Students Now on Probation Following Kidnaping Prank

Disciplinary action was taken against six University students as a result of the "kidnaping" hoax last week. The students were placed on academic and disciplinary probation for their participation in sending Larry Good, a freshman, to Kansas City, Mo., in a funeral box.

The action was taken following extensive investigation by Dr. George Comstock, coordinator of the student's activities.

Good 'Willing Victim'
Good, the "willing kidnap victim," was among those placed on probation. Dr. Comstock declined to name the other five students. He said, "There is no reason to name them."

Dr. Comstock explained the disciplinary action taken clarifying the probation. He said the academic probation has placed the students in a position of being on probation a semester. They face possible suspension from the University if they don't meet the grade requirement releasing them from probation.

The disciplinary probation was explained by Dr. Comstock: If a student involved in the incident participates in another action that brings discredit upon the University or its students, that student will be asked to leave the school.

Would Not Cooperate
"The University expects its students to act as responsible citizens on campus and in the community," he added.

He said the disciplinary action was "harsh" because the students involved would not cooperate with the University investigation. Because of this it was felt that all of them should receive the same punishment, he said.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Attorney General's office have not taken action as yet, he said. "The FBI was called in as a result of the reported kidnaping," he added. "When it was learned the kidnaping was a hoax, they pulled out of it."

No Charge Filed
When asked about the action of the Attorney General's office, Dr. Comstock said that as far as he knew there was no charge filed and they had dropped the matter.

Dr. Comstock said that there were several others who participated in the prank, but to his knowledge the six students placed on probation were the only University students involved.

Last Chance Today For WD Withdrawals

Today is the final day for students to withdraw from a class in good standing, according to Dr. Worth Fletcher, registrar.

After today all withdrawals will be counted as WF, unless otherwise indicated by the dean of the student's college. Students may not withdraw from a course in good standing, at any time, unless they are passing the course, he added.

Agenda Set For Next SGA Meet

Student Congress will face an assortment of business items at its regular meeting Monday night.

The agenda was prepared by the Cabinet Tuesday. Mary Frances Watson, Student Government Association treasurer and chairman of the finance committee, said the committee would recommend that the request from the Geology Club for $40 be denied.

She said that the organization sought the money to purchase decals in order to stimulate interest in the organization.

Committee Disagrees
The feeling of the committee, Miss Watson reported, was that the money should not go for this purpose. Committee members suggested that the Geology Club look into the matter more thoroughly, she said.

Also up for Congressional consideration Monday will be the approval for charter of the IntersVarsity Christian Fellowship.

John Allen, SGA president, said that a permanent committee to handle the semi-annual registration of organizations would be appointed Monday. He added that the matter had been previously handled by the Office of Student Personnel Services.

Election Planned
The Congress will also hear plans for the election of a graduate representative to the Congress. Claude Lee, election commissioner, (Continued on Page 4)

Pulitzer Prize Winner To Be Convo Speaker

Dr. Arthur Schlesinger, second speaker for the 1958-59 series of the Student Forum Board, will address an all-school convocation today at 9:30 a.m.

At the 50-minute convo, the Forum in the Commons Auditorium. His subject will be, "Foreign Policy in the Atomic Age."

Dr. Schlesinger received the Pulitzer Prize in 1946 for his book, "The Age of Jackson." He is the youngest historian ever to win the prize.

In recent years he has served as a consultant for the Economic Cooperation Administration. He was a member of Adlai Stevenson's staff during the Presidential campaigns of 1952 and 1956.

Students are admitted to the evening lecture upon the presentation of their ID cards.

MVC Honors to Young; Voted to Top Back Slot

Dick Young, the Shocker's quarterback, has been voted the Missouri Valley Conference back-of-the-week. Young passed his way to the MVC honors by throwing two touchdown passes in the Shock's 15-13 victory over North Texas State last Saturday.

He completed five of six passes for 135 yards and carried the ball five times for 23 yards. Young also led all Valley passers with 716 yards in seven games and is second total offense with 781 yards. A competitor for the weekly honor was Joe Morrison, Cincinnati halfback, who returned a punt 40 yards for a touchdown and made a key pass interception as the Bearcats knocked Tulsa from consideration with a 15-6 win. Tackle Earl Gray of North Texas State was chosen as the lineman of the week for his fine defensive efforts against the Shockers.

