WU Enrollment Reaches Record 6,730

Dr. Lindquist Leaves Teaching To Become 5th WU President

Dr. Emory Lindquist became the fifth president of the University this month when he assumed his new office.

Dr. Emory Lindquist

He was selected this summer by the University Board of Regents from a long list of candidates. The news of his selection reached Dr. Lindquist while he was visiting Repton College in Derbyshire, England, on his summer tour through Sweden and England.

Dr. Lindquist came to the Univesrity in 1953 after serving ten years as president of Bethany College in Lindsborg, Kansas.

During his tenure at the University he has served as dean of faculties and dean of the College of Liberal Arts. He had resigned his position of dean of faculties to become a full time teacher.

When asked why he has consented to again accept an administrative post, he replied, "Because enough responsible people have urged me to do so."

"Since I was enthusiastic and still am enthusiastic about the action of Governor Anderson and the Kansas Legislature in creating Wichita State University, I felt an obligation, after the invitation was extended to me, to demonstrate my wholehearted endorsement of the action by direct participation," added Dr. Lindquist.

Dr. Lindquist received his A.B. degree from Bethany. He then attended Oxford University, in Oxford, England, as a Rhodes scholar where he received both a B.A. and a M.A. degree.

In 1941 he earned his Ph.D. at the University of Colorado.

The King of Sweden in 1952 knighted him for his contribution to education and studies he had done on Swedish immigration.

In this same year Dr. Lindquist was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree from Augustana College in Illinois.

He has a deep interest in history and is the author of a book, "Smoky Valley People," which concerns the history of Lindsborg and Bethany College.

Dr. Lindquist is past president of both commissions of the Kansas State Teachers Association and a member of the Kansas Advisory Committee of the United States Commission on Civil Rights.

722 Over Last Year's Total May Strain WU Budget

More than 6,700 students had enrolled at the University when the registrar's office closed Wednesday, according to Worth A. Fletcher, registrar.

A total of 6,730 was reached Wednesday afternoon compared to a total of 6,008 at the same time last year, a gain of 722 students. This represents a 12 percent increase.

The 6,700 figure represents an all-time high enrollment for the University. When the Municipal University of Wichita was established in 1926, the enrollment totaled 569. By 1939, the enrollment reached 1,512 and by 1949, the figure was 3,390.

The Korean War cut the enrollment to 2,930 in 1950. There has been a steady increase since this time with 3,319 students in 1953, and 3,848 in 1954. In 1955, enrollment reached the 4,000 mark with 4,392 students listed in the official count for the fall semester.

An increase of 1,100 students for a total of 5,470 in 1956 marked another plateau. Since that time there has been a steady increase with the enrollment reaching 6,000 in the fall of 1959.

However, the figure was rather short-lived due to dropouts. It is expected that the 6,730 figure will be altered before the official count is released in October, but the figure is not expected to fall below 6,500, according to Dr. Fletcher.

The increase has caused some concern to the administration with regards to the budget which was based on an expected enrollment of 6,400. The budget for next year is based on an enrollment of 6,800 and will be rather conservative if this year's enrollment may be used as a guide.

3 Positions To Be Filled On SGA, CAC

One Campus Activity Center Govering Board office and two Student Government offices were announced vacant this week by SGA president, Dave Leach.

These positions include SGA freshman representative, SGA student court justice, and night student representative on the Campus Activity Center Board.

Freshmen who wish to run for freshman representative must fill out an application in the SGA office. Applicants are required to have a grade index of 2.25. After interviewing each student, Leach will present a prospective applicant to the SGA for approval.

Any student who runs for student court justice must also apply at the SGA office. Applicants are required to carry nine credit hours and have a grade index of 2.5. Appointment for student justice is made on approval of the SGA, and the position is held on a two year basis.

Requirements for night student representative of the CAC Board include a grade average of 2.0 and enrollment in evening courses. Application is made at the SGA office, and appointment is made by Leach.

Griffin to Appear Here; 1st in Lecture Series

John H. Griffin, author of "Black Like Me," will appear on campus Monday as a guest of the University Forum Board, according to Mel Moorhouse, head of the University Forum Board.

He will appear at 3 p.m. in the CAC Ballroom for an informal seminar with any interested students and faculty. He will appear at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center Auditorium.

At both meetings he will speak about his experiences while traveling through the South disguised as a Negro. These experiences are recorded in the widely-read book, "Black Like Me."

