Forms Due Today For Sunflower Jobs

Today is the deadline for application for a position on the Sunflower for next semester.

All students interested in writing are urged to fill an application and bring it to the Journalism office. Applications are available in the Journalism office and at the information desk in the CAC today.

It is not necessary to have a major or minor in journalism, to be enrolled in a journalism course, or to have experience. There are positions on the staff for which no experience is necessary. However, for the higher positions, some experience would be helpful, according to Don DeWitt, editor-in-chief.

Positions open include those of editor-in-chief, managing editor, business manager, news editors,

"Reporting is a good way to become acquainted with the campus, the students, faculty, and staff," according to Doris Mortimer, managing editor.

Many of the positions offer a salary. Although reporting does not offer a salary, it leads to positions that are paying ones. The top editorial positions, editor-in-chief and managing editor, receive a substantial stipend in addition to a regular salary.

"All students are urged to apply for Sunflower positions and help make the campus newspaper more representative of campus life," Miss Mortimer added.

The Student Publications Board will review the applications, and new staff members for the coming semester will be announced after the Christmas vacation.

$500 Award Given Student By Murdock

Donald L. Anderson, business administration junior, has received the first Marcellus M. Murdock award, according to Fran D. Jabara, head of the accounting department.

A grant of $500, the Murdock Award is awarded to a student in the college of business administration by Marcellus M. Murdock, president and chairman of the board of The Wichita Eagle and The Wichita Beacon.

The award was presented to Anderson by Mr. Murdock Tuesday in the CAC. Jabara and other faculty members attended the presentation. Anderson expects to graduate from the University in January of 1965.

Anderson was chosen by a committee because as the committee stated, "he is a student who has shown by his own endeavor that he has set a goal for himself and is struggling to achieve it."

Chapel to Open In January

Final stages in the construction of the Harvey D. Grace Memorial Chapel should be completed by the forepart of January, according to Glen E. Gardner, University vice-president.

The contractor's original tentative estimate of the completion of the chapel was set at Christmas vacation, but delays such as the late arrival of steel for the roof has extended this time until after the first of the year.

Installation of the stained glass, about the last phase in the construction of the building, is scheduled to begin Dec. 30, but the outside concrete pouring will also have to be completed. The pouring of the sidewalks may be held up by the weather Mr. Gardner stated.

SGA to Promote Drive For JFK Scholarship

Consideration of the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Memorial Scholarship topped a busy meeting for the Student Government Association Tuesday evening.

Dr. David Herman and Dr. Robert Teare, who are helping organize efforts for the scholarship, appeared before the congress and gave them the background on the scholarship which will be established at the University.

It will be given to promising negro graduates of Wichita high schools who would not ordinarily be able to attend college, according to Dr. Herman.

The drive to raise funds for the scholarship is city wide and Dr. Teare said that response on the whole towards the scholarship has been quite warm.

Following discussion of the subject Dave Crockett, sophomore class president, put the following resolution before the SGA: "1. The SGA endorses the JFK Memorial Fund."

"2. The means of action to be taken to support this endorsement are (a) a token allocation shall be presented from the SGA as a representative body of the University or (b) personal contributions of individual members shall be given (c) a committee be formed to organize a campus drive to contribute to the JFK Memorial Scholarship Fund."

It was approved by the congress and agreed upon to allocate $75 to the fund. Nancy Anderson was appointed to head the committee.

In other business before the congress the possibility of adopting new school songs was discussed.

Most members were reluctant to consider abandoning the old songs, but some felt that new ones could be added. A committee was appointed to look into it.

Also each member was given a copy of the Missouri Valley Compact which will be discussed at the next meeting.

The Missouri Valley Compact was drafted by the student government of North Texas State and involves the exchange of talent and ideas from the campuses of the Missouri Valley Conference schools, in addition to a meeting to discuss the problems of the conference schools.

Jeff Brooks, Fine Arts sophomore, was selected by SGA President Dave Leach, and approved by congress to fill the vacancy of art representative.

Debate Team Places 2nd In Southwestern Tournament

Bob Hunt and Bob Glenn took second place in the senior debate division at the Southwestern College Debate Tournament in Winfield last weekend.

