Pep Items Highlight SGA Bill

Problems held the limelight at Student Congress this week. The Congress voted $29.60 for uniforms for the cheerleaders. Johnston, pep coordinator, vetoed the request for the uniforms which resulted in lengthy debate. Johnston said the pep bill "can't afford them." He said cheerleaders had spent their own money for uniforms and are being used this year. A motion by Mary Johnston, Congress member and cheerleader, to approve the purchase of uniforms was defeated. Doug Jackson suggested the cheerleaders utilize the uniforms which were purchased last year. Jackson explained, "Some of us like our band uniforms either, (student government) can't afford this increased outlay. We throw out $480." He added that the cheerleaders "involve more of the student in cheering before they are given new uniforms." Money Problem Unanswered. Hicks, Music junior, asked the cheerleaders would be able to use money for new uniforms. Hicks' question went unanswered, however.

Johnston explained the circumstances as to why the cheerleaders are not wearing the controversial uniforms which had been designed and purchased a year ago. He said that before school started the cheerleaders had made a gentlemen's agreement with Pep Council that since the black and white uniforms were too warm for basketball season they would wear them for football games. "They cheerleaders never did." "Throwing $400 Away" Johnston said they must understand the priority of Pep Council," Johnston said. "We're throwing away more than four hundred dollars." Despite Johnston's objections, however, the motion for Shocker uniforms for the uniforms which cheerleaders have made themselves passed. Two other items of business considered by the Congress. The meeting was shortened due to state of the campus address (Continued on Page 4)

Army Plans Drill Team

The Army ROTC Sweethearts and the cadet battalion officers are in the process of re-activating a women's drill team on campus. The group was first organized in 1929 and was disbanded shortly before World War II.

The unit, when organized, will be under the command of Honorary Cadet Colonel Nancy Bales, and Honorary Cadet Captains Judy Heaston, Elaine Woodman, Jeanne Seacat, and Barbara Prete. The honorary officers were selected as sweethearts by the cadet battalion last spring.

Interest was first shown in the possibility of forming a women's counterpart to the Army ROTC program last spring during the selection of the sweethearts. Near the beginning of this year the sweethearts and the cadet officers made inquiries to find out how many girls would be interested.

While digging through old files, clippings were found showing the 1929 drill team. The cadet officers then decided to reactivate the original organization.

All girls interested in applying for appointment in the unit may do so by calling the Army ROTC staff office, extension 312, according to Sgt. Raymond P. Stephenson, who will sponsor the group.

Library Hours Set For Yule Vacation

Library hours for Christmas vacation have been announced by Downing P. O'Harra, head librarian.

The library will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., tomorrow. It will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Dec. 22, 23, 24, 29, 30, 31, and Jan. 2. It will be closed Dec. 21, 25, 26, 27, 28, and Jan. 1. On Jan. 3, it will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and from 2 to 5 p.m. on Jan. 4. Regular hours will be resumed on Jan. 5.

All students who now have books checked out which will be due during the holidays must have the books renewed today if they will be unable to return them during the holidays, he said.

WU Students Offered Summer European Trip

Next summer a group of University students will travel through Western Europe, Great Britain, and perhaps behind the Iron Curtain on a University-sponsored European tour.

The group, to be accompanied by a faculty member, will observe key political centers, discuss international issues with European students and leaders, attend music festivals, and "sight-see," according to Mrs. Raymond Ahrens, assistant to the dean of women and advisor to women's groups.

Mrs. Ahrens said that some students already have expressed a desire to participate in the seminar, the purpose of which is to provide an insight into the changing patterns of European political, social, and economic affairs.

The seminar will last six or seven weeks and will be limited to 25 persons. The group will cross the Atlantic by air, and will travel on the continent by train, bus, or plane.