With the aid of a dermatologist, he was able to assume the role of a Negro and recorded the actions and reactions of himself and others as he traveled throughout the South. Through the disguise, he was able to put himself in the place of the Negro and feel as they must feel towards the actions of the whites.

He left his job and his family temporarily to make the trip but the reactions of his friends and neighbors when he returned to his home community forced him to take his family and move. He has since had many speaking engagements telling others of his experiences.

He will appear in Wichita Monday through the cooperation of the University Forum Board and the Wichita Commission on Human Rights.

The second in the series of University Forum Board lecturers will be Miss Margaret Mead, well-known American anthropologist, who will appear at a convocation on Wednesday.

Miss Mead's career began in 1928, when, at the age of 26, her first book, "Growing Up in Samoa," was published. The book was based on a field study in Samoa.

Miss Mead is known for her vitality in everything which she does, and her speaking is no exception. Her topic will be the "Role of the Educated Woman," and the convocation will be directed especially at the coeds of the University, although males will not be excluded from the convocation.

Debate Team Begins Work For 1st Meet

The University debating team has begun work in preparation for the 1963-64 debating season, according to Bobby Patton debate coach.

The University debaters are preparing to debate the national question: "Resolved: That the federal government should guarantee a higher education to all qualified high school graduates." Study sessions are being held at 4 p.m. each day in the Commons Building.

The advanced debating team this season will be composed of Bob Hunt, Dennis Smith, Bob Glenn, and Keith Williamson, all of whom are returning veterans from last year's squad. Last year these four men took second place in the Missouri Valley Conference tourney.

The University Debate Society will host its own tournament here Nov. 22-23.

The debating season will begin this year with the beginning team making a trip to Kansas State University Oct. 18-19. The advanced debaters will travel to Bethany Nazarene College in Oklahoma City on this same date.

The Society anticipates some twenty tournaments in the coming season. Other expected activities are trips to Texas Christian University, University of Arkansas, the Air Force Academy, Northwestern University, University of Arizona, University of Indiana, and Georgetown University in Washington D. C.

Army Blues To Hold Tea

The Army Blues, an honorary coed marching unit, will hold a tea from 2 to 4 p.m., Sept. 22, in the CAC ballroom, according to Bobbi Weir, Army Blues' Public Relations Officer.

All women students carrying 9 or more hours and having a grade point average of 2.0 or better are eligible for membership in Army Blues and are invited to attend the tea. Women who are interested should sign up in the Student Services Office, Morrison Hall.

Drill instruction for newcomers will be given Monday through Friday of next week. Next Friday, a committee will choose finalists for the final drill-down which is to be held Oct. 1.

At the final drill-down Army Blues' members will select from the group of finalists the girls needed to fill out the unit.

1963 Yearbooks Available Monday

There are a limited number of 1963 yearbooks still available, according to Gene Bratton, Parnassus advisor. Those persons who were eligible but didn't receive theirs last year may pick up an annual between 2 and 4 p.m. next Monday and Tuesday in the Journalism office, Rm. 110, Commons.

SGA Selects Coed for American Royal

Judy Snapp, an Education senior, was chosen by the Student Government Association last Tuesday evening to represent the University in a queen contest at the American Royal Livestock Show in Kansas City, Mo.

Miss Snapp and her chaperon will arrive in Kansas City on Oct. 3, and the contest will be held the following week-end. All expenses will be paid by the American Royal Livestock Association.

If Miss Snapp wins, she will remain in Kansas City the following week and make personal appearances before civic clubs and organizations.

Last year Dorothy Lund was the representative from the University. The American Royal Livestock Association extends an invitation to all land-grant schools. The University receives a special invitation.

In other business before the SGA the following committee chairmen were appointed: academic, Virginia Schoonover; fact-finding, Fred Funk; elections, Dan Tontz; special events, Bob Long; athletics, Jim Waskiewicz; organizations, Patty Brown; and Collegiate Council for United Nations, Catha Cowgill.

They also discussed plans for Parents' Day which will be held on October 12, when the Shockers will face Hardin-Simmons, and for Homecoming, Nov. 9, when the Shockers will play Dayton University.

This was the SGA's first meeting of the new school year. Through out the year they are scheduled to meet every first and third Tuesday of each month. The next scheduled meeting is set for Oct. 1.

President's Greeting

The calendar provides opportunities for identifying the new and the promising. This fact looms large as September is marked on the calendar and a new academic year begins.

