Dinner to Honor Faculty, Staff Set

A Recognition Day Dinner, for the conferring of honors on faculty and staff, will be held at 6:30 tonight at the Civic Playhouse.

Guests receiving special recognition will include Miss Margaret Walker, assistant professor of English; Eugene Spangler, director of theatre services; Dr. Ross Taylor, head of the American civilization department; Mrs. Clara Wuertz, instructor and reference librarian; and all present and past members of the University's Board of Regents.

Miss Walker, who has been with the English department since 1947 and has instructed close to 2,000 students will retire this year. After many years of service, she plans to relax and possibly do some traveling.

Mrs. Wuertz, Taylor, and Spangler will be accepted into the exclusive society of "Bender of the Twig," a special honor reserved for those who have served on the faculty and staff for 25 years.

President Emory Lindquist will preside over the dinner and the program.

A skit entitled "This is the Year That Was" will be presented by members of the faculty and staff under the direction of Mary Jane Teall.

Ed-TV Prof Has Article In 'Journal'

Director of Educational Television Richard J. Meyer has had his article entitled "The Adaptation of Brecht's Epic Theatre for Television" published in the May-June issue of "NAEB Journal."

The article discusses the world television premier of Mreht's "The Exception and the Rule" that was broadcast over the Kansas State Network last season.

Educational Television will present the second program of its recently inaugurated non-credit series "This World of Credit" at 8 a.m. over KARD-TV tomorrow.

This program, entitled "Buying on Open Charge," will describe the retail open charge account system including the early use of this type of credit and how it can be abused.

Interested persons can enroll in this course by sending their names and addresses and a $4 enrollment fee to the Division of Continuing Education. The enrollment fee includes the price of the specially selected textbook and study guide.

The program "France and Russia," from the series "Magic Lantern to The Stars," will be seen at 10 a.m. Sunday over KARD-TV. This program was cancelled previously due to technical difficulties.

Narrated by James Card, curator of films at the George Eastman House of Photography, the program deals with the films of France and Russia, including impressionism and dynamic editing as particular contributions to film art.

Operation Alphabet will appear again, 6:45 to 7:15 a.m. Monday through Friday over KTVH-TV, in the coming week.

Reel Time Shows 'Friendship 7' Film

Reel Time will present "Friendship 7" and "Ireland in Spring," beginning at 11:30 a.m. May 27 in the Audio-visual Center in the North basement area of Morrison Hall.

"Ireland in Spring" is a 27 minute color film which invites the students to Ireland and also shows Irish customs, traditions, their way of life, and scenes of Dublin.

"Friendship 7" is a one hour film and will begin at noon. This film covers the time of take-off through to the pickup of the historical flight of Astronaut John Glenn.

"Friendship 7" is the complete official record of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration of the three orbit mission.

All interested persons are urged to attend this free admission activity.

Library to Be Open Later on Sunday

Ablah Library will be open from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday, according to Downing P. O'Harra, librarian.

The extended hours on Sunday are to facilitate studying for finals. Regular hours will be observed through the rest of the week.

The regular library hours will be observed during finals week, according to O'Harra.

New Sunflower Staff Named at Banquet

Sunflower staff members for next year were named and numerous awards were given at the 18th annual Journalism Awards Banquet held Wednesday evening in the CAC.

Mrs. Nancy Harris, Liberal Arts senior, was named Sunflower editor-in-chief. Albert Kirk, Liberal Arts sophomore, was named to the position of managing editor. Mrs. Harris has served as managing editor this semester. Kirk has had no previous experience on the Sunflower.

Students picked by the Board of Student Publications to serve as news editors were Bill Rapps and Willis Jackson. JoyLyn Updike and Roy Hayes were named to the position of copy desk editors. Lorry Brosius will be society editor, and Joseph Ray will be photo editor.

Willis Jackson was chosen by the Sunflower staff to receive the Most Valuable Reporter of the Year Award.

Johnny Tarrant was awarded the first place trophy in the 8th annual Photo Field Day sponsored by the journalism department. Jim Edwards, instructor in press photography, made the presentation. Harry Moncrave was awarded the second place trophy and Jack Stein received the third place trophy. Connie Close took fourth place honors.

