University To Offer Seminar Scholarship

A $250 scholarship and four hours of undergraduate credit in Humanities 299 are being offered by the 1964 European Seminar, according to Mrs. Helen Crockett, director of the Division of Continuing Education.

A committee composed of members of the University faculty will select the recipient of the $250 scholarship after the deadline for receipt of applications on March 16. All full-time students from all colleges and universities may apply. Notification of the award will be made by April 15, according to Mrs. Crockett.

The 1964 Seminar group will depart by jet flight from New York on June 25. After visiting eight European countries many of the group will return by jet to New York on August 5. Some students who wish to remain in Europe after the conclusion of the Seminar may make arrangements, with sufficient notice, to delay departure on the dates of their choice.

In each of the eight countries, students will meet with the foreign nationals who are shaping their country's policies. They will hear lectures and participate in discussions of the country's policies. They will hear lectures and participate in discussions of the country's political, social and economic problems. The study of European culture will also include

Two-Bit Flick Set For FAC Tonight

"The Devil at 4 O'clock," starring Spencer Tracy, Frank Sinatra, Kerwin Mathews, and Jean Pierre Aumont, will be the Two-Bit Flick at 8 tonight in the FAC Auditorium.

The story is set in the South Pacific, on the island of Talua. Here, on the side of a dormant volcano, Tracy has built and is maintaining a jungle hospital. As a stop over while enroute to an island prison elsewhere in the Pacific, Sinatra arrives with two other convicts.

The criminals' every meeting with the priest strikes fire. They join forces only when the volcano erupts.

The Two-Bit Flick for next week is "High Society."

New Valentine Attitude Observed

By BILL RAPPS, News Editor

In ancient Rome, Valentine's Day was a pagan ritual. The question now seems to be, "Is Valentine's Day truly an occasion for sending tender messages of affection instead of a day for throwing an orgy?"

Well, the answer is probably 'yes' in most cases. Unfortunately, not all people get mushy over Feb. 14 with income taxes due in two months (Valentine's are deductible if you send them to a non-profit organization).

One coed was asked the question, "What would you think if you suddenly received an expensive valentine from a handsome young man who had hardly seemed to notice you before?"

"I'd think," she replied, "good grief! I haven't sent him one yet."

And this is all too often the attitude, especially among the adolescent set. Valentine's Day seems to become perhaps a Gallup Poll of popularity and a political campaign rolled into one.

If a seventh grade junior miss gets a bagful of valentines from male admirers, she goes to school and tells all the girls that she was high-scoring for that year. The definition of a social failure in February is someone who has to put RSVP on his valentines.

Of course, success can be assured by sending out more valentines. The more literature one sends out, the better one will do in the final balloting on Feb. 14.

On the other hand, the old axiom that the more valentines you send the more you receive doesn't always hold true. For example, legend has it that there was an English artist who sent dozens of valentines every year and never received any in return.

The fact that he painted his own valentines wasn't so bad, but he painted them on 7-foot by 7-foot canvases. He had these gigantic "will-you-be-mine" valentines delivered to female acquaintances all over Europe.

Women all over England and the continent suddenly found themselves the proud recipients of 49

Polish Film Scheduled To Open Egghead Week

Egghead Week activities open Monday with the showing of "Joan of the Angels" at 8 p.m. in the FAC auditorium. Richard Meyer, director of educational television, will introduce the Polish film.

MORTAR BOARD member Linda George is shown hanging posters announcing Egghead Week Activities. Similar posters will appear around campus next week.

Mortar Board, senior honor society for University women, will sponsor the salute to superior students for the sixth consecutive year. Ann Kaenig, Liberal Arts senior, is serving as chairman of events.

A pizza party for prospective Mortar Board members will be held at 5:30 p.m. Sunday in the home of Dr. and Mrs. James Ruoff.

A discussion of "Joan of the Angels" will be conducted by Meyer on Tuesday.

