'Fact Sheet' Debated Shocks Rebound from Defeat; By Sunflower Series Battle OCU Tomorrow Night

By FRAN SMITH
Editor-in-Chief

Recent distribution of the Mortar Board mimeographed "fact-sheet" dealing with the Sunflower indicates a continued misunderstanding concerning this college newspaper.

In an attempt to clarify erroneous conclusions, The Sunflower will publish a series of interpretative articles making clear our position. A series of passages from the "fact-sheet" will be printed in context, with the Sunflower rebuttal.

Item 1: The premise

Mortar Board: "tossing aside the school newspaper, a disappointed student might comment, Well, there's nothing in The Sunflower — but advertising. From such a comment springs further remarks of throw away paper, the daily blah, and cries of prejudice, biased, and scandal mongers. Underfoot will be the accumulated dirty, trampled Sunflowers. Essentially, the question to be posed: Why does The Sunflower merit such disrespect?"

The Mortar Board document springs forth from a premise of student dissatisfaction with the school newspaper. The dissatisfaction is attributed to an over-abundance of advertising, the mongering of scandal, prejudiced writing, and biased newspaper policy.

To support this dissatisfaction contention, it is presumed Mortar Board used the unscientific questionnaire distributed during registration. Or, to use the statement that a minority of careless students quickly read, then discarded The Sunflower on the floors of certain buildings is hardly logical enough to merit further discussion.

Consequently, to say that The Sunflower is held in great disrespect is an assumption, on which the entire document is based.

As a matter of fact, it would seem that this assumption was developed in spite of serious and obvious tangible evidence to the contrary. Such evidence includes the almost unbroken series of honor ratings awarded to The Sunflower over a period of the past 12 years by three of the nation's oldest collegiate newspaper critical rating services.

Item 2: An Error in Fact

Mortar Board: "If I were running that newspaper . . . undoubtedly overlooks the staggering obligations honored by The Sunflower. Within the Journalism Department's Policy Manual these responsibilities are carefully outlined. It must promote and maintain the prestige of the University and the Department of Journalism. It must also honor responsibilities to faculty, students, staff, and non-campus subscribers — businessmen and townspeople . . ."

There is, in fact, no such thing as a Journalism Department Manual. Presumably what Mortar Board was referring to was a document entitled, "The Policy Manual of the Board of Student Publications."

It was prepared by, examined by, and adopted by the Board of Student Publications, a group composed of students and faculty members from various areas of the campus. If anything, the Board's policy manual is the product of interdepartmental thinking.

This series of articles will be continued next week.

The University's Wheatshockers will try to rebound from a sound defeat suffered at the hands of St. Louis when they take on the Oklahoma City Chiefs tomorrow night.

The Shocks were virtually eliminated from the MVC title run after the sound defeat they received at the hands of the St. Louis Billikins last Saturday in St. Louis.

Gene Wiley, suffering from a pulled tendon, saw limited duty against the Bills and may be sidelined for two weeks. He is not scheduled to play against Oklahoma City University tomorrow and is a doubtful for the Cincinnati game next week.

Miller did get creditable service from forward Sam Smith at St. Louis, when the big man played the pivot and collected 19 points before fouling out.

Newcomers Dave Stallworth and Leonard Kelley got their first taste of rugged conference basketball on the road. If they profited from the journey to St. Louis, they could grow up in a hurry, according to Miller.

"When you take a look at the experience we had to use at St. Louis," he points out, "you can see the picture more clearly. With Wiley out, we have Moore, who's in reality a sophomore; Smith with only one semester of Valley play; and Stallworth and Kelley with only three games under their belts."

The Shocks will meet the OCU Chiefs in the Fieldhouse tomorrow night. The Chiefs will show four men who are averaging in double figures. The leader will be guard Larry Jones with a 21 point per game average.

Coach Gary Thompson's University Frosh will play the Ft. Hays "B" team in the 6 p.m. preliminary game.

