Retroactive Credit in a Foreign Language

WSU's Department of Modern and Classical Languages and Literatures offers options for students to earn credit for their past language learning experiences through Retrocredit.

WSU students may qualify for credit for previous world language experience. Language learning in courses prior to entering college, including high school language experience, can be validated by earning a grade of C or better in a WSU language course or courses beyond the first course in that language. The credit earned by validation of previous experience is called Retroactive Credit. Eligibility details and applications are available at LAS Advising Center, and in the MCLL office, 305 Jardine.