I join my colleagues in expressing the wish that this academic year may be a meaningful one for all our students. An excellent faculty and a fine curriculum provides a rich invitation to learning. We hope that this year at the University will provide new and greater dimensions of knowledge, ideas, and values, and that there will be great gains in personal resources and understanding.

This academic year is of historic importance in the life of the University. One era comes to an end as we stand on the threshold of a new era. The action of the Kansas Legislature in the 1963 Session, which created Wichita State University as of July 1, 1964, has great promise for the future. Rich in tradition and strong in present achievement, this University looks forward with confidence to the future.

I extend to all members of the faculty, staff, and the student body a most cordial welcome.

—Dr. Emory Lindquist

We Begin Again

This first issue marks the beginning of the 68th year of publication of The Sunflower.

The Sunflower endeavors to inform you on all important campus events and outside events of campus interest. At the same time we hope to entertain you and provide a forum for student opinion.

We encourage letters to the editor. This is the students' newspaper and should be a place where his opinions can be aired. All letters to the editor must be signed.

Due to a limited staff it will not always be possible for us to cover all departments and organizations effectively. Therefore, we urge that you notify The Sunflower office of your news to assure more complete coverage. Deadline for the Friday paper is 4 p.m. Wednesday and for the Tuesday paper, 9 a.m. Saturday.

5 University Offices Move; Morrison Becomes New Home

By DORIS MORTIMER, Managing Editor

One of the oldest and most prominent of the campus buildings, Morrison Library, was left nearly vacant in August of 1962 when the library moved into the new Ablah Library building.

Just one resident of the building remained, the Audio Visual Center, still located in the north basement area.

Early this year, the work of renovating and remodeling the building began. Several offices and departments which were located in other buildings on campus can now be found in Morrison Hall.

The first department to make the move was the department of American Civilization. The department, under the direction of Dr. Ross Taylor, was formerly located in a section of the English department office, and is now found in the north-east section of the second floor.

The president's office was moved to the former location of the Heimple Room, on the second floor, in June of 1963.

University College and the Student Services moved into combined operation in early June and are found on the first floor. They had had separate operations and maintained separate offices in Jardine prior to their move.

Now located in the one main office are the offices of Mrs. Josephine Fugate, Dean of Women; Dr. George Comstock, Co-ordinator of Men's Activities and Director of Counselling; Miss Elizabeth Gane, International Students Advisor; Gil Jones, director of Job Placement Bureau; and the offices of Dr. J. R. Berg, Dean of the University College, and M. P. Moorhouse, Assistant to the Dean of the University College and Head of the University Forum Board.

This office also handles on and off-campus housing and student organizations and activities.

Dr. Don Swickard has recently joined the University staff in the capacity of Veterans Administration counselor. This service was created by the University in cooperation with the Veterans Administration to aid in counseling veterans and orphans of veterans.

The testing office, formerly located in Fiske Hall, now is located in Rm. 004, Morrison.

All students are urged to use the Information Center established in the main hall of Morrison. Students may go to this desk with any questions which might normally be handled by any of the above mentioned services. The desk will be staffed with personnel who will be able to handle any questions students might have.

Certain areas of service to students housed in other buildings on campus are: Division of Continuing Education, under the direction of Mrs. Helen Crockett, now located in 113 Jardine, the former location of Student Services; Student Aid, directed by Mr. Paul Chrisman, Rm. 100 Fiske; Scholarship office, directed by Mr. Henry Malone, 114 Fiske; Student Health Center, Rm. 111 Commons; Reading Lab, Rm. 003 Fiske and the Writing Lab, Rm. 320 Jardine.

Appointments To Faculty Fill 44 Posts

Forty-four additions to the University faculty and staff were made by the Board of Regents during the summer.

Following is a list of the departments and the new personnel: art, Clarke H. Garnsey; biology, Dr. Harry D. Rounds, Donald A. Distler, and John T. Bish; business administration, Fred Soper; chemistry, Dr. Robert Carroll.

Engineering, Andrew J. Craig, George Dickey, Robert Springer, John R. Doig, Jr., and Marvin Davidson; English, Erwin Schawacker and Dr. Norman Gregor; education psychology, Larry L. Havlicek, and Glen Nicholson; geology, Calvin G. Noah; history, Otis Mitchell, Lewis A. Dralle, James Gray, and Richard Todd; industrial education, James M. Uhl.

Languages, J. E. Angulo, Ermal E. Garinger, Dr. John Green, Wilhemina Schoener, Robert D. Stabler, and Lillian Wall; mathematics, Donald L. Schmidt; music, David R. Sprung, James A. Sewrey, Gerald Landon, and Walter J. Myers.

