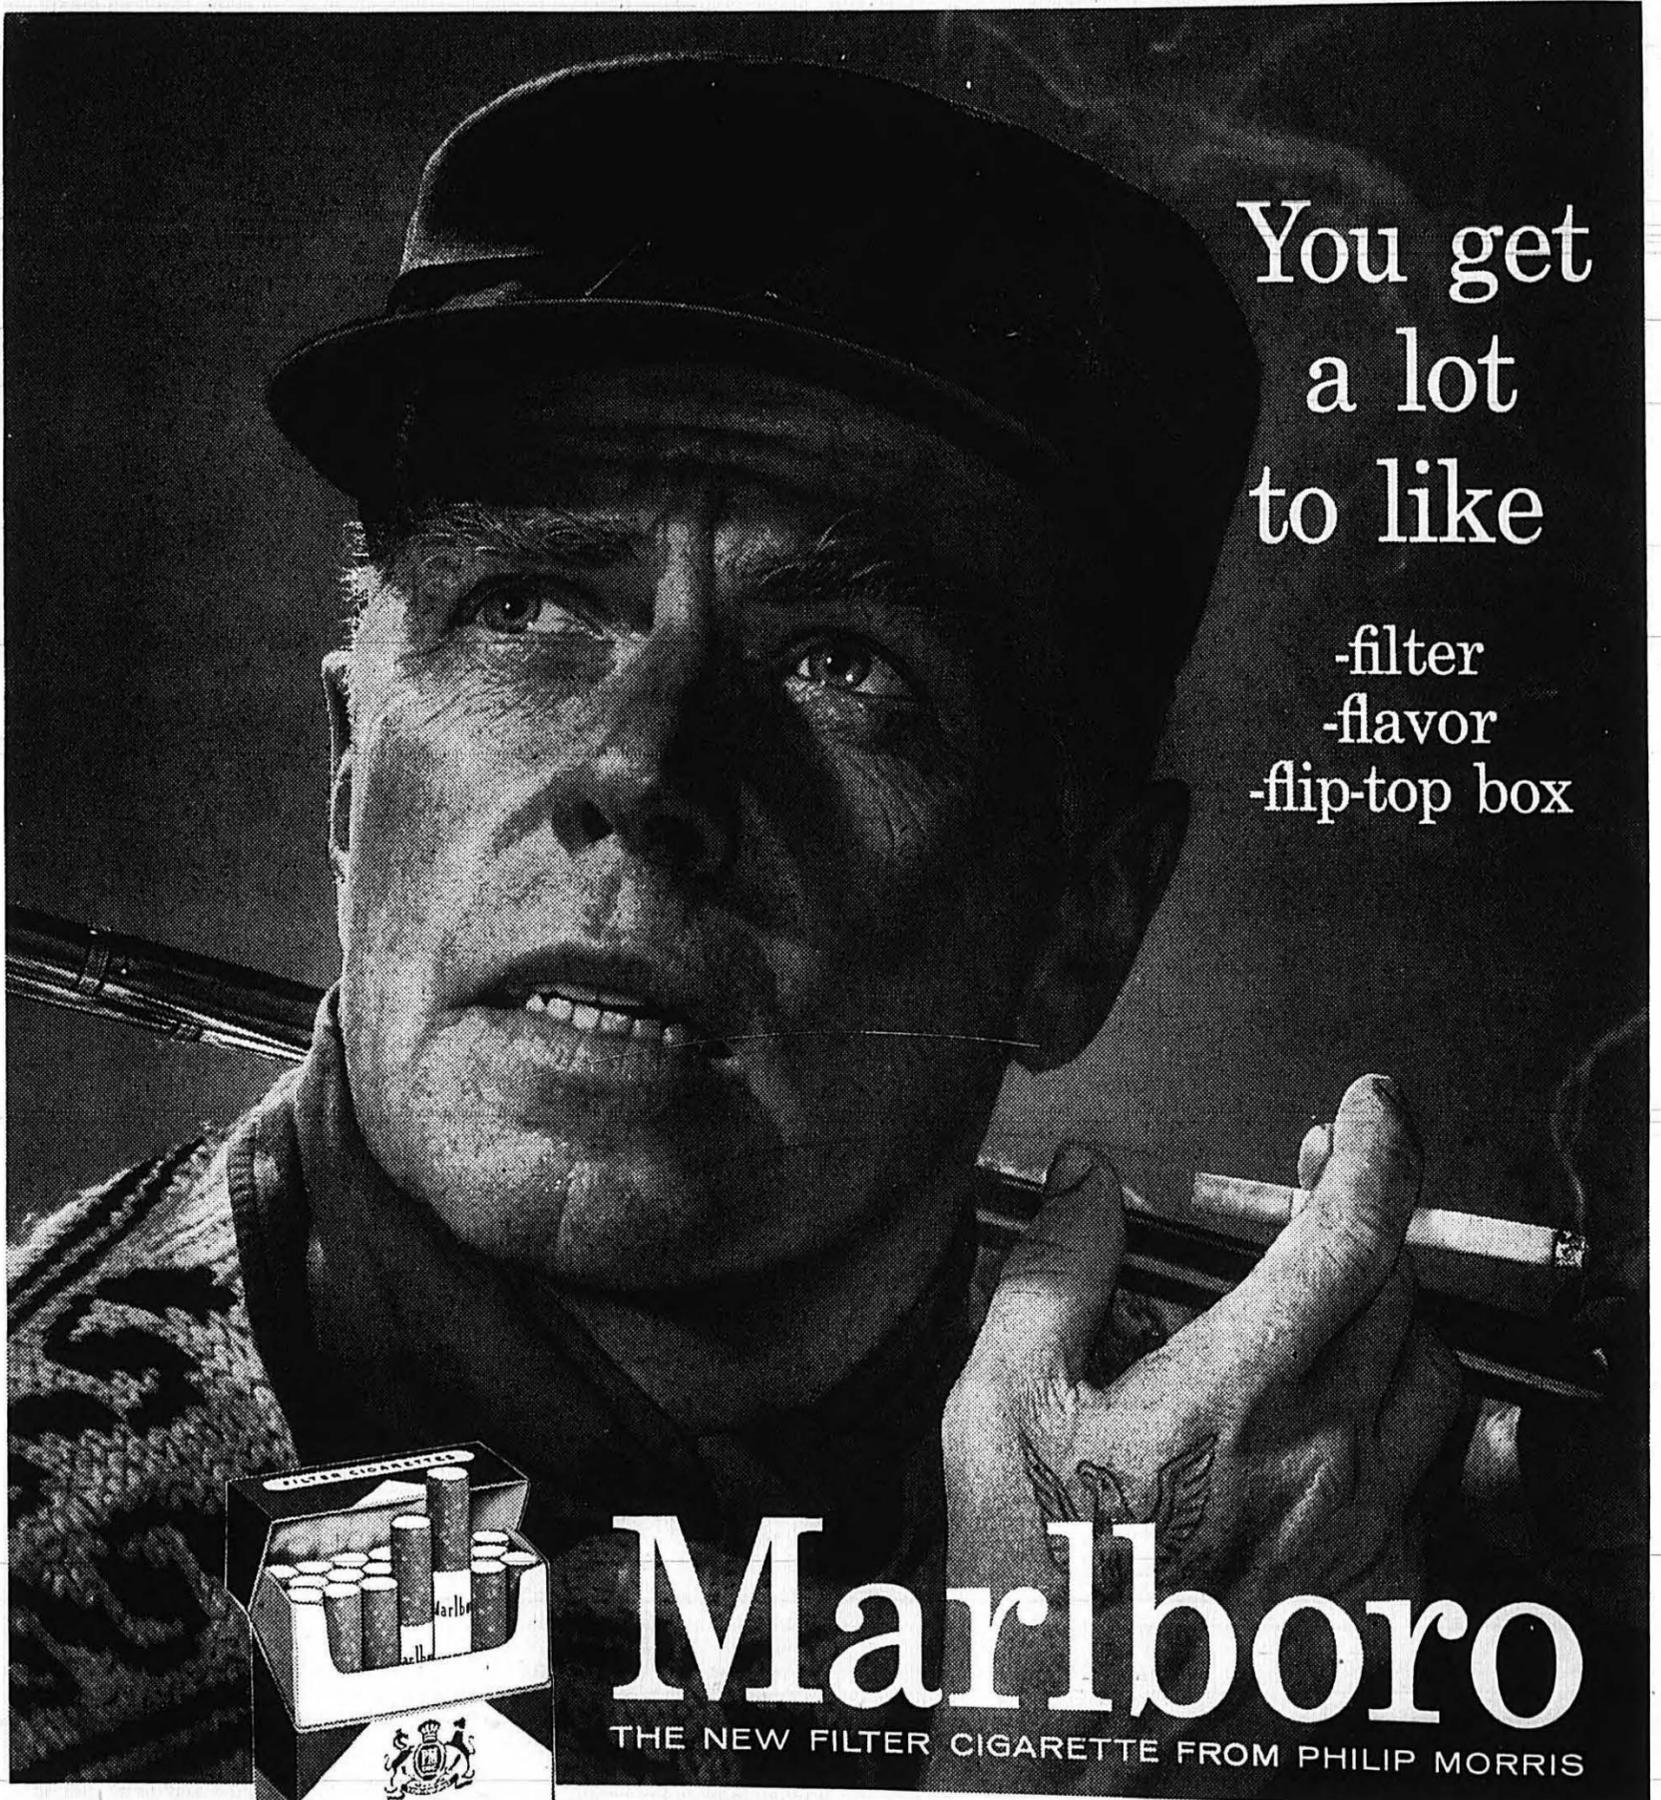

He wrote that greedy land agents were a real plague and that one should not purchase land in haste. In describing the American, he said, "Although the real American is in his manner forward and unceremonious, so is he nevertheless pleasant and friendly in associations."

Time was a factor then as now. "Time goes so fast here that I hardly have time to turn around, as they say, before a month has fled by."

Prospects for a better life were much greater in America than in Sweden but difficulties in making the trip and getting established were incalculable and "weak spirits can become completely distraught."

The history of Lindsborg is intimately associated with the Olssons. He founded the Bethel Swedish Evangelical Lutheran Church, there in 1869. He had a distinguished career as an educator, theologian, and writer.
