Work on Display

Not only were faculty minds on display during the week, art work was also displayed in the foyer gallery of the FAC. Students observed commercial advertising, fashion illustration, sculpture, metalsmithing, and water color painting. A special concert featuring Bach, Mozart, and Debussy was presented by the University Symphony in connection with the showing.

The week's activities are best summed up by Chairman Sally Shank, "I think that the group effort indicates that students are appreciative and receptive." She added, "I wish to especially thank those wonderful lecturers for their time in "Operation Egghead."

Spanish Department Helps State With Pilot Study of Lab Methods

Dr. Eugene Savaiano, head of the Spanish department, announced today that his department is currently engaged in a pilot study on foreign language laboratory techniques for the State Department of Education in Topeka.

Dr. Savaiano said, "The University is honored in being asked to conduct the pilot workshop. If this one is a success, the State Department will sponsor others throughout the state." The workshop is free to teachers in Sedgewick and surrounding counties. The course started last Saturday and will run six consecutive Saturdays.

The workshop will include a demonstration of the latest electronic equipment, nine hours of laboratory technique lectures by Dr. Savaiano, three films on laboratory techniques, and two sessions on materials from Mr. Dave Burns, foreign language consultant for the State Department of Education.

Active in NDEA

Dr. Savaiano said, "Kansas is an active participant in the NDEA, but one large obstacle to surmount is that of acquainting the teachers in the state with electronic equipment used in these laboratories. An even greater need lies in the fact that there are very few teaching materials available for uses in language laboratories."

Dr. Savaiano concluded that presently there were 53 high school language teachers enrolled in the workshop. The languages represented included Spanish, French, German, and Latin. The University is offering one hour credit for the workshop and 17 benefits from their laboratories.

Part of the pilot study is the result of a law. The National Defense Educational Act (1958) makes provisions for financial aid to those public elementary and high school institutions who are interested in augmenting their foreign language program. Part of this financial aid is earmarked for the installation and equipping of foreign language laboratories.

Coeds, attention!

One University coed will soon be named "The Girl We'd Most Like to Go to Press With" by the Sunflower staff, and will go to the Drake Relays Queen contest.

Tri-Delt Scholarship Blanks Available in Student Services

Applications for the 1960 Delta Delta Delta scholarships will be available to University coeds after Monday. All women students are eligible to apply but applicants should have at least a 3.00 overall grade average.

The two grants to be awarded locally are $100 minimum grants. Nationally, 105 campuses are annually included in the scholarship give-away.

Scholarship applications will be available at the Office of Student Services, Rm. 113, Jardine Hall. They must be returned by February 26. Announcement of winners will be made May 15.

Some 2,300 women students throughout the U. S. have been recipients of Tri-Delta scholarships in the past sixteen years.

Last year's winners were Virginian Glover, Liberal Arts sophomore; Mary Benedict Cooper, Fine Arts sophomore; Maria Tilford, Liberal Arts junior; and Nancy Mayer, Liberal Arts sophomore.

All sophomore, junior, and senior women are eligible to compete for the title of Press Queen. Applications accompanied by photographs must be in the Sunflower Office, Rm. 004, Commons building, by 4 p.m., March 1, according to Betty Kirkendall, editor.

Candidates for the title must have at least a 2.5 grade index and must be currently enrolled in at least 12 semester hours.

The winner will be entered as the University's candidate in the Drake Relays Queen Contest and will receive special recognition in the Parnassus and student newspaper.

Applications may be obtained at Grace Wilkie Hall, the sororities, the CAC information booth or the Sunflower office, and must be ac-

Pep Council Plans to Initiate WU Students Into GGSC

"Good grief, someone's cheering," someone said, and the next thing you know they've formed a club.

In the sincere hope to promote more pep via more people at University sports activities, tentative plans are being made to found a new club which will encompass the entire student body, according to Sally Howse, Pep Coordinator.

GGSC Replaces Reapers

If successful, this club, dubbed the GGSC, will replace the now defunct Reapers and the dwindling Wheaties.

"The trouble with Reapers, (and Wheaties)" was the common cry, "you can't take a date to the game and still sit in the club's designated section of the stands."

The GGSC, it is hoped, will solve this problem, for the club is to be composed of both sexes. For a nominal printing fee, a membership card will be made available, a card which would allow the member to sit in the student cheering section.

Pep Club Benefits Students

The 10 or 15 cent card fee would eliminate students having to pick up a seat ticket two or three days in advance of the game.

This ticket plan has been approved and was put into operation Jan. 30 by the ticket officials, according to Miss Howse. However, membership cards have not yet been received by the Pep Council.

"All students need to do to get good seats at basketball games is to tell ticket office personnel that they want tickets in the GGSC section," she said. This section is located between the basketball court and the band section.

