'Hot' Seating Issue Gets Warmer . . .

Ritchey Tells SGA Of '60 HC Rulings

Plans and developments for both Homecoming and the heated unreserved seating issue gained top-billing at the SGA meeting Monday night.

John Ritchey, Homecoming chairman, presented to the Congress the official rules for the 1960 event and told the members of his plans for entertainment. Selection of entertainment groups has not been completed but will be announced soon.

The crusade for unreserved seating at Shocker athletic events has come to a temporary halt. The SGA, endorsing the seating plan as "worthy", passed petitions to the student body and received only 940 signatures.

Milly Wolcott, pep coordinator, who was in charge of the drive along with the SGA, said that 1,000 names were needed in order to present the petition to Tippy Dye, athletic director. Miss Wolcott said, "I will not take the petition to Tippy because we didn't obtain enough student support."

After a long debate, the Congress decided to continue the fight for unreserved seating—without the pep coordinator's support.

4 Students Get 'Oscars' In UF Drive

Four University students received "Oscars" at the first general report meeting of the United Fund.

The "Oscars," annual UF recognition awards, were presented to Don Riley, Mike Tearney, Dennis Cain, and Tom Wright. Each man turned in completed reports in conjunction with his part in the United Fund campaign.

The four students were part of the Metropolitan team, headed by Dr. Bob Bogue, a Wichita veterinarian. Dr. Bogue's team of some 900 volunteers is soliciting small businesses in Wichita.

The United Fund campaign, which opened Oct. 10 in Wichita and Sedgwick County, will raise funds for 30 health and welfare agencies here. The 1960 goal is $1,717,771.

The United Fund agency combines annual fund drives of many charities into one major drive.

investigation and fact-finding committee, reported to the Congress that he had talked with representatives of the Blue Cross Insurance Plan concerning the proposed change in student health insurance. He said that further details and ideas will be submitted to the Congress for consideration.

Queen Entries Call Issued

SGA vice-president and election commissioner, Woody Thompson, has sent out a call to all campus organizations planning to enter a candidate for the annual Homecoming queen contest.

In urging groups to submit names he said: "Deadline for submitting names is noon, Tuesday, and any campus organization—except political groups—can enter the name of a coed."

Thompson said that the fee is $7.50 and names should be turned in at the SGA office. Candidates must be either a junior or senior student and have at least a 2.00 grade index.

Students will go to the polls Friday, Nov. 4, to select the 1960 Homecoming queen. Homecoming is Saturday, Nov. 19. Other Homecoming rules can be picked up in the SGA office.

BA Students Net Firsts In OSU 'Bowl' Games

Five University graduate students racked up a series of firsts when they attended the Intercollegiate Business Management games Oct. 14 and 15 at Oklahoma State University.

It was the first time that University students participated in the games. It was also the first time IBM machines were used in competition.

Basically the games involve the student's ability to make decisions typical of those that he will be called upon to make when entering business after graduation. The "company" of students in the soundest business position, accord-

Theft Probe Continues

Safe Yields Large Sum

Investigation continues concerning the weekend campus burglary in which robbers took $2,000 in cash from a safe in the Campus Credit Union.

Mrs. Betty Brunk, manager of the Credit Union, discovered the burglary Monday morning at 9 upon reporting for work. "As I entered the office I noticed small change scattered across the counter and floor," she said. Mrs. Brunk then checked the office safe, finding the door off its hinges and leaning against the side of the safe. The cash box containing the sum was gone.

Police were notified of the loss and an investigation was launched. They determined that entry to the building had been gained by use of the fire escape and a second-floor window.

None of the records of the office were disturbed, according to Mrs. Brunk. The money, belonging to the teachers and staff of the University, was insured against loss.

MRS. BETTY BRUNK, manager of the Campus Credit Union, manages a smile for the Sunflower camera as she surveys the safe which yielded $2,000 to burglars over the weekend.

Kennedy Rally Set

"Wichita Students for John Kennedy" will host 450 visiting college students tomorrow in conjunction with the Senator's appearance at Lawrence Stadium.

The group will form in the Fieldhouse parking lot at noon and a motorcade will take them to the Stadium, according to Bob Lawless, chairman of the local group.