Six lecturers providing the select-a-lecture program on Wednesday will be: Dr. Paul Swartz on "Adventures in Mysticism"; Dr. Leo Kreter, "Birth Pangs of a Perceptive Listener"; Dr. Kelly So-wards, "The Restless Dead"; Dr. Larry Jones, "Riddle of Isms"; Dr. John Breazeale, "Image of Things: World Who Are You"; and Dr. Anthony Genova, "Paradox of Freedom."

"College Morals" will be the subject of a panel discussion scheduled for evening.

President Emory Lindquist will be the guest speaker at an invitational scholarship breakfast concluding the week's activities at 7 a.m. Friday.

The unique Egghead program was initiated by the 1959 Mortar Board Class at Wichita and has attracted the interest of other schools as well as the national Mortar Board Headquarters.

University Mortar Board members are: Nancy Okerberg, president; Sally Oldenburg, Linda George, and Marilyn Ochs, all Fine Arts students; Ann Kaenig, Kay Dickens Gassaway, Glenda Gray, and Roberta Rude, Liberal Arts students; and Glennie Humann in the College of Education.

Lenten Series Marks First Chapel Use

A series of Lenten Worship services is being held from 7:15 a.m. to 7:50 a.m. each Wednesday until Easter in the new Harvey D. Grace Memorial Chapel, according to the Rev. Thomas Townsend, director of United Christian Fellowship.

Rev. Townsend conducted the opening services Wednesday morning. Clergy of various faiths will participate in the series.

Scheduled speakers include: Dr. George Schultz, assistant professor of history; Dr. Max Morgan, minister of the First Baptist Church; the Rev. Richard Wilke, minister of Pleasant Valley Methodist Church; the Rev. A. R. Bordenkircher, lecturer in philosophy and religion and director of the Catholic Student Center; and the Rev. Samuel Widiger, Lutheran Institutional Chaplain.

The Lenten Series marks the first scheduled use of the chapel since its opening last week.

Student Aid Office Expands Scholarship, Loan Facilities

Greater enrollment and an increased program have resulted in the recent expansion of the scholarship-loan office located in Rm. 100, Fiske Hall.

Henry Malone, professor of English and scholarship counselor, is now in charge of scholarships. Paul Chrisman, professor and scholarship counselor, is in charge of loans. Both divisions of student aid were formerly combined under Chrisman.

A large number of student loans and scholarships are available annually through this office. Approximately $140,000 in scholarships was received by 343 students this year, while some 1,200 students were granted between $350,000 and $400,000 in loans, according to Malone and Chrisman.

Sources of scholarship money are endowments and a university fund. Under the state system, beginning July 1, all scholarships and athletic grants-in-aid handled through this office will be dependent on private endowments. One major source of scholarship money will be the income from the recently established $450,000 McGregor fund, Malone said.

Three types of loans are available according to Chrisman. The largest source is the National Defense Student Loan for which the Federal government provides nine-tenths to be matched by one-tenth from the University. This is a long term loan to be repaid over a 10 year period after the student leaves school.

The University Loan Program provides short term loans to be repaid within from one semester to six months.

United Student Aid Fund loans are made individually through banks and are approved by the University. These may be repaid over a three year period after the student leaves school.

Basic requirements to qualify for both scholarships and loans include an acceptable academic record and need for financial assistance to attend school.

Applications and additional information are available in the Student Aid reception office.

Chrisman has been in charge of Student Aid since 1957.

Malone was formerly assistant dean of Liberal Arts and acting dean for one year.

square-foot valentines. Often they were still wet and had freight charges against them. A woman in Paris, also an artist, is said to have cut the huge canvas valentines into smaller squares and painted her own pictures over them.

Which only goes to show you that today's messages of affection are tomorrow's scratchpaper.

The modern greeting card industries have come up with still another approach to St. Valentine's Day. "Humorous" valentines are now the rage. They have funny little punch lines inside that usually sum up quite well the contemporary spirit of Valentine's Day.