WU Debate Teams Rehearse For Journey to Arizona U.

By DON DEWITT
Staff Reporter

University debaters are preparing for their longest second semester debate trip, the Desert Invitational Debate Tournament at the University of Arizona in Tucson.

The Tournament draws teams from all over the Southwest, including the West Coast. It begins Feb. 21 and lasts through Feb. 24.

The University will enter two teams in this tournament, according to Mel Moorhouse, debate coach, who will accompany the debaters on the trip. One team will be comprised of Judy Wallace and Meredithann Dougherty. They will be entered in the senior women's division in which the University is the defending champion. The other team will be comprised of Keith Williamson and Dennis Smith.

Besides debating both sides of the national question, "Should labor unions be under the jurisdiction of anti-trust legislation?" the four debaters will participate in oratory, extemporaneous speaking, impromptu speaking, and interpretative reading.

Last weekend the University debaters participated in the Bethany College Tournament in Oklahoma and the tournament held at Rockhurst College in Kansas City taking two second places and losing a first place tie by one point.

ROTC Queen Applications Due Feb. 23

The annual Army ROTC Sweetheart election will be held March 1.

Six girls will be selected as finalists, one of which will be chosen as the Army ROTC Queen to reign at the annual Military Ball.

Candidates must be enrolled in 12 hours and have at least a 2.000 point grade average. An 8 by 10 inch picture with the coed's name, address, phone number, class, college, and the name of the sponsoring organization, if any, should be submitted to Cadet Col. Gilbert Shockey at the ROTC Armory.

Applications should be turned in no later than next Friday.

May Day Skit Meeting Set

According to Joyce Allegro, chairman of the 1962 Hippodrome skit committee, the skit committee will have its first meeting next Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Rm. 118 of the CAC.

"It is very important that all independent and Greek organizations wishing to participate in Hippodrome with a skit, have a representative of their organization present Wednesday evening."

The name of the organizations representative must be turned in today to Marshall Williams in Rm. 213 or Rm. 228, CAC.

Staff Editorial

Friendly Give and Take

"Egghead Week" was started at 8 a.m. Monday by the distribution of a mimeographed pamphlet entitled "Mortar Board Wants You To Know." This pamphlet was, quite simply, an attack on the Sunflower staff.

We have been given to understand, in no uncertain terms, that the Mortar Board members are the intellectual leaders of the University. As such, we wonder just how they justify their pamphlet.

Why did not the Mortar Board members check their pamphlet for incorrect spelling, improper punctuation, bad grammar, and rambling sentence structure? If the Sunflower staff had distributed a Sunflower issue so poorly proofread as was this pamphlet, criticism of the staff would be amply justified.

Why did not the Mortar Board members check their pamphlet for mis-statements of fact? There are a number of statements in the pamphlet which are falsehoods, and which could have been found to be untrue by a little journalistic leg-work. If the Sunflower staff had permitted publication of a Sunflower issue with so many factual errors, criticism of its staff would again be amply justified.

Why did the Mortar Board members pick the Sunflower staff as its subject for attack? The Mortar Board members take their "poll" as proof that the Sunflower staff is biased. Perhaps they are right. But, have you personally ever read anything in the Sunflower which is more biased than is the Mortar Board pamphlet?

We of the Sunflower staff are thankful that, after choosing to attack us, the Mortar Board members did so in such inept journalistic fashion. No one acquainted with news handling could fail to see that the Mortar Board pamphlet has violated almost every principle of good journalism. If the Sunflower is improving - as we sincerely hope it is - it is evident that the improvements will not come from the present members of Mortar Board.

Press Queen Rules Listed

Press queen applications will be distributed today for the annual queen contest sponsored by the Sunflower.

"The Girl We'd Most Like to Go to Press With" is selected yearly by the Sunflower staff. The winner also represents the University at the Drake Relays Queen contest.

