Vol. LXIV—No. 22 University of Wichita, Wichita, Ks. Dec. 8, 1959

'Night Must Fall' Opens Thursday in Commons

The smell of paint, the sound of drills, and hammers buzzing noisily, various tools laid about, rough drafts of the setting as a whole, busy people hurrying and scurrying about in worn-out clothes—this is the atmosphere that envelopes one who goes backstage and finds a harassed crew working on the stage properties for the play "Night Must Fall."

Dave Flemming, technical director for the production, was busy working on details as he was being interviewed. He believes that the setting should supplement the play. He commented, "If it does not support the author, the setting has missed the boat."

Set Can Ruin Play

The setting does not necessarily have to follow the stage directions called for in the script. "A poor set can ruin a play just as a bad actor can ruin a play," mentioned Flemming. Excitement and suspense, plus a depressing mood are the prime responses which the set of this play will try to evoke.

Because of the English setting, the Tudor arch effect has been used. An angular quality has been added to enhance excitement. A cluttered effect has been produced with dark brown wood which has prompted a deep, depressing effect.

The stage has an angular, unbalanced setting. Flemming explained this was done in order to match the unbalanced personalities of the characters. Brown and maroon were purposely chosen to provide an earthy effect.

Devices Employed

A clever illusion has been created in the first scene of the play. The judge appears to be seated, but he is actually standing. The judge's bench is hinged, and folds back when the setting is raised.

Leonard Carter, shop supervisor and head carpenter, and Gary Crook, master electrician, have shared the headaches with Flemming. Work began later than usual and has taken about two weeks to complete.

Final Date Set For Enrollment

Do it now and avoid the rush later! That philosophy has been applied to everything from Christmas shopping to the space race. Now students have the opportunity to apply it to their school life.

By pre-enrolling now, students can save themselves the drudgery of waiting in long lines during regular enrollment for the second semester.

Urges Pre-enrollment

With pre-registration for the second semester already underway, students are strongly urged by the registrar to see their advisor and pre-enroll while they have the chance.

All students, H through L, were to register either yesterday or today. M through R are scheduled for Dec. 9, 10; S through Z, Dec. 11, 14; A through B, Dec. 15, 16; and C through G, Dec. 17, 18.

Dec. 18 Last Day

Dec. 18 will be the last day that students will be able to see their deans and faculty advisers for counselling before the completion of pre-registration.

The Registrar's Office stresses the fact all counselling must be completed at this time if students wish to have their schedules processed during the Christmas vacation. (Continued on Page 2)

Speech Department to Give 'A Christmas Carol' on TV

"A Christmas Carol" by Charles Dickens will be presented at 1 p.m., Dec. 20 on KTVH-TV by the speech department, according to Dr. Eugene Hoak, head of the department.

A special script is being prepared by the Radio-TV classes for the live half-hour show.

The play will be directed by Dr. Hoak, and Prof. Norvin Allen, faculty adviser of Radio Station KMUW. The settings are by David Flemming, assistant professor of speech and drama. Special sound, visual, and musical effects will be prepared by Janice Hayes, KMUW director.

Ebenezer Scrooge will be portrayed by Charles Hambrick, Education senior; Bob Cratchit by Ron Burr, Liberal Arts freshman; and Tiny Tim by David Allen, 8-year-old son of Professor Allen.

The narrator will be Felix Peters, Liberal Arts senior. Prof. George Wilner will play Marley's Ghost; Lance Hayes, Liberal Arts junior, ghost of Christmas past; Karen Pyles, Liberal Arts junior, ghost of Christmas present; Judy Everett, Liberal Arts junior, Mrs. Cratchit.

Humphrey Convo Set For 9 a.m. Tomorrow

Senator Hubert Humphrey

For the second time in less than a month a Democratic presidential hopeful will talk to students during a convocation in the Commons Auditorium.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, (D., Minn.) will address a 9 a.m. convocation tomorrow in the Commons. The 48-year-old Senator will man the same rostrum used by Sen. John Kennedy, presidential hopeful from Massachusetts, three weeks ago. Classes will not be dismissed for the Senator's speech.

To Make Second Visit

This will be Humphrey's second visit to Kansas in a month. In November, he spoke in Parsons, Lawrence, Emporia, Topeka, Manhattan, and Pittsburg.