Young has been described by Gene Felker, assistant coach of the Drake Bulldogs, as a fine quarterback and an outstanding passer. Drake is the Shock's next opponent.

Of the 779 yards gained by the Shockers' passing this season, Young has tossed 716 of them.

Parsons Retires As Campus 'Cop' With Fond Recollections of Job

Little more than six weeks remain in the career of G. W. "Red" Parsons as campus cop, and Officer Parsons, who began his sixth year in that capacity last September, has fond reminiscences of his five-year span of duty.

He remembers, when, upon assuming his duties here in September, 1953, he was a bit apprehensive about his new job. He had thought, for instance, that he would be plagued with all the troubles of a campus officer on the average college or university campus.

"I was braced for the worst," he said, "but I was pleasantly surprised to find that the smart-alec element was very low for a group (enrollment) of this size."

Thinks Students 'Swell'
In reference to University students, Officer Parsons said, "I think they are swell." He gave as his reason for finding the troublesome percentage low, the fact that college entrance requirements gradually are being hiked.

"That tends to reduce the number of students who are trouble-makers," he commented. Although Officer Parsons says he had found his job interesting and not too troublesome, he still has been kept busy ticketing traffic and parking violators.

800 Tickets Issued
Sondra Clark, student assistant in the office of student services, estimated that 800 tickets, mostly for parking violations, have been issued since the first of the school term. She said that amounts to about 50 to 75 tickets a week, and that few of these are for speeding.

Miss Clark said that the overall average of tickets issued so far this year represents a sharp increase over last year's average, and attributes it to people "getting used" to the University's new traffic plan and reserved parking system.

"The increase," she said, "amounts to five or six tickets for some students whereas last year it was on the average of two or three."

Enrollment Greatest Change
While parking violations this year have increased, Officer Parsons believe there is no direct increase in violations due to enrollment increase. He spoke of the greatest change he has seen on campus as being that of the University enrollment, which was 3,319 when he donned his uniform and began his daily rounds through the campus. The enrollment now is 5,746.

When asked if he thought traffic violations have increased with the enrollment increase, he said, "I think they have dropped proportionally."

He termed the new traffic plan inaugurated this year, plus the addition of hard-surfaced parking lots "a big help," and said that the traffic problem has been greatly alleviated by creating the new lots.

When asked if the often changeable Kansas weather hampered him in performing his duties, the officer said, concerning the inevitable snow and ice of winter, "I hope it holds off until the first of the year."

To Become Custodial Head
At that time, Officer Parsons will become head of the custodial and maintenance section of the new Campus Activities Center which is scheduled to open during the latter part of February. He will leave in January for Chicago where he will attend four weeks of school at the Brunswick Factory, to learn maintenance of the automatic pin setters. His new duties will include the maintenance of the automatic pin setters to be located in the bowling alley of the new CAC building.

Editorials . . .

Let There Be Light

Once the sun sinks slowly into the west, our campus takes on a new look.

Far from being a quiet and restful spot, cars zip up Seventeenth Street to various destinations across the campus. Once students park their cars on the smooth asphalt, well-lighted parking lots, however, the difficulty begins.

It seems that in eliminating the parking problem, one necessity for students, faculty, and visitors was overlooked—that of adequate lighting facilities for sidewalks.

We've been told that this was to be part of the "package plan" when the new walks and sidewalks were constructed.

But we'd like to point to such dark campus paths as the stretch between Yale Avenue, just south of the Campus Activities Center, to Jardine Hall; the walk between the Commons Building and the Fine Arts Center parking lot; and the walk west of the tennis courts from Henrion Gymnasium to Seventeenth Street. Moonlight isn't satisfactory.

We think it's time something was done about these potentially dangerous areas. They are not only bad from a safety viewpoint, but in the past there have been isolated reports of some "odd" characters wandering about the campus at night.

We've eliminated some of the problem by lighting the parking lots, but how safe can our campus be when we have such badly lighted walks?

We realize that such installations are not inexpensive, but we feel that such an investment would be well worth the cost.

