Varied Facilities In Newly Opened CAC

By LINDA SWANDER
Sunflower Staff Reporter

The opening of the CAC Monday marked a new era in the history of the University.

There has long been a need for a building where students, faculty, administration, alumni, and guests could get together and through informal association learn to know and understand each other better.

The Student Council of 1955 voted to include in tuition a student fee to provide such a facility. With the completion of the CAC the dreams of student bodies dating back to 1947 were fulfilled. The present plan is to close Yale between 18th and Clough Place in the near future. This will enlarge the campus and provide landscaping for the center of the campus.

Main Door on Yale
The main entrance to the building is across from Neff Hall. The information desk just inside the main entrance is made of mahogany, which is the dominant trim throughout the building. Cigarettes, gum, postage stamps, and candy can be purchased here. To the right of the information desk is the music browsing room equipped with hi-fi, piano, home-town newspapers, and books. Next door is the TV room complete with a color set. The lounge is located at the north end of the building. It has a large ultra-modern wood burning fireplace. A ledge built along one end is decorated with beautiful long pillows and will overlook a garden court.

The new Alibi Room accommodates 200 and adjoins a dining room with a seating capacity of 180. The "corral" system of cafeteria service is being used.

Stainless Steel Kitchen
The kitchen equipment totaled $137,000 and is all stainless steel. It is complete with donut maker, ice maker, potato peeler, electric wall ovens, walk-in refrigerators, and huge pressure cookers. There is also an area in which homemade bakery goods are being made.

The Shocker Room accommodates 60 and features family style serving during lunch hours. Adjacent to it is the Fairmount Room for private luncheons and meetings. Three meeting rooms are adjacent to the three dining rooms for

Honors Convo Set For 65 Graduating Seniors

A convocation honoring 65 graduating seniors will be held today in the Commons Auditorium, according to Melvin Snyder, professor of engineering and chairman of the event.

1st Semester Sunflower Gets 'Excellent' Rating

"Excellent" was the honor rating awarded to the Sunflower this week by the Associated Collegiate Press for the issues published by the school newspaper during the first semester.

2 New Awards Will Highlight Speech Dinner

Awards, skits, and food will headline the events at the Speech Banquet, May 17, in the Campus Activities Center.

The banquet was originally scheduled for May 3 but due to the delay in completion of the CAC the date was moved to the 17th.

Announcements of the radio scholarship winner along with the Harbison award winner and the "best-goof-of-the-year" winner will be made.

The radio scholarship was instituted this year by Radio Station KFH. It is a $300 grant to be awarded annually to a radio-TV major. The Harbison prize is awarded to a freshman or sophomore forensic student.

In addition to the "legitimate" awards, a "goof gift" will be awarded to the speech student who has committed the biggest blunder of the year. Candidates for this award are not limited to those making blunders at a speech function.

Entertainment will be furnished by the various speech organizations.

LePell Film To Be Shown

"Montage One—Paint and Painter," a short film made as a thesis project by Corban Le Pell, art graduate student, and a local photographer, Wayne Sourbeer, will be shown at the Campus Activities Center Film Festival Saturday.

Other films set for the festival include "The Little World of Don Camillo," "White Mane," "History of the Cinema," "Lot in Sodom," and "Les Enfants Terribles."

The festival will begin at 7 p.m. in the Commons.

Receiving the awards will be graduating seniors who are members of honor societies, or who are otherwise outstanding in their field of study. All have maintained, throughout their collegiate career, an academic record of at least 3.000.

Dr. Worth Fletcher, registrar, will present "Recognition of Honors," and Dr. Stewart Queen, visiting professor of sociology, will discuss "What is a College Education?" At 6:30 p.m. a banquet will be held in the CAC to honor these seniors.

Classes will be shortened to allow the convocation to take place from 9:40 to 10:30.

The schedule for Tuesday will be as follows:

8:00—8:40	8 o'clock classes
8:50—9:30	9 o'clock classes

Student Art On Exhibition

The culmination of an academic year's art activity is now on display in the Fine Arts Center Foyer Gallery.