Frank Vannerson, president of the University's Collegiate Young Democrats, attended the Senator's speech at Kansas University. Vannerson said that the student audience at KU was held spellbound by Humphrey's dramatic presentation.

Sen. Humphrey will begin his day in Wichita with an 8 a.m. press conference in the Sedgwick County Court House. After his address in the Commons, he will make his third speech of the morning to delegates of the National Wheatgrowers Assn.

Labor Leaders' Guest

He will be the guest of local and regional leaders at a noon luncheon, and is scheduled to visit with Sedgwick County and 4th District Democratic precinct committee members in the afternoon. He will return to the campus for an 8 p.m. address in the Fine Arts Auditorium.

Sen. Humphrey first received national recognition when he led a liberal demand for a strong civil rights plank in the platform adopted by the 1948 Democratic National Convention.

Serving Senate Term

He is now serving his second term in the Senate, where he is a member of two committees, Foreign Relations and Agriculture. In addition, he served a term as a member of the United States delegation to the General Assembly of the United Nations.

Last December Humphrey was publicized nationally for his meeting in the Kremlin with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Shockers Face Abilene Tonight in Fieldhouse

After winning games over Hardin-Simmons and Texas Western last Thursday and Saturday nights, the Shockers got right back into the thick of things by taking on Arizona State last night and then Abilene Christian tonight, in the Fieldhouse. Game time is 8 p.m.

Not much is known about the Abilene Christian bunch since they are not listed in the top 175 teams of the nation.

The Shockers, hitting a torrid 54.27 per cent of their field shots, ran over Hardin-Simmons Thursday night by the tune of 90-57.

Texas Western, 94-75
Saturday night, the Shockers had to overcome a 12 point deficit in the last 10 minutes of the first half, and then coasted to a 94-75 victory over the Texas Western Miners.

The Miners, beaten by Oklahoma State by only 1 point, had the game's high scorer however, in Al Tolen, who racked up 27 point against the Shockers.

Al Tate again led the Shockermen in scoring, scoring 20 points after a cold start in the first half. Lanny VanEman, junior guard, took runner-up honors this time, hitting 7 of 17 from the field and adding 4 free ones for a total of 18 points.

Heller, Tate Head

Again, Coach Miller used 15 players with 11 of them scoring, all hitting at least one from the field. Ron Heller canned 7 of 11 from the floor, and 3 of 3 from the charity stripe for 17 points. Tate and Heller again led the rebounders with totals of 11 and 10, respectively.

The Shocker yearlings, showing good team play and balanced scoring, also won their games Thursday and Saturday nights, downing Ark City Oilers 83 to 42 in their first outing, and the Pittsburg State "B" team, 71 to 63.

Brown, Shelley to Match Wits Against Other Top Debaters

Quincelee Brown and Mary Lou Shelley, the University's two-woman varsity debate team, boarded a 7:30 flight for a plane trip East this morning.

Their destination for tonight is Cleveland, Ohio, where they will debate with Wooster. Wednesday morning the two women will pit their wits against four schools of opponents; Oberlin, Baldwin-Wallace, Kent State, and Akron University.

Debate Against Pittsburg

Going to Pittsburg Thursday, Miss Brown and Miss Shelley will debate in three public appearances against the University of Pittsburg.

According to Mel Moorhousse, associate professor of speech and drama, "The decision rendered on the winning team will be a unique feature. Rarely done, the present audience will cast the decision."

"Officially called the 'shift of opinion,' each member of the audience registers his belief before the debate on the topic to be discussed. After the debate, the member will again register his belief. The object is to change his belief!"

Discuss National Topic

Friday and Saturday, the Wichita University varsity debate team will come to the end of their traveling, but will possibly enter their biggest moment.

Debating a national topic: "Should Congress be given the

Services Held For LA Junior

Funeral services were held Saturday for Eldon Lynn McKee, 1104 S. Emporia, who died unexpectedly Wednesday afternoon at St. Joseph Hospital.

The 20-year-old Liberal Arts junior had been a student of the University since 1957. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale McKee, Sr., of the home address.

McKee graduated from West High School in 1957 and entered the University the same year where he established himself by making the Dean's Honor Roll his freshman and sophomore years. He was recently elected to Pi Mu Epsilon, national honorary mathematics fraternity.