Philosophy, Richard Linebeck; philosophy and religious education, Raymond Ahrens; physics, Garnett Hill, and Gerald D. Loper, Jr.; political science, Dr. Cornelius Cotter, chairman; and speech, Quincalee Brown.

In addition to these, George A. Schultz, who was on leave last year, has returned to the history department, and Donald Higdon will join the School of Engineering for the second semester.

Additions to the staff include Dr. Robert W. Lewis, administration; Ronald Scott, librarian, Dr. Donald Swickard, counselor in student services, and Dr. Robert Bergelt, instructor and assistant cataloger.

Flu Shots Available

All students, faculty, staff members, and their spouses are urged to obtain their flu vaccine shots as early as possible, according to Mrs. Wanda Maltby, Nurse Counselor.

The shots may be obtained in the Student Health Office, Rm. 111, Commons, between the hours of 2 and 4 p.m. Monday, 10 and noon Wednesday, and 8 and 10 a.m. Friday, according to Mrs. Maltby.

It takes at least two weeks for the body to build an immunity to the flu virus so shots should be obtained as early as possible, Mrs. Maltby added.

Bits And Pieces

The name of this column, in case you haven't noticed, is "Bits and Pieces." Upperclassmen please excuse me but the freshmen I've seen running around here don't seem old enough to read. Aren't they young, though?

The column could as easily have been called "Odd's and Ends" or some other cheery non-commital title. It is scheduled to appear at regular intervals, which means that it will be spasmodic at best. I'm Gwen Vorderstrasse and this is the last time that I'll mention that.

When I'm trying to find a parking space at 8 a.m. (you people who come at 9 or 10 must really have a problem), I become rather perturbed at the authorities who saw fit to put a new building in the middle of the Morrison Hall parking lot. Why not put it over by the new Education Building? That way the future teachers of our future children would have a place to go for inspiration or something.

At the start of summer, some energetic soul in the library got hold of a Wichita State University stamp and stamped all the books with it. I think that they'd better use one of those big dictionaries and find the word premature. We aren't that yet, and it would be nice to retain our identity until we are.

One nice thing, the new school doesn't seem to interfere with coffee and bridge for everyone in the CAC. Everything is fine at the Snack Bar at noon as long as you don't try to eat there.

Thing to see: The Sept. 24 showing for Film Society, "Last Year at Marienbad." It should be very good.

So far that chapel looks like a squashed geisha house.

The girls trying out for drill teams ought to begin their annual marching sessions pretty soon. I should think that having to appear at 7 a.m. and march would wash out all but a very few earnest ones.

Just think group, this is the last year at $12.50 and/or $15 hour.

Shocks to Battle Sundevils in Opener

By TED RINEBARGER, Sports Editor

The University of Wichita opens its 1963 football season tomorrow night against Arizona State University in Sun Devil Stadium at Tempe, Ariz.

Coach Chelo Huerta's Shockers will be definite underdogs against a power-laden ASU team that boasts a returning backfield that led the nation in total offense last season. Sun Devil coach Frank Kush has seven backs on his squad who run the 100-yard dash in less than 10 seconds.

Henry Carr, the fastest member of this talented group, may miss tomorrow night's contest because of a leg injury. Carr, a 6-foot 3-inch, 185 pound junior halfback, is the current world record holder in the 220-yard dash.

Wichita has some talented backs of its own with such speedsters as All-MVC halfback Miller Farr and juco transfer Sullivan (Pete) Mills providing the break-away threat with sophomores Harold Meyers and Pete DiDonato, the power. Also returning is quarterback Henry Schichtle who showed signs of coming into his own late last season.

Farr set an all time WU record last season with 332 yards gained via kickoff returns. The Beaumont, Texas, junior led the nation in average yards per return with a 30.2 mean, and furnished the Shockers with a top breakway threat. Miller could become the first Shocker to make the All-MVC team three years in a row since Jimmy Klisanin, another halfback great.

Particular attention will be focused on DiDonato as he may be the only fullback available for duty at game time. Reserves at this position are nursing injuries with highly touted juco transfer Tony Penleton out with a slight shoulder separation and sophomore Kenny Schomacker limping with two sprained ankles. Penleton will make the trip however, and may see some action. DiDonato has good credentials as the 5-foot 10-inch, 195 pounder from Philadelphia, Pa., was voted the hardest runner and the best blocking back by his teammates last spring.