"This annual Spring show of student work is a representative sampling of all art courses and class levels," said David E. Bernard, associate professor of art and director of the Gallery.

Projects exhibited include basic drawing and design problems, oil and watercolor paintings, etching, intaglio and woodcut prints, and beginning and advanced ceramics.

Also displayed are craft projects in various media. Enameling, weaving, and mosaic arts are represented. Highlighting this

Actor Makes Campus Appearances

By RICHARD MILLER
Sunflower Staff Reporter

A small crowd of approximately 50 students, faculty, and townspeople welcomed Basil Rathbone upon his arrival in Wichita at the Municipal Airport, late Thursday evening.

Following a warm, "Hello David," to his host Dr. David Foltz, Mr. Rathbone was introduced to, and shook hands with, all attending "King David" personnel, campus reporters and editors, and spirited students.

Upon descending the passenger concourse Dr. Foltz remarked to his guest, "You had quite a reception committee." Mr. Rathbone answered with an enthusiastic, "Wow!"

Foltz Is Host
Dr. Foltz, director of the University's recent production of

"King David," acted as Mr. Rathbone's host for the evening, and during his three day visit to the city and campus.

Friday morning Mr. Rathbone and his troupe of escorts made an unscheduled appearance in Dr. Morton Rosenbaum's 10 a.m. freshman English class.

The group is currently studying the Bible as literature, and Dr. Rosenbaum opened the floor for discussion on this point. Mr. Rathbone was surprised at the choice of topics and jokingly remarked, "This is not my field."

Prefers "Blood and Thunder"
He continued to explain that he preferred "blood and thunder stories," and that, "all this is good ole stuff you know."

He eased into the subject at hand quickly however, admitting that "King David is just such a story."

The question of the Bible being beautiful reading for all faiths was posed and the guest speaker commented, "Yes, by golly, I think one's got to include the Bible in their life as worthwhile and beautiful reading."

Avoids Theology
Amid further questions he closed the issue lightly saying, "By heavens, don't get me into theology."

The short seminar continued, and at the class' request Mr. Rathbone willingly answered other questions and recited passages from Shakespeare's "Hamlet." Upon closing the discussion and leaving the classroom he modestly disclaimed, "I'm afraid Reverend Rathbone wasn't much help."

Congenial and clowning, with an ashtray upside down upon his head, Mr. Rathbone opened his next campus engagement in the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall.

Students Say SGA Out of Order

By ART LARSEN
Sunflower Staff Reporter

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION: Do you think that the Student Government Association has the right to interfere in any campus organization's selection of members?

Bud Hoffman, former president of the Independent Student's Association—I definitely do not think that SGA has the right to interfere in the internal affairs of any campus organization. Such a right would make SGA entirely too powerful since it would make the existence of every group on campus dependent upon the whims of a few students.

Allen Gow, former chairman of the Campus Activities Center Board—I believe that the SGA is perfectly within its rights as far as taking a stand on or expressing an opinion on this subject. I do not believe that they have the right to take any direct action in this direction. It is the University which sets up the rules by which every organization must abide and it is the right of the University alone to make interpretations or changes in these rules.

Jack Malone, Student Court Justice—SGA has no right whatsoever to tell campus organizations who they may or may not accept for membership. Fraternities and sororities are secret social organizations and as such are subject only to the rules of the University on which they exist and the rules of the national organization to which they belong. A resolution by a student government against an unwritten law has no meaning and body, cannot guarantee any action, and thus in effect merely creates a problem that really doesn't exist.

Tom Davis, Alpha Gamma Gamma member—I do not think that SGA has any authority to interfere in such matters. Each organization has its own code of standards by which it operates. This code must be approved by the University in order for the organization to exist. SGA, like any other campus organization, should merely be content to manage its own affairs.

Mary Joan Hiner, president of Delta Delta Delta sorority—I don't see how the SGA can do this under the present set-up. The rules by which each sorority on campus operates are made up by the Panhellenic Council. This council has a University representative who sees to it that the policies and rules of the University are adhered to strictly. Nothing that SGA will do in this area will have meaning or effect unless they work with and through Panhellenic Council.