McKee was an active member of Broadway Christian Church where he served on the Junior Board of Deacons. He was past president of the B. Y. A. Sunday School class.

Used Book Sale Opens Next Month

Students will be able to sell their used books Jan. 14, 15, 18, and 19 at the bookstore.

According to Don McCormick, assistant manager of the bookstore, a wholesale book buyer will be here at those times to buy text books.

The buyer will offer students half the new book price for all books being used here on campus next semester. Books that will not be used here next semester will be bought for about 25 per cent of the original price.

WU Twirlers Waltz Tonight

Fans attending the basketball game tonight will be treated to a twirling exhibition by the University twirlers during half-time.

The twirlers, who have been practicing for the performance since the last football game, will be accompanied by the "Waltz from Sleeping Beauty."

The Editor's Board

Let's Go Back . . .

Two letters to the Editor printed in the Sunflower (one today and the other on Friday) accused the paper's staff of irresponsible journalism.

We are going to state some facts and let our readers draw their own conclusions.

The letter appearing in last Friday's issue of the Sunflower accused us of "parroting the official Communist line."

The author of the letter then went on to say we used the terms "communism" and "socialism" as synonyms, in opposition to the "free enterprise" form of government.

Someone is confused on composition and grammar—and it was not the Sunflower reporter who wrote the article.

Clearer reading of the story should indicate to the letter writer that he was picking words out of context.

Today's letter finds its writer denying he asked for the resignation of the SGA treasurer, as reported in the Sunflower.

The reporter was guilty of being late to the meeting, that cannot be denied. We were informed that Congressman Lawless "called" for the resignation. If Lawless did not "call" for a resignation in those words, he certainly implied it was in order.

All quotes point to the fact that the remainder of the SGA members also thought Lawless was asking for a resignation.

"All we can do is get a treasurer who can handle the job at this time," one member said.

Another chimed in, "I've got nothing against Carole (Hicks) but we need someone else."

"The job should be one for someone interested," remarked another SGA congress representative. While a top SGA officer said, "I have nothing personal against her either, but we need someone who can get the job done."

These were only a few of many quotations we could have written in our SGA report on Friday. Maybe we should have.

On the other hand, we would have received more than the one letter, if we had quoted other SGA congressmen.

We have found in the past that student government meetings often find congressmen making statements, and afterwards, asking if The Sunflower would delete the remarks.

"Open mouth, insert foot," we say over here.

Schedules on Sale

Class schedules are on sale in the Bookstore for 15 cents.

Students who do not have their semester schedules registered before Dec. 19 will have to completely enroll again for the second semester, a process taking time and additional work. They will also run the risk of not being able to get in the classes they need or want.

BROWN, SHELLEY

into heated discussion in the University of Pittsburgh's two-day tournament.

"Pittsburgh has always invited the most outstanding teams in the country to its tournaments. The teams meet with groups from across the country, just as the three Canadian teams and eighteen West Indies teams represented this year," stated Mr. Moorhouse.

He went on to say, "Among those asked before are Northwestern, Notre Dame, West Point, to name a few. As can be seen, our team is in difficult company. I have no fears about their keeping up due to their record of fifteen wins and 3 losses so far this season."

We Get Letters . . .

To the Editor:

I read with considerable interest your front page, headline story entitled "SGA Treasurer Comes Under Fire; Lawless calls for Hicks' Resignation." (Dec. 4 issue.)

Following the publication of this article, I was accused of such things as "all efficiency, no humanity; rabble rousing; anti-Greek in general, anti-Delta Delta Delta in particular, and anti-Treasurer Hicks specifically."

Since these accusations were inferred from your paper, I can only resort to your paper to refute them; they are entirely untrue.

I bear no ill-feeling.

To treat the first accusation concerning "all efficiency, no humanity," I have this to say: I have had a warm friendship with Miss Hicks since our first meeting.

This friendship has been based on our mutual views as to the goals of student government, our mutual convictions over past and current issues and a mutual respect for each other's debate at SGA meetings. I have in the past, and I still do, consider Miss Hicks one of the most outstanding members of SGA.

But last year my party, the BARBS, and the opposition party (BPOC) made several promises to the student body. All of these promises might be included under the general heading of "effective student government."

