OFFICIAL STUDENT NEWSPAPER

LXIII—No. 44

University of Wichita, Wichita, Kansas

April 7, 1959

FURNITURE!—Equipment for the Campus Activities Center is arriving daily. Two truck loads of contemporary furniture for the lounge area and the director's office arrived on campus last Friday. During the past week china, more chairs, and steel kitchen equipment arrived. The supplies are being stored in the basement of the Commons. Seen walking in the background of the above picture is Pete Lassen, supervisor of custodians at the University. The CAC is scheduled to open in early May. (Sunflower Staff Photo by Paul Cummins.)

Orr Outlines SGA Purpose

Installation ceremonies were held last night in the Commons Building for 28 newly-elected Student Government Association officers and members.

Kenneth Orr, Liberal Arts junior, the new SGA president, outlined briefly some of the aims and purposes toward which he will be striving this coming year.

Orr stated that he believes student government should be a place where any student, regardless of social or political affiliation, might be able to find expression.

"As soon as the new Campus Activities Center is completed, there will be an SGA office established in the building. There will be an SGA representative in this office at all times whose duty it shall be to act upon any complaints and recommendations from students.

"I feel that effectiveness and success of this student government will rest almost entirely upon the interest and participation, to some degree, of every member of this student body," Orr said.

In addition to implementing the platforms of both political parties, Orr said he would establish several standing committees to study areas such as night students problems, core curriculum, athletic policy, compulsory attendance, the gradings system and the possibility of joining National SGA.

Linguistic Convention To Be Held on Campus

Dr. Randall Stewart, a leading scholar in American literature, will be the principal speaker at the charter convention of a new linguistic group to be held in the Commons Building, April 18.

Language instructors in high schools and colleges from a nine-state area will attend the meeting to create a new organization, the Modern Language Association for the Midwest. Instructors in English, German, French, Spanish, and other modern languages will be represented.

Dr. Ferman Bishop, assistant professor of English, is in charge of the meeting.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. in the Commons Lounge. Dr. Emory Lindquist, dean of faculties, will welcome the educators at 10 a.m.

Dr. Stewart, head of the English department at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., has written many articles and edited a number of anthologies.

In 1932, Dr. Stewart edited "The American Notebook by Nathaniel Hawthorne." He published a biography of Hawthorne in 1948. His latest published work is "American Literature and Christian Doctrine," published in 1958.

Dr. Stewart holds degrees from Vanderbilt, Harvard, and Yale universities. He has taught at universities in Texas, North Carolina, Massachusetts, Vermont, Illinois, Connecticut, Wyoming, and Washington. In 1943, Dr. Stewart held a Guggenheim fellowship.

The organization will be comprised of members from Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, and Wisconsin.

Political Meet To Be Held Here

"A conference on Kansas Party Politics" will be held on the campus Friday and Saturday under the auspices of the political science department and the Kansas Citizenship Learning House.

The conference will be financed through a grant from the KCCH, according to Assoc. Prof. Marvin A. Harder, chairman of the planning committee for the conference. Professor Harder is on the faculty of the political science department.

Operation to Be Examined

The purposes of the conference are to provide newspapermen, political leaders, and college teachers government an opportunity to examine the operation of political parties in Kansas elections.

It will also contribute to the improvement of the Kansas party system and stimulate college students to become interested in politics, he said.

Registration in FAC for the conference will be from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. Friday in the Foyer of the Fine Arts Center. There will be no registration fee, the chairman said.

The conference will be held in three sessions. The first will start at 10 a.m. Friday, in the FAC concert hall.

The subject of this session will be "Party Organization at the County and State Level." Moderator will be Dr. W. E. Berger, College of Emporia.

Wall to Moderate

Topic for the second session, which will start at 2:30 p.m., will be "Political Parties and the Elective Process." Dr. Hugo Wall, dean of the Graduate School, will moderate.

The third session will be held in the Commons Lounge at 10 a.m. Saturday. The role of the press in Kansas politics will be discussed. Moderating will be Dr. W. D. Moreland, Fort Hays Kansas State Teachers College.

Luncheons will follow the first and third sessions. Clyde M. Reed Jr., Republican candidate for governor in the 1958 elections, will speak Friday.

WU Faculty, Students Win Art Show Awards

By RICHARD MILLER
Sunflower Staff Reporter

Five faculty members, two graduate fellows, and one sophomore art student reaped the majority of awards presented recently in the sixth annual Air Capital Show, sponsored by the Wichita Art Museum.

Corban LePell, art graduate fellow, garnered top honors in winning the $250 purchase prize award for his oil painting, "Passage." A nationally-ranked as one of America's most promising young painters.

