Cowboy Carnival Nets $800, Benefits WUS

Booster Ticket Sales Set To Close Today

Booster trip tickets for the year's first trip, Saturday, will close today, according to Bob Sayre, assistant pep coordinator.

Sayre said the ticket price, $8.40, includes transportation expenses to and from Tulsa, Okla., and tickets to the Wichita-Tulsa game.

In order to interest more students in the trip, Sayre said that plans were made to contact a number of students personally.

In addition to members of the student body who will be making the trip, the University Band and a number of Wheaties, women's pep organization, will attend the Tulsa game.

The train for Tulsa will leave Wichita early Saturday morning and return after the game Saturday afternoon.

According to a representative from the Santa Fe Railroad, if more than 400 persons attend there will be a refund to ticket holders. He also said that if more than 500 go to Tulsa, the refund will be even greater.

Sorosis Coed Wins Title With $243.50

Modern dance and badminton classes in Henrion Gym gave way Friday night to pie throwing, mock marriages, and a wrecked car.

Reason for the shift in the atmosphere of the gymnasium was the annual Cowboy Carnival, sponsored by the YWCA.

Claudia White, YWCA president, said that an estimated $800 was raised at the carnival as the University's contribution to World University Service (WUS.)

Climax of the evening was the crowning of Susie the Snake Charmer and Sam the Strong Man. This year's "Susie" is Janice Hupp, Sorosis Sorority. "Sam" is George Anderton, Alpha Gamma Gamma Fraternity. Both are Fine Arts sophomores. Miss White said that the winning sorority had total contributions of $243.50. The winning fraternity total was $33.43.

Following the coronation, pledge classes of several social organizations presented skits and auctioned themselves off for parties to add to the funds of WUS.

Miss White said that an estimated total of $700 was raised for WUS at the auction and election.

Campus organizations sponsored 10 booths which sold confetti and such services as marriages, cake walks, jail terms, chance to smash a partially wrecked car, pies to throw at human targets, penny tosses, chances to dunk a co-ed in a tub of water, ring a girl's leg with a hoop, and a chance to knock bottles down for a prize.

Last year's total amount of funds raised was about $600, according to Vickie Basham, carnival chairman. The all-time high, she said, was in 1947 when $1,000 was raised.

Betsy Singleton, WUS field director, from Dallas, Tex., was a guest at this year's carnival. She attended the University's carnival to investigate means used to raise funds for WUS.

University Hosts 150 Debaters During Nat'l Invitational Tourney

Approximately 150 students from 17 colleges and universities participated in the University's National Invitational Tournament last Friday and Saturday.

Representing Oklahoma were Oklahoma A and M, and Oklahoma Baptist University.

The 11 colleges and universities representing Kansas in the debate were University of Wichita, Taber College, Ottawa University, Fort Hays State Teachers College, College of Emporia, Emporia State Teachers College, Bethel College, St. John's College of Winfield, Southwestern College of Winfield, Hutchinson Junior College, and McPherson College.

The University's chief duty during the debate was to act as administrator, according to Leslie Blake, associate professor of speech and drama.

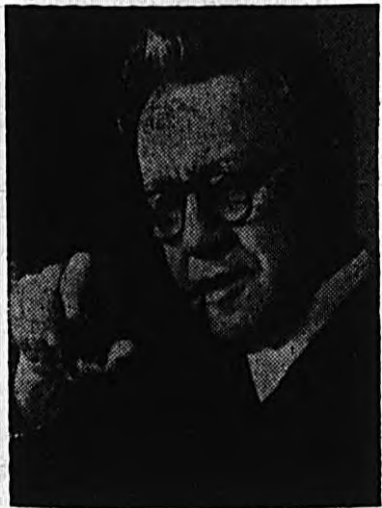

Debate, oratory, and extemporaneous speaking were included in the tournament.

Tournament judges were faculty members, local lawyers, and visiting debate team coaches. University students were timekeepers.

No Friday Paper

Because of the Thanksgiving holiday, the Sunflower will suspend publication for Friday. The student newspaper will resume publication Nov. 27.

Next Speaker For Forum...

FORMER DEPUTY PRIME MINISTER of England, Herbert Morrison, will be the second lecturer in the 1956-57 Student Forum series. Mr. Morrison will speak in the Commins Auditorium at 8:15 p.m., Nov. 29.