Whenever personal friendship and the fulfillment of these promises conflict, one must, of course, decide. I have decided in favor of the latter. SGA cannot function without a treasurer.

The real facts:

Vol: LXIV Dec. 8, 1959 No. 22

Published each Tuesday and Friday morning during the school year by students in the department of Journalism of the University of Wichita except on holidays, during vacations and examination periods. Second class postage paid at Wichita, Kansas

At our last meeting, the agenda included a proposition called "Financial Authorization," which was to give the essential of power of the Treasurer to the Executive Secretary. It was argued that Miss Hicks was unable to comply with the duties ascribed her in the Constitution; that bills had not been paid; that because of conflicting interests, the Treasurer was unable to attend meetings; and that giving the power to the Executive Secretary would eliminate the problem.

I rose in objection for three main reasons: (1) the measure was unconstitutional (Art. 111, Sec. 3, Par. 5); (2) the officers of the Association are empowered with responsibilities that cannot be denied or transferred; (3) the Congress, if it is to function properly, cannot afford to lose one single member. If one cannot execute his duties, another must be appointed in his place.

I did not call for Miss Hicks' resignation.

After listing these objections, I asked that Miss Hicks be present at our next meeting and give a full report. The Congress was unanimous in their approval. Whether or not she will continue as Treasurer will be left solely to Miss Hicks. I cannot, and I do not, wish to force her resignation.

While it is true that I am an independent, the charge of my being anti Greek is wholly fallacious. When I feel that the interests of the independants are being violated by Greek interests, I rise in severe objection. But I realize that if you want something done, it is the Greeks who will usually do it. I spend many hours of my time in an effort to have our Student Government do something worthwhile—to be opposed to the Greeks would be absurd.

Sincerely,

Bob Lawless

Sue Rinehart, Liberal Arts sophomore, and grand-daughter of Charles B. Rinehart of the University of West Virginia, made the presentation to the fraternity.

Mr. Rinehart was a member of the original Sig Ep chapter in Richmond, Va., in 1911. His wife had the coat-of-arms inscribed on the deerskin as a wedding gift at the time.

The deerskin, perfectly preserved, is well over a 100 years old. Family history shows that Miss Rinehart's great-grandfather, Charles Journeycake, who was the last major chief of the Delaware Indians, shot the deer.

The deerskin now hangs near the fireplace in the Sig Ep house.

Social Whirl Ahead Phi Delt's Trim City's Trees

With the gala holiday season just around the corner, sororities and the fraternities will be holding their annual Christmas dinners and dances, at various party spots over the city.

Alpha Chi Omega will hold their formal dinner-dance at the Broadview Hotel from 9 to 12, this Friday night. At the dance, the announcement of the sorority's "Dream Man" will be made.

Beta Theta Pi will hold their formal dance at the Broadview on the night of December 22.

Alpha Phi will hold their dinner-dance on December 18 at the Lassen Hotel. Announcement of the sorority's "Mr. Ivy" will be made at the dance.

DU's Select Dec. 19
Delta Upsilon's formal Christmas dance is scheduled for the night of December 19, at the Allis Hotel.

The formal dinner-dance of Delta Delta Delta will be this Friday night at the Prairie Club. Favors of toys will be given the men, which will be donated afterward to the needy family the Tri-Delts adopt each year at Christmas time.

The men of Phi Delta Theta have tentatively scheduled their Christmas dance to be held December 19, in the CAC Ballroom.

Delta Gamma will reveal the identity of their "Anchor Man," at a formal dance at the Prairie Club, December 18.

Candidates for the DG honor are Gayle Bryant, Dick Honeyman, Ronnie Stephens, Tommy Vanderhoofven, Jim Gallant, and Phil Peer.

Sig Ep's Will Name Sweetheart

Sigma Phi Epsilon will hold a dance at the Dolphin Club, December 18. The fraternity will crown their "Golden Sweetheart." Candidates this year are Sibyl Ingle, Alpha Chi Omega, and Beverly Okerberg, Delta Delta Delta.

Gamma Phi Beta will hold a semi-formal Christmas dance at the Prairie Club the night of December 21. The sorority's "Joe College" will be announced that night.

Candidates for the honor are Bob Pyles, Lew Merriman, Jay McMurray, Jim Ross and Stan Fetig.