Gamma Phi Beta sorority—Every organization on this campus has a constitution which has been approved by the University. SGA has no right to interfere in the internal affairs of these organizations by superceding this constitution.

Ann Thompson, president of the dormitory council of Grace Wilkie Hall—SGA has no right to interfere in the affairs of a campus organization once the constitution of that organization has been approved. SGA should be able to have some say regarding the actions and policies of these organizations but not so long as these actions and policies are in accordance with their approved constitutions. SGA should never be in a position where it is able to control any organization other than itself.

Professor Crossnoe feels his students "have made much progress in sculptural expression as it relates to jewelry design."

small luncheons or informal club meetings.

Bookstore Expanded
The modern self-service bookstore, which is a "far cry" from the old one, is selling many new items, such as desk lamps, ceramics, greeting cards, luggage, toilet items, stationery, photo supplies, and souvenirs.

Next to the bookstore is the nursery. It accommodates 10 to 12 children for parents who have business in the CAC. There is a play area outside the nursery. This service is not available to mothers attending class.

Recreation in Basement
The recreational area, barber shop, and commuter's lunch room are located in the basement. Across the hall from the recreational area is the three-chair barber shop.

Of special interest is the commuter's lunch room. It is equipped with a variety of vending machines and card tables.

The ballroom, meeting rooms and offices are located on the second floor. The ballroom can accommodate 280 persons for banquets and 200 couples for dances.

Phi Sigs Go National; Become Phi Deltas Here

Phi Upsilon Sigma became the third social fraternity on campus to be installed as a national fraternity, climaxing negotiations Saturday with Phi Delta Theta.

The installation of the new Phi Delt chapter took place at 2 p.m., Saturday, in the Fine Arts Center before parents, friends, Phi Deltas from surrounding chapters, and fraternity alums.

The week's ceremonies began early Friday morning at the Masonic Lodge with the initiation of individual members. Forty-five members were installed into the active chapter.

The initiation Friday was followed by a buffet dinner at the Broadview Hotel. The dinner was sponsored by the Wichita Phi Delta Theta Alumni Club. The diners then adjourned to the fraternity house where an informal smoker was held.

The installation of the new chapter as Kansas Delta was followed by a luncheon at the fraternity house for those attending the installation ceremonies.

A formal banquet and dance Saturday evening at the Crestview Country Club brought the installation ceremonies to a close.

May 22 Deadline for Including Dates on 1959-60 Calendar

May 22 has been set as the deadline for submitting dates for inclusion on the 1959-60 school calendar. Judy Denton, Student Government Association executive-secretary, has announced.

Miss Denton said that the dates of social events, lectures, elections, banquets, and all other activities must be turned in to the SGA office in Fiske Hall by that date to insure inclusion on next year's calendar.

SGA will again publish the "Shocker Pocket Brain," she said. It will be ready for distribution at the beginning of the fall semester.

"This year we are trying to improve the "Brain" in several ways," Miss Denton stated.

She said that it will be more durably bound, that more blank spaces will be included, and that as many dates as possible will be included.

A definite attempt is being made to insure accuracy of dates, Miss Denton added.

This year, the executive secretary pointed out, 1,000 copies of the "Pocket-Brain" were sold. More copies will be ordered next year, she said.

7 Members Elected to AWS Council

Seven new members have been elected to the Associated Women Students Council.

They are Milly Wolcott, Shirley Reid, Sally Howse, Ann Deschner, Cathy Evans, Colleen Shannon, and Linda Christian.

Jean Thomas has also been named to the Council as the representative of Delta Delta Delta.

Announcement was made of an

AWS scholarship to be awarded to a woman at the beginning of her junior year at the University. The $50 grant will be based on the highest grade average made during the recipient's two semesters of her sophomore year only.

The award will be presented during the week of Freshmen orientation at the AWS annual Dutch Luncheon.