Although the Sun Devils might have the edge in the backfield, WU can match them man-for-man in the line and may have the edge in some spots as ASU lost 5 starters from last year's line. Wichita is very strong at the tackle position with four returning lettermen, and red-shirt Butch Davis, a 6-foot 3-inch, 205 pound candidate from Belle Glade, Fla. Tackle lettermen are Dick Klein, Bill Parcells, Steve Barilla, and second team All-MVC selection, Fred Buss.

Wichita lost starting center LeRoy Leep and reserve Don Boyett but can boast one of the top sophomore linemen in the mid-west in former high

ONCE MORE UNTO THE BREACH, DEAR FRIENDS

Today I begin my tenth year of writing this column in your campus newspaper. Ten years is a long time; it is, in fact, what some scholarly people like to call a decade—from the Latin word deccum, meaning the floor of a ship. It is, to my mind, remarkable that the Romans had such a word as deccum when you consider that ships did not exist until 1620 when John Alden invented the Mayflower. Alden, a prodigiously ingenious man, also invented the ear lobe and Pocahontas.

Ships were a very popular mode of travel—especially over water—until 1912 when the Swede, Ivar Krueger, invented the iceberg. Krueger also invented the match, which is a good thing, because without the match, how would you light your Marlboro Cigarettes? I cannot overstress the importance of lighting your Marlboro Cigarettes, for Marlboro Cigarettes, unlighted, provide, at best, only limited smoking pleasure.

You might even call it the limp or spongy sell

I mention Marlboros because this column is an advertisement, brought to you through the school year by the makers of Marlboros. Marlboros come in soft pack or Flip-Top box. The makers of Marlboros come in dark suits with thin lapels—except on weekends when they come in yoke-neck jerseys and white duck trousers. White ducks come in flocks. They are primarily fresh water dwellers, although they have been successfully raised in salt water too. Another salt water denizen I'm sure you will find enjoyable is plankton—a mess of tiny organisms like diatoms and algae and like that which float sluggishly near the surface of the sea. It is ironic that these creatures, microscopic in size, should supply the principal source of food for the earth's largest animal, the whale. Whales, I must say, are not at all pleased with this arrangement, because it takes the average whale, eating steadily, 48 hours to gather a day's meal. This leaves them almost no time for water sports or reading Melville. It is a lucky thing for all of us that whales are unaware they are mammals, not fish, and could, if they tried, live just as well on land as in water. I mean, you add ten or twelve million whales to our Sunday traffic and you would have congestion that makes the mind boggle.

But I digress. Today, I was saying, I begin my tenth year of writing this column for Marlboro Cigarettes in your campus newspaper. I will, in each column, say a few kind words about Marlboros—just as you will, once you try that fine tobacco flavor, that pristine white filter, that supple soft pack, that infrangible Flip-Top box. These references to Marlboro will be brief and unobtrusive, for I do not believe in the hard sell. What I favor is the soft sell—you might even call it the limp or spongy sell. I hasten to state that the makers of Marlboro in ten full years have not once complained about my desultory sales approach. Neither have they paid me.

But that is of small consequence. Aside from fleeting mentions of Marlboro, this column has another, and more urgent, mission: to cast the hot white light of free inquiry upon the vexing questions that trouble college America—questions like "Should the Student Council have the power to levy tariffs? and "Are roommates sanitary?" and "Should housemothers be compelled to retire upon reaching the age of 26?"

Perhaps, reasoning together, we can find the answers. Perhaps not. But if we fail, let it never be said that it was for want of trying.

I thank you.

KMUW Begins 16th Year; To Offer Variety of Programs

The student staffed and managed radio station on the University campus will begin its sixteenth year of broadcasting this fall. Radio station KMUW-FM plans to go on the air in about two weeks.

Working from an expanded program base, the station will offer a number of top feature programs of campus interest, as well as several "live" broadcasts of campus programs, and University athletics this year. In addition to the abundance of feature programming to be aired, the KMUW-FM staff plans to continue to program an excellent selection of music, ranging from folk music to the great classical works.

Brad Awe, a Liberal Arts junior, is student manager of KMUW-FM this year; he is assisted by Charles Frodsham, operations manager, and Mike Kucharo, program director. The station will be entirely staffed by members of the student body. An excellent opportunity is afforded University students, by KMUW-FM, to learn fundamentals of radio broadcasting.

An effort has been made to strengthen the radio curriculum this year. A number of new courses have been added, including work in a radio "lab," in connection with KMUW-FM. Faculty advisor of the University radio station is Don Hansen, assistant professor of speech.