Good and the Other 5

Last week someone wanted to play a joke. Now there are six University men on academic and disciplinary probation.

Their escapade with a burial box and faked kidnaping will be among the memories they will take from the University.

But, will this be a good memory? Five of them won't have the load to carry that Larry Good has. Their names weren't brought up in the investigations held by the Federal Bureau of Investigation or the University. As far as public opinion is concerned, they're clear.

We don't know how the students of the University look at this prank. Some of them may look up to it. More of them look with disfavor on the incident.

The University took a beating because of a prank. It received national publicity. None of it was good.

A few incidents of this type are all it takes to turn the public away from an institution. This certainly helped.

The memory of this incident the pranksters will share. Unfortunately only one of them was named. He stands alone in the face of public opinion. The others remain unknown.

We think, that while these pranksters are being punished, they are luckier than Good. God must take the brunt of all the public opinion.

Hodge-Podge

Homecoming workers, please note. This is NOT crepe paper.

The truth is out! One bright and eager freshman coed told her classmates during a discussion recently, "Everyone knows that when a woman says 'no,' she really means 'yes.'" As the class gasped, one unsophisticated was heard saying, "Gosh, I wish I'd known that in high school!"

Ever thought over the steps you go through to see such things as that fabulous 80-yard pass on Veterans Field? Well, we have.

1. Roar down to the Fieldhouse, flash your ID, and grab a ticket in Section 8, row EE.
2. Dart through the Saturday night traffic, take a back road, and select a choice parking place. Then, trudge to the stadium, flash your ID, next your ticket, and thrust out your right hand to be stamped with some gay stigma.
3. Up you go to the stands, and again flash your ticket and display your blurred stigma.
4. Go home, grab the Lava, and start scrubbing off the "I'm a Marlboro Man" look.

We pose a new problem. With the opening of the CAC scheduled in three months, we wonder how the famous Alibi "caste system" will operate in the new snack bar. On your toes Greeks, veterans, and fine arts majors, a break-down in the caste system would result in social chaos on the campus. Ours a "friendly" campus—NEVER.

Things we don't like: The piercing screeches of sorority girls when honor and fame come their way.

1,323 Individual Pictures To Appear in Parnassus

Thirteen hundred and twenty-three student pictures were taken for this year's Parnassus. This is somewhat less than the number taken last year, according to Ed Thompson, Parnassus editor.

Thompson said that Friday, Nov. 21, will be the final date for taking pictures of organizations to be featured in the yearbook.

The first submission of material to the publishing firm will be Nov. 28. At this time the class sections, early campus events, and some of the sports material will be turned over to the publisher for the first printing.

The Parnassus staff is now in the process of reviewing last year's yearbook to seek ways for improving the current Parnassus, according to Shirley Sears, managing editor.

Last year the Parnassus received a first class honor rating of excellent by the Associated Collegiate Press.

Big Mystery . . .

Grad Student Asks Question: Where Is Thesis Material?

By BILL RIDWILL
Sunflower Staff Reporter

"Where?" is the big question in the mind of a University graduate fellow whose files containing some material for a thesis have been lost since the first of the school term.

Still a mystery to Clement D. Blakeslee, sociology graduate, is the whereabouts of a number of files containing part of his thesis material and other important papers. He says the material apparently was lost in the process of several office changes that took place the past summer.

Mr. Blakeslee said he first noticed the loss when he returned to the University after being out-of-town during most of August. "I left my office in a regular work-day state like one is prone to leave an office," he said. That was when he left August 15 on a wedding trip to Mexico.

Office Moved

Upon returning to the campus Sept. 15 for the fall semester, Mr. Blakeslee learned that his office furnishings, as well as those of several other offices, had been moved to new locations. He found that his new office quarters were in Rm. 436, Jardine Hall, but somewhere in the process of the move he says, his papers were lost or misplaced.

Included in the lost manila files were class papers, a thesis outline, bibliography material, and correspondence, representing about three year's work, all of which he terms personally "valuable."

Searches Everywhere

Mr. Blakeslee says he has searched "high and low" for the material, but to no avail. He has alerted various department heads and building and grounds officials of his "disaster," and says that all have tried to help, but the papers remain lost.

