would, because it is summer and in these cool days better for baby on that account. I have still several powders, & as I now take them only every other day, there will be enough. I trust that I never again shall be troubled in that way, and I do not believe I shall.

It seemed to me that Mr. Quincy was thinking quite seriously of the place at Edinham. If they take it I hope they will choose Boston for their winter residence, that we may see something of them.

Have you not accused Alice that I sent Mary to Boston with the children? I could not well spare her to go, but Mrs. Quincy asked me to send her. She said they all had their hands full of things & could not take care of the children. I believe I forgot to tell you that Ned & Annie have had a little boy; they are delighted