Tentative plans call for KMUW-FM to operate on an expanded program schedule. Monday through Friday, a broadcast day from 12:45 p.m. until 10:15 p.m. is planned.

Although no schedule has been arranged for week-end operation, students expect to be on the air during a greater number of hours than has been scheduled the past few years.

Efforts to begin broadcasting simultaneously with the start of school were thwarted Monday, when difficulty was experienced with the transmitter housing unit. According to operations manager Frodsham, the difficulty should be corrected soon, and the station should begin its broadcast year in about two weeks.

KMUW-FM broadcasts with an authorized power of 250 watts, at 89.1 megacycles on the FM band.

Need a Job?

Jobs ranging from receptionists to bus drivers are now available to University students seeking part-time employment.

Male :

Counter man, restaurant on E. Kellogg, $35 per week plus meals.

Direct sales, Watkins Products, choose your own hours.

Janitors, various locations, 5 p.m. to 9 p.m., $1.25 per hour.

Bus drivers, 7:30 to 9:30 a.m. and 3:30 to 5:00 p.m., $100 per month.

Female:

Cashier, hospital, weekends, eight hours a day, $1.35 per hour.

Salesgirls, downtown, ready-to-wear, ½ days.

Cashier-waitress, E. Central, 5 p.m. to midnight, $1 per hour.

Receptionist, aircraft company at airport, weekends.

Salesgirls, mature, Eastgate.

Waitress, restaurant near North High.

Babysitters and housekeepers are also needed.

Interested students must apply to Gilford Jones, placement officer, Rm. 107, Morrison Hall, as soon as possible.

Rockefeller Hosts WU Senior

Living in penthouses, traveling in thickly carpeted airplanes, and having a chauffered limousine at your disposal are things which most people encounter only in their dreams.

However, all this was part of Merle Gates' experiences recently when he was a guest of John D. Rockefeller IV.

Gates, political science senior, met John Rockefeller when he was on campus last semester in connection with Peace Corp work. John is a nephew of Governor Nelson Rockefeller, and at 26 is one of the most eligible bachelors in the United States.

All of Gates' expenses were paid by the Rockefellers during his six day stay which included visits to Washington D. C. and Albany, New York as well as New York City. Commuting between these various cities was done in a 4 engine airplane which was carpeted and had, among other things, a bar and a business desk. This is one of several airplanes owned by the Rockefeller family, according to Gates.

Gates' living quarters were penthouses. While in Washington it was a five room and in New York City a four room penthouse. He had a chauffeured Cadillac limousine at his disposal at all times.

On the more serious side Gates had a private 40 minute conference with Governor Rockefeller.

From his chat with the Governor and talks with people that work with him Gates observed, "The Governor has an immense reserve of energy and vitality. He is very personable and outgoing and commands a great personal loyalty of the people who are around him."

While in New York City Gates and young Rockefeller went to Greenwich Village to see a play. Walking down the street Gates noticed two conspicuously well dressed men following them. He mentioned to Rockefeller that he thought they were being followed.

Rockefeller told him that he knew they were being followed as these were two of the four bodyguards who were assigned to them.

This season marks Chelo Huerta's second year at WU and the former Florida guard looks for a much improved showing over last year's disappointing 3-7 record. Huerta sites a deeper backfield, a more experienced line, and a good team attitude as factors pointing to a better season.

The Shocker mentor expects a wide-open game at Tempe.

E E Dept. Gets Contract

An $18,000 contract was awarded to the University electrical engineering department recently by the United States Bureau of Reclamation, Denver, Colo., for a special study project.

The project will investigate "System Simulation to Determine Alternator Parameter Effects on Voltage Levels During Abnormal Operating Situations."

According to Dr. Howard B. Hamilton, professor of electrical engineering and head of the project, the object of the research will be to devise techniques for studying the effects of parameter changes in generators and alternators and in electrical systems caused by abnormal situations.

The research will culminate in the design of a simulated power system. The simulated system will consist of a scaled down electronic analogue computer. If the project is a success, the Bureau of Reclamation will be able to make specifications on electric power generators in view of their performance in a specific system.

Assisting Dr. Hamilton with the project are two recent WU graduates, Robert B. Springer, instructor of electrical engineering, and Bobby R. Hunt, research assistant. Both men received their B. S. degrees during June 9 commencement exercises, and are beginning work toward their Masters degree in the electrical engineering graduate program.