Where are his elusive files? No one yet knows, not even Mr. Blakeslee, but should he ever locate them, one mind on campus will be greatly relieved!

Young's Arm, Strong Defense Topple Eagles From Perch

A smashing Shocker defense stopped North Texas State twice within two yards of the goal line Saturday night to salvage Wichita's first conference victory since 1956. Shockers Dick Young and Dennis Patterson provided the offensive punch in the 15-13 battle.

Quarterback Young, who completed five of six passes, hit end Ray Wichert with a 13-yard aerial for the first Wichita tally in the first quarter. In the second quarter Patterson kicked the first field goal of his career from 21 yards out. In the third period Young found the range again and tossed an 80-yard touchdown pass to Dwight Dinsmore. It was the Shocker's second straight upset win.

Shocks Still in Race

Over 7,000 chilled fans watched the Shockers put themselves back into contention for the conference title after absorbing four straight losses.

The Shocks didn't waste any time in opening up the scoring. After big Roland Lakes, 235-pound

Wichita center, pounced on a NTS fumble at the mid-field stripe, Young took to the air. He hit both his ends, Jerry Davis and Wichert, with successive 13 and 9 yard passes.

Ted Dean moved the ball to the 13-yard line with a 13-yard run. Young then rifled a touchdown pass to Wichert for the first score. Dean's try for the extra point was net good.

Second Unit Hustles

The Shocker's dependable second unit started another scoring drive with Quarterback Norm Cobb directing the attack. They drove all the way to the Eagle six-yard-line where a pitch-out went astray to put the ball back to the 16-yard-line. With the ball on the 16, and Patterson at an angle on the 21, he successfully kicked through the uprights for three more WU points.

Hard-charging Bill Groce, the Eagles fallback, scored for NTS late in the second period and the halftime score read Wichita, 9,

NTS, 6.

Ball Control Not Decisive

The second half saw the Texans in control of the ball most of the time. In fact, they ran 83 plays compared with 45 for the Shockers in the game.

After the second-half kick-off, the Eagles drove 85 yards to the Shocker 1-yard-line, where the Shockers got their biggest break of the game. As Groce crashed the Shocker defense for an almost certain score, he fumbled, and Dinsmore recovered in the end-zone. The ball was moved out to the 20-yard-line where two plays later Young hit Dinsmore with a perfect 80-yard touchdown pass. The conversion failed again.

Bulldogs Next Grid Foe

The red-hot Shockers, with two straight upset victories behind them, head for Iowa tomorrow for a gridiron clash with the Drake Bulldogs.

Aiming for their third straight win, the Shocks will be favored for the first time this season. Both teams have two wins, but Drake has six defeats as compared to the Shock's four setbacks and one tie. With DU's de-emphasis on football this year, they have played several small college teams this season.

The two teams will meet at 2 p.m. in the first day game for the Shockers and the last game of the season for Coach Warren

Gaer's Bulldogs.

FOR VICTORY—Triumphant Shockers smile big after their win over North Texas State Saturday night. It was the first Missouri Valley Conference victory for the team since 1956.

Shocks Still in Contention For Missouri Valley Title

Ever see a tighter football race? Two games remain on the Missouri Valley Conference schedule and three of the four teams involved could win the championship.

Tulsa, which must still play Wichita, and Cincinnati, which has finished its schedule, are out of the running.

Houston, the defending champs, have a 2-1 record to date. The Cougars travel to North Texas State Saturday night with a chance to wrap up their third straight title. On the other hand, if the North Texas States win that battle, their championship hopes would get a lift. In that event their title hopes would hinge on the outcome of the Wichita-Tulsa game. A Tulsa win would give the Eagles the crown.

The Shockers, who have won their last two starts, upset North Texas State last week to jump into the thick of things. A Houston loss to North Texas State would give the Shocks a tie for the championship provided they can top Tulsa. The Wichita-Tulsa game is scheduled for Nov. 27.

Attending athletic contests is a sure means of team support.

Websters Win 'Mural Crown

The Websters copped the intramural football championship last week by drubbing the ISA squad, 20-6. The Websters, rather heavily endowed with former high school gridlers, had an undefeated season.