Deadline for submitting the applications is 5 p.m. Feb. 23, according to Editor Fran Smith. All forms, and an 8 by 10 inch photograph of the candidate, must be turned in to the Sunflower office, Rm. 005, Commons Building.

Finalists in the contest will be honored by a coffee to be held in the Provincial Room, CAC, Feb. 27. Immediately following the coffee, staff members will choose the winner.

According to Miss Smith, all sophomore, junior, and senior women are eligible to compete for the title. Candidates must have a 2.000 grade index and should be currently enrolled for at least 12 semester hours.

Winner of the title will receive special recognition in the Parnassus and Sunflower.

Applications may be picked up at Grace Wilkie Hall, sorority houses, CAC Information Booth, and the Sunflower office.

Political Clubs Host HUAC Debate

By DAVE HANKS

Abolishment of the House Un-American Activities Committee was the topic of a heated debate between members of the University Debating Society Tuesday night, before a small group of persons in the CAC East Ballroom.

The debate was sponsored jointly by the Young Republicans and Young Democrats.

The affirmative team of Bob Hunt and Dennis Smith contended that HUAC should be abolished because it violated civil liberties and served no legislative function. In his opening statement Smith said, "HUAC was created for exposure and not for the purpose of legislation." He also said the Committee

Avoidance of War

Today and tomorrow thousands of university students will converge on Washington to picket the White House and the Soviet Embassy, to lobby congressmen, and to take other measures protesting cold war policies of both the East and West.

Cooperating in this movement are the Students Peace Union, Students for Sane Nuclear Policy, and others. Among the proposals advocated by this group are: (1) non-resumption of atmospheric testing; (2) withdrawal from all missile bases-whole vulnerability to attack makes them useless except for purposes of the first attack; (3) exploration of disengagement in central Europe, and others.

Although peace should be the ultimate goal of all nations, and we must be opposed to fighting a war of any kind, it would be difficult to accept some of the things advocated by these organizations. In other words, we must not make avoidance of war our chief objective.

To prevent war we must keep our defenses in such a condition that no enemy will ever want to attack us. We cannot, therefore, accept all the proposals of peace marchers that claim to be preservers of our freedom.

From Other Campuses

Press, Politics Split By Regents' Ruling

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPS)—The executive vice-president of the University of Arizona has ruled that AU students may not hold public political meetings. Students were encouraged to discuss political issues, but must not allow the public or the press, including the student newspaper, the Wildcat, to attend such meetings.

The ruling was based on a 1956 Regents' ruling. No reason was given as to why student political meetings should not be public knowledge. But the Wildcat did not protest the ruling which violated one of the most basic rights of the press, the right to report political affairs and meetings.

Instead, next to the story on the ruling the Wildcat printed an article dealing with the awarding of a John Peter Zenger award on the campus to an outstanding journalist. The Wildcat also ran an editorial on the Zenger award, quoting the First Amendment, and going on and on about freedom of the press as a basic public right.

Discussing the Zenger case, the paper said that Zenger "contended that the people had a right to know what was going on in the government regardless of whether this news was agreeable to government officials."

The Wildcat also said "...for without freedom of the press it is nearly impossible for the others (freedoms) to exist," and concludes the editorial with "...the fight for freedom of the press, like the fight for liberty, is never ending."

Bookstore Boycott Urged at Columbia

NEW YORK, N.Y. (UPS)—The students at Columbia want a cooperative bookstore, for, as an ad hoc committee put it, "correction of bookstore inefficiency and high prices" could come only within the framework of a student-run cooperative. The committee maintained that students could spark money-saving management of the store.

At the ad hoc meeting which was attended by 20 persons, it was also stated that increased volume of business and membership fees would bring in revenue adequate to pro-

--- As An Outsider ---

By RON SMITH
Sunflower Columnist

I used to think that I was fairly adaptable to any situation. Give me ten or fifteen minutes to get fully awake and I could make the best of finding myself in my pajamas in the midst of the Union Station or stranded on a mountain peak in the Himalayas. But there is one situation that I am just not able to cope with. That is the plague of playing bridge.