Entrants in the Photo-Field Day competition were students in the two sections of Press Photography 232, under Edwards. Mrs. Carol Holman, coordinator of the Audio-Visual Center, and Dick Payne, director of public relations, served as judges.

Alan Moyer, managing editor of the Wichita Eagle, presented the Best Feature Article award to Nancy Harris for a feature article on President Lindquist. Mrs. Harris received a savings bond and will have her name engraved on a plaque which remains with the journalism department.

Jim White, Liberal Arts senior, was awarded the plaque for the Best Display Advertisement from the Wichita Eagle-Beacon. Ted Sandberg, retail advertising manager of the Wichita Eagle-Beacon presented the award.

Mrs. Jan Whalen, president of the Wichita Press Women's Club, announced that Nancy Harris had been selected to receive the annual scholarship given by the Press Women. This is the second year that Mrs. Harris has received the scholarship.

Bill Rapps, Liberal Arts sophomore, was awarded the Henry Lawrence Photo-Journalism scholarship. The scholarship.

Somebody Got Gregor's Goat

Have you ever heard of a goat eating souls?

This is the reason that the sale of the much publicized "Souls" will be delayed until the summer session—a pet goat consumed a large portion of the stencils.

"Souls" is a project of Dr. Norman Gregor's lower division English students. During the semester each student worked on a short essay, striving for "soul to soul" communication. They entitled their works "Souls."

The goat was acquired by the English students to promote the "Souls," scheduled to be offered in the CAC last week, however the goat was accidentally given access to the stencils and wasted no time in chewing, gnawing, and consuming a portion of them.

The essays are presently being reproduced and will be offered during the summer session.

The goat has been secured by the local humane society.

Reflections

The end of a school year is always a time of reflection upon what has happened, and anticipation of what is to come.

Each of us as students of the University of Wichita can look back upon a year full of successes and failures.

This year has been marked as a year of transition—one in which administrators have endeavored to bridge the chasm between a municipal university and a state university.

Instructors have had to struggle with a premature influx of students in anticipation of a lowered tuition next fall.

Students have faced the same problems that have always faced those who pursue knowledge.

Sports fans have been treated to a basketball team ranked fifth in the nation, a tennis team which will represent the University in the national NCAA tournament this summer, and a football team which shared the Missouri Valley Conference title.

The campus itself is undergoing change. The Frank Lloyd Wright designed education center, when completed for use in the fall, will stretch our campus to 21st Street. An addition is being constructed onto the Science Building to accommodate laboratory science classes so vital in today's world. Dormitory cafeteria facilities will be expanded this summer to accommodate all of the dorm residents.

On June 7, 604 students will carry the final diplomas to bear the seal of the University of Wichita.

It is with a touch of nostalgia that all of the students leave the University of Wichita. Most will return in the fall to a University different in name only.

The future of the University lies in the strength and spirit of Wichita State University. And this can come about only through the strength and spirit of each of the students.

SGA Holds Last Meeting For 63-64

The last Student Government Association meeting for the year was held Tuesday evening in Area 3 of the CAC with President Dave Crockett presiding.

Rae Ann Mettlen, chairman of the academic committee, reported that the constitution for an academic honorary is in the process of being drawn. Virginia Schoonover and Miss Mettlen are to work on the constitution during the summer.

Paul Simon, building and grounds committee, reported that several parking lots and asphalt walks are in the process of being constructed for the ensuing year. Building and grounds were given $40,000 for the construction.

Dave Leach, senior class president and chairman of special events, told the Congress that Parents' Day has been scheduled for October 17 during the game with Detroit. He also stated that freshman orientation has been set for the Friday before school starts.

Psychology Professor Awards Books to Seven

Dr. N. H. Pronko, head of psychology, is awarding books to seven students in his freshman psychology class in recognition of their outstanding performance.

The student who lead the class of 400 in total number of points for the semester was University College freshmen, Jamie Ann Kaiser. Jon Gregory Wagner, University College freshman, and Robert A. West, Liberal Arts sophomore, tied for second place honors.