TO BE HERE—Tickets are now being sold for the Library Benefit Concert that will feature the popular Kingston Trio on Thursday, Feb. 25. The concert will be held in the Fieldhouse. Reserved seat tickets are not being sold on the campus, contrary to a report Tuesday in the Sunflower, but are being sold at Hollabaugh's, 126 S. Main. General admission tickets are available in the CAC information booth.

That These Dead...

Ninety-nine years ago a man who was to be one of the greatest presidents in the history of this country was about to begin campaigning for the presidency.

At that time, the nation was not concerned with the space race, national defense, or foreign aid for underdeveloped countries, but, rather, the problems of that time were of internal nature.

Abraham Lincoln took over a nation that was to be torn by civil strife. A nation that stood on the brink of war, ready to fight for the cause of human rights. Lincoln later gave his life for the cause in which he believed.

Although Lincoln was known for many things, he was best known for his deepness of thought, mastery of words, simplicity of expression, and even more so, his basic belief of equality for all.

In the 99 years since Lincoln made his first appearance in national affairs, this country has gone through two wars, several conflicts, and has made tremendous industrial and social changes. America has become a world leader.

Although the social make-up of our nation has undergone extensive changes in the last century, there is still a lot of room for improvements. As a world leader, America must very clearly define the philosophy of government that it advocates. This must be done, not only in theory, but also in practice.

This can not be done until all citizens are granted the basic human rights guaranteed by our Constitution. This can not be done as long as people are denied the right to vote. This can not be done as long as people are persecuted because of their religion. This can not be done as long as children are denied their right to an equal education.

Today, the nation commemorates Abraham Lincoln's one hundred fifty-first birthday. Although he has been dead for 95 years, his basic philosophy lives on. His philosophy is a part of the American way of life.

To be effective as world leader, our nation must live by the philosophy that we try to sell other countries. Unless we practice it in our everyday life, in every part of our nation, then Lincoln might have died in vain.

Alma Mater Familiar?

"Our Alma Mater, Wichita stands proudly on the hill. . ." Do these words seem familiar. If not, they should. They are the beginning of the University Alma Mater.

It seems as though at least one Sunflower reader has become aware that our Alma Mater is not well known by University students.

Upon taking a small poll, we discovered that not only do many students not know the words but that the tune is unfamiliar. Several said that they wouldn't recognize the Alma Mater if they heard it.

Our song is sung on such rare occasions that students don't have a chance to become familiar with it. It was sung at some of the football games and at least one basketball game and at the pep convos, but that is about the only time the general student body hears it, or has a chance to sing it.

One person suggested that the Alma Mater is outdated. This may be true, but even if a new song was written, without more frequent use, many students probably still would be unable to sing it.

We recommend the Student Government Association look into the matter to decide if the students want a new Alma Mater. If so, one should be written and utilized frequently. If not, campus organizations should strive to see that the present Alma Mater is used more often.

Movie to Feature Civil War Account

An historic account of the Civil War will be featured this week on Reel Time, a weekly production of the Audio-Visual Center.

Entitled "The True Story of the Civil War," the featured movie is based on the original Brady photographs. "Sophocles' Electra," a color filmstrip prepared by the drama department of the University of Southern California, will also be shown.

WU Prof Identifies Old Tusk

A University professor and three of his students made a hurried trip through a snow storm and freezing roads to Tampa, Kans., Thursday to identify a tusk of a prehistoric animal.

Dr. Paul Tasch, professor of geology, identified the relics as a tusk and some bones from the woolly mammoth, an ancestor of the elephant. The mammoth roamed in herds from Siberia throughout the northern United States about 15,000 to 25,000 years ago.

Workman Finds Remains

Francis Herbel, a Marion County maintenance worker, and a crew of workmen excavating for a new sewage disposal pond, uncovered the remains under about 5 feet of earth on the eastern edge of Tampa, about a quarter-mile from the center of the town.

The tusk, measured 10 feet, 7 inches in length and was about 11 inches in diameter.

Work on the sewage project was stopped to allow Dr. Tasch and his crew to officially identify the findings. Many of the town's 200 population braved sub-freezing temperatures to view the relic of prehistoric times.

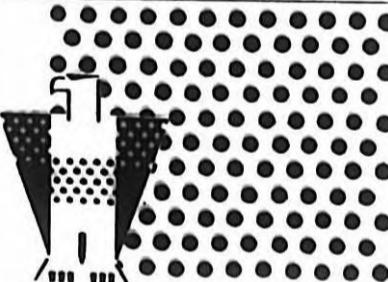

Buried in Sewage Pit

Workmen had stopped digging when the surface of the ivory tusk was uncovered last Monday. It was under several inches of dirt in the center of the sewage pit.

