An Open Indictment!

AMAZEMENT once again overwhelms the youth of America. A legal proceeding which has gained the intelligent wonderment of the onrushing leaders of society should cease to be tolerated. The ridiculous actions and farcical utterances of hundreds directly concerned with the crime that has scarred America's reputation among the nations of the world, and the meddlings of hundreds more who have no business in the legal aspects of the Lindbergh case—these absurd activities have delayed the administering of punishment.

FOUR years ago when we, as high school seniors, were receiving our high school diplomas, Charles Lindbergh, Jr., was kidnapped and murdered. Ever since then we have had flashed before us, continuously, by both written and spoken word, the disgusting developments of the proceedings. And today, we, the high school seniors of four years ago, stand ready to receive our college degrees while the people of America still sway in the pitiful effects of a crime committed in 1932.

We indict the leaders of America for permitting such an act to be front page news throughout the entire course of our college careers.

Future War Veterans Demand Bonuses Now

Students' Organization Termed Valuable, Delightful, and Unpatriotic

NEW YORK, April 1.—(AP)—Repercussions of a quiet remark dropped in a Princeton bull-session swept the country last week as the latest of the bonus-seeking organizations, the Veterans of Future Wars, established chapters on more than thirty campuses and embarked on a program variously hailed as delightful, valuable and "unpatriotic."

"Because it is customary to pay bonuses before they are due," said the manifesto announcing the birth of the organization, "the Veterans of Future Wars demand immediate payment plus three per cent interest compounded annually from June 1, 1935, backward to June 1, 1933. Payment now, the manifesto emphasized, would "lift the country out of the depression" and enable beneficiaries to enjoy the money before they lost their lives.

Future Gold Star Mothers. Hardly had the future veterans elected officers when the first chapter of an auxiliary society, the Association of Future War Mothers, formed at Vassar. Indignant outbursts followed, and the name was changed for "Ladies Auxiliary of Future Veterans." Loudst in denunciation of course, were the other veterans' groups.

"Had the students confined their insulting remarks to the veterans, we would have laughed it off," said Joe E. Murray, former national chairman of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, "but they have brought in the name of a group of women we hold sacred. No satire or disrespect was intended," replied Louis J. Gorin, Jr., national commander. Gorin was unperturbed by American Legion threats of vigorous complaint to Princeton authorities, kept three secretaries busy sending instructions to new chapters.

The AFW's announced intention of establishing a chapter in every college in America seemed likely to succeed. Harvard, Williams, Union, Pennsylvania, Georgetown, Stanford, Georgia Tech, Southern Methodist, Connecticut College for Women, New York University, Chicago, the University of Wisconsin, and Washington University of St. Louis were quick to get on the band wagon, with others coming fast.

Termed "Un-American" Criticism and approbation were divided about fifty-fifty, with most support coming from students, faculty members and outside liberals. Charges of Communism and "un-Americanism" from the American Legion and other veterans' organizations.

Miss Matilda Burling, president of the New York State Chapter of Gold Star Mothers, called the movement "a patriotic and ill-omened" and James E. Van Zandt, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said the students were "too yellow to go to war."

A self-appointed student squad of athletes attempted to prevent formation of a VFW chapter at Rice Institute, Texas, with a barrage of mud-balls and cries of "Communists," but were successfully repulsed.

City College of New York announced formation of a specialized affiliate—an Association of Foreign Correspondents of Future Wars, with "the purpose of training its members in the writing of atrocious stories and garbled war dispatches."

Sharp Takes On Duties As Council Head

Earl Vore Is Elected Vice-President Of Group

Following the resignation last week of Jack Rathbone as president of the Student Council, Miss Ruth Sharp was installed as the new head of the organization Thursday, March 26, at the regular meeting of the Council.