The rally will include 250 students from Kansas State University and 200 from Emporia State Teachers College.

Senator Kennedy, winner of the recent Sunflower straw poll, is scheduled to speak at 2 p.m. Lawless urged all interested students to participate in the rally.

Down 3.7 Per Cent . . .

Enrollment Placed At Official 5,657

Dr. Worth A. Fletcher, Registrar, has announced that 5,657 students are officially enrolled in the University during the current fall semester.

The registration figures represent a 3.7 per cent decrease from the 1959 fall enrollment of 5,875 students. Although resident enrollment of 4,346 is under the 1959 figure, non-resident enrollment is up, the registrar said. A tuition increase for all students which became effective this fall, along with a readjustment of employment on the local scene were cited as factors in the enrollment decrease.

Enrollment by colleges and schools include Engineering, 898; Liberal Arts and Sciences, 1,613; Business Administration, 901; Education, 679; Fine Arts, 407; Adult Education, 493; and Graduate School, 666.

The freshman class remains the largest with 1,515 students. There are 1,275 sophomores, 641 juniors, 956 seniors, 111 special students, and 493 adult education enrollees.

Enrollment of veterans continues to decline with 579 former servicemen studying here this year as compared to 832 a year ago.

Men outnumber the women on campus 4,147 to 1,510.

'Blues' March For Kennedy On Saturday

University ROTC Army Blues will march for Sen. John F. Kennedy, Democratic Presidential candidate, before his speech at Lawrence Stadium Saturday afternoon.

The event will be televised nationally, according to Lieut. Col. John J. Beeson, Professor and head of military science.

Senator Kennedy will arrive at Lawrence Stadium at 2 p.m. The public is invited. However, there are no reserve seats.

Dr. John P. Simoni Elected Lifetime Fellow in Fine Arts

The International Institute of Arts and Letters has elected Dr. John P. Simoni, chairman of the University art department, to lifetime membership with the title of Fellow.

The Institute, which maintains its headquarters in Lindau-Bodensee, Germany, selects fellows from various countries on the basis of notable achievements in fine arts, literature, music, or theater. This group of 160 internationally prominent personalities is dedicated to increasing knowledge through world-wide cooperation in the promotion of arts and sciences.

Dr. Simoni is a graduate of Colorado State College and earned the doctor of philosophy degree in art criticism and American art at Ohio State University. Two years ago he was awarded a grant from Massachusetts Institute of Technology to study the use of color.

Dr. Simoni came to Kansas in 1937 to establish an art department at Baker University in Baldwin. He was appointed to the University faculty in 1955. For the past five years, he has also served as art critic columnist for the Wichita Eagle.

The artist has created several outstanding welded steel sculpture murals, mobiles, mosaics, friezes, decorations and paintings on commission for local businesses, churches, and institutions.

Base Visit Planned

Air Force ROTC Cadets have completed preliminary plans for their fall base visit to Orlando, Florida, according to Capt. John E. Davenport, Arnold Air Society advisor at the University.

Approximately 90 cadets will arrive at Orlando Nov. 3, will tour the base facilities, and arrive home the evening of Nov. 5.

The base visitation program is sponsored by the Walter H. Beech Squadron of Arnold Air Society at the University.

Grad Aids Campaign

Claude Lee, former University student, has been appointed Kansas chairman of the nation-wide Students for Kennedy-Johnson organization.

Lee, now a law student at Washburn University, Topeka, was student government vice-president and president of Pi Alpha Pi fraternity before he was graduated in 1959.

The appointment was announced by Lee Warner, Kansas chairman of Citizens for Kennedy-Johnson, from his headquarters in Wichita.

Aid Needed, But . . .

Kansas' Republican candidate for governor may have picked up some extra votes this week while he was on the campus.

But, he may have lost a few, too.

Before a special gathering, John Anderson, Jr. announced that he would support state aid for the University, and commended Wichita's effort toward higher education.

However, the mention of state aid may leave a bad taste in the mouths of some. These are the persons who say that no amount of state control should be imposed. But, the reply always is "You can't have your cake and eat it too."

One thing is certain. Tuition here is high, particularly when compared with a semester's tuition at state schools—as low as $70 and $80 at some and up to $104 at others. But, this is a consequence of a mushrooming enrollment during the past five years, because of which the University has been faced with knotty problems of providing adequate facilities for the onrush.