He feels that his "Passage" is representative of our time, and is deeply endowed with a maze of philosophical overtones.

Believes He's Fortunate
"I feel fortunate that the whim of a juror provided me with an extra 250 bucks," he said in commenting on his award.

Other winners in the University's sweep of eight out of 13 prizes included Robert E. Ault, art graduate teaching fellow at the Institute of Logopedics. He received a $100 first prize in painting.

Enrique Riveron, instructor of painting and drawing and director of the Index Gallery, was awarded a $75 second prize, and Robert M. Skadden, associate professor of art, received a $25 fourth prize, both in painting.

prize was awarded to David Yust, Engineering sophomore. Third place in the water color division, a $15 prize, was awarded to David E. Bernard, associate professor of art.

First in Drawing

Rex Hall, evening instructor in painting and head of the Southeast High School art department, received the $35 first prize in drawing.

One print prize was awarded in the competition. It was won by Clark V. Britton, instructor in design, for his block print, "The House We Live In." Mr. Britton is noted for the humorous satire evident in his work.

"Art is a spokesman and interpreter of my feelings," he said. "My work generally has a pungent statement to make. I like to poke fun at people."

The show, which attracted the work of more than 140 artists from 15 Kansas cities and towns, will remain on display in the Museum through April 12. Gallery hours are from 1 to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Sunday.

Art Faculty Opens Show Wednesday

The 12th annual Art Department Faculty Exhibit of commercial and studio work will be on display in the Fine Arts Center foyer gallery beginning tomorrow.

An Opening Coffee Hour and reception, to be held from 10 a.m. to noon, will inaugurate the show.

Projects and media on display will include ceramics, sculpture, graphics, enameling, oil and water color paintings, weaving, and commercial advertising and painting.

Members of Kappa Pi, national art fraternity, will serve coffee during the opening. All faculty members, students, and University personnel are invited to attend. The show will continue through April 30.

Players to Satirize Politics In Comedy, 'Two Blind Mice'

The University Players will "poke fun at Washington" April 23, 24, and 25, when they present Samuel Spewack's political satire, "Two Blind Mice."

The performance, scheduled for 8:30 p.m. in the Commons Auditorium, will be the Players' last production of the season.

Miss Geraldine Staley, instructor of speech and drama and director of the play, said that the production will dramatize, in a humorous manner, the problems of an inactive agency of the National Government.

The agency, headed by two old ladies (Marilee Long and Susie Taylor), has been abolished for more than four years, but these two bureaucrats insist on keeping their positions.

Tommy Thurston, a newspaper man played by Lance Hayes, tries to convince the Administration that the agency is actually serving a purpose. Matters become even more complicated when Thurston's ex-wife, Karen Norwood, played by Suzanne Emphrey, appears.

Other in the cast include Wilbur P. Threadwaite, played by Ed Thompson; Mat, John Groh; Gary Bender; Lieut. Col. Robbins, Steve Robinson; Comrade Thomas Jellico,

Menon Speaks At Convo Wednesday

The Consul-general of India, M. Copala Menon, will speak at a convocation tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall.

Menon is an authority on problems of trade, commerce, and industry. In addition, he has a great knowledge of Indian affairs, according to Dr. James K. Sours, head of the political science department.

THOUGHTFUL—Jeanne Seacat, Fine Arts junior and Sunflower Press Queen, contemplates her entry in the Drake Relays Queen contest. A resident of Cunningham, Kan., Miss Seacat will represent the University for the annual Drake crown.

Editorials . . .

What Now, Greeks?

If successful, Greek Week could serve a useful purpose. The Greeks on campus should unite, but not merely for the purpose of doing lip service to the desirability of unity. Instead, the Greeks should take this opportunity to re-evaluate their role on campus.

Greek activities should branch out beyond individual houses. There are, after all, more worthwhile goals in view than winning top honors at Hippodrome. Too much of the University's publicity is the result of hammer and sickle incidents, or the shipping of a student to Kansas City in a box. The Greeks, if organized properly, could combat some of this adverse publicity by using their potential to promote good will, and at the same time to perform a genuine service.

We are thinking specifically of the cancer and heart fund drives which occur each year. The Greeks could conduct these drives on and off campus. They could go so far as to make certain the next Greek Week corresponds with one of these drives. There are other worthwhile drives on which the Greeks could spend their efforts—the blood drive, for instance.

Greek activities reflect, more than any others, the temper of the campus. Unfortunately, they are becoming synonymous with dances, trophies, and packing telephone booths. As separate units, the Greek organizations display at times that they are capable of pursuing their goals with tact and efficiency.