The cost of the seminar will range between $1,000 and $1,100. Mrs. Ahrens said that that would include a round trip flight from New York City, accommodations throughout Europe in carefully-selected second-class hotels or university dormitories, meals according to the customs of the respective countries, and sightseeing and excursion expenses.

In addition, she said that the initial investment would cover the cost of tickets to plays, concerts, festivals, and expenses involved in transfers and transportation of (Continued on Page 4)

Weaknesses Of Congress Pointed Out

A mid-year estimate of student government on the University campus was presented by Student Government Association President John Allen at the regular meeting of Student Congress Monday night.

Allen, speaking to the congressmen, projected future action and appraised student government under its new constitution.

Defining the purpose of student government, Allen said, "We should help the student in his education, since this is the reason he is here."

"Spinning Its Wheels"
"We can raise our estimation on the campus by sponsoring educational programs and becoming representative of academic life."

He added that the Congress has spent its time with secondary issues and is "spinning its wheels meeting after meeting."

Allen pointed out a number of areas for Congressional action. He cited acquisition of national leadership and scholastic organizations, planning freshman orientation, "counseling, not just the street dance," aid in the organization of departmental groups, preparation of an organizational code, and the establishment of a counseling service.

Sees No Policy
He said the group had established "no policy yet," and it was forced to deal with each group and problem as they appeared.

In explaining problems of previous student governments, Allen said the Campus Activities Center will take some of the social load from SGA. "We should seriously consider continuing the direct sponsorship of the May Day and Homecoming festivities."

Convo Will Feature Yule Message, Music

A program of vocal and instrumental Christmas music by several groups, and a Christmas message by President Harry F. Corbin will comprise the Christmas convocation this morning in the Commons Auditorium.

The program will begin at 9:30 a.m., necessitating shortened morning classes, according to Mrs. Dorothy Gardner, chairman of the public occasions committee. Regular 8 a.m. classes are scheduled from 8 until 8:35 a.m.; 9 a.m. classes from 8:45 until 9:20; 10 a.m. from 10:30 until 11:05, and 11 a.m. from 11:15 until 11:50.

To open the program, the University Choir II, conducted by William C. Bush, instructor in vocal music, will sing "Masters in this Hall," by Shaw-Parker; "Jesu, Thou Dear Babe Divine," Dickenson; and "Jingle Bells," arranged by Ray Charles.

Next on the program is the Brass Choir, conducted by James A. Hoffren, instructor in trumpet and brass ensemble, presenting a series of carols arranged by Rodger Vaughan, instructor in music theory and music appreciation. The selections are "Adeste Fideles," "Away in a Manger," "The First Noel," "Silent Night," "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen," and "Deck the Halls."

A group of modernistic carols by Bethuel Gross will be performed by the Choir I, directed by Dr. David Foltz, professor and head of choral and vocal music. The carols are "If I Had Lived in Bethlehem," "O Winter Sun, Wrap Mary With Your Warmth," "The Night Has Fallen Asleep," "O, Thou Whose Birth Made Holy," and "No Costly Gifts the Shepherds Brought."

President Corbin then will give a short Christmas greeting. The Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's "The Messiah" with both choirs, the Choral Union, University Symphony Orchestra, and the Brass Choir participating, will climax the program.

versity publication even though specific aspects of it are used incidental to professional training in certain classes in journalism education," stated Paul F. Gerhard, assistant professor and acting head of the journalism department.

Diane Copeland, Sunflower editor-in-chief, said that she hoped all interested students would apply, pointing out that many staff positions draw salaries while still others entail tuition scholarships. Miss Copeland also indicated that previous publication experience is not essential, particularly for the first or "training" positions to which the beginners are assigned.

Variety of Jobs Available

Posts available to students include news-editorial work, advertising, cartooning, photography, and business management. Time required for staff jobs ranges from 5 to 15 hours a week.

News-editorial jobs available include editor-in-chief, managing editor, news editors, desk editors, sports editor, assistant sports editor, society editor, assistant society editor, photo editor, and staff photographer.