In third place were Richard L. Hendrich, University College freshman, and Patrick Weigand, University College freshman. Leigh A. Falwell, University College freshman, was awarded a book for fourth place and an University College freshman Dennis C. Brown placed fifth.

"... So long, Ed, you got everything now ... my crib notes ... my forged faculty parking sticker, my parking meter slugs, the Mickey Mouse stencil ... ?"

Audio-Visual Plans Relocation; Will Move to Ablah Library

The Audio-visual Center, presently located in the basement of Morrison Hall, will be relocated next fall in the northwest corner of Ablah Library, according to Mrs. Carol Holman, coordinator of audio-visual services.

The new center, which will encompass slightly under 4,000 square feet of space, will be for the use of faculty and students and will allow more material to be used simultaneously.

It will include two viewing rooms—one multi-purpose and one large screening room with a projecting booth between them to serve both.

There will also be a conference room for seminar groups, a tape recording room, 10 individual listening booths, two listening rooms, and two dark rooms and a production area to facilitate production of films.

Tapes, discs, slides and film strips will be in the main office and may be taken to the individual listening booths and viewing rooms.

Shocker Band Plans Clinic For Summer

The University band will host nearly 500 twirling and drum major students and 100 directors from high school and college marching bands during the eighth annual Marching Band Clinic this summer, July 27-28.

James Kerr, director of band at the University, will serve as host for the clinic. Other noted band directors will also conduct classes and give instructions on twirling and drum majoring during the event.

The classes will include instruction in precision drill, pagentry, script writing, beginning, intermediate and advanced group twirling, individual and group strutting routines, novelty twirling routines, beginning and advance drum majors, land maneuvering and instruction in several other areas of marching bands.

Past and present University twirlers, Pat Henri, Betty Richter, Beverly Siedhoff, Sherian Miller and Dianne Wolff will assist in the conducting of the classes.

German Consulate Donates New Books

The German Consulate in Kansas City has donated a number of new German books to the University which are intended as prizes for students who have shown excellence in the study of German.

The books have been awarded to the following students: Richard Allen, Dieter Dambrowski, Charles Dietrich, Robert Kinbrill, Marina Petroff, and Harry Weihs.

Faculty Promotions Granted By WU Board of Regents

The Board of Regents earlier this year adopted several promotions in faculty positions. The promotions will be effective for the fall semester.

The faculty members and their new positions are: Dr. Ernest Bubieniec, associate professor of biology; Bruce Cutler, associate professor of English; Dr. Martin Reif, associate professor of history; Alvin Jenkins, associate professor of physics; Dr. Robert Teare, associate professor of psychology; Dr. Dorothy Froning, associate professor of Spanish; Miss Beatrice Paddock, assistant professor and humanities reference librarian; Thoburn Taggart, Jr., assistant professor and social sciences reference librarian; Mrs. Virginia Roe, assistant professor of secretarial training.

LA Junior Places First In Contest

The University chemistry department has announced that the first place award in the 16th annual Chemistry Achievement Award program of $100 worth of chemistry books was won by Dallas Webster.

Now a Liberal Arts junior, Webster competed in the program for freshman chemistry students as a freshman and placed first from among thousands of other students from an eight state area.

Dr. John Johnson, associate professor of chemistry, sponsored Webster in the program and received the books to be placed in Ablah Library. The books have recently arrived and will be placed in the library with the winning student's name inscribed in them.

The Chemistry Achievement Award program is divided into two phases with all colleges and universities in the United States, Canada and England being invited to participate.

Phase one of the program includes the selection of the most outstanding chemistry student of the year by his professor. The student receives a Golden Anniversary "Handbook of Chemistry and Physics," and is eligible to participate in the $100 regional examination.

Phase two of the examination was prepared by the Chemical Rubber company and administered by professors and students selected in the first phase.

Business Fraternity Gives Scholarship

James L. Ireland was recently honored by being presented the Alpha Kappa Psi (professional business fraternity) Scholarship Award.

The award is given to the fraternity member who has maintained the highest grade point average during his college career.

Ireland, an accounting major, has maintained a 3.8 average based on seven semesters.