A concerted effort on the part of these organizations, acting unselfishly and as a single unit, could result in a powerful public relations force for the University and an efficient public servant.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

Congratulations! The last two issues of the "Panhellenic Times," more commonly known as The Sunflower, have definitely shown that even though the paper does not possess one of the less literate editorial staffs it certainly does possess one of the more uninformed ones.

I refer, in particular, to letters addressed to the SGA presidential candidates which appeared in the March 28 issue and to a little item referring to the "sophomore honors group" in the April 3 issue.

The letters to Misters Orr and Paup were masterpieces of misinformed, misguided journalism. The letters urged these two gentlemen, as the "leaders" of their respective parties to carry on bravely during the coming year.

They made remarks concerning the actual independence of the various parties and finally chided each party for the "smear campaigns" they waged.

It is a well-known fact that neither Mr. Orr nor Mr. Paup are the leaders of their parties. They are among the leaders, it is true, but neither party is run entirely by one person. It is also of relatively minor importance to either party whether or not these two gentlemen assume the leadership of their parties.

The remarks concerning the "independence" of the political parties showed a gross ignorance of campus politics on the part of the writer. The Barb party supported 25 independent candidates along with 14 affiliates.

The fact that most of the affiliates got elected, and most of the independents did not, is no fault of the party. This merely indicates where the interest in student affairs lies on this campus.

The majority of the "apathetic independents" have not yet voted for any government anywhere, nor are they ever liable to. They prefer to sit back and say "We are educated people, why should we vote for those clods? Besides, what good is government?"

Some day they are liable to find out what good government is. Let's hope they find it out before they wake up some morning and find a red flag flying over their heads.

The Sunflower despite all its remarks about the light election turn out did little to help the situation.

The charge of a "smear campaign" was utterly ridiculous. It is apparent that the writer of the article would not know a "smear campaign" if he had one wiped all over his face.

The item referring to the "sophomore honors group" was in extremely poor taste and I think that an apology is due. It is quite evident that the erudite, eminent, Delta Delta Delta, Miss Leslie Wilson knows very little about this group.

Perhaps if Miss Wilson realized fully that her little job, which was undoubtedly aimed at 1 or 2 members of the group, reflected unfavorably upon each of the approximately 30 students who are privileged to bear the name, "sophomore honors student," she would not have been so hasty with her pen.

It might well be true that there are some students in the group who might not be honorable by any of Miss Wilson's definitions of the word.

On this campus people are dishonorable who disagree openly with certain Greek social organizations, question certain administrative acts and policies, question certain athletic policies, question the methods and policies of a certain once dominant campus political party, and dare to wonder why The Sunflower is not a true "student" newspaper.

I can't really blame Miss Wilson for using her considerable talents to cut up various students and faculty members alone, as I realize fully that if she dared offend certain "untouchable" administrative or athletic personnel she would no longer have a column to write.

If The Sunflower were truly a "student" newspaper . . . then Miss Wilson would have no excuse for possibly ruining the reputations of several innocent people.

I Came to WU Because...

By ART LARSEN

One of the more important decisions a person makes during his lifetime is which college to attend.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION: Why did you come to Wichita University?

Ray Taylor, Liberal Arts senior-I came to WU because I thought that they had a fairly good police science curriculum and because the registrar's office gave me assurance that they would accept all of my transfer credits. Needless to say, the registrar's office did not accept all of my credits and has been changing it's stories and giving me the run around for 2 years. It is now too late to do anything else or go anywhere else.

Linda Winston, Liberal Arts freshman-I came to WU because I once lived in Wichita and knew the Logopedics school to be the best in the country.

Jack Simpson, Business sophomore-I came to WU because my parents urged me to, and because I had many friends here. I found that besides being close to my home, this school offered the additional advantage of being one of the friendliest campuses that I have ever seen.

Sidney Watrous, Music sophomore-I came to Wichita University because it has one of the best music schools in the country.

Barbara Bartlett, Liberal Arts sophomore-I came to WU because I was interested in zoology and the zoology department here was highly recommended to me.

Mary McMullen, Engineering junior-I came to Wichita University because I heard that it had a good Engineering school and because the University had a good scholastic rating.

Ray Pettigrew, Business sophomore-I came here because it enabled me to live at home and because the city afforded me a better opportunity to find employment.

Jerry Richards, Fine Arts junior-I came to this university because it was close to my home, located in a fairly large city, and because I was favorably impressed by its art department.

THE CARE AND FEEDING OF ROOM-MATES

Room-mates are not only heaps of fun, but they are also very educational, for the proper study of mankind is man, and there is no better way to learn the dreams and drives of another man than to share a room with him.