True, this is a two-fold burden—on the administration and students, but the money simply doesn't grow on a tree in the finance office. It has to come from somewhere.

It boils down to the conclusion that the municipality cannot continue to completely maintain an institution of this nature without some help, in addition to the amounts it already receives from tuition, gifts, and lesser sources.

It is high time a workable plan of state assistance is drafted. State aid, to the extent that it would lower tuition, increase faculty pay, and allow for continued growth, seems to be the answer.

The Sunflower feels that primarily local control should be maintained because, in this way, keener and more responsible attention is accorded the institution. Wichitans are greatly responsible for molding the unique character that is the University. Therefore, it should not lose its identity and become a "Kansas University, South."

Some type of state assistance is definitely in order since WU is the third major university in Kansas—not third-rate by any means—and because persons from throughout the state are being educated here.

But, we don't want to see the WU educational "auto" slide into the state garage with the possible result that the door might bang shut.

To Organize Sunday . . .

School Flying Club 'Going Up'

By BILL BIDWELL
Sunflower Editor

"We're going to get it off the ground," commented Dr. Ross M. Taylor, faculty sponsor of the University Flying Club, which will hold an organizational meeting Sunday.

The meeting has been called for 2 p.m. in Rm. 229 of the CAC, Dr. Taylor said. He added that all interested students are invited.

High Hopes Expressed

Dr. Taylor expressed the belief that the campus organization has the potential to be a highly active and contributive one, in view of the fact that Wichita boasts more "ready pilots per-capita than any other city in the world." He also cited the fact that the city turns out more airplanes than any other city in the world.

He pointed out that aeronautical engineering is one of the University's prime contributions to the nation and world.

Because of this, Dr. Taylor—himself a seasoned pilot—expects a great amount of interest to be shown in the club which was started several years ago by Dr. Penrose Albright. The organization had 25 members last year.

Flying Arrangements Made

"We have arrangements for contract flying with a local field, whereby we will receive all types of training, under reduced rates, in order to meet FAA qualifications" Dr. Taylor noted.

All University students with an interest in flying are eligible to belong, according to Charles Basom, an officer of the group.

Dr. Taylor, a rated pilot, logged 1,400 hours in the Far East during World War II, working with the 14th Air Force and the famed "Flying Tigers" two years. He was engaged in the dramatic operation of flying 898 pilots and crewman from behind Japanese lines—mission of 28 months.

Small wonder, then, that Dr. Taylor takes an avid interest in aviation by helping to guide this campus organization.

Robot Teachers?

Issues of Today

By TOM VANDERHOOFVEN

Sunflower Staff Member

Robots are invading the nation's classrooms!

First it's educational television and now, moving into the "school marm's" business are new fangled things called teaching machines.

And to worsen matters for a teacher jittery about technological advances in the academic world, the machines have a hidden virtue—they don't require students to do homework!

The most extensive use of the machines is in Roanoke, Va., classrooms. A major project recently was launched there by Encyclopedia Britannica Films and Hollins College.

Maurice Mitchell, president of E. B. F., said in an interview that the teaching machines are more accurately called self-instruction devices.

But do they teach as well as a teacher? How do they work?

"During the school year that ended in June," Mitchell said, "a class of 34 eighth grade pupils at Roanoke school were given beginning high school algebra, ordinarily offered in the 9th grade.

"The teaching was done by machines. The class finished the year-long course in half the usual time, with the students showing an excellent grasp of the material covered as indicated by national examination material." Mitchell also pointed out that no lectures, classroom demonstration, textbooks or home work were used.

After additional tests are made, the machines will be available to schools throughout the nation, Mitchell said.

The teaching machines have their roots in studies undertaken by experimental psychologists more than 30 years ago. They are based on the premise that the "tutorial system"—one teacher to one pupil—is logically the best process for imparting knowledge and stimulating individual thinking.

Of course, at the present time, there are many more students than tutors.