One of these cards is a classic. On the outside it says: "I've sent you this valentine with all my heart, and there's just one thing I want you to understand, dearest..."

And on the inside it says: Don't call me, I'll call you."

Egghead Week

The sixth annual Egghead Week is scheduled for next week.

The activities of Egghead Week are planned and organized by women of Mortar Board, senior women at the University who have distinguished themselves by their outstanding academic records and by their enterprising activity in varied campus activities.

Egghead Week is an endeavor on their part to present an informative and entertaining week of activities for students who seek more than the classroom experience out of their college education.

The events include a foreign film, lectures by six University faculty members and a panel discussion on college morals.

These women should be congratulated on the fine program of events which they have planned for next week and as students we should show our appreciation by attending these events.

"We can't do anything about it until we go state, of course, . . . But . . . if it will make you feel any better I'll write you a tardy excuse for your class."

New Officers Appointed By AF-ROTC

The new cadet staff officers have been announced by Maj. John E. Davenport, professor of air science.

Cadet Col. Jeffrey N. Hale, Liberal Arts senior, has been named as special assistant to the Commander of Cadets, Maj. Derrell C. Dowdy. Cadet Col. Patrick L. Carter, Liberal Arts junior, is assuming the position of group commander.

Ronald C. Hoover, Engineering senior and former commander of the Air Force ROTC Drillmasters Unit, has been appointed to the rank of Cadet Lieut. Colonel.

Appointees to other staff positions are: administrative services officer, Cadet Maj. Chester D. Smith, Engineering senior; group inspector, Cadet Maj. Thomas B. McDavitt, Engineering senior; operations officer, Cadet Capt. Bradford S. Morton, Business Administration senior; personnel officer, Cadet Maj. Larry D. Reid, Liberal Arts senior; personnel services officer, Cadet Maj. Roger Panton, Engineering senior.

Information officer, Cadet Maj. Bert R. Evans, Liberal Arts senior; material officer, Cadet Maj. John L. Howard, Business Administration senior; comptroller, Cadet Maj. August W. Rahn, Fine Arts junior; special activities squadron commander, Cadet Maj. Lewis M. Houser, Engineering senior.

Squadron 1 commander, Cadet Maj. Louis I. Johansen, Engineering senior; Squadron 2 commander, Cadet Maj. David W. Garrison, Engineering senior; Squadron 3 commander, Cadet Maj. Robert M. Hale, Liberal Arts junior; and Squadron 4 commander, Cadet Maj. Richard T. Reiter, Fine Arts senior.

The cadet officers, appointed for the spring semester, were chosen by their academic standing and leadership ability.

Four New Faculty Members Join Staff for 2nd Semester

Four new instructors have been added to the University's political science, business, biology, and engineering staffs this semester.

Dr. Donald Higdon, graduate of Stanford University, begins his teaching career this semester after receiving his doctorate from Stanford in January. He was employed five years for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Ames Research Center after obtaining his bachelor and masters degrees at Kansas University in 1955-56. Dr. Higdon is now instructing courses in supersonic aerodynamics and space dynamics.

Oklahoma State University graduate Gerald Loper has become instructor of modern physics and optics here while completing his doctorate at OSU. Mr. Loper came to Wichita from Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1947, and received a bachelors degree in physics at the University before obtaining a masters degree at OSU. He attended OSU on a National Defense Establishment Act Fellowship.

Roger Lowe, graduate of Kansas State College of Pittsburg, became an instructor of accounting this semester, while serving as the University business manager. Before becoming business manager, Lowe was employed two-and-a-half years as a certified public accountant in Wichita.

Miss Kay Ferris is beginning her first year of full-time teaching this semester after assisting with a University biology laboratory course last term. She received a bachelors degree in biology in 1963 and is now instructor of biology laboratory courses.

Business Frat To Publish Grad Directory

Entries for the 1964 Placement Directory for College of Business seniors are now being compiled, according to Miss Donna Whitehead, secretary.