In addition, applications also may be made for the positions of general reporters, feature article writers, columnists, and cartoonist.

Business Staff Sought

Business positions open include business manager, assistant business manager, circulation manager, and advertising representative.

Applications should be taken or sent to Prof. Joan O'Bryant, chairman of the Board of Student Publications, Rm. 209 Fiske Hall.

Editorials . . .

Hard-Hitting Disc

"As sure as there's an 'x' in Christmas. . ."

Probably the greatest single contribution to this year's Yuletide season is a recording by Stan Freeberg, a young man who has a way with satire.

Mr. Freeberg's recording, "Green Christmas" is unexcelled when it comes to hitting the commercialization of Christmas on the head.

This three minutes of hard-hitting truth deals with a meeting of Madison Avenue executives and their merchandising plans for Christmas. One member of the group explains that this year Santa Claus is "more rugged." He's smoking a cigarette with his sleeves rolled up. On the right arm is a tattoo which says "Merry Christmas." On the other? A tattoo which says "Less tars."

By the time the record is well underway, the whole thing is out of hand and the group is singing "Deck the halls with advertising" to the tune of the old English carol "Deck the Halls."

The more we listen to this piece of wax, the more full of truth it is.

Undoubtedly, this satirical work of Mr. Freeberg's doesn't exaggerate the situation much.

For years writers have turned out reams of material on the "true meaning" of Christmas. There will be stories this year in almost any magazine we pick up. But right next to them will be advertisements reminding the reader that a carton of filter cigarettes will make someone "extra happy" this year.

The buying end of Christmas has been pounded repeatedly into Americans until it is almost impossible to remember the meaning of Christmas giving.

The simple story of the first Christmas and its immediate effects have had an overwhelming affect on the world today. But for the sake of gross receipts it has been changed into a Madison Avenue sales gimmick.

Hodge-Podge

"Tis the season to be jolly," or something like that. 'Tis more the season to sever family and friendship ties and spend the money on something you really want!

We noticed in Tuesday issue of The Sunflower where the "WU Social Whirl Increases Pace." It wouldn't take much to do this. . .

With all the talk of Greek dances over the holidays, one of the funniest stories is told about two sorority coeds. Seems they decided to see how gullible their sisters were.

A story was invented concerning some dates they had lined up. Then, two hours before the dinner-dance the "dates" called because they had had car trouble and would not get in town until late.

The duo consumed the dinner and then supposedly left to meet their "callers" in the downstairs lobby. They were not seen again that evening.

The assistant society editor at Kansas University has aroused the wrath of the campus males. Seems she wrote a feature story on "What Is Wrong With the KU Men." Wish she would have asked this columnist's advice—things like that just are not done if one wants to be socially accepted. . . .

But there is a sad story behind this classified ad which appeared in the Kansas State "Collegian"—"Matching wedding ring and diamond. Never been used Reasonable." Humm-mmm, we were just

Tri-Delts Get 'Memory Book'

Football banquets, country club dances, literary societies—this was Fairmount College, 1915.

Recently, in memory of their sister Miriam Smythe Dodson, Harry W. Smythe, Jr. and Norman L. Smythe gave her "Memory Book" to Delta Delta Delta Sorority.

An active alumnae of the Sorosis "literary society," as Tri-Delta was known in Fairmount days, Mrs. Dodson kept a complete scrapbook of her four years in college and in her society.

University Changes

The tremendous changes at the University within the past forty years are shown in the numerous pictures and newspaper clippings kept through the years.

A "Student's Enterprise Ticket" sold for $3 to Fairmount students in 1915. The small, blue ticket was honored at "all football games, meets, oratorical contests and debates—Entitles owner to Sunflower and Library privileges." It was signed by the college president, the late Walter H. Rollins.