This being the case, it is wise not to keep the same room-mate too long, because the more room-mates you have, the more you will know about the dreams and drives of your fellow man. So try to change room-mates as often as you can. A recent study made by Sigafos of Princeton shows that the best interval for changing room-mates is every four hours.

How do you choose a room-mate? Most counselors agree that the most important thing to look for in room-mates is that they be people of regular habits. This, I say, is arrant nonsense. What if one of their regular habits happens to be beating a Chinese gong from midnight to dawn? Or growing cultures in your tooth glass? Or reciting the Articles of War?

"All phases of the Sigma Phi Epsilon installation have been completed," according to Bob Cressler, president of the organization. The group is the only national fraternity on campus at this time.

Following church attendance on Sunday, a noon luncheon was served at the fraternity house.

Rings, Spring Appear to Go Hand-in-Hand

The old story that spring turns a young man's fancy is evident again this year. The green clumps of new grass in the midst of winter brown is a sure sign of spring—but even surer is the sparkle and glitter that is being sported on the third finger, left hand of many campus coeds.

CAC Secretary Anticipates Peace, Quiet in New Office

By RICHARD MILLER
Sunflower Staff Reporter

With the opening of the Campus Activities Center just a short month away, Claudia Warwick, CAC secretary, finds herself busy with many last minute arrangements.

Solving endless problems and revisions concerning interior decoration, requisitioning suddenly needed fixtures and materials, and tying up inevitable loose ends occupies most of her current office time.

"This," she says, "plus finding room for all that furniture, and stumbling over all these boxes we have stored here in our office!"

Office of Her Own

Commenting further on her cramped quarters, she says, "Some-day I'm going to have an office of my own, with a little privacy, and a big workroom where I won't have all these noisy men around me."

Although she has been associated with the office since its founding, Mrs. Warwick has performed her duties in a variety of capacities during the past two years. She worked in the Student Loan Office, Counseling Center, and Scholarship Office before moving to CAC's temporary headquarters in the Commons Building.

Has Double Job

During this time she was doubly occupied, working in each respective position, while continuing her normal duties with the CAC Office. She explains, "I was Mr. Glenn's (CAC director) secretary, out on loan. I look forward to moving into the new building where I'll have a permanent office and specific duties."

While discussing the new center, Mrs. Warwick expressed CAC's intention that the building will be the center and hub of many future campus activities, as opposed to being only a "Rec Hall" for the undergraduates and a ballroom for the Greeks.

Appeals to Married Students

CAC's goal is to create a relaxing and cultural atmosphere for the enjoyment of all the various groups on campus. Included in this consideration is the large group of generally neglected married students. Of special interest to them will be the nursery facilities available.

"Among other things," Mrs. Warwick continued, "we hope to develop an evening dining service with a pleasant atmosphere and reasonable prices. Coupled with the nursery, barber shop, crafts room, music and television lounges, bowling alleys and various other recreations, the facilities of the Center will be as attractive to the married students, as to the hyper-social single students."

Concerning hobbies she says, "I'm too busy for that. My two children are my hobby, and when

I'm not busy taking care of them, I usually help my husband grade papers."

Job Interviews

One employment interview is scheduled here today, and five others will be conducted next week for seniors seeking possible employment.

Cessna Aircraft Co. today will interview mechanical and aeronautical engineering students.

Sears, Roebuck and Co. will be here April 7, and General Mills, Inc., will be here April 8 to interview Business and Liberal Arts majors.

Lieut. Comdr. D. A. Olson, aviation information officer from the Naval Air Station, Olathe, will be on campus April 8 and 10 to interview college men interested in flight training.

Business students and mechanical engineers will have opportunities to consult with a representative of the Southwest Grease and Oil Co., on April 9.

Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. will interview Business and Liberal Arts majors on April 10.

Appointments for the interviews may be made by contacting Mrs. Merrideth Graham, executive secretary of the Employment Bureau, Rm. 114, Fiske Hall.

The play has been translated by members of the Spanish composition class. It will be presented at a meeting of the Wichita Pan-American Club.

'Dead Sea Scrolls' Lecture Scheduled

"The Dead Sea Scrolls and Their Meaning" will be the topic of a lecture tomorrow by the Rev. Clarence Kilde, lecturer in religious education at the University.

The lecture, sponsored by the United Student Fellowship organization here, will be presented at 3 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center Faculty Lounge. All students and faculty members are welcome to attend.

There will be no admission charge.

S.S. College Tests To Be Given Soon

Applications are now being accepted for the selective service college qualification test to be given on April 30.

This test has been devised to provide selective service local boards with evidence of