The directory is published annually by Alpha Kappa Psi and mailed to 1,200 employers in Wichita and surrounding states. It provides a source of job offers for seniors.

Biographical information of Business seniors graduating in June 1964, August 1964, and January 1965 will be incorporated in the directory. Interested students may pick up application blanks from Miss Whitehead, Rm. 216, Neff Hall.

Applications must be returned by Friday, Feb. 21. The cost of $5 per student must accompany the application. A glossy application size photograph should be included unless the student's picture was taken for Parnassus.

Last year's directory may be inspected upon request to Miss Whitehead.

Ed-TV Series To Feature Lecturer on Kansas Origins

The University Educational Television series "Ideas in Action" will feature Dr. John Rydjord, dean emeritus of the graduate school, who will present a lecture about the origin of cities, towns, and counties of Kansas.

The program will appear on KARD-TV at noon Sunday. Dr. Rydjord will show maps and illustrations that trace the origin of cities and towns such as Oberlin, Great Bend, Garden City, and Wichita.

He will also talk about the lost towns of Kansas and the origin of the names of the counties of Kansas.

The program of the recently inaugurated series "Magic Lantern to the Stars" is titled "The Inventors" and will appear on KARD-TV at 10 a.m. Sunday. This installment of the series, which traces the development of motion pictures as an art form, will discuss the pioneering work of Muybridge, Edison, Lumiere, Melies, and Williamson.

Richard F. Armstrong, assistant professor of sociology, will lecture on "attitudes" on the series "Race: Myth and Reality" which appears at 8 a.m. every Saturday over KARD-TV. This series is a 17-week course in modern theories of race relations.

"Operation Alphabet," a television course to help adults learn to read and write and to review basic knowledge of these skills, will continue at 6:45-7:15 a.m. Monday through Friday. This course is being repeated this semester for those who did not have the opportunity to enroll last time.

Shockers to Tangle With Cincy Bearcats

By BILL MINGLE, Sports Editor

The University basketball team takes to the road today for the final time this season—destination Cincinnati. The Shockers and the Bearcats tangle at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Wichita will be attempting to get back on the victory trail after two narrow set-backs by Drake and Bradley. The game shapes up as a grudge contest for Cincinnati, as they surely will have revenge utmost in mind for Ralph Miller's crew. The Shockers eliminated Cincy from MVC title contention here on Jan. 31, by a score of 63-60. Since that date, Cincinnati has lost to Tulsa and won from North Texas State in Valley play.

There have been a few recent changes in the Bearcats' basketball camp which may have some bearing on tomorrow night's clash. The number six man on Ed Jucker's crew, sophomore John Serbin, has dropped from the squad and Ron Bonham seems to have picked up from his mid-season slump.

Serbin's height and strength will

Date Slated For National Art Exhibit

Entry cards for the Fifth National Art Show sponsored by Wesley and Westminster Foundations at Ohio University should be turned in by Feb. 21 to the United Christian Fellowship office in the CAC.

The Show, which in 1963 drew contributions from 438 artists in 40 states, is opened to any interested artist.

Purposes of the show are: "To encourage the artist to speak of his deepest concerns through his work; to further the appreciation of the work of the contemporary artist by the church and the general public; and to provide an opportunity for the work of the contemporary artist to be seen as well as to be purchased."

Works must be mailed to Ohio University by March 1 to be eligible. A minimum of three purchase prizes will be awarded. All works will become the property of the Wesley and Westminster Foundation.

Further information about the contest may be obtained from Rev. Thomas Townsend in the United Christian Fellowship Office.

In the Spotlight

By BILL MINGLE, Sports Editor

Whether or not Drake Captain Billy Foster was playing with five fouls when he sank the basket that beat the Shockers Monday night is still a burning question in the minds of many.

If there is a fault in the matter it seems to lie with the Drake official scorers. If they actually did make a mistake in counting the number of fouls on Foster in the first half, both benches should have been notified as soon as the mistake was discovered.