For the first time in the history of the school, a girl is serving as president of the Student Council. Miss Sharp, a senior in the College of Business Administration and a member of Epsilon Kappa Rho sorority, was elected vice-president of the Council last spring on the University ticket. Active in campus affairs, she was president of her sorority when in junior class, and holding other offices in it. She was a member of the Women's Title Team during her sophomore and junior years, and was captain of last year.

Serving as president of the Shacking Socials sorority, president of the University, for two consecutive seasons, Miss Sharp has also been active in Y. W. C. A. work on the campus. Earl Vore, senior in the College of Education, was unanimously elected as vice-president of the Council, filling the vacancy left by Miss Sharp.

Mr. Rathbone, who made his farewell speech at the meeting Thursday evening, resigned last week as president to accept a position with the Red Star Milling Company. Forced to withdraw from regular classwork, he will be attending night classes and summer school, will be graduated with his class.

Duke Debate Team Stops Yale Victories

To win from Yale University in a debate on the power of the U. S. Supreme Court, after Yale had carried off 18 successive victories, was the experience last week of the Duke University debate team coached by Letha Lewis. Miss Lewis was debate coach here last year.

Junior Army Men Receive Weapon Drill

Cadet Officers Aid With Instruction For Inspection

Members of the Junior class enrolled in R. O. T. C. are receiving intensive training in the handling of the Browning .30-cal. machine gun, Stokes three-inch trench mortar, and 37-mm. under the direction of Capt. Harry L. Lewis. This training which is putting into practice the theory studied in the classroom is in preparation for the annual federal inspection scheduled for April 15 and 16.

The juniors are divided into three groups: one machine gun squad, one trench mortar squad, and a one-pounder squad. Each squad is placed under a competent instructor who drills the men in their duties. The machine gun squad is under the instruction of Sgt. A. V. Buehler; the trench mortar squad, Cadet Captain Robert M. Miller; and the one-pounder squad, Cadet Major Tom Wood.

Normally, a machine gun squad is made up of 11 men. However, the membership of this group includes 13 men, necessitates a rotation of positions so that each man gets the proper experience. The group is made up of Capt. Warren, Roger Whitcomb, Harold Duerksen, Max Billinger, Herman Frankenberg, Dean McDaniel, William Ramsey, Robert Starn, John L. Onsgard, and Glen Soderstrom.

Eleven men comprise the trench mortar squad whereas it should be made up of five men. The same plan of rotation is carried out by Cadet Captain Colver in the coaching of this squad. Quincy Brown, Ronald Edens, Max Howard, Channing McAllister, Joe Hibbard, Austin Gardner, Joe Hibbard, Gerald Shank, Bob Gaskins, John Beebe, and George Graves are training with the trench mortar.

Cadet Major Wood has charge of the one-pounder squad. The members of this squad are learning to operate the one-pounder. Again special turns at every position on the men are receiving a versatile training. Altogether only eight men should be in the squad; the nine men who are in the squad, under Cadet Major Wood are: George Hinkle, Jimmie Lee, Frank Fox, George Meltzer, James Zimmerman, Bill Ayers, Justice Sherrill, Robert Looze, and Walter Felner.

Spring Concert Attracts Many

Rural Schools Combine Efforts at Meet

Combining the efforts of over 700 students, 45 rural, supervised schools in Sedgewick County met here last Thursday evening, March 26, to present their sixth annual spring concert in the University auditorium.

Mrs. Suzanne Baxter Pittmann and her corps of music supervisors in the county schools directed the program, which included a rhythm band of 150 instruments, a boys' chorus of 350 voices, a primary chorus of 350 voices, a harmonica band with 400 instruments, a combined chorus and band number, Thurlow Luceance, dean of the College of Fine Arts of the University, played several selections by special request of the boys and girls, who admired his work.

Dr. W. M. Jardine, president of the University, and R. M. Crum, county superintendent, opened the program by welcoming the guests to the campus.

Earl K. Hillbrand, dean of the Graduate School, worked in cooperation with the music instructors of the 45 schools to make this program a success.

