

Politicos Name Candidates for Council Posts

By BILL ANDERSON
Sunflower Reporter

The fight for control of the Student Council began this week when the two campus political factions named their candidates and started campaigning.

Although the two parties differ in many ways, both of them, the Shocker Coalition and Better Politics on Campus Association, are working to "get out the vote" in the May 11 elections.

Several statements were made, Saturday, by candidates and interested party officials, setting out some of the purposes of the parties.

Janet Noel, BPOC presidential candidate, explained the basis for her party.

"We are going to work for a greater voice for unaffiliates and to see that the Student Council is more active on the campus. We will attempt to give the Council a greater voice in the campus administrative affairs."

The following are the candidates running on the two slates.

SHOCKER	POSITION	BPOC
Gil Tatman	President	Janet Noel
Doug Castleberry	Vice President	Stan McGehee
Armida Romero	Secretary	Kathy Blocker
Shirley Treat	Treasurer	Nick Wilson
Myrna Ure	Sr. Rep.	Fern Sibbitt
Claudia White	Sr. Rep.	Ben Kubes
Stan Haring	Jr. Rep.	Martha Reagan
Fred Luedke	Soph. Rep.	Harry Krueger

On the other side, Gil Tatman, Shocker presidential candidate, was boasting for more qualified candidates.

"We feel that the number one important thing is that we run a qualified slate of candidates. Then, if we can get these people into office, we will drive to rid the Council of loop holes and complications and bring it up to date with the growth of the campus."

Doug Castleberry, Shocker vice presidential candidate, said he felt that many of the unaffiliates claimed by the other party would vote, but vote for the best people no matter on which slate they were running.

Summing it up for the BPOC, Dean Scott, nominating committee chairman, said he was very pleased with the slate of his party, but, moreover, he was proud of the progress of politics on the campus in recent months.

University Vets Hold First Meeting; Plan Organization, Purpose

Basic plans were laid, Friday, by 30 veterans who met in an attempt to organize approximately 1,100 veterans of two wars attending the University.

Meeting in the science building, they elected a slate of temporary officers and selected a constitution committee. They also discussed some of the purposes of such an organization.

After the meeting, the constitution committee, consisting of Stan Larson, Jerry Butcher, Phil Goodwin, George Thorpe, and John McIntyre, met and adopted a constitution to be presented at the next general meeting for adoption as a for four officers plus a sergeant at arms, a 14 member executive council, and a meeting will be held once each month.

Elected to temporarily man the organization were Leonard Schlup, president; George Thorpe, vice president; George Morrison, secretary; and John Kodras, treasurer.

It was decided that the group will meet again in Rm. 109, Neff Hall, at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m., Thursday. Schlup said the reason for the two meetings is so that both those who work in the afternoon and at night may attend.

Team Must Have Backing to Field Winner' Baseball Coach Says

By MILTON BRANTLEY
Sunflower Sports Editor

"A team has to have backing before it can be a winning team," Jerry Bupp, Shocker baseball field coach, said when questioned about the baseball team's standing this season. "It is definitely something that the Shockers haven't got."

Bupp was angry when he said this Saturday morning and well he might be. He had been ejected from the Shocker-Oklahoma A and M game the day before for disagreeing with an umpire's call. This was the second time this season that he has been removed from a game and each time it was by the same umpire.

"This team is a good ball club," he said. "I admit that we are weak in some places but we aren't as weak as our record shows. We need a stronger pitching staff and the only way to get it is to offer scholarships."

When questioned about being removed from games Bupp said, "The umpire in question had a habit of being premature about calling plays that he couldn't see. This happened the first time I got booted."

He said that he asked Baseball Coach Dick Miller what he would do if a basketball referee gave bad calls. He said that Miller said he wouldn't have the official back.

"I asked Dick Miller to re-

The frosh track team will participate in the Missouri Valley Telegraphic Meet here Thursday, and the varsity tennis team will meet Tulsa here.