Nearly the same thing happened here in the game with Loyola. With 9:30 left in the first half of the contest, it was signaled from the scorers table that the Ramblers' spark-plug guard Johnny Egan had collected his third foul, when actually it was only his second.

Coach George Ireland yanked Egan from the game and the Shockers ran up a sizeable score, while without Egan, the Ramblers couldn't move the ball, and lost it several times on turnovers. While the mistake was discovered and corrected by the scorer, Ireland didn't see the correction.

The Ramblers coach said after the game that this was the turning point for his team. He said they had to play catch-up and although they almost made it, Ireland felt cheated in a sense because he didn't find out about it until the half. But at least he found out.

At Drake, apparently nobody found out the "official" number of fouls on Foster until they called the fourth or fifth, whichever you choose, late in the last half. While it is a shame that such a question must be lived with probably forever, it is well to remember that the game was lost at the free-throw line, and on several other aspects of the game, which is of course now in the past. Foremost in this reporter's mind now is the welcome we will get from the Wilson-Bonham destruction company in Cincinnati.

It won't be too many more days before head football coach Chelo Huerta calls for spring practice. Missing from the ranks will be big R. C. Brown. The 6 foot 3, 265 pound guard was being counted on heavily for front line duty with the varsity next fall.

Brown suffered a head injury in the Boston College game last September, and doctors have decided that it would be dangerous for him to continue to play. Huerta thought Brown would be a great pro prospect, and certainly had he been able to go next fall, he would have been a contender for all-conference honors.

Huerta has reported success on his swing into the South to recruit for the football squad next year. A number of good transfer and high school prospects have reportedly told Chelo they will become Shockers next fall.

This reporter is happy to see the amount of recruiting that is being done by both the football and basketball programs at WU, and I hope this will continue. The football squad was really beefed up by juco men like Henry Schichtle, Ray Patterson, Tony Penelton, Barry Peck and Frank Regier. Leonard Kelley, who has just completed his eligibility as a Shock-er basketball player, was a transfer from a junior college.

Missouri Valley conference team members like Rick Park and Bob Fedorko of Tulsa and McCoy McLemore of Drake are juco transfers.

Tulsa coach Joe Swank was at Parsons the other night watching Parsons and Independence play. Park and Fedorko came from Independence, and there may be some more like them on coach Bob Sneller's team this year.

Parsons' Sherman Dillard is one of the top juco prospects this year, and he certainly wouldn't hurt a Shocker team. He led Kansas juco players in scoring last year; this year he is shooting less and rebounding and assisting more, we understand. He will be here Saturday Feb. 22nd, with his Parsons teammates to play our freshmen dependence, and there may be some more like them on coach Bob the WU-St. Louis clash.

ARF!

Benjamin Franklin (or The Louisville Slugger, as he is better known as) said, "A penny saved is a penny earned," and we, the college population of America, have taken to heart this sage advice. We spend prudently; we budget diligently. Yet, despite our wise precautions, we are always running short. Why? Because there is one item of expense that we consistently underestimate—the cost of travelling home for weekends.

Let us take the typical case of Basil Metabolism, a sophomore at UCLA majoring in avocados. Basil, a resident of Bangor, Maine, loved to go home each weekend to play with his faithful dog, Spot. What joy, what wretched smiles, when Basil and Spot were re-united! Basil would leap into his dogcart, and Spot, a genuine Alaskan husky, would pull Basil all over Bangor, Maine—Basil calling cheery halloos to the townfolk, Spot wagging his curly tail.

The results were not all Basil had hoped

But the cost, alas, of travelling from UCLA to Bangor, Maine, ran to $400 a week, and Basil's father, alas, earned only a meagre salary as a meter-reader for the Bangor water department. So, alas, after six months Basil's father told Basil he could raise no more money; he had already sold everything he owned, including the flashlight he used to read meters.