This is the first time in five years that the delegation from the Men of Webster have snared the title. They had won in 1952 and 1953. Last year, the title was won by the J's, an independent squad no longer in existence.

'Seville' Ends Tomorrow

"The Barber of Seville," a musical farce presented by the campus opera group, will be performed for the last time tomorrow night in the Concert Hall of the Fine Arts Center.

The near slapstick musical presentation, which began yesterday, is being presented in the English version, as translated by Virginia Card. It was originally written in Italian by Rossini.

The opera takes place in 17th century Spain, in the small town of Seville. The Count of Almaviva falls in love with Rosina, but her guardian, Dr. Bartolo, discourages the romance because he wants to marry her for her dowry.

The Count, with the aid of

Audio-Visual Shows Two Films Today

"Japan" and "Churchill, Man of the Century" are the two films scheduled to be shown today at 10:30 a.m. and noon in the Audio-Visual Center.

"Reel Time" is held every Friday in the Audio-Visual Center, Rm. 011, Morrison Library. Mrs. Carol Holman is the coordinator of the center.

"Japan" is a 25-minute film, produced in color, by Julian Bryan. The British Information Service produced "Churchill, Man of the Century" in 1955. It lasts 21 minutes, according to Mrs. Holman.

Next week's film will be "The Titan."

All University students and faculty are invited to attend the showings, Mrs. Holman added.

said the election had not been handled in the spring because the student must not only be enrolled in the graduate school, but he must be elected by students enrolled in the school, according to the constitution.

"In the spring," Lee explained, "it is impossible to determine both of these items."

Paper Requests Boxes

In final business, the Congress will consider a request for $30 from the Sunflower to purchase distribution boxes.

A representative of the Sunflower, appearing at the cabinet meeting, reported that the newspaper was willing to purchase two boxes, if the SGA would stand the expense of two additional ones.

As the year nears its end, Officer Parsons will be patrolling the campus on his motorcycle for the last times. Actually, he is being transferred within the department of student services, and his new duties will take him inside rather than out-of-doors.

He will have closer contact with more students, and he says that this will be to his liking.

WU Debaters Hit Road For Okla. Tourney

University debaters will be on the road this weekend again when they represent the University at a two-day forensic meet at Central States College, Edmond, Okla.

Two debate teams and their coach, Mel Moorhouse, assistant professor of speech, left at 5 a.m. today for the tournament. They will return to the campus late Saturday night.

Debating the national question of the international prohibition of the nuclear weapons will be one team consisting of Karl Friedel and Al Mattson and Terry Paup and David Schmidt. The latter two men had a three-three record at Emporia State's annual meet.

Wichita will also compete in the extemporaneous speaking competition. Over 100 teams have registered for the "Broncho" tournament mostly from the South and West, according to Professor Moorhouse.

Next Friday and Saturday the University debaters will remain at home to play host to thirty colleges from a 10 state area at

Job Interviews

Three employment interviews, one for Civil Service positions, are scheduled for next week, according to Mrs. Merredith Graham, executive secretary of the Employment Bureau.

Mrs. Graham said that a representative of the office of the auditor general and comptroller of the Air Force will interview senior accounting majors Tuesday for accounting positions. Students will be interviewed in the men's smoker of the Commons.

Representatives of Hallmark Cards, Inc., Kansas City, Mo., will interview men Thursday for sales and other positions. These interviews will also be in the men's smoker.

Engineering, physics, and mathematics seniors will have a chance to be interviewed Friday by representatives of the Ordnance Corps Technical Placement Office. The interviews will be in Rm. 105, Fiske Hall.

Mrs. Graham reminded students desiring interviews to make prior arrangements in her office, Rm. 114, Fiske Hall.

The Rev. Andrew W. Berry, former Episcopal chaplain at the University of Kansas, will be guest speaker Sunday at Canterbury Club.

Paul Moss, Liberal Arts sophomore and president of the college Episcopal group, said the Rev. Mr. Berry will discuss "Christianity and the Intellectual."

The club's meeting, which will follow evening prayer at 5:30 p.m., will be held at St. James Church, Douglas Avenue and Yale Avenue. Moss said all interested students and Episcopal faculty and staff are invited.