Sports As I See Them

By MILT BRANTLEY
Sports Editor

Jim Ranck, freshman football coach and head baseball coach, will be having himself a peck of trouble next spring when he tries to build up a new baseball team.

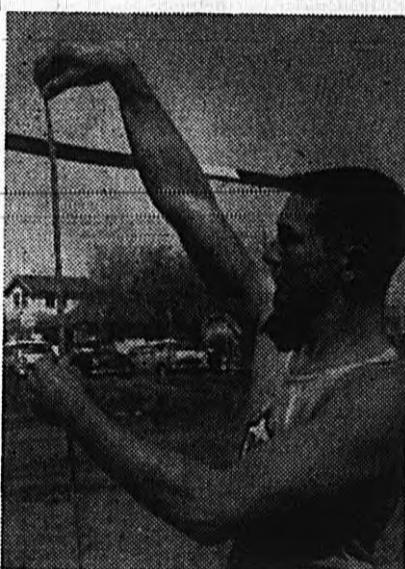

Ranck is stepping in at a bad time. He is coming into a sport that does not have favorable backing on the campus. He can't expect to field an exceptionally good team because there is no incentive for playing.

The football and basketball players get substantial scholarships for playing ball for the school. No one is trying to say that baseball is a better sport than the other two but it surely isn't any worse. The major difference is that baseball doesn't pay for itself.

Many causes can be found for a team not winning ball games. Quite often the real reason is lack of the will to win. Again this can be caused by a number of reasons.

In the case of the Shockers there seems to be dissension on the part of the coaching staff. This never won ball games. Actually this never won anything except bad feelings for everyone involved.

It gets to be a shame that money is held over the training of sportsmanship and school spirit. It's bad that a man, who wants to play to win, is penalized because he has no backing.

RECORD BREAKER—Jim Hill, Shocker track man, measures the high jump bar to show the record jump he made recently to set a new school record at six feet five and one-half inches. Hill says he is aiming for the Missouri Valley Conference record at the MVC Spring Sports Meet in Tulsa, May 11.

Ping Pong Tournament Shows Unusual Spectator Interest

Play has been completed in the intramural singles and doubles Ping Pong tournament according to Jerry Bupp, intramural director.

"The turnout for these tournaments was above expectations," he said. "There were 21 doubles teams and 37 singles out for the matches. We had 46 matches in doubles and 72 matches in singles," Bupp said.

The winners of the doubles event were Lon Nickelson and Duane Steen with John Dalke and Billy Broughton second. The singles winners were Lon Nickelson, first; Hal Dwyer, second; and Duane Steen, third.

THE TRUE AND TYPICAL CASE OF CHATSWORTH OSCEOLA

The school year draws to an end, and everybody is wondering about the future — everybody, that is, except the engineers. Today there is not a single engineer on a single campus who has not received a dozen fabulous offers from a dozen corporations.

All this, of course, you know. But do you know just how fabulous these offers are? Do you have any idea how wildly the corporations are competing? Let me cite for you the true and typical case of Chatsworth Osceola, a true and typical senior.

Chatsworth, walking across the M.I.T. campus one day last week, was hailed by a man parked at the curb in a yellow convertible studded with precious gemstones. "Hello," said the man. "I am Darien T. Sigafos of the Sigafos Bearing and Bushing Company. Do you like this car?"

"Yeah, hey," said Chatsworth.

"It's yours," said Sigafos.

"Thanks, hey," said Chatsworth.

"Do you like Philip Morris?" said Sigafos.

"Of corris!" said Chatsworth.

"Here is a pack," said Sigafos. "And a new pack will be delivered to you at six-hour intervals every day as long as you shall live."

"Thanks, hey," said Chatsworth.

"Does your wife like Philip Morris?" said Sigafos.

"I'm not married," said Chatsworth.

"Do you want to be?" said Sigafos.

"What American boy doesn't?" said Chatsworth.