Basil returned to California to ponder his dilemma. One solution occurred to him—to ship Spot to UCLA and keep him in his room—but Basil had to abandon the notion because of his roommate, G. Fred Sigafos, who was, alas, allergic to dog hair.

Then another idea came to Basil—a stroke of genius, you might call it. He would buy a Mexican hairless chihuahua! Thus he would have a dog to pull him around, and G. Fred's allergy would be undisturbed.

The results, alas, were not all Basil had hoped. The chihuahua, alas, was unable to pull Basil in the dogcart, no matter how energetically he beat the animal.

Defeated again, Basil sat down with G. Fred, his roommate, to smoke a Marlboro Cigarette and seek a new answer to the problem. Together they smoked and thought—and Eureka!—an answer quickly appeared. (I do not suggest, mark you, that Marlboro Cigarettes are an aid to celebration. All I say about Marlboros is that they taste good and are made of fine tobaccos and pure white filters and come in soft pack or Flip Top box.)

Well, sir, Basil and G. Fred got a great idea. Actually, the idea was G. Fred's, who happened to be majoring in genetics. Why not, said G. Fred, cross-breed the chihuahua with a Great Dane and thus produce an animal sturdy enough to pull a dogcart?

It was, alas, another plan doomed to failure. The cross-breeding was done, but the result (this is very difficult to explain) was a raccoon.

But there is, I am pleased to report, a happy ending to this heart-rending tale. It seems that Basil's mother (this is also very difficult to explain) is a glamorous blond aged 19 years. One day she was spotted by a talent scout in Bangor, Maine, and was signed to a fabulous movie contract, and the entire family moved to California and bought Bel Air, and today one of the most endearing sights to be seen on the entire Pacific Coast is Spot pulling Basil down Sunset Boulevard—Basil cheering and Spot wagging. Basil's mother is also happy, making glamorous movies all day long, and Basil's father is likewise content, sitting at home and reading the water meter.

Pacific Coast, Atlantic Coast, the great Heartland in between—Not to speak of Alaska and Hawaii—all of this is Marlboro Country. Light up and find out for yourself.

NCAA Ticket Pick-Up Dates Feb. 17, 18

A limited number of student tickets for the NCAA Regional basketball tournament will be made available on Feb. 17 and 18 in the Ticket Office in the Field House. The tournament is to be held on March 13 and 14.

A student may pick up one ticket on his ID card plus one guest ticket, if needed. Tournament tickets are $3.00 for either student or guest. The ticket office will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. To prevent students from standing in line overnight, numbers will be given out on Sunday, Feb. 16, at the Field House after 1:30 p.m.

Officials in the athletic department wish to remind the students that there will be no group tickets given for the remaining three home games. A student may pick up his ticket and a maximum of three other tickets on the presentation of the ID cards at the Ticket Office.

On the last three games, one guest ticket may be purchased by a student, if desired. The sale of guest tickets has resulted from the students failing to pick up all their tickets. This will enable a guest to sit with a student.

English Club to Meet

A second meeting of the University English Club will be held at 7:30 p.m., Feb. 19 in the Commons Lounge, according to Miss Judy Morganstern, program chairman.

At the meeting, the first of this semester, Miss Joan O'Bryant, assistant professor of English, will present a program of English and American folk ballads. Miss O'Bryant is a noted folklorist and taught a class in folklore at the University last term.

Pi Sigma Alpha

Pi Sigma Alpha, political science honorary fraternity, is now taking applications for new members. Interested persons should leave their names at the main desk in the Political Science Building by Feb. 21, according to Joe Zentner, president.

Qualifications for membership include the following: graduate or upperclassman with a major in political science, 2.7 overall grade point average, 10 hours of political science courses with at least three of them upper division, and 3,000 grade point average in political science.

Canterbury Program

"Morality and Birth Control" is the title of the first special program of the spring semester to be presented by the Canterbury House, Yale and 17th street, at 7 p.m. Sunday.

The program will consist of a 3-member panel which will discuss views of the moral questions and problems involved in the birth control issue.