There was a time when I could go to a party and sip along on a "scotch-and-bourbon," now and then leer at the ladies, occasionally engage in some gay repartee, and in general soak up as much affable boredom as a Kiwanis meeting.

But slowly and assiduously, the menace of card-playing crept in. Some sweet young thing was always saying "If we had a fourth we could play bridge" and the rush was on. Amidst the general clatter and confusion of getting the tables and cards, I was left alone by myself, whimpering softly into the dull night.

That's why I started playing bridge. There, I said it. Last year, I wrote in this space about some of my weaknesses of the game. I regret to say that these still hold true. I am at the party to enjoy myself. It's their fault. They wouldn't believe me when I told them I hated bridge.

"Oh come on...don't be such a spoil sport," they would say.

And so I would join in their merriment. It is my luck that I always get teamed up with three players who go about the game with the earnestness of a brain surgeon in emergency surgery. I, in my merry way, believe that everyone is like me, and with gay abandon discard anything that comes to mind.

This habit of mine was brought into clear focus last Saturday night. I had been invited to a party and went with the hope of getting lots of good talking done. As soon as I got there, we began playing bridge.

Feeling rather jovial, I bid three hearts. (Exactly the number I had in my hand) He pounced on this bid with great glee and upped it to four. Well, you should have seen the general merriment and confusion when it was discovered that I had the 4, 5, and 7.

I heard my partner muttering something about hanging being too good as they carried him off. Then I was teamed up with a pretty little blonde thing who was cunning and sly. I have a certain vagueness in my mind as to the names of cards and at times get "spades" and "clubs" confused. Well, to make a short story long, my top three spades were clubs. It was then that I began getting suggestions like "Wouldn't you like to play with some blocks?" or "Why don't you listen to music?" or other suggestions like that.

And so with all the savoir-faire I could muster, I smiled, excused myself from the table and fell into a door. After the guests had left I found myself alone there with just a few friends. We decided that we would not play cards again at parties. We banded together and have formed a little club and are looking for new members. We are starting out slowly but have plans for burning cards and have already lined up some crosses.

If you would like to join, send $830 in stamps to the "Society for Preservation of Sanity among Party Goers of America."

We may be few in number but we are strong in purpose. But egad...look how many bridge players there are.

Well, it beginning to look a lot like just another season for the round ball team. The Shocks were virtually eliminated from any title competition last Saturday night in St. Louis.

As we predicted last week, the Bills were going to beat one of the contenders in Kiel Auditorium and they sure did. The Shockers had to play there following the Bills off-night against Cincinnati. John Bennington's Billikins had a dismal night from the field against the Bearcats and they made up for it against the Shocks.

The Billikins came very close to dumping the Cincinnatians last Tuesday night. They came to within two points of the Cats with four minutes left and then relaxed and blew their chance. The Bills only hit 22 per cent from the field against Cincinnati and this tells a story in itself. Had the Bills hit a little better from the field, they would have taken the Bearcats as easily as they did the Shockers.

Another fact that was painfully evident in the Shocks game last Saturday night was that you can't stay in contention in the MVC with an inexperienced team. Three of the starting five for WU had never played in Kiel before and a fourth had only played there once.

Kelley, Stallworth, and Smith are still in their first campaign in the MVC and, in reality, Moore is only a sophomore in Valley competition. This was pointed up by Coach Ralph Miller as a major factor in the Shocks troubles at St. Louis.

It was learned today that Gene Wiley may miss the next two or three games due to his ankle injury suffered in the North Texas State ball game. This will undoubtedly have a great effect on the force available to the Shockers. With the exit of Van Eman, Wiley is the mainstay of the Shocks rebounding and defensive punch.