Hunt and Glenn won eight straight debates before losing to Washburn in the finals. They defeated the University of Southern California, Emporia, Abilene Christian, Midland, Kansas State, Pittsburgh, University of Oklahoma, and Abilene Christian's Team II.

The junior team of Bill Balthrop and Bob Smith won five of their six debates. They defeated the University of Colorado, University of Nebraska, Loyola of Los Angeles, Fort Scott Junior College, and Fort Hays. They also lost to Washburn.

In the individual events, Sandy Swanson qualified for the finals in oratory, Bob Smith, in poetry reading, and Bob Hunt in extemporaneous speaking.

The Debate Team will venture to Redlands, Calif., next weekend for the University of Redlands Invitational Debate Tournament.

"This is one of the better West Coast tournaments," stated Bobby Patton, debate coach.

Foreign Students Tell of Christmas Customs

By WILLIS JACKSON, Staff Reporter

Christmas is an international holiday for all people who profess the belief of Christianity. Several foreign students explained the manner in which the Christians of their countries celebrated this holiday.

Al Raisdana, engineering senior, and Manoucher Amin-Madani, liberal arts sophomore, both of Iran, stated that a majority of their country is of the Moslem religion.

The Christians celebrate Christmas the same as it is celebrated over the world, according to Amin-Madani. He added that the Christian students are given no official holiday vacation, but are given special permission to be dismissed from school during this period.

"We will have our own New Year holiday on March 21. That is the day that all Iranians will celebrate. Since we are celebrating our New Year here, we hope at that time you will help us celebrate the Iranian New Year, which is going to be announced by the International Club," said Raisdana.

Ramesh Chandna, graduate student, and Amar N. Gugnani, engineering senior, both of India, said that the Christians of their country also celebrate Christmas much in the same way as other Christians.

"In the colleges and especially in the lower education school system, all the religions exchange presents, but the families do not," Chandna added.

Johnny Mackay, sophomore from Canada, said that in his country they celebrate Christmas on the Eve of the holiday. They exchange gifts and then visit their friends, and end the Eve with the midnight

Sigma Delta Pi To Initiate New Members

Nine new members will be initiated today by the University chapter of Sigma Delta Pi, the Spanish national honorary society, according to Dr. Eugene Savaiano, head of the Spanish department.

New members to be initiated are Carol Dewey, Karen Hanks, Ray Jones, John Koppenhaver, Alberta Otto, Byron Palls, Mary Phares, Paige Stackley, and Douglas Williams.

Eligibility for membership in Sigma Delta Pi requires a student to be a Spanish major or minor with an overall grade point index of 2.65 with a 3.25 in all Spanish courses taken. In addition, the student must have taken at least one upper division Spanish literature course.

After the initiation ceremony, all the members will attend a Mexican dinner at a local restaurant. After the dinner, Dr. and Mrs. Savaiano will entertain the members in their home.

Forget Not

Tomorrow marks the beginning of a two-week holiday from classes. We sincerely hope that you have a merry Christmas and that the approaching new year will be a prosperous one for you.

The Christmas holidays are usually marked with gift-giving and merriment. It is a time to relax and enjoy the company of family and friends and a chance to catch up on last minute studying as finals approach.

But in the attempt to finish the last-minute shopping and get a few cards mailed, we sometimes tend to forget the real significance of this most holy holiday.

Let each of us take time to give thanks for our many blessings which we have received throughout the year.

Around the Campus

Chess Club to Meet

The chess club will meet at 7 p.m. tonight in the basement of the CAC, according to Marshall Williams, assistant director of the CAC.

It will not meet on Dec. 27 or Jan. 7, but will resume regular meetings after Christmas vacation.

Faculty Christmas Party

A Christmas party for University faculty, staff, and friends will be held by the Men's Faculty Club at 5 p.m. today in the Community Theater Workshop, 258 N. Fountain, according to Dr. Martin Reif, assistant professor of history.

The party is designed to raise contributions in the name of the University faculty for the John F. Kennedy Scholarship Fund. The entire net proceeds will be turned over to the fund. Prices for the contributions will be $3 per couple.

KMUW Yule Programming

Beginning at 2 p.m. today and continuing until sign off, KMUW,

University radio station, will broadcast "The Sounds of Christmas."

