

Converging Academic Librarianship with a Large-Scale Transdisciplinary Research Project

Disaster Resilience Analytics Center (DRAC)

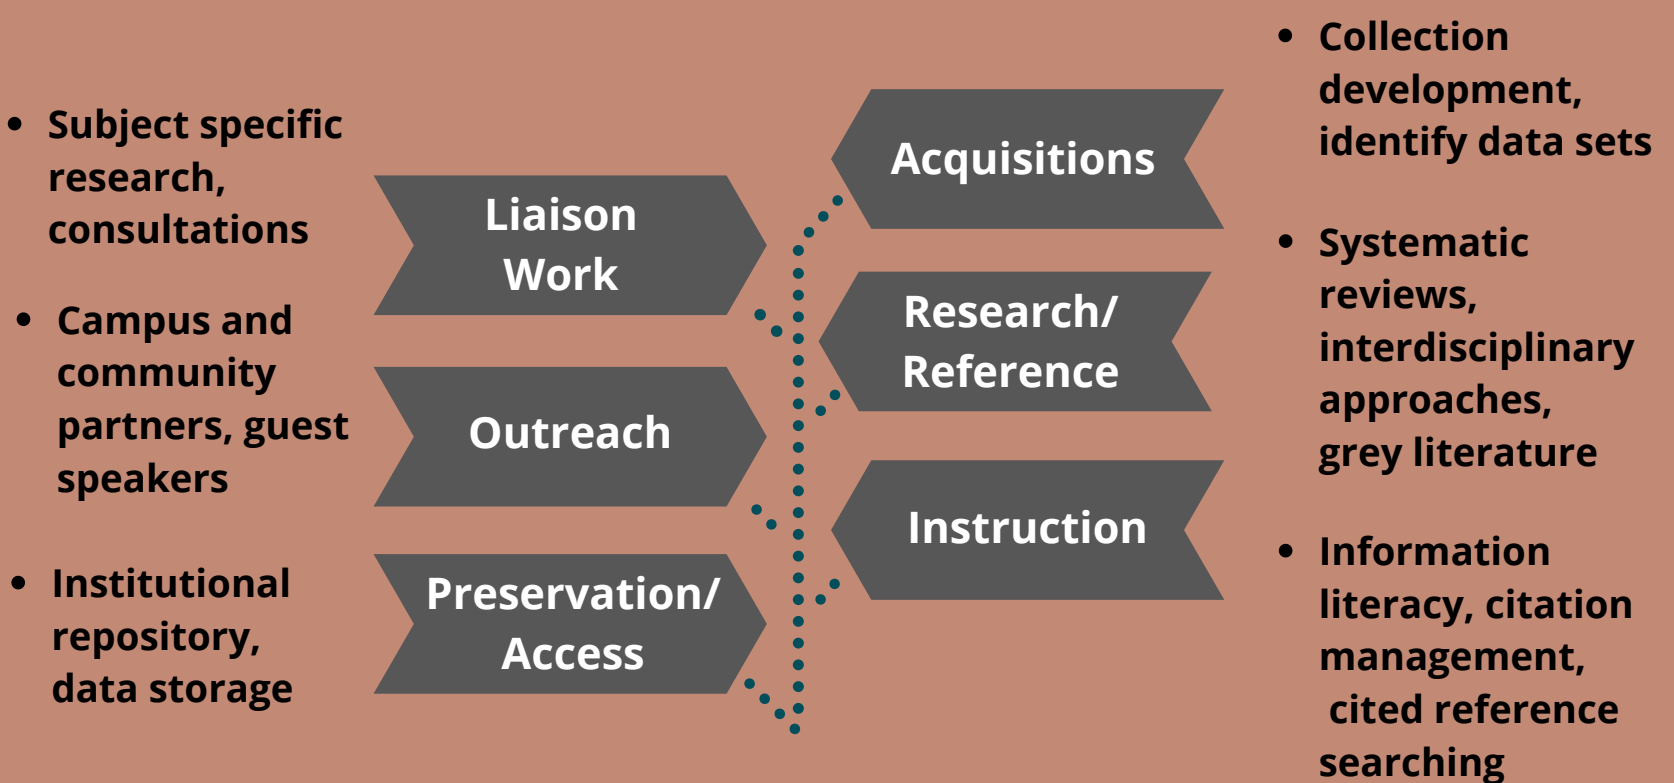

Faculty librarians from public and technical services have roles as co-principal investigators in a large-scale convergence sciences initiative.

DRAC is a funded multi-year transdisciplinary research center involving more than 20 research faculty from 5 colleges and collaboration with university, government and community partners.

Disciplines and Organizations

Librarian Roles

Research Contributions

- Developing transdisciplinarity to address complexity
- Information needs and behaviors for disasters
  - Social vulnerabilities
  - Disaster education and literacy
  - Community risk assessment
- Systematic literature reviews