TENNIS OUTLOOK FOGGY

The varsity tennis picture for the 1962 season is somewhat cloudy at this time. The Shockers are going to have to play with only a four-man team this year. It will be lead by Neal Rousch, but from there on the picture is unclear.

With only four men in competition it will put a great deal of pressure on WU to pull out of the season with a positive record. Chester Anderson and Steve McKee are two boys who are likely to compete for the team. Coach Jack Lynch, who also serves as head of sports publicity, is depending heavily on a JuCo transfer from California.

BASEBALL, IS IT DYING?

Just after the University's announcement that it would discontinue the baseball program, another WU alumni was signed to a major league contract. Lanny Van Eman, the basketball and baseball ace, was lured into the New York Yankee fold with a sizeable bonus. He follows several men who have played ball for WU into the professional baseball game. It seems ironic, then that the University would drop a program which produced so well while in existence. Undoubtedly, the major reason for the decision was a lack of funds. Yet, we feel that the program should have been continued if at all possible. Any program that produces Don Lock, Gayle Bryant, Mike Blue, and Lanny Van Eman certainly merits more than a passing interest from the athletic policy committee.

While on the subject of "the national pastime," we would like to comment on the recent Hall Of Fame selections. Bob Feller and Jackie Robinson were named to the honor recently by the baseball writers association.

SEIGLE DESTROYS MYTH

Although it may appear out of our line, we would like to take a moment to congratulate Bill Seigle on being named a Senior Honor Man. He may be the most deserving of the lot when you consider the extent of his activities as a college student. Besides performing excellently as a varsity football player for three years, he has held many offices in student organizations and has managed to maintain better than a 3.75 grade average.

This certainly explodes the myth held by many that all football players must, by necessity, be lacking in the brain power to perform well academically.

A grateful tip of our hat to Bill Seigle for a fine four years at WU.

'Best Team in WU's History' Possibility for Frosh Shocks

With three games remaining in the season, the University freshman basketball team vies for the chance of becoming one of the best frosh teams in the school's history. The junior Shockers have racked up a mighty score with Tulsa being their only defeat.

This Saturday night, the yearlings host the Fort Hays State "B" team, a club the Wichita team walloped 123-60 in Ft. Hays Dec. 15. March 1, the frosh will meet Independence Junior College and on March 3, Tulsa's freshmen make their annual appearance as a preliminary to the varsity meeting of the two schools.

Lose To Tulsa

Tulsa is the only team to have beaten the junior Shockers this year, defeating them 98-92 at Tulsa. The game should be a good one, as coach Gary Thompson's quintet will be out for revenge.

Going into Saturday night's clash with Fort Hays, the WU frosh are carrying a good 9-1 record on the year, including a close 78-77 decision over strong Parsons JuCo and a 94-89 victory over the Boeing Bombers, one of the state's top ranking AAU teams.

The freshmen have averaged 93.6 points per contest while holding opposition to a 71 point mean, and they are hitting .507 of their field shots, as compared to .386 by opponents.

Stallworth Departs

With the departure of high-scoring David Stallworth to the varsity ranks, 6-9 center Nate Bowman is now leading the team with a 16.4 scoring average. David Leach a 6-4 205 all-state guard from McPherson, is second with a 12.2 mark.

Tony Morroco, 5-11, 164-pound guard product of Trafford, Pa. is the other freshman in double figures in the scoring column with an average of 11.2 points per game.

Bowman, a 199-pound prospect from Kirkpatrick High School in Ft. Worth, Tex., has pulled down 129 rebounds or a 12.9 average to easily top this department. Most observers feel that he is the best freshman center ever at the Shockers school. He also leads the team in field goal percentage with a fine .553 mark.

Other Standouts

Other frosh playing well this season have been Jerry Faison, a 6-5, 190-pounder from W. Palm Beach, Fla.; Terry Dunn, 6-0, 170-pound guard from Weston, Mass; and John Barnard, 5-11, 166-pound guard from Hopewell, Va. Faison is currently averaging 8.8 points per game and hitting at a .545 clip from the field.