Film Features Soviet Ballet

The Film Society will present "The Grand Concert," a Russian production, on Wed. at 8 p.m. in the CAC Ballroom.

The film consists of famous ballets that have taken place in Russia during the past and features the talents of several Russian ballerinas, musicians, and composers.

According to Sharon Witt, Film Society chairman, "The film is quite entertaining and is devoid of much propaganda that is sometimes common."

Students will be admitted on ID cards.

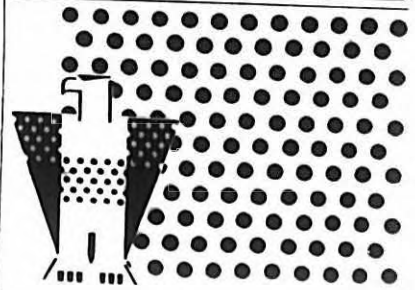

AWS to Host Xmas Party

Foreign students on this campus will get a good taste of a real old-fashioned American Christmas when the AWS honors them at a Christmas party Dec. 13.

The primary purpose of the party is to give foreign students an idea of Americans at Christmas time. Entertainment will be in the form of pulling taffy, decorating the Christmas tree with pop corn and cranberry strands, and singing Christmas carols.

What Makes Pop Corn Pop?

Popping corn contains water. When the water gets hot enough, the kernel explodes. Result: popcorn.
We're not passing this information along as a public service. Actually we're up to the same old game.

Flu Shots Still Available; Polio Vaccine Also Offered

"The best time to obtain a flu shot is early in the fall," stated Mrs. Wanda Maltby, Director of the Student Health Service.

According to Mrs. Maltby, the fall is a good time of the year to prepare for the onslaught of winter, which brings numerous cases of flu and the common cold, along with icy winds and sniffly noses. Fall is the time of year when people are very susceptible to flu, as evidenced by the recent outbreak which took place in late October and early November.

Shots for $1

Immunization is best rendered by obtaining a shot, and this service was made possible in early October, when shots were made available for $1. About 250 shots have been given; but, lately there has been little demand for the medications.

The booster flu shot, which can be given two weeks after the first shot, is now being stressed. There is no longer any value in receiving only the first shot to protect against the winter.

Mrs. Maltby remarked that the polio shots are still being offered throughout the winter. "It is more advantageous to get them before summer begins," she added. The polio vaccine is offered in a series of four shots. There is a one-month lapse between the first and second shot; a 7-10 month lapse between the second and third shot; and there must be at least a year between the third and fourth shot.

Final Shots Neglected

Many people have neglected to get their final shot. Each of these shots is $1.00, but the value is far greater. The shots will continue to be offered.

Mrs. Maltby mentioned that students will have an opportunity to purchase the hospitalization and accident insurance again during the January registration period. Anyone who is interested may contact the Student Health Service.

Mrs. Maltby re-emphasized the fact that doctor services are available to students.

Paintings, Pots, and People

BY RICHARD MILLER
Sunflower Special Writer
Faculty members from various colleges of the University have contributed articles from their private collections of contemporary ceramics for exhibit in the current display in the FAC Foyer Gallery.

Highlighting this portion of the show is a classic lidded piece of whiteware, by Charles Lakofsky of Bowling Green, Ohio. Lakofsky is one of this country's foremost porcelain potters.

Other ceramic contributions to the show are from the shelves of John Strange, associate professor of art, and Dr. John Rydjord, former dean of Graduate School.

Historically significant artifacts now being shown include terracotta heads and masks dating from Pre-Columbian Mexico. A wide variety of symbolism and expression may be seen in these delicate heads and sculptures which were donated by Dr. Rydjord.

Contemporary crafts from other countries, in this section of the display, are loaned by Richard Grove, lecturer in art, and Lowell Holmes, associate professor of sociology and anthropology.

Other graphic arts on display include paintings and drawings from the collections of Walter Merrill, head of the English department, John Simoni, head of the art department, and Dorothy Gardner, assistant professor of Spanish.

Gallery Director David Bernard has presented a unique and comprehensive exhibit of the arts. He explains that, "We display these works to prove that many people in other fields have a sensitivity for, and maintain collections of, artwork, and to further stimulate the interesting and worthwhile activity of collecting."