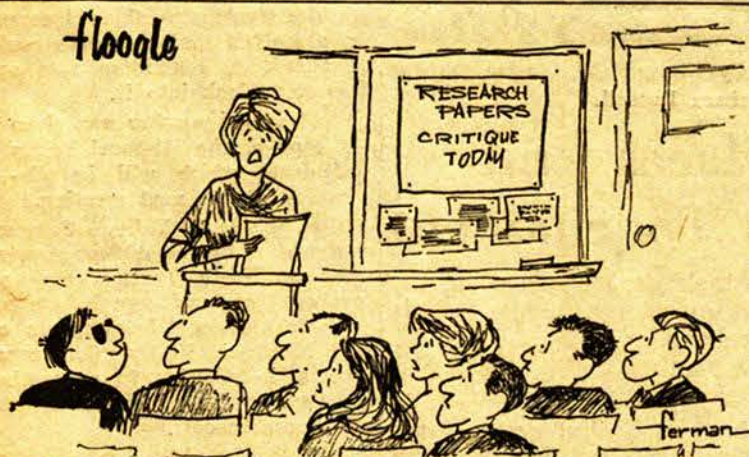

The programming, done by students of the University, will include Christmas songs and stories. At sign off the station will cease broadcasting until classes resume in January so the staff of KMUW may enjoy the Christmas vacation.

Business Frat Dance

The members of Alpha Kappa Psi and their dates will meet for their annual Christmas dance tonight. The dance will be held at the Beefeater Inn. The members will meet at 7 p.m. and dinner will be served at 8 p.m. Dancing will follow the meal, according to Dan Latta, publicity director.

No Flick Tonight

The weekly scheduled two-bit flick will not be held this Friday night because of Christmas vacation. When classes resume on Jan. 6 the films will resume their regular schedule.

...and by far the most UNUSUAL paper turned in was Floogle's on "Freudian Symbolism in Cinderella."

Ed-TV Christmas Program To Feature Faculty Members

University faculty members and their families will join in an old-fashioned Christmas gathering at noon Sunday on KARD-TV, Channel 3.

This special one-hour "Christmas Mosaic" will be hosted by Dr. Walter Merrill, chairman of the English department.

Joining Dr. Merrill for this Christmas in music, art, and literature will be Dr. Martin F. Palmer, director of the Institute of Logopedics; Dr. Lowell Holmes, associate professor of anthropology, and his wife; Dr. James Ruoff, professor of English; and Dr. Paul Tasch, professor of geology.

Also included in the program will be the voices of the University Madrigal Singers. Among the seasonal favorites that will be presented are "Angels We Have Heard on High," "O Nata Lux de Lumine," "The Coventry Carol," and "Caroling, Caroling."

Christmas music will be presented by faculty artists Arthur Newman and Beatrice Sanford Pease of the School of Music.

Another program slated for educational television this weekend will be the second in the series of "The Face of Sweden." It will be seen at 10 a.m. Sunday.

The topic, "The Just Society," will be discussed. It is a survey of Sweden's legal system. The Swedes believe that the work of penologists is rehabilitation, not punishment.

Appearing on the program will be Alfred Bexelius, ombudsman (or procurator) of civil rights, the special Swedish official who investigated all cases where civil rights may have been violated.

Also, commenting on Sweden's attitudes toward the prevention of crime are Ulla Bergkvist, psychiatrist and head of the youth care center at Rostuna, and Torsten Eriksson, director general of Swedish prisons and well-known penologist.

Two Red Cross films, "Disaster and You" and "Tornado Disaster Action" will be shown on "Protecting the Family" series at 8 a.m. tomorrow.

"Disaster and You" presents a detailed firsthand account of the three phases of Red Cross disaster operations, preparedness, emergency relief during the disaster, and long-range assistance after the emergency.

"Tornado Disaster Action" shows actual tornado scenes and vividly demonstrates what can be done to help protect lives and personal property when official tornado warnings are issued.

"Israel is the supposed cradle of Christendom," stated Asaph Raznik, business administration junior from Israel.

He further stated that the best known events are the ceremonies on Mount Zion and the services at the Dormition Church.