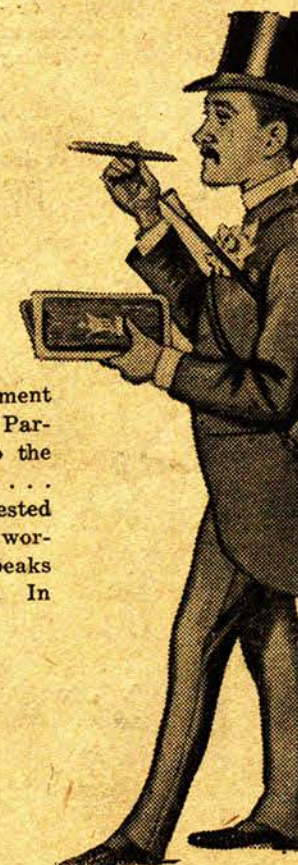

Basically, the teaching 'robot' sounds like the newest and best method of teaching, but it is doubtful if students in America will ever be taught in force by anyone or anything less than an educated, qualified, human teacher.

'Tough' Aggies Next For Hank's Charges

By TOMMY VANDERHOOFVEN
Sunflower Sports Editor

Looking for their fourth straight win will be the Shockers as they battle the tough New Mexico State Aggies at Las Cruces. Game time is set for 8:45 p.m.

The Aggies, Sun Bowl champions last season, have won all five of their games thus far this year and have won them by convincing scores. The team opened its season with a 41-0 win over Mexico University and followed it with wins over Tulsa, 38-18, Trinity, 45-0, University of New Mexico, 34-0, and McMurry, 47-17. The Aggies are currently the twentieth ranked team in the nation.

Coach Hank Foldberg's charges, after upsetting the formchart for Cincinnati, 25-3, last Saturday, have declared the Missouri Valley Conference forecast just as damp as Nippert Stadium was. Tulsa was given the nod in pre-season balloting for the conference crown with defending North Texas State rated a strong contender.

After Cincinnati drubbed North Texas, 21-0, two weeks ago, the Bearcats were ready to assume command. However, Foldberg's squad put together what may have been their finest football effort of the season in deciding the issue by halftime at Cincinnati.

End Nelson Toburen was named Missouri Valley lineman of the week for his fine effort against the Bearcats. He was in on nine tackles, blocked a punt, and even raced a punt return back 24 yards to set up another Shocker drive. Alex Zyskowski, who scored 16 points from his quarterback spot, received high praise for his fine play in the Cincy game also.

New Mexico State coach Warren Woodson had 20 returning lettermen this season, and lost only 7 from last year's squad. Numbered among the lettermen are halfback Pervis Atkins and Bob Gatters who are high in individual statistics across the nation thus far. Last year Atkins led the country in rushing, scoring, and punt returns. Aggie quarterback Charley Johnson led the nation in scoring passes last season.

Coach Foldberg said: "New Mexico State has more speed and versatility on offense than any team we've seen this year. This is undoubtedly one of the finest football teams in the nation this year. I don't believe you can slow them down much. Our chances might be better if we could have that rain follow us to Las Cruces."

Bowling Genius to 'Show Off' Here

Harry Smith, who has won more than $25,000 during the past year with his bowling prowess, will make two appearances here next Wednesday.

He will be in the CAC bowling area between 2 and 5 p.m., and will make his final appearance at 7 p.m. the same day. An exhibition, clinic, and a match with a CAC team member is on the agenda.

Little known a year ago, Smith has accomplished many things since then. He stayed on the nationally-televised Jackpot Bowling show for eight successive weeks and climaxed his streak by cracking the $14,000 jackpot. A few months later, last January, he won bowling's most valued title, the national individual match game championship, which carries a prize tag of $10,000. He is also a member of the 1960-61 All-Pro team, along with such bowlers as Don Carter, Billy Golembiewski, Dick Weber, and Ray Bluth.

Smith got the bowling fever while young. Despite his fragile build as a teenager in Cleveland, the act of throwing a 16-pound ball at a group of pins appealed to Harry. By the time he was 17, he was bowling only with adult teams and was averaging in the 190's in Cleveland scratch leagues. After leaving the army, he was quickly signed by Detroit's Pfeiffer Beer team. He switched to the Stroh Beer team the following season and led the traveling league with a 210 average.

Ralph LaFever, CAC recreational director, and responsible for Mr. Smith's appearance, said "This type of performer appearing at WU should make all bowling fans feel very privileged to have the opportunity to see him."