As all prices must and do rise, so too this activity ticket. For in 1916, it was sold for $3.50. An ID card of 1958 is valued at $15.60—this allotment to the different activities is taken out of the tuition of each student carrying over 9 hours.

School Motto Quoted

A clipping from the local newspaper read thus: "Fairmount College—The fastest growing college in the Southwest—Scholarly, Spiritual, Helpful in every department of life." And then in boldface type, was the school motto, "Fairmount Builds Character."

Pages and pages of bridge game tally cards, society clippings telling about the "Cute coeds at Fairmount" and, the now out-dated, dance programs which went with the day just as surely as the streetcars.

Phi Lambda Psi (Men of Webster) held a "Big 4" party for the coeds.

Women Outnumber Men

Since the men were outnumbered by the women at Fairmount, almost 4 to 1, the Websters entertained Sorosis, Alpha Tau Sigma, a new society as yet unnamed, and women faculty members at the party with each Webster escorting 4 girls so "no maiden fair will be forced to go swainless to the party."

At this same time, the 20 members of the men's glee club were beginning their annual tour through Kansas. Today the choral group numbers 72 male voices.

The highlight of each year was the Fairmount-FriendsU. football game.

Football Plays Diagramed

Shockers Set to Face Strong Southern Cal Team Tomorrow

By JIM COLLIER
Sunflower Sports Editor

After losing three games to tough West Coast competition last week, the Shocker cagers must look forward to an even stronger Southern California team tomorrow night at the Fieldhouse.

The Trojans from USC are undefeated this season, having downed Loyola of Los Angeles, Iowa State, Kansas, and Hawaii University.

Juniors Dominate
The Trojan squad is dominated by juniors, the entire starting five being made up of three-year men. The key to Coach Forest Two-good's success has been his team's overall speed and shooting ability, combined with its aggressive play and basic deliberate style of pattern basketball.

Cal's major problem is team size with only one man of any height. Jim Hanna, at 6-7, is the only cager with the necessary height needed to stop other pivot men. Hanna is also the leading

Start Needham Fund

A "Les Needham Fund" has been established by athletic boosters of the University.

"Doc" Needham is the University athletic trainer who suffered a stroke last Saturday night in Eugene, Ore., during the Wichita-Oregon State basketball game.

Linwood Sexton, a former University football and track star, Wednesday said contributions to the Needham Fund could be made by check filled out for Mrs. Needham and addressed on Rm. 101 in the Fieldhouse.

Shocks Drop 3 Games On West Coast Trip

The Shocker basketball squad dropped all three games on its West Coast trip last week, losing to Oregon University, Oregon State, and San Francisco University.

The Millermen played the three games without the services of 6-9 Center Ev Wessel, who wrenched his knee in a pre-game practice

3 Are Named As Winners Of Tourney

Winners of the Women's Recreational Association badminton and ping-pong tournaments, which were completed recently, have been announced.

In badminton, Loretta Clark, Education junior, took first place and in doubles Elaine Woodman, Liberal Arts sophomore, and Marilyn Landon, Education junior, copped top honors. In the ping-pong play Miss Woodman took the top spot.

Upcoming WRA action is highlighted, by a basketball tournament which starts Feb. 3 and runs through Feb. 25. The games will be held at 8:15 and 7:15 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings in the women's gym.

A practice schedule and individual check-ups are required of each team, competing. Practice sessions will begin Dec. 15.

Wessell Out
In the Shocker camp the outlook is not as bright, since Ev Wessell, 6-9 center, is still out of action with a wrenched knee.

Al Tate, the Shocker's statistical leader, scored 47 points on the coast trip to run his season's total to 83 tallies for five games. Tate was completely bottled up in the Shock's close 47-46 loss to San Francisco, however, counting for only 5 points.

With Wessell out, competition has been keen for the pivot spot between Ron Heller, 6-6 sophomore, El Urban, 6-7 junior, and 6-6 Tom Mallott, a junior. Each player saw plenty of action on the road trip.