Dunn has averaged 6.8 points per contest. Barnard has come strong in the last five games for Thompson's crew, averaging only 1.8 points per game, but playing a very good floor game.

THE TRUE AND TRAGICAL TALE OF HAPPY JACK SIGAFOOS

Who would have thought that Happy Jack Sigafoos, the boy the sky never rained on, would teeter on the edge of a life of crime?

Certainly there was no sign of it in his boyhood. His home life was tranquil and uplifting. His mother was a nice fat lady who hummed a lot and gave baskets to the poor. His father was a respected citizen who could imitate more than 400 bird calls and once saved an elderly widow from drowning in his good suit. (That is, Mr. Sigafoos was in his good suit; the elderly widow was in swimming trunks.) Happy Jack's life was nothing short of idyllic—till he went off to college.

Here Happy Jack quickly became a typical freshman—tweedy, seedy, and needy. He learned the joys of rounding out his personality, and he learned the cost. His allowance vanished like dew before the morning sun. There were times, it grieves me to report, when he didn't even have enough money for a pack of Marlboro Cigarettes—and you know how miserable that can be! To be deprived of Marlboro's matchless flavor, its easy-drawing filter, its subtly blended tastiness, its refreshing mildness, its ineffable excellence, its soft pack or flip-top box—why, it is a prospect to break the heart in twain!

Marlboro-less and miserable, Happy Jack tried to get more money from home. He wrote long, impassioned letters, pointing out that the modern, large-capacity girl simply could not be courted on his meager allowance. But all Jack got back from home were tiresome homilies about thrift and prudence.

Then one dark day a sinister sophomore came up to Jack and said, "For one dollar I will sell you a list of fiendishly clever lies to tell your father when you need some extra money."

He gave Jack the list of fiendishly clever lies. Jack read:

1. A bunch of us fellows are getting together to buy a new house for the Dean of Men.
2. A bunch of us fellows are getting together to buy a headstone for Rover, our late beloved dormitory watchdog.
3. A bunch of us fellows are getting together to endow a chair of Etruscan Art.
4. A bunch of us fellows are getting together to build our own particle accelerator.

For a moment poor Jack was tempted; surely his father could not but support all these laudable causes. Then Jack's good upbringing came to the fore. He turned to the sinister sophomore and said, "No, thank you. I could not deceive my aged parent so. And as for you, sir, I can only say—fie!"

Upon hearing this the sinister sophomore broke into a huge grin. He whipped off his black hat and pasty face—and who do you think it was? None other than Mr. Sigafoos, Happy Jack's father, that's who!

"Good lad!" cried Mr. Sigafoos. "You have passed your test brilliantly." With that he gave Happy Jack a half million dollars in small bills and a red convertible containing power steering and four nubile maidens.

Women Surpass Men in First Semester Grades

Top slots were taken by the University women, outdoing the men again last semester, grade-wise.

All University women's average for first semester 1961-62 was the grade index of 2.595. All University men's average for the same semester was 2.120. According to Worth A. Fletcher, Registrar, the All University average for both men and women was 2.263.

Of the fraternities and sororities on campus, Beta Theta Pi and Delta Gamma ranked highest in grades for the second year straight.

Beta's compiled the top men's average of 2.524. Delta Gamma had the top women's average with the grade index of 2.858, closely followed by the Tri Delt's with 2.826.

The scholastic standing of the sororities and fraternities is compiled by taking the total number of hours carried by the chapter members and dividing into the total number of credit points which they earned for the semester.

The sorority and fraternity averages for last semester were:

	Hours	Index
Alpha Chi Omega	797	2.665
Alpha Phi	806	2.561
Delta Delta Delta	834	2.826
Delta Gamma	852	2.858

'Help' Campaign Set by SGA

Next week the SGA Interfest Committee will launch an "enlistment week" campaign as they set out to increase the committee's membership, according to Woody Thompson, SGA president.