Queen To Be Chosen Next Wednesday

Petitions Must Be Presented By Monday

After a lull of two months in political activities on the campus, the annual May Queen election will be held next Wednesday, April 8, in the former University bookstore. The polls will be open from 9 to 1:30 o'clock.

Queen To Be Chosen Next Wednesday

Petitions Must Be Presented By Monday

After a lull of two months in political activities on the campus, the annual May Queen election will be held next Wednesday, April 8, in the former University bookstore. The polls will be open from 9 to 1:30 o'clock.

Nominating petitions for candidates must have the names of 25 students, and must be in the hands of Student Council representatives Monday noon, April 6, according to Miss Ruth Sharp, president of the Student Council.

Earl Vore, vice-president, is chairman of the election committee, which is composed of Miss Betty Neely, Miss Bethel Barrett, Frank Malone, and Roy Rogers.

The May Queen will reign over the annual May Day festivities, which will be held Friday, May 1, in the University stadium. The script is based on the story of Oedipus, and was written by Miss Frances Wright and Maxine Williams. Miss Gladys Tappart, director of women's physical education, is in charge of the program arrangements.

Olympics To Be Theme of May Fete Program

May Queen To Be Presented at Annual Event May 1

Formal presentation of the traditional May Queen will be held when the Queen and her attendants reign over the Olympic Pageant to be held Friday evening, May 1, at the University Stadium.

"Opening the pageant, which has been written to follow as nearly as possible some of the events in the International Olympics, will be the formal presentation in which all the participants will be presented to the Queen.

Unique in its theme, the pageant, according to Miss Tappart, head of the committee in charge of May Day arrangements, should prove to be one of the most colorful and interesting May Days in the history of the college.

Activities for the pageant have been divided into three groups. First in the numbers of the program will be the International Dance Festival and will be composed of folk dances from various countries.

Sports will be the feature of the second group in the pageant.

Sports' realities will be one of the outstanding numbers of the pageant. Representatives of classes in archery, tumbling, fencing, cycling and track will form the group. Members of the Pencing Club, Chess, Dance club, and of the University track team, will compete in their respective fields.

"Lament of Death," an interpretative dance, will be presented by students of Mrs. Alice Campbell Weigley. Orchestral, the dance club, will close the pageant with their presentation of the closing hymn.

Miss Frances Wright and Miss Maxine Williams have been working on the manuscript for the pageant, and intend its following some of the various Olympic features.

The men and movements we support, we must support, not because we hold them to be comprehensively quite right, but because we are convinced they tend in the right direction.—(H. G. Wells)

Do Not Glorify the Army, Let It Be a Servant of the People

Where soldiers have encamped thorns and brambles spring up. In the track of great armies must follow lean years.—Lao Tzu.

Three thousand years ago the evils of militarization were well known. Armies have always impoverished the people and been a potential menace to the peace and freedom of the nations they are sworn to defend.

Intellectual sterility is the inevitable result of too much discipline. Sparta, a military state, never equalled Athens intellectually or economically because obedience destroyed the nation's initiative.

In modern Germany we see the same evil. In the Sunday election the German people showed themselves spineless and submissive. In no free nation could a man win the approval of 98 per cent of the people.

The election itself was a triumphant mockery of democratic institution and civil freedom. Herr Hitler can "point with pride" to forty million creatures who once were human beings with ideas, personalities, and dreams, but who are now mere robots subject to his will.

The army should not be glorified. The soldier is a mere servant of the state. He exists, like policeman, for the purpose of defending the nation's citizens. Let him keep his place!

Broad Knowledge Necessary To Success Is Found in Books

Almost everyone is able to read but few know how and what to read.

Here are a few rules which will help you to make books your life-long friends.

Read for pleasure. Do not approach a book with a sense of duty. When faced with a difficult assignment try to get everything of interest out of it.

Read fast. Psychologists have proved that the fast reader is able to remember more of what he reads than the slow reader. Do not form the habit of wool gathering with a book in front of you.