He added that the Christians of Israel have an arrangement by which they are permitted to cross the border when going on their journey to Bethlehem. Afterwards the border is closed because of the conflict they are having with the Arabian Republic.

Shockers to Face Buckeyes In Afternoon Tilt Tomorrow

The University of Wichita basketball Shockers will play their second game against Big 10 competition this season when they face the Buckeyes of Ohio State tomorrow afternoon in Columbus, Ohio.

Coach Fred Taylor's squad, rated highly in pre-season and early season polls, has had its troubles in the last few days. The Buckeyes were surprised by Davidson on Dec. 11 and then lost for the second straight time to Missouri on Dec. 13. Ohio State has not played since that game and should be well rested for the WU game.

All-American center Gary Bradds is again leading the defending Big 10 champions attack this season. The 6-foot-8 senior succeeded Jerry Lucas last season and responded with a 28 points per game average and 12 rebounds per game. He also gained a berth on the U. S. Pan-American Games team.

Shocker pivotman Nate Bowman did a great defensive job on Bradds last year in the Fieldhouse when Wichita crushed the Buckeyes 71-54. WU coach Ralph Miller is hoping that Bowman can do equally as well against Bradds tomorrow.

Miller was very pleased with the balanced attack he got from his starting five against Texas last Monday night. Dave Stallworth led the parade with 16 points followed by Len Kelley with 14, Dave Leach and Kelly Pete with 12 each and Bowman with 10.

If the Shockers can get by Ohio State they will be in good shape for the All-College tournament that begins in Oklahoma City on Dec. 26. WU is the top seeded club in this the oldest of holiday basketball tournaments. Other teams entered include Wyoming, Houston, Texas A & M, Washington, Idaho, Montana State, and the host Oklahoma City University Chiefs.

This could be one of the strongest group of entries in recent years. Wichita found that Wyoming with its big sophomore center Leon Clark can be real tough. The Shockers opened their season with an 82-67 win over the Laramie team.

Oklahoma City has one of the tallest teams in the nation and also one of the best players in Bud Koper. The 6-foot-5 forward-guard was selected on several pre-season All-America teams on the basis of his outstanding performance last season when he averaged 22.8 points per contest.

Wyoming defeated this talented squad 96-90 at Laramie but the Chiefs came back to down a strong University of San Francisco team a week later. Houston and Washington both have good ball clubs with the Cougars holding a victory over North Texas State and Washington over Texas Western, a team that edged WU 75-74.

The Shockers will return home on Jan. 4 to face their second conference foe of the season. The Drake Bulldogs will provide the opposition and with returning starters McCoy McLeomore, Billy Foster, and Larry Prins, should provide a threat.

CAC, Library Vacation Hours

The Campus Activities Center and its facilities will be open over the Christmas vacation, but at irregular hours.

The CAC will be open from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Dec. 23. Snack bar hours for this day are from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.; the book store from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; and the recreation area from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The entire building will be closed Dec. 24 and 25.

On Dec. 26 and 27 the hours will be the same as for Dec. 23 except for the recreation area which will be closed. Dec. 30 and 31 hours will be the same as on Dec. 23.

The CAC will be closed on New Year's Day and also Jan. 4 and 5. However it will be open Jan. 2 and 3 with the same hours as on Dec. 23. Regular hours will resume on Jan. 6.

Library hours for the Christmas vacation will be: Dec. 21, 9 a.m.

to 1 p.m.; Dec. 22, closed; Dec. 23, 26 and 27, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Dec. 24 and 25, closed; Dec. 28, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Dec. 29, closed; Dec. 30, 31 and Jan. 2 and 3, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Jan. 1, closed; Jan. 4, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.; and Jan. 5 resume regular hours.

Sporting Noise

By TED RINEBARGER, Sports Editor

During the weeks and days preceding Sat., Nov. 30, 1963, there was much talk about how great our basketball team would be this season.

National magazines and pre-season polls listed the Shockers as members of the elite of college basketball.

Then came Nov. 30th and 10,235 fans saw their Shockers overcome a halftime deficit to defeat Wyoming 82-67. WU was not overly impressive in victory but after all this is a young team, a first game, and we did win.

On the following Monday our fifth rated Shockers were hard pressed to defeat an eager Colorado squad 71-61. Some began to doubt our elite status.