Flying Club Sets Obligatory Meeting

The University Flying Club will have a compulsory meeting for all members Sunday, May 24, in the CAC.

The agenda for the meeting includes the annual election of officers, discussion of summer operations, and the collection of unpaid bills. The meeting will be held in area 9 of the CAC at 2 p.m.

The Flying Club is a growing organization of University students interested in flying. The club is able to secure lessons and plane rental at a discount rate.

Non-members interested in flying are encouraged to attend the Sunday meeting.

The 16 mm. films will be housed in the equipment maintenance area with special humidity and temperature control.

18 University Students to Accept Fellowships for Advanced Studies

Eighteen University students have received fellowships and scholarships for additional study at noted colleges and universities.

Bobby Hunt, a senior, is the recipient of National Defense Education Act fellowship to Oklahoma State University. The fellowship will provide for three years of graduate study in Electrical Engineering, working toward a doctorate degree. He will receive $2,000 the first year, $2,200 the second year and $2,400 the third year.

David Nicholson, an electrical engineering senior at the University, has received a National Defense Education Act doctoral grant to do further study at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N.Y. The special grant is for three years, providing $2,000 the first year, $2,200 the second, and $2,400 the third with a tuition waiver.

A psychology graduate student, Ron Ebert, had acceptances from five schools, and chose Penn State University. He received from the University a $3,000 stipend, but will be working this summer as a research assistant under the chief of psychological services at the Geriatric Rehabilitation Service, Goldwater Memorial Hospital, Welfare Island, N.Y.

Bob Rhode, also a psychology graduate student, received acceptances from four schools and chose Purdue with a stipend of $2,500 plus tuition.

Graduate student David Olson received acceptances from three schools and chose Penn State with a $3,000 stipend. Olson, who will marry in June, will be working with his wife in Los Angeles during the summer at the Hathaway Home for Children. This is a residential treatment center for emotionally disturbed children.

Nancy Luce, University psychology senior, has accepted a "traineeship" in the psychology department at the University of Arizona.

Joseph L. Zenter, University political science major, won a $1,000 tuition scholarship to study at the University of Wisconsin.

John L. Young, political science senior, won a National Defense Education Act Fellowship in urban studies at Washington University of St. Louis; the grant provides tuition for three years and $2,000 annually.

Glenda Gray, speech senior, was awarded a fellowship for graduate studies at the University of New Mexico, Albuquerque.

Dennis Smith, speech senior, received a NDEA fellowship at the University of Kansas.

Ann Kaenig, Spanish major, will hold an assistantship at the University of Illinois next year.

Julia Mary Stone, graduate student in music, won a teaching fellowship at the University of Illinois.

WELL-KNOWN FAMOUS PEOPLE: No. 1

This is the first in a series of 48 million columns examining the careers of men who have significantly altered the world we live in. We begin today with Max Planck.

Max Planck (or The Pearl of the Pacific, as he is often called) gave to modern physics the law known as Planck's Constant. Many people when they first hear of this law, throw up their hands and exclaim, "Golly whiskers, this is too deep for little old me!"

(Incidentally, speaking of whiskers, I cannot help but mention Personna Stainless Steel Razor Blades. Personna is the blade for people who can't shave after every meal. It shaves you closely, cleanly, and more frequently than any other stainless steel blade on the market. The makers of Personna have publicly declared—and do here repeat—that if Personna Blades don't give you more luxury shaves than any other stainless steel blade, they will buy you whatever blade you think is better. Could anything be more fair? I, for one, think not.)

Max Showed no indication.....

But I digress. We were speaking of Planck's Constant, which is not, as many think, difficult to understand. It simply states that matter sometimes behaves like waves, and waves sometimes behave like matter. To give you a homely illustration, pick up your pencil and wave it. Your pencil, you will surely agree, is matter—yet look at the little rascal wave! Or take flags. Or Ann-Margret.

Planck's Constant, uncomplicated as it is, nevertheless provided science with the key that unlocked the atom, made space travel possible, and conquered denture slippage. Honors were heaped upon Mr. Planck (or The City of Brotherly Love, as he is familiarly known as). He was awarded the Nobel Prize, the Little Brown Jug, and Disneyland. But the honor that pleased Mr. Planck most was that plankton were named after him.