Gales Second
John Gales, 6-5 sophomore, and second in leading Shocker scorer, is manning the other forward position.

Consistent guard choices for the Millermen are sophomore Virgil Brady and junior Sy Rosdeitcher.

Game time is 8 p.m., with the frosh engaging the Emporia State "B" team in the preliminary contest starting at 6 p.m.

Shockers to Oklahoma City For 'All College' Tourney

There will be no rest for the Shocker basketballers over the holidays. They will play five cage games, not counting the USC contest tomorrow night in the Fieldhouse, during the vacation period.

The Shocks will compete in the "All College" Tournament at Oklahoma City Dec. 26, 27 and 28. Other teams entered in the tourney are Bowling Green, Xavier, Oregon, San Francisco, Tulsa, Duquesne, and Oklahoma City.

First game pairings find the Shockers pitted against Bowling Green, Tulsa against Duquesne, Xavier and Oregon, and SFU will tangle with Oklahoma City College in the first day of competition.

After the opening of the new year the Shocks move to Texas to visit the Houston Cougars on Jan. 3, and on Jan. 5 the Shockers will play North Texas State.

Needham Still 'Critical'

The condition of Lester L. "Doc" Needham, Shocker athletic trainer, who suffered a cerebral hemorrhage during the Shocks game against Oregon State last Saturday, is still critical. He is still unconscious in the Good Samaritan Hospital in Corvallis, Ore.

Needham, in his 14th season with the Shockers, has sidelined more Shocker athletic events than any man in the school's history.

ADVENTURES IN SOCIAL SCIENCE: NO. 1

"The proper study of mankind is man," said Geoffrey Chaucer in his immortal Casey At the Bat, and I couldn't agree more. In these tangled times it is particularly proper to study man—how he lives and works. Accordingly, this column, normally devoted to slapdash waggery, will from time to time turn a serious eye on the social sciences.

In making these occasional departures, I have the hearty approval of the makers of Philip Morris Cigarettes, whose interest is not only in providing young Americans with fine cigarettes, matchlessly blended of vintage tobaccos, grown with loving care and harvested with tender mercy, then cured with compassionate patience and rolled into firm tasty cylinders and brought to you in long size or regular, in soft pack or flip-top box, at prices which wreak no havoc on the most stringent of budgets, but who are equally concerned with broadening the minds and extending the intellectual vistas of every college man and woman!

I, for one, am not unmoved by this great-heartedness, and though I know it is considered chic these days to disparage one's employers, I shall not. Indeed, I shall cry "Huzzah!" for the makers of Philip Morris. I shall cry "Huzzah!" and "Viva!" and "Ole!" and "Ochichoonya!"

But I digress. For our first lesson in social science, let us turn to economics, often called the queen of the social sciences. (Sociology is the king of the social sciences. Advertising is the jack.)

Economics breaks down into two broad general classifications: 1) coins; 2) folding money. But before taking up these technical aspects, let us survey briefly the history of economics.

Economics was discovered by the Englishman, Adam Smith. He published his findings in 1786, but everybody giggled so hard that Smith, blushing hotly, gave up the whole thing and went into the cough drop business with his brother.

For long years after that economics lay neglected while the world busied itself with other things, like the birth of Victor Hugo, the last days of Pompeii, and the Bunny Hug.

Then one day while flying a kite during a thunderstorm, the American, Henry George (also called Thorstein Veblen), discovered the law of diminishing returns, and then, boy, the fat was in the fire! Before you could say "knife" the Industrial Revolution was on! Mechanization and steam power resulted in prodigies of production. For example, before the Industrial Revolution, a Welsh artisan, named Dylan Sigafos, used to make horse-shoes by hand at the rate of four a day. After the Industrial Revolution, with the aid of a steam engine, Sigafos was able to make entire horses!