During this time Woody Thompson, Bana Kartasasmita, and Sara Jane Pearman will visit the dorms and Greek houses to explain the purpose of the International Festival to be held April 6 and 7, and how the students can help and participate.

Also a booth will be placed in the main hall of the CAC, where students may sign up to work on the construction of the American booth, the Art Exhibit, or work during the Festival itself, Thompson said.

Bridge Enrollment To Cease Tonight

Tonight is the last chance for students to enroll in bridge lessons offered by the CAC.

Students who are interested may come to the first lesson tonight at 7:30 in Conference Area 3 of the CAC without cost or obligation.

Chess Club Formed

CAC Chess Club will meet tonight for the first time at 7:30 in Conference Area 2 of the CAC. The club is open to any student or faculty member interested in chess. There is no charge.

vide discounts. The committee anticipated widespread support for a bookstore boycott (if called for the beginning of next term when, as one student put it, "the issue will be hot") which would be used only as a last resort to enforce demands for a cooperative.

A spokesman for the group contended that despite small-scale reforms over the years, the fundamental problems of the bookstore had not been grappled with by the Student-Faculty Bookstore Committee. The Committee will direct its efforts at the Student-Faculty Committee which can recommend to the Trustees that a co-op be instituted.

WU Presents 3 TV Shows Here Sunday

Folk music dealing with social reform will be sung by Joan O'Bryant, Larry Kiefer, and five choral singers on "Ideas in Action," at noon Sunday on KARD-TV. Title of the production is "Songs of Protest."

Miss O'Bryant, assistant professor of English and renowned authority on folklore, aided by Kiefer, former University student and now professional folk singer, will pattern the program around the theme of unrest to show how songs have been used to agitate social protest and change, according to Richard Meyer, director of educational television.

Two other shows, presented by the University television department, "Music Time" and "The Art of Investing" will be shown on Sunday at 12:30 and 1 p.m. on KARD-TV, according to Meyer.

"Music Time" features the University Brass choir under the direction of Irving Sarin, instructor of trumpet, and Arthur Newman, baritone. Dr. Leo Kreter and Dr. Joshua Missal will present excerpts from two of their original creations which commanded a world premier.

"The Art of Investing" will explain "Why Stock Prices Change," moderated by Dr. L. Curtis Wood, professor of administration and college business. Two local stock brokers will be on hand to aid in the discussion.

was un-constitutional. Mike Russell of the negative team said that HUAC did serve a legislative purpose. He said 35 laws were on record that had been legislated by the Committee. Judy Wallace, also on the negative team, said if HUAC wasn't serving a legislative function, neither was the House itself because it approved of HUAC's action and legislation.

In the rebuttal period the negative team said the fact that the Supreme Court had twice upheld the constitutionality of HUAC proved that it was constitutional. They also said that HUAC didn't abuse its power as the opposition had proposed.

The affirmative team charged in the rebuttal period that "HUAC has set itself up as judge and jury," and it has the power to enact violations of civil liberties. They demanded the abolishment of the Committee.

New low-cost luxury in two just-out Chevy II Nova sedans

• Luxury and low cost have never been more beautifully blended than in these two newest additions to the Chevy II line! Like their running mates—the Nova 400 Sport Coupe, Convertible and Station Wagon—they have the same more-for-your-money features that have made Chevy II the winner of Car Life magazine's Engineering Excellence Award for 1962. Soft-riding new Mono-Plate rear springs, proved in the equivalent of 2,000,000-plus test miles. Thrifty 6-cylinder engine that gets more "git" out of a gallon of regular. Body by Fisher roominess that fits big families and small parking places. An easy loading vacation-sized trunk. New ideas that save on upkeep. Plus trim, tasteful styling, inside and out. See the sporty, sassy, saving Chevy II Novas—and the other sensibly sized, sensibly priced Chevy II models—at your Chevrolet dealer's.