Plankton, as we know, are the floating colonies of one-celled animals on which fishes feed. Plankton, in their turn, feed upon one-half celled animals called krill (named, incidentally, after Dr. Morris Krill who invented the house cat). Krill, in their turn, feed upon peanut butter sandwiches mostly—or, when they are in season, cheeseburgers.

But I digress. Back to Max Planck who, it must be said, showed no indication of his scientific genius as a youngster. In fact, for the first six years of his life he did not speak at all except to pound his spoon on his bowl and shout "More gruel!" Imagine, then, the surprise of his parents when on his seventh birthday little Max suddenly cried, "Papa! Mama! Something is wrong with the Second Law of Thermodynamics!" So astonished were the elder Plancks that they rushed out and dug the Kiel Canal.

Meanwhile Max, constructing a crude Petrie dish out of two small pieces of petrie and his gruel bowl, began to experiment with thermodynamics. By dinner time he had discovered Planck's Constant. Hungry but happy, he rushed to Heidelberg University to announce his findings. He arrived, unfortunately, during the Erich von Stroheim Sesquicentennial, and everyone was so busy dancing and duelling that young Planck could find nobody to listen to him. The festival, however, ended after two years and Planck was finally able to report his discovery.

Well sir, the rest is history. Einstein gaily cried, "E equals mc squared!" Edison invented Marconi. Eli Whitney invented Georgia Tech, and Michelangelo invented the ceiling. This later became known as the Humboldt Current.

© 1964 Max Shulman

Mr. Shulman is, of course, joshing, but the makers of Personna Blades are not: if, after trying our blades, you think there's another stainless steel blade that gives you more luxury shaves, return the unused Personnas to Box 500, Staunton, Va., and we'll buy you a pack of any blade you think is better.

As the Twig Is Bent

By NANCY HARRIS, Managing Editor

"Tis education forms the common mind; Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined." Alexander Pope

Many an adult inclination is the product of gentle molding and shaping of the youthful mind, by teachers whose names may be forgotten.

Three members of the University faculty and staff will be recognized as "Benders of the Twig" at tonight's Recognition Day Dinner to be held in the Civic Playhouse. Each of the three have served the University for 25 years.

They are Mrs. Clara Wuertz, instructor and reference librarian; Dr. Ross Taylor, professor and chairman of American civilization; and Eugene Spangler, director of theatre services.

"Goodness, I see them everywhere," Mrs. Wuertz said when asked about the number of students she has helped throughout the years.

"Why just recently I was called

Mrs. Clara Wuertz

from twenty some students to 450 in a single class.

"A shrinking world and speedy communications have created students far advanced to those of my generation," said Dr. Taylor.

Teaching American civilization is the challenge of combining history, literature, philosophy, and a little of everything else according to Taylor. "I wouldn't do anything else," he said. This is a significant comment coming from a man who holds a commission as Colonel in Army Intelligence General Staff Corps, has been active in two wars, and is the author of several books, fiction and non-fiction.

Eugene Spangler finds theatre purchasing and budgeting the most challenging phase of theatre production. After some 250 campus productions, he speaks with authority.

Spangler, a University graduate, has been on the faculty since 1939 including time out for military service during World War II, and graduate studies at Michigan and the University of Iowa.

Eugene Spangler

down for jury duty, and in questioning me they asked if I knew any of the people involved in the scheduled trial," Mrs. Wuertz continued. "I had to admit that both the prosecuting and defense attorneys, as well as the bailiff, were former University students whom I knew."

As a reference librarian Mrs. Wuertz gets all kinds of questions from students. One she remembers with a smile is the time a young man asked if they had a vocations file because he was trying to make up his mind about what profession to get into. Mrs. Wuertz suggested her own field which she so obviously enjoys. "Oh no," the young man said, "I want something I can learn in a hurry so I can walk into the front office and say 'take over fellows, I'm playing golf this weekend.'"

Room 206 Morrison contains a variety of historical artifacts, a stream of busy students, and sometimes Dr. Ross Taylor. During his time with the American civilization department the size of Dr. Taylor's classes have increased