Air Force ROTC Expands

Approximately 100,000 young men in 186 colleges and universities in the United States, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico have enrolled in the Air Force's ROTC program this year, Brig. Gen. T. C. Rogers, Air Force ROTC commandant, has announced.

Fifty-five thousand freshmen enrolled this September as compared to 52,000 a year ago. There are 31,700 sophomores, almost 6,000 juniors, and 6,000 seniors enrolled in the program which furnishes the Air Force with 80 percent of its newly commissioned junior officers.

About 7,000 seniors are commissioned as second lieutenants each year through the AFROTC. Most graduates enter pilot training. Fifteen hundred graduates are slated for navigation training each year and 1,000 new officers are commissioned in scientific and technical fields.

The 1956 enrollment is almost identical to that of 1955. This year's enrollment shows an increase in freshmen and sophomores, but a drop in junior and senior cadets.

Beginning this year, the Air Force is starting flight training programs for advanced male students at 43 institutions.

It is hoped that nearly all the 186 institutions will offer this training within the next three years.

Purposes of the program are to motivate cadets toward flying careers and to determine their adaptability to flying. A cadet who completes 35 hours training in light planes will receive a private pilot's license.

The flight training will be civilian operated and supervised by the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Homecoming Study Group Plans Report

A study group designed for evaluating and appraising all phases of Homecoming met last Monday with representatives from all campus organizations engaged in the holiday weekend, to gather ideas, suggestions, and criticisms of Homecoming.

Stan Haring, Fine Arts junior and organizer of the group, said that the results of that meeting and one scheduled for last night, which was to include two representatives from each organization, will eventually be proposed to Student Council.

He said the idea of the central Homecoming plan will be constructed so all those affected will

All Faiths Service Set For Thurs.

The inter-faith, inter-racial nature of Thanksgiving will be confirmed by a special Thanksgiving service to be held at 3 p.m., Thursday, in the Fieldhouse.

The service, which is open to the public, is being sponsored by the Wichita Beacon.

As part of the service, Harold Decker, professor of music, will lead a large choral group composed of students from all the Wichita high schools.

The choral group will present several hymns and lead the audience in singing "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

Guest speaker will be Congressman Dr. Walter Judd, (R. Minn.), an expert on foreign affairs.

4-Day Vacation Begins Tomorrow

Thanksgiving vacation will begin after each student's final Wednesday class for a four-day recess.

Classes will resume Monday morning.

According to a release from the registrar's office, "double cuts" will be given for students not attending classes either Wednesday or Monday.

Carnival Royalty

SMILING WINNERS of the "Sam" and "Susie" titles at Friday night's Cowboy Carnival were George Anderton, Alpha Gamma, and Janice Hupp, Sorosis. They were announced and crowned at 9:30 p.m. preceding the auction which climaxed the Carnival.

Claudia White Named Betty Coed

Claudia White, a senior member of Pi Kappa Psi Sorority, was named Betty Coed Saturday evening by Alpha Gamma Gamma Fraternity at an annual dinner. The dinner and dance was held at the Trig ballroom.

Special guests were Prof. and Mrs. Mike Harder, Mrs. Worth A. Fletcher, and Gamma House Mother Minnie Armour.

To qualify for Betty Coed, an outstanding senior woman must date a member of Alpha Gamma Gamma. She also must have aided the fraternity in some way.

Martha Parker Doty, last year's Betty Coed, crowned Miss White. Doug Castleberry, Gamma president, awarded the Betty Coed trophy. The trophy will remain in the possession of her sorority until next year's Betty Coed election.

Miss White was chosen as last year's Parnassus Queen. President of YWCA, she is a former Student

Claudia White

Council member. Other candidates were Gerry Scott, Pi Kap; Carolyn Fletcher and Virginia Christenson, both Sorosis members.

Radios Solve Debate Problem

Communication co-ordination between five widely separated areas required plenty of planning and ingenuity on the part of the University debate department during Friday and Saturday's National Invitational Tournament.

A four-phone walkie-talkie system was employed to link the Commons Lounge, Jardine Hall, Neff Hall, and the Engineering and Science Buildings.

The Army ROTC and the Scabbard and Blade contributed both radio instruments and operators.

"With walkie-talkies, transmission of information is twice as fast," Terry Gladfelder, a University student in charge of tournament communications, said.

Portable units were placed in all debate centers, with the Commons Building, debate headquarters, used as base station for the mobile units.