Several sections of the tusk were returned to the University geology laboratory to be made into microscopic slides for further study.

Dr. Tasch said that several complete specimens of the mammoth have been found frozen in ice banks in Siberia, and in 1901 a complete animal with hair and flesh was found. Flesh from the animal was actually eaten by the dogs and natives, the professor said.

The students making the trip with the geology professor were Adele Pierpont and Bob Mallory of Wichita and Bob Dilts of Hesston, all students in the beginning vertebrate paleontology class.

APPAREL OFT PROCLAIMS THE MAN

The hounds of spring are on winter's traces. Soon we will be shedding our mukluks and union suits and putting on our spring finery. And what does Dame Fashion decree for the coming season?

(Dame Fashion, incidentally, is not, as many people believe, a fictitious character. She was a real Englishwoman who lived in Elizabethan times and, indeed, England is greatly in her debt. During the invasion of the Spanish Armada, Dame Fashion—not yet a Dame but a mere, unlettered country lass named Becky Sharp—during the invasion, I say, of the Spanish Armada, this dauntless girl stood on the white cliffs of Dover and turned the tide of battle by rallying the sagging morale of the British fleet with this stirring poem of her own composition:

Don't be gullies,
Men of Britain.
Swing your cutlass,
We ain't quittin'.

Smash the Spanish,
Sink their boats,
Make 'em vanish,
Like a horse makes oats.

For Good Queen Bess,
Good sirs, you gotta
Make a mess
Of that Armada.

You won't fail!
Knock 'em flat!
Then we'll drink ale
And stuff like that.

As a reward for these inspirational verses Queen Elizabeth dubbed her a Dame, made her poet laureate, and gave her the Western Hemisphere except Duluth. But this was not the extent of Dame Fashion's services to queen and country. In 1589 she invented the egg. In 1590, alas, she was arrested for poaching and imprisoned for thirty years in a butt of malmsey. This later became known as Guy Fawkes Day).

But I digress. Let us get back to spring fashions.

Certain to be popular again this year is the cardigan (which, curiously enough, was named after Lord Cardigan, who commanded the English fleet against the Spanish Armada. The sweater is only one product of this fertile Briton's imagination. He also invented the ball-peen hammer, the gerund, and the molar, without which chewing, as we know it today, would not be possible).

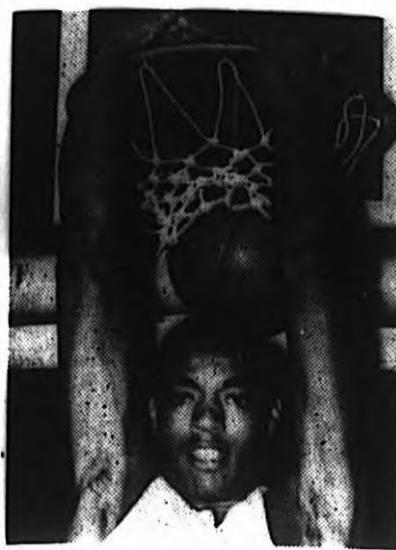

But I digress. The cardigan, I say, will be back, which is cause for rejoicing. Why? Because the cardigan has nice big pockets in which to carry your Marlboro Cigarettes—and that, good buddies, is ample reason for celebration. Do you think flavor went out when filters came in? If so, you've got another smoke coming. I mean Marlboros—all the rich, smooth flavor of prime tobacco plus a filter that really filters. So slip into your cardigan and hie yourself to your tobacconist for some good Marlboros. They come in soft pack or flip-top box. Cardigans come in pink for girls and blue for boys. © 1960 Max Shulman

If you're a filter smoker, try Marlboros. If you're a non-filter smoker, try Philip Morris. If you're a television watcher try Max Shulman's "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis"—Tuesday nights, CBS.

Shockers Set to Battle Memphis State

Tigers Out to Seek Revenge For Loss Dealt Last Season

If tomorrow night's game is just half as good as the one last year when the Memphis State Tigers came to town, Shocker fans are in for a real treat.

Gene Wiley

Last year, the Shocks won out over the Tigers in overtime, 95-92, in one of the better games of the season. Four Tigers who figured prominently in that game will be in uniform tomorrow night to try and even the score.

The two starting forwards for the Tennessee team this year, George Price and Lowery Kirk, both juniors, hit for 17 and 18 points against the Shocks last season. Skip Wolfe, senior guard, poured in 16 last time, while the other starting guard, Gene Wilfong, played his share of the game last season as an alternate.

Rounding out the Tigers' lineup is Frank Snyder, a 6 foot, 6 inch sophomore, who is currently cutting the cords to the tune of 12 points per contest. Price and Kirk are averaging close to 16 points per game and Wolfe is scoring on the average of 12 points per outing, so the Shocks will have their work cut out for them.