Sigafos pressed a button on the dashboard of the convertible, and the trunk opened up, and out came a nubile maiden with golden hair, flawless features, a perfect disposition, and the appendix already removed. "This is Laurel Geduldig," said Sigafos. "Would you like to marry her?"

"Is her appendix out?" said Chatsworth.

"Yes," said Sigafos.

"Okay," said Chatsworth.

"Congratulations," said Sigafos. "And for the happy bride, a pack of Philip Morris every six hours for the rest of her life."

"Thanks, hey," said Laurel.

"Now then," said Sigafos to Chatsworth, "let's get down to business. My company will start you at $45,000 a year. You will retire at full salary upon reaching the age of 28. When you start work, we will give you a three-story house made of bullion, complete with a French Provincial swimming pool. We will provide sitter service for all your children until they are safely through puberty. We will guarantee to keep your teeth in good repair; also the teeth of your wife and children unto the third generation. We will send your dentist a pack of Philip Morris every six hours as long as he shall live.... Now, son, think carefully about this offer. Meanwhile, here is one thousand dollars in small, unmarked bills, which places you under no obligation whatsoever."

"It certainly seems like a fair offer," said Chatsworth. "But there is something you should know. I am not an engineer. In fact, I don't go to M.I.T. I am a poetry major at Harvard. I just came over here on a bird walk."

"Oh," said Sigafos.

"I guess I don't get to keep this money and the convertible and Laurel now, do I?" said Chatsworth.

"Of course you do," said Sigafos. "And if you'd like the job, my offer still stands."

A New Epidemic

Theft is a problem currently confronting Prof. Downing P. O'Hara, University Head Librarian.

Disappearance of certain irreplaceable volumes and encyclopedias from the Library has become an epidemic and if it continues the University may have to establish a control desk at the exit of the Library where all students and faculty would have to show their books and open their brief cases before leaving the Library.

The proposed plan has its merits in that it will establish effective control of the Library property but its wisdom may be questioned by many honest students on the campus, who will thus be placed under suspicion.

Professor O'Hara recognizes the demerits of this plan and has so far delayed its adoption hoping that the attitude of the students, in regard to Library property, will change.

Disappearance of books is not attributed entirely to undesirable motives. Some of the lost volumes are returned. "The Encyclopedia of Religion and Ethics," for instance, which disappeared from the reference room during the Religious Emphasis Week, was returned.

But, it goes to show that some students do not realize that following the proper check out procedures is necessary for the effective maintenance and operation of the Library.

The Library belongs to all students. The University has imposed no restrictions on the use of its facilities. Everyone is free to go in the Library, to read and browse, and check out any book he desires.

Abusing this privilege might mean losing it. If restrictions are imposed it will be entirely the students' fault.

$600 Replacement

15 Reference Books Taken

Several important reference works as well as a number of bound volumes of periodicals are missing from the shelves of Morrison Library.

At the present time about 15 books have been discovered missing from the Reference Room in the Library. Most of these books are part of encyclopedia sets.

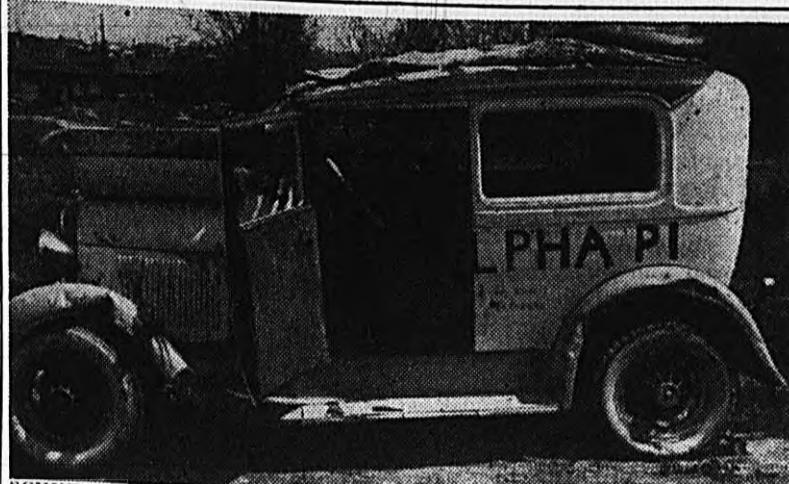

According to Prof. Downing P. O'Hara, head librarian, it is impossible to replace one of these books in the set without buying an entire new set. It is estimated that it would cost around $600 to replace these sets.