Do not shun the classics. The modern world has not progressed so far that the great masters of literature have nothing to say to us. All of modern culture is based on the wisdom of the ancients.

Do not fall for press notices. Most reviews are not honest criticisms but merely advertising. Of the thousands of books written every year only a few are worth reading.

Develop critical insight. Learn to enjoy style. When possible, find out something about the author. When you finish a book, weigh the significance of it as a whole.

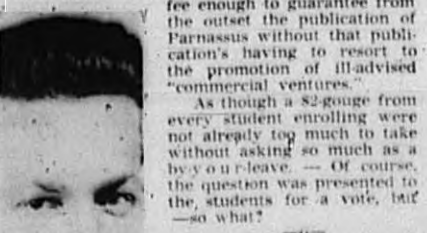

Read widely. Success in most professions requires a broad fund of knowledge. And a knowledge of the world makes life more worth while.

Hardly a man is now alive who had no fun in '35, and never a man in whom there sticks no hope at all for '36.—F. P. A.

If the nations would use their heads and get rid of their arms they would soon get on their feet.—Washington Post.

Short Pants

By LOY WOOD Apropos of recently a student Council goes on record as favoring an arrangement such as:

My good friend, Eleanor (there's the rub) Corcoran, promoter of a recently-commented-upon affair, editor of Parnassus, and writer of a gossip column in one of the local downtown papers became righteously indignant over a "special edition" of the Sunflower which poked a little fun hither and thither.

After the Alpha Gam dance the other night Frances Radcliff somehow got the wrong coat, which coat she still has, and which coat she would like to return to its owner—if it will bring hers back. The one she now has is black, and is slightly too small for her.

Also lost: My notebook, containing all my this year's education, and a Spanish text. The notebook is valuable—the finder may keep it and the Spanish text—doctor "Wife" reads this I don't mean it! If he wishes, but please return the stuff that is in the notebook.

Mixerwinners: In inverse order—Mary Evelyn (Hatterball) Heinzel, the only winner, was awarded the four lollipops as fourth prize. The rest get only half the sum named: Carol Lee Utz, 50 cents; Renwick Kirwin, $1.00; Fern Starkey, $2.75. Next week's first prize will be $4.10.

Collegiate World

When Fred Lemmer, student at the University of Minnesota meets his English professor, Mr. Weaver, they both blush slightly. Over a period of many weeks, Mr. Lemmer has broken all records for arriving late to Mr. Weaver's first hour class. His alibis have varied: "My alarm clock is broken" or "There was a traffic jam" or "My car busted down."

Governor Alf Landon is not the only Kansas male winning renown for his sense of economy. Take the males at the University of Kansas for example. The men's council there has just issued a firm resolution requesting the girls of the campus to share events in the evening's expenses while dating the men. They have even gone so far as to formally request the cafe owners of the town to issue separate dinner checks for the women.

They are experts on apples, out there at the University of Washington where the Yakimas and the Wenatchees come from—so what they have to say about the business of apple polishing ought to be worth listening to. The student paper set out to find just what amount of apple-polishing existed on the campus. They found there was much less of it going on than popularly supposed.

One woman professor did have a "grape" in this connection. Said she: "We don't like to have all the brothers and sisters from a fraternity or sorority come down and try to high pressure us into giving a student a higher grade so he or she can be initiated."

Prof. William F. Hoffman of Boston University is sore about the attempts of some professors to eliminate American dialects from the English language. "Variety is the spice of speech," he said.

The new movement in American colleges (first told about in this column some weeks ago) to organize chapters of the VFW or "Veterans of Future Wars" is growing rapidly. Nineteen local cells of the society are now functioning in 19 different colleges.

Even the cools have fallen in with the idea—several chapters of Gold Star Future Mothers of Veterans have been formed after the first one started at Kansas.

At the University of Chicago a search is on for one member of the VFW to be chosen as Unknown Soldier for the Future War. The girls there are already choosing their society emblem. It is to be a blue eagle perched on a crossed hammer and sickle and holding in its beak a swastika and under its wings a fasces.