Founders Honored

The annual Founder's Day Dinner of Phi Upsilon Sigma fraternity was held Friday evening at Legion Acres.

The purpose of the dinner was to acquaint alumni with active chapter members. After dinner entertainment included group singing and card playing.

HAPPY TALK

As we all know, conversation is terribly important on a date. When lulls in the conversation run longer than an hour or two, one's partner is inclined to grow logy—even sullen. What, then, does one do?

If one is wise, one follows the brilliant example of Harlow Thurlow.

Harlow Thurlow prepares. That is his simple secret. Before the date, he goes to the library and reads all 24 volumes of the encyclopedia and transcribes their contents on his cuffs. Thus he makes sure that no matter what his date's interests are, he will have ample material to keep the conversation alive.

Take, for example, Harlow's first date with Priscilla de Gasser, a fine, strapping, blue-eyed broth of a girl, lavishly constructed and rosy as the dawn.

Harlow was, as always, prepared when he called for Priscilla, and, as always, he did not start to converse immediately. First he took her to dinner because, as everyone knows, it is useless to try to make conversation with an unfed coed.

So he took her to a fine steak house where he stoked her with gobbets of Black Angus and mounds of French fries and thickets of escarole and battalions of petits fours. Then, at last, dinner was over and the waiter brought two finger bowls.

"I hope you enjoyed your dinner, my dear," said Harlow, dipping into his finger bowl.

"Oh, it was grandy-dandy!" said Priscilla. "Now let's go someplace for ribs."

"Later, perhaps," said Harlow. "But right now, I thought we might have a conversation."

"Oh, goody, goody, two-shoes!" cried Priscilla. "I been looking everywhere for a boy who can carry on an intelligent conversation."

"Your search is ended, madam," said Harlow and pulled back his sleeves and looked at his cuffs to pick a likely topic to start the conversation.

Oh, woe! Oh, lackaday! Those cuffs on which Harlow had painstakingly transcribed such diverse and fascinating information—those cuffs were nothing now but a big, blue blur! For Harlow—poor Harlow!—splashing around in the finger bowl had gotten his cuffs wet and the ink had run and not one word was legible! And Harlow broke out in a night-sweat and fell dumb.

"I must say," said Priscilla after several silent hours, "that you are a very dull fellow. I'm leaving."

With that she flounced away and poor Harlow was too crushed to protest. Sadly he sat and sadly lit a cigarette.

All of a sudden Priscilla came rushing back. "Was that," she asked, "a Philip Morris you just lit?"

"Yes," said Harlow.

"Then you are not a dull fellow!" she cried and sprang into his lap. "You are bright! Anybody is bright to smoke such a perfect doll of a cigarette as today's rich, tasty Philip Morris, which is brimming-full of natural tobacco goodness and fresh unfiltered flavor. . . . Harlow, tiger, wash your cuffs and be my love!"

"Okay," said Harlow, and did, and was.

IN ONE EAR

By CAROL CLAY
Sunflower Society Editor

On previous occasions, "In One Ear" has dealt with various aspects of the students' behavior. Since the faculty is a part of the University, perhaps some of their faults should be pointed out too.

One thing which has been noticed is the fact that some instructors fail to show up for student consultation appointments. This may seem trivial, and in few cases is there justification. These conferences are of vital importance to students, whether they realize it or not. It not only inconveniences the student, but also leaves him with the feeling that the instructor is unconcerned about his welfare.

This is an unfortunate misconception, since most instructors are genuinely interested in their students.

Everyone is inclined to be inconsiderate at times. Professors are no exception.

An added effort on the part of guilty persons might help to further better student-teacher relationships.

As in the case of most of these little moral examples, it may well apply to the student. If a teacher makes the effort to schedule an appointment for the students, the only courteous thing a student may do is to show up.

J. Paul Sheedy* Was A Scairdy Cat Till Wildroot Cream-Oil Gave Him Confidence

Poor J. Paul valdt too scared to ask for a date—he just lacked confidence because of his messy hair. Den one day his roommate said: "Sheedy, get Wildroot Cream-Oil. It'll keep your hair handsome and healthy looking, and I ain't lion." So J. Paul put the bite on him for some money and pussyfooted down to the store for a bottle. Now he's the pride of the campus, manely beclaws his hair looks so good . . . neat but not greasy. Wildroot has no alcohol to dry your hair, instead it contains Lanolin, Nature's finest hair and scalp conditioner. So be cagey, try a bottle or handy tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil yourself. It's guaranteed to make you a roaring success on campus.