Wednesday came "Bad News." He scored 32 points and his Texas Western teammates shocked the Shockers 75-74. New faces joined the doubters, Texas Western was unranked, and we did lose.

In losing to Arizona State 93-87, the Shockers lost more followers. But a few saw that in losing to the Sun Devils WU showed a great deal more poise and promise.

When the Shockers defeated Bradley 56-50 last week, still others were disappointed. These were the people who had bet against WU. Coach Miller's ball club was finally beginning to show the type play that was expected by pre-season believers. Against Texas on Monday night, WU played like the talented team that it is.

Although the Shockers have dropped out of the polls and have made the sports magazines look bad, do not despair. Remember, Nate dunked two against Texas, five starters were in double figures, Kelly Pete is looking more and more like an all-conference guard...then there's Dave.

New Grammar Course Offered on WU Campus

A course in descriptive grammar which identifies classes of words according to their use is being taught here this semester.

The English department, in keeping with the demands of progressive education, has incorporated the new grammar into their program. It is required by the School of Education of those students who plan to teach English.

At the University of Portland, Portland, Ore., the course is called "Advanced Exposition," according to the Intercollegiate Press release in Tuesday's Sunflower. Here it is English 315 or "Structure of English."

Whatever it is called, this new grammar allows for more flexible descriptions of words than do the traditional definitions.

"One advantage of a structural grammar is that it provides a more realistic and consistent description of language, classifying words, phrases, and clauses on the basis of specific characteristics like word endings and positions in sentences," said Miss Helen Throckmorton, assistant professor of English and instructor of the course. "It also considers the sounds of the language helping to characterize sentence patterns."

Nonsense sentences are occasionally used to keep students from relying on the meaning of words for classification. "The glinkiest troves gyred and gimble," is a sample of what the structural grammar student might encounter.

The course includes a review of traditional grammar and an introduction of structural grammar. Students are finding it a challenge to their imaginations as well as their intellects.

Higher Education Conference Attended by 4 SGA Members

The "Conference on Higher Education in Kansas," attended by four members of the University's Student Government Association, was held at the University of Kansas last week.

The conference was attended and conducted by representatives of the student governing bodies of KU, Ft. Hays, Emporia, and Pittsburg State Teachers College, Kansas State University, and the University of Kansas, in addition to the University students, Dave Crockett, Mary Ann Hopper, Linda Ewalt, and Dan Tontz.

Economics Head Speaks

James Surface, a member of the KU economics department, spoke to the group on the economic history and future of Kansas. He emphasized the necessity of Kansas college and university graduates staying in Kansas after their graduation to help the economy.

Governor John Anderson and Henry Bubb, chairman of the State Board of Regents, were guest speakers at a luncheon. Bubb proposed a half-cent sales tax increase to be used for education.

Constitution Drawn

The representatives then broke into three groups. One group drew up a constitution of informal rules of the conference and rules which would perpetuate the conference annually. They also named the conference the "Conference on Higher Education in Kansas." Next year's conference will be held on the campus of Kansas State University with the K-State student government handling the organizational details.

A second group drafted resolutions: 1) endorsing the half-cent sales tax increase proposed by Bubb, and 2) urging the state of Kansas to increase their promotional campaign to secure jobs for Kansas college and university graduates in Kansas and to inform Kansas graduates of the benefits to be found in Kansas.

Problems Considered

The third group considered the problems of student government, including the allocations which the student governments receive, the activities which they govern, and the powers which should be given to student governments.

Associate Dean Heller, of the KU political science department, spoke to the delegates on the benefits of Kansas colleges and universities as opposed to the benefits of the "ivy-league prestige schools."

Lindquist Joins Panel

The presidents of the state schools, President Lindquist of the University, and Chancellor Clarke Wescoe of the University of Kansas participated in a panel discussion to conclude the one-day conference.

"I think that this conference was very worthwhile. However, I believe that it could be improved if it were made a two-day conference, perhaps including workshops on the second day in which delegates could discuss individual student government problems," commented Dave Crockett, sophomore class president and Sunflower representative.

Dan Tontz, vice-president of SGA, delivered a report on the conference before the Student Government Association congressmen at their regularly scheduled meeting Tuesday night.