Chief goal now is a $1,000 bonus for each future veteran—to be paid ahead of time of course, in order that the imitation of the real VFW and American Legion may be as faithful as possible.

(Oh well—the Hearst hunt had sort of died down and the college editors were getting itchy for something of the sort.)

Mrs. Mikesell To Give Book Review Friday

Mrs. W. H. Mikesell will give the review of F. N. Behrman's new play, "The End of Summer," Friday afternoon at two o'clock at a luncheon sponsored by the Men of Webster Mothers' Club at the home of Mrs. E. A. Watkins. This play, in which Mrs. Claire starred in its first production, was first released in February of this year by the Theatre Guild of New York.

Mrs. Hattie Lassiter is chairman of the committee for refreshments and Mrs. E. B. McHenry is at the head of the committee on tickets which may be obtained by calling her at 5-0835 or the Webster House.

Jones-Tippin Marriage To Be A June Event

Announcement was made of the coming marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth Tippin, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Tippin, and Mr. Arthur Jones, of Wichita, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Jones of Conway Springs, to be solemnized in June.

The betrothal was revealed Friday, March 27, at a party at which Mrs. Tippin entertained in her home. Yellow and white were featured in the decorations and appointments; the buffet table was centered by a crystal bowl filled with white roses and sweet peas. On either side were crystal candelabras and white candles. The engagement was announced by tiny scrolls of parchment on the plates of the guests.

Miss Tippin will receive her degree from the University of Wichita this spring. She is a member of Delta Omega Sorority and of Aesculapian, honorary pre-medical organization, having served in the capacity of president of the latter.

Arrangements Made For Military Party

Plans for making the annual formal dinner dance of Scabbard and Blade an outstanding party of the spring season are now being made by Bob Colver who is in charge of the affair.

The party will be held at Crestview Country Club, April 18, and Miss Loneta Brown, honorary colonel, will be the guest of honor. Mr. Colver will escort Miss Brown.

The military theme will prevail in the party appointments. Hal Newman's orchestra will play for the dancing.

Roundabout

Campus cuties refuse to pose for our cameramen... a Webster couple is not saved at the eleventh hour... and a Pi Kap takes him on the rebound... winter plans for an April Fool prank... Kappa Ithos proud of their new Council boss... Corcoran doing her part for the "lost" editor... rumors of a secret May Queen... a sorosis gets some unexpected cash... someone about town is moving out of town in the middle of the night... Leon favors Roberta with a P.I.P. ... Easter only a week away... and lots of travelers-to-others-campuses will be around... summer managers beginning to pop here and there... twice Blue Keys-to be await Monday eve... congrats to Earl... an Alpha Tau peddles a false wedding story... a reunited couple seem to be sailing pretty smoothly... Kent turns into a real cigar-smoking, toughie sour... and a Pi Kap takes him on the rebound... and a campus coed gets her friend to copy themes for other fellows' use... but then this is a woman's world... they say... J. T. gets hurt in a cage game... Strickers finding the white police cars quite satisfactory... red dresses... but, tut, tut, tut... and so we've swept out the Brig again... and that was the campus this week.—E. T.

Each Puff Less Acid

Lucky Strike

A LIGHT SMOKE OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

Although the constituents of cigarette paper are, in themselves, unsurpassed in purity and wholesomeness, it may, if crudely fabricated, contribute a marked degree of irritation to cigarette smoke. Cigarette paper not only envelops the tobacco in forming a cigarette, but through its physical properties may exercise a favorable or detrimental influence upon the products of combustion.

Paper for Lucky Strike Cigarettes is made under our own supervision. Samples of each lot of cigarette paper manufactured are subjected to the most rigid analysis before it is used in making Lucky Strike Cigarettes.

Luckies are less acid

Recent chemical tests show that other popular brands have an excess of acidity over Lucky Strike of from 53% to 100%.