On the other side of the fence in Shockerland, fans will be waiting to watch a "revised" Virgil Brady take the court. Brady, who scored 8 points per game last season, was hitting at a 5.4 clip before the St. Louis and Drake games last week, when the Topeka junior hit 19 points against the Billikens and 16 at Drake to raise his average to a respectable 7.6 points per game.

Wichita, with a 11-9 record, will also throw four other starters against the Tigers who have played fine ball all season and have the statistics to prove it.

The starting forwards, Ron Heller and Al Tate, average close to 30 points a game between them and are currently pulling down a total of 22 rebounds per game. Lanny Van Eman, Brady's running mate, is sporting a good 14.2 scoring average, and can be expected to do his usual fine job of ball-hawking and setting up plays for his mates.

Gene Wiley, the Shockers highly touted post man, has come a long way since the beginning of the season, and has served notice in his "training period" that he will be high on the selection list for All-American honors before he graduates.

He has proven to be a terror under the boards and has blocked shots of some of the finest shooters in the Valley, including Oscar Robertson, Dave Terre, and Chet Walker, to name just a few.

Memphis State, already invited to the NIT, has lost only twice, to highly ranked Ohio State, a Shocker foe next season, and Dayton.

Tippy Dye told me that Miller won't be fired and Miller has told his players he would not quit, caused by a story that Gilmartin ran in his column after the St. Louis game that said Miller should be replaced as head basketball coach.

Gilmartin's comment was that he didn't deserve the honor. Did he or didn't he?

Gilmartin has been of the opinion that Miller should be replaced for a long time, and he might be in the majority on that opinion. He ran a story last month to the effect that Miller would quit or be fired at the end of the season.

Concerning Wichita's open date next year in Veteran's Field, Tippy Dye says, "We're contacting anybody and everybody". The athletic director also says that there is very little chance of playing a team from a larger conference, and a slim chance that the Shockers will play any team of another conference. He points out that the team will probably come from the independent field, which might mean that the Shockers could meet Miami of Ohio, an old gridiron foe of the University.

Hats off to Judy Bell, Shocker senior, who has been named to this year's Curtis Cup team.

The Golden Thought for the week:

Shock Talk

By TOMMY VANDERHOOFVEN
Sunflower Sports Editor

Wichita—The Air Capital, can now boast of a new capital, Wichita University, The Hanging Capital!

Monday morning (without fog) an effigy of Joe Gilmartin, Beacon Sports Editor, was hanging in the same spot as was Ralph Miller last month.

On one side of the fine looking effigy was a sign that read "JOE GILMARTIN". On the reverse side (that a downtown paper either didn't see or forgot about when reporting the story) were the words, "Go back to your Jr. High School paper, Gilmartin".

Apparently the hanging was and this was reported in the Sunflower shortly after Gilmartin's article came out.

Of course, things could change, but at the present time there is no sense in getting excited about it, because there is nothing to get excited about, unless more fans would get excited and go to a game once in a while!

Mr. Gilmartin is a very fine editor, one of the best sports writers I have ever had the pleasure to read. I don't disagree with him on all he writes, but rather, when he writes it. Now isn't the time to tell the world Miller should be replaced!

With the exception of 1 or 2, Miller is well liked by the players and they would like to see him here next year. That should be good enough for everyone, including myself, although I have never been a great Miller fan!

As for Mr. Gilmartin not deserving the honor, neither did Virgil Brady deserve to be the subject of a full column devoted to fans booing him. This is not good for the city of Wichita, the University, and especially Brady, who in my book is a fine basketball player.

As for the booing Brady took at the first of the year, that is the fans' privilege and surely didn't merit the play-up that it received.

According to Mr. Gilmartin, Miller is a big time coach and is subject to pressure! This is true, but I say that Joe Gilmartin is a big time editor now, and he, likewise, is subject to pressure, which he took during the Drake trip and at the beginning of the week!

Too Many Johnsons

Two Added to Library Staff

What's in a name? It depends on what the name is. A common one around Morrison Library these days is Johnson. The Johnsons—two of them, both female, were added to the library staff recently.

Mrs. Ellen M. Johnson, 528 Erie, is a new assistant reference librarian added to the staff in a move to give more reference service.

A Wichita resident most of her life, Mrs. Johnson received her Library Science degree from the University of Illinois and her B.A. degree from Friends University. She came to Morrison Library from the Wichita Public Library. Prior positions to that included work as documents librarian at the University of Colorado at Boulder, and acting librarian at Friends University.

The other Johnson—Margaret,

2228 Jardine, is a newcomer not only to Wichita, but also to this country. She came to the United States a few months ago from Manchester, England. Miss Johnson, who started to work Tuesday, divides her time between the circulation room and preparing binding shipments.