And so it went—factories rising from the plains, cities burgeoning around the factories, transport and commerce keeping pace—until today, thanks to economics, we have smog, recessions, and economics textbooks at $7.50 per copy.

© 1958 Max Shulman

The makers of Philip Morris are no economists, but they do understand supply and demand. Some people demand filter cigarettes, so they supply the finest—Marlboro, of course! Great flavor, improved filter—a lot to like!

Dates Given To Pre-Enroll

Today is the last day of pre-registration for students whose last names begin with the letters S through Z. Students who fail, or have failed to pre-register on the prescribed dates will have to do so during the Christmas holidays if they wish to avoid the long lines that are customary during the regular registration period.

The registrar's office will register from 9 a.m. until noon and from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. on Dec. 22, 23, 29, 30, 31, and Jan. 2.

At 5 p.m., Tuesday, a total of 2,173 students had pre-enrolled. This is 1,160 more than the number that had pre-registered a week ago, according to Dr. Worth Fletcher, registrar.

WEAKNESS

Allen said the Student-Faculty Court was the "weakest spot" in student government as it was reorganized in the constitution adopted in the spring of 1958.

Events Committee Weak

"Many people take it as a direct slap in the face to the court that it was not allowed to handle the one case which would have done it some good."

He emphasized that the Special Events Committee was also weak. "All the members haven't even been contacted."

"The committee was unable to handle freshman orientation, however, they did meet before Homecoming to elect a chairman."

Allen's remarks concerning the student government were delivered in the first State of the Campus address.

Sally Howse, Liberal Arts sophomore, a member of the Delta Gamma sorority, was named as the Sigma Phi Epsilon "Golden Sweetheart" last night at the fraternity's "Golden Sweetheart Ball."

Miss Howse is an English major. She is treasurer of the Pep Council and features editor of Parnassus. She is a member of Wheaties, and Zeta Phi Eta, national professional speech sorority.

Attendants for Miss Howse were Mrs. Iva Jean Crowl, Liberal Arts junior; Barbara Harris, Liberal Arts senior; Margaret Francis, Fine Arts junior; all members of Alpha Phi sorority; and Sharon McNeil, Education senior and member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

The "Golden Sweetheart Ball" was held at the Bonnie Brae Country Club. Approximately 50 couples plus sponsors attended.

Last year's "Golden Sweetheart" was Mary Cloutier, Music junior, also a member of Delta Gamma Sorority.

Appointments Discussed

Congressmen discussed appointments to the publicity and buildings and grounds committees, but no appointments were made.

In final business, Claude Lee, SGA vice-president and election commissioner, introduced the thirtieth member of the Student Government Association, Bill Little, who was recently elected to fill the graduate school post.

6-Point Vote Margin

Lee announced that Little, the sole candidate in the graduate school, was elected by six votes. There were no write-in candidates.

On accepting the post, Little said, "I want to thank my machine for my election." He explained that this was the first elective post he had held, and would not be tied to any political party or parties.

Numerous poems appeared in the Sunflowers of the day, as did ads promoting attendance at pigskin battles.

One such ad which appeared had this approach: "Are You a Man?" Then show it—stand back of the team to win on Turkey day—As if you wore Trousers, Don't put on an imitation of a graveyard seminar—and then came the final plea, "Yell, Yell, Yell."

Graduation Petition Simpler

The "Petition for Graduation" was much simpler to fill out in 1919. The student filled it out and merely handed it in—no deans or advisors, to see—the grad was on his own.

Every young man had his own printed calling cards—and these were always enclosed with flowers when calling upon a young lady.

Delta Delta Delta was also given the 1917-18-19 copies of the Parnassus.

Yearbook Had 4 Sections

The yearbook was divided into four sections. These "books" were: (1) Gods and Mortals (namely faculty members and the classes); (2) Warriors and Orators (athletics and forensics); (3) The people; and (4) Humor section.

And, ending the same way most coed's scrapbooks do, came the announcement of the engagement.