Emergency Call

A few days ago college students in Hungary rose up in a body. United they fight and die for freedom. The leader, a young college student, said, "In our struggle we look to the West and the United States for aid." If not arms, they need moral encouragement, he said.

Thousands of miles from that scene, this campus held a Cowboy Carnival. Although its scene of gaiety and laughter was an exact contrast to the somber battlefield in Hungary, its intentions were serious. The $800 donated will go to the World University Service, whose purpose is to aid college students all over the world. Presently the WUS campaign is aimed strictly to aid Hungarian students. The Carnival donations will join thousands of other dollars headed in that direction.

Meanwhile, other campuses across the country are rallying for additional contribu-

Errors in Stories Prompt Correction

Errors in wording led to misunderstanding of certain stories in last week's issue of the Sunflower. In a story about Student Council's actions regarding the pep coordinator Marilyn Koop, was an error.

A motion, which was erroneously reported as re-instating Miss Koop, actually was a defeated motion calling for her ouster.

Janet Noel said that the defeated motion "did not clear Miss Koop of charges but gave her another chance."

The Sunflower also was mistaken in saying that Miss Koop was questioned as to the lag of Booster trip sales. The Council president said Miss Koop had done "nothing" and this was the basis on which the Council was concerned.

Miss Noel also was listed in another story as a novice debater. Actually she served as a judge. Her brother Dallas Noel was the debater and was left out of the original list.

Guest Editorial

Thanksgiving is an appropriate time to acknowledge our blessings and to give thanks to God for our many wonderful opportunities in life.

However, our world owns an uneasy peace at best and the only way we can live with ourselves in the midst of our blessings is to contribute heavily to the family of man.

Whenever the need arises, or Chicago, Ill. The Sunflower also will pass on any donations brought to the news office. We also will keep an accurate tally if any organizations wish to compete.

there we must be. Whenever hope must be sustained, there we must be. Whenever knowledge and truth can be a service, we must offer the best we know.

A time of thanksgiving it is indeed. And it is also a time of the assumption of added responsibilities.

Lewis, Bonett Named Delegates to SCONA

Two seniors have been selected to represent the University at the second annual Student Conference on National Affairs, which is scheduled to be held Dec. 12 through 15 at Texas A & M College, College Station, Texas.

The student delegates are Fred Lewis, and Herman Bonett.

Bonett, a Liberal Arts senior, is a history major. He is minoring in French and political science.

A native of Philadelphia, Pa., he is a member of Phi Alpha Theta and the University Dance Band.

Political science major Fred Lewis is a student assistant in the political science department, originally from Denver, Colo.

He is vice president of Pi Sigma Alpha, national political science honorary society and a psychology minor.

The two delegates were chosen from several applicants and were selected on the basis of their fields of study, faculty recommendations, over-all qualifications, and grade point averages.

The Student Council committee which made the selection consisted of Fred Luedke, Fern Sibbitt, and Diane Copeland, chairman.

The selections were subject to approval by the Student Council, Miss Copeland said.

Holiday Modifies Library Schedule

Morrison Library will change its schedule of hours during the Thanksgiving holiday, according to Downing P. O'Harra, head librarian.

The library will be closed on Thanksgiving day and Sunday, Nov. 25.

Regular hours from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., will prevail on Friday. On Saturday the library will be open from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Membership Sets Precedent

For the first time in its history, Gamma Upsilon Chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi fraternity will admit an honorary member.

Mr. C. J. Chandler, president of the First National Bank, will be presented a medal upon his admission as an honorary fraternity member Wednesday, Nov. 21. The presentation will be made at a noon luncheon in Droll's restaurant. Jim Hiltz, local chapter president, will present the medal to Chandler.

Fraternity chapters are permitted to accept one honorary member each year. After candidates are selected by a chapter, their qualifications must be approved by the national headquarters of Alpha Kappa Psi.

Members and alumni of the fraternity are invited to attend.

Debaters To Hold Sale in Commons

Student directory sales will continue this week in the Commons Lounge from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., according to Dallas Noel, business manager.

Members of the University Debate Club are in charge of the sales. Price of the directories is 35 cents.

Included in the book are a campus calendar, basketball schedule, and sorority and fraternity sections.