The three members of the panel will be Dr. Lowell D. Holmes, associate professor of sociology; Dr. Paul G. Murphy, Wichita clinical psychologist; and the Rev. Edward

L. Barnett, University Episcopal Chaplain.

YWCA

The campus YWCA is participating in the national YWCA project to aid in voter registration throughout the Southern states.

Any student willing to spend a week during the spring vacation receiving training in and participating in the program may call the president of YWCA, Nancy Carson, MU 3-1664.

Students from many states will work in teams to help register previously unregistered voters.

AWS Chili Supper

The AWS is sponsoring a chili supper after the St. Louis game, Saturday, Feb. 22, according to Nancy Flagg, publicity chairman.

A complete meal will be served from 5 to 7 p.m. in the basement of the University Methodist Church, which is located at the corner of 21st and Yale. Everyone is invited to attend.

Debate Team Wins Contests In Trips to Denver, Abilene

The University debate team won two debates last weekend, the Rocky Mountain Debate Tournament held at the University of Denver and the Abilene Christian College Debate Tournament, Abilene, Texas.

In the Rocky Mountain Tourney, Bill Balthrop and Bob Glenn were the only debaters representing the University. Balthrop won first place in oral interpretation and second place in extemporaneous speaking. Glenn won second place in group discussion and the Balthrop-Glenn team won second place in debate. These three wins gave them the sweepstakes trophy.

In the Abilene Christian Debate, Pam McMaster, sophomore, won first place in the womens' oratory; Bob Smith, freshman, and Keith Williamson, junior, won third in senior debate.

Next weekend the University debate team will compete in the McPherson College Forensic Tournament where last year the team won first and second place. The team will comprise the teams of Bill Balthrop and Bob Glenn; Keith Williamson and Bob Smith; Pam McMaster and Sandy Swanson.

Your Choice of Class Seats May Indicate Your Attitudes

ELMIRA, N. Y. (I.P.)—Where a student habitually sits in a classroom may affect learning and indicate something about personality and attitudes toward the course and teacher, judging from research being carried out by Dr. Edward R. Ostrander, associate professor of psychology at Elmira College.

Previous studies show that students do tend to choose either the same seat or area of a classroom day after day and that there is some correlation between their choice of seats and their interest and achievement in the course, said Dr. Ostrander. His research, therefore, may have bearing on seldom considered factors in the teaching-learning process.

Dr. Ostrander's interest in this subject was first roused about two years ago when one of his advanced psychology students explored the seating habits of 120 high school students in a term research project. She found that three-quarters of them consistently sat either in the center or around the borders of the classrooms as they changed from class to class.

When she classified their seating as "in front or at the back of the rooms," slightly over half were found to occupy the same section in each of their classrooms.

Another of his students distributed questionnaires to about 70 women in her residence hall. These students indicated where they habitually sat in their various classes, their grades in the course, and rated, on a scale, their liking for the course and the instructor.

Interestingly, she found no relationship between seating and grades, possibly because most college classes are small; but she did find that those who gave a high rating to both course and instructor tended to sit in the center of the room rather than around the edges.

Last year another of Dr. Ostrander's students attempted to find a correlation between seating habits in classes, the students' interest in their work and their grade expectations. After they had taken their first five weeks' test, students were asked what grade they had expected to receive in the course when the course began, what they expected after the first five weeks, and whether they found the classes interesting.

Students who expressed high interest and whose grade expectations went up after five weeks contact with the course tended thereafter to sit farther forward in the classroom.

Those with high interest, but who felt discouraged after five weeks, tended to move farther back, and those who admitted that they weren't much interested in the course but were not worried about their grades were likely to stay where they were.

Dr. Ostrander has received $3,000 from the National Institute of Health which will enable him to employ a professionally trained person to carry out the statistical analyses. Additional data will be collected on students' self descriptions, type and size of class, location of windows, doors and blackboards as possible factors influencing seating choices.