The reference books missing include Collier's Encyclopedia, 1953 edition, Vol. 17; World Book Encyclopedia, 1953 edition, Vol. 2; Encyclopedia of Social Sciences, Vols. 7 and 10; Cambridge History of American Literature, Vol. 1; Cambridge History of English Literature, Vol. 1; Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature, Vol. 4; History for Ready Reference, Vol. 4; Oxford Companion to English Literature; and the 1953

Yearbook of Education.

Besides the reference books, several periodicals are missing. These include Life, Vol. 28, May-June, 1950; School and Society, Vol. 80, 1954; Science, Vol. 120, July-December, 1954; and Readers Digest, January-June, 1954.

If the book losses continue to grow, it may be necessary to install a control desk at the exit of the Library and check all books leaving the library, according to Professor O'Hara.

SCENE OF TRAGEDY—Mysterious marauders attacked an ex-officio member of Pi Alpha Pi in the fraternity parking lot last week.

TRAGEDY

Pi Alpha 'Rolled,' 'Badly Beaten' by Campus Juveniles

Tragedy struck the University campus last Wednesday night when an ex-officio member of the Pi Alpha Pi fraternity was badly beaten and nearly "done in" for good.

Members of the fraternity, Saturday, were attempting to nurse their 28-year-old member of one year back to health. The drastic irregularity occurred shortly before 10 p.m., Wednesday, when a mob of unidentified male students flipped the beloved member in the parking lot behind the fraternity house.

Lawrence (Gus) Davis, president of Pi Alpha Pi, who was returning from a movie, saw the beating. He said after the beating the 'thugs' ran to the boys dorm and escaped in speeding cars.

"We have some good information that should lead us to the ringleaders," Davis said. "If we find these 'juveniles of the campus', we will certainly see that restitution is made."

A tragedy it was, but no blood flowed in the Pi Alpha Pi parking lot that night. No blood, just oil, for the beaten member was a 1928 Model A Ford.

'Anastasia' Visits Campus*Star Proves Great Actress, Person; Gives Views on Theater to Students

By DON RUDE
Special Sunflower Reporter

Viveca Lindfors, star of the touring Broadway hit, "Anastasia," proved to be both a great actress and a great person during the Wichita run of the Goy Bolton play last week.

Miss Lindfors visited the campus Thursday and spoke to nearly 100 speech and drama students in the Commons Lounge. She told of her training at the Royal Swedish Dramatic Academy, and her career as a movie star in Europe and in Hollywood, which she described as "depressing."

In developing the character of Anastasia, a slavic girl who claims to be a surviving daughter of the last Russian Czar, Miss Lindfors pointed out that she used many books on the Russian Revolution, the Russian court, the Czar's family, and Anastasia. "I saw several Russian movies," she pointed out, "and used Russian music. Sometimes it made me homesick."

She expressed sorrow that there is not more interest in the theater today. "It is important because it deals with social problems. The same problems Shakespeare used, Arthur Miller uses today," she pointed out. "You know, these things keep happening over and over."

Miss Lindfors thinks people today are too materialistic. Hollywood has ruined some of America's great potential acting talent, she added. For some people, "The sunshine and swimming pools make up for this. It is an easy life."

Television, Miss Lindfors pointed out, has done a great deal in improving the quality of drama.

Those who want to enter the theater "should read the great authors," she advised. "One should develop the mind. This is most important."
