Students Elect Norton Queen

494 Votes Cast Friday

Sally Jo Norton, Liberal Arts senior, was elected the 1958 May Queen last Friday in a Student Council-conducted election. Miss Norton, an art education major who was sponsored by Alpha Gamma Gamma, is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, Kappa Pi, and Student Forum Board. She is the Alpha Gam "Betty Co-ed."

She and her chosen escort will be crowned at the coronation May 2 and will reign over the dance the following night ending the May Day festivities. The other queen candidates who will compose the remainder of the royal court are Sandra Berg, and Jackie Hicks, Fine Arts seniors, Donna Jabara and Joanne Lauterbach, Business Administration seniors, Merry Sue Blair, Liberal Arts senior, and Martha Reagan, Education senior. Hal Rhodes, election commissioner, stated that a total of 494 votes were cast, compared to the 560 count in the 1957 May Queen election and 729 votes in 1956.

According to Rhodes, the election was held earlier this year in order to meet deadline requirements of the yearbook.

A TOTAL OF 494 votes were cast Friday in the election in which Sally Jo Norton, Liberal Arts senior, was named 1958 May Queen. Sponsored by Alpha Gamma Gamma Fraternity, Miss Norton is an art education major. Miss Norton will reign over the May Dance and will be introduced at the Hippodrome skits on May Day. In addition she will present trophies to winning organizations. (Jerry Rogers Photo).

Foreign Expert to Speak

An aspect of U. S. foreign policy towards India, is the potential topic for the next convocation, according to Mrs. Dorothy Gardner, chairman of the convocation committee.

Mrs. Vera Dean, a foreign policy specialist, will be the speaker.

Mrs. Dean is editor of the Foreign Policy Association "Bulletin" and "Headline" series. She was born in Russia but she became an American citizen in 1928.

She received her bachelor of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees from Radcliffe, and holds a master of arts degree in international law from Yale.

Smith College, the University of Rochester, Barnard, Harvard University, Mills College and Lake Erie College are institutions in which Mrs. Dean has taught during her career.

Last summer, Mrs. Dean was in Asia where she occupied the chair of American History and Institutions, while teaching at the Indian School of International Studies.

The convocation will be March 12, and classes will be shortened to 35-minute periods. It will be from 9:30 until 10:20 a.m.

Plan Show From Alibi

A new live talent music show, "Coffee Time," emanating from the Alibi Room in the Commons Building, will be broadcast by the University radio station, KMUW-FM, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The 30-minute show will be produced by Roger Cracraft, Liberal Arts sophomore. The show is expected to be a weekly feature of the radio station, but this will depend on the audience acceptance, Cracraft said.

Noise is Factor

In addition, he said, the level of noise resulting from the program, and the possibility of its disturbing others in the Commons, will also be a factor determining whether the show will continue to originate from the Alibi.

"This program will feature the only live music being broadcast in Wichita today," Cracraft said. The trend seems to be toward recording music, yet there is an audience for live music, he added.

Norton Warner, special student, will be the singing master of ceremonies of the show which will feature the music of Frank Johnson's University Dance Band.

English Prof Records LP For Folkways

Miss Joan O'Bryant, assistant professor of English, has made her second recording of folksongs for Folkways Records.

"American Ballads and Folksongs" is a 12-inch LP disk containing 16 American ballads and folksongs of different origin.

Kenneth Goldstein, recording artist, edited the record, said Professor O'Bryant. Mike Russell, KMUW manager, engineered the original tape recording. The tape was then sent to New York where it was edited and made into a record.

Folksongs and ballads, explained Professor O'Bryant, usually are learned and passed on in the oral tradition.

For example, "Barbara Allen," a

The Crucible' Opens Thursday Night

"The Crucible," a drama by Arthur Miller, will open at 8:30 p.m. Thursday in the Commons Auditorium.

Scheduled to run through Saturday, the play deals with witchcraft in colonial Salem.

Director of the play Robert Crist, assistant professor of speech and drama, said the play will feature authentic costumes and properties. Early American furniture will be used in the play.

The cast includes Donna Wilson, Liberal Arts freshman, who will portray Betty Parris, Terry Gladfelter, Liberal Arts senior, as the Rev. Samuel Parris; and Janice Dee Decker, Liberal Arts freshman, as Tituba.

Emily McKnight, Fine Arts freshman, Abigail Williams; Quinealee Brown, Liberal Arts freshman, Susanna Wallcott; Suzanne Umphrey, Liberal Arts freshman, Mrs. Ann Putnam; Barbara Moorhouse, Education sophomore, Mercy Lewis; and Pat Hensley, Liberal Arts sophomore, Mary Warner.

1st All-Greek Sing Set for March 30

The All Greek Sing, a new campus activity will be presented at 3 p.m., March 30, in the Commons Auditorium. It is to be open only to social organizations and is under the sponsorship of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, national honorary music fraternity, and Mu Phi Epsilon, national honorary music sorority.

"It is the hope of Mu Phi Epsilon and Phi Mu Alpha that the Sing will not only improve the music on our campus, but will also contribute to a greater feeling of campus spirit and Greek unity," said Sally Shank, chairman of the 1958 All-Greek Sing.

Two songs will be sung by each entering group. A fraternity or sorority song may be included.

No Outside Help

No outside help will be allowed, and in the event that conductors are used, they must be students within the group. The songs are to be memorized and the only accompaniment allowed will be the piano.

No costumes, props, or sets will be permitted, and the groups will be asked to sing the Alma Mater together as the finale.

There will be three selected judges from the School of Music and they will use score sheets similar to those used in music festivals.

To Judge 5 Areas

Judging will be done on five different areas. Points for participation will be given in regards to the percentage of participants from a group.

General stage appearance and presence, and selection of the songs used, with regard to musical value and suitability, will also be considered in the judging.

Contesting groups will also be

They include, from left, first row, Ellen Burmeister, president, and Janice Hupp. Second row, Jackie Hicks, Sally Shank, general chairman, and Lenore Wheeler. judged on their tone and intonation, pitch, concerning beauty and control, and interpretation, with regard to tempo, expression, and phrasing.

Two traveling trophies will be awarded, one to the winning sorority, and one to the winning fraternity.

Organizations who have entered include Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Phi, Delta Delta Delta, Gamma Phi Beta, Alpha Gamma Gamma, Phi Upsilon Sigma, Pi Alpha Pi, and Men of Webster.

The People's Choice?

This year the May Queen was elected by slightly more than 14 per cent of the eligible voters. This percentage is less than that of a year ago when 60 more students voted.

While 3-foot drifts of snow were prohibitive in getting voters out, it still appears that students in the main care little about the May Queen.

It must be disheartening to queen candidates to think that so few care. While candidates in any election want to win, most would like to think they were "the people's choice."

Response in Student Council and class officer elections is low, but has increased heavily over the past few years; queen election response continues to decrease.

It would seem, then, that no one really cares. Could it be that some of the candidates themselves don't care? If not, we'd like to know why.

Last year a proposal was made and, consequently, adopted by Student Council for a new voting procedure for queen elections. This procedure is that every sorority and the women's dormitory are required to submit candidates for queen contests. This year, in addition, fraternities were asked to submit candidates.

This action was taken by the Council, for two reasons. First, to get more candidates to enter the queen race. Second, to keep two sororities from dominating the contest.

The first of these objectives has been successfully achieved, the other has not.

Why the second was not achieved is best solved by political observers, most of whom make wild charges of coalitions which the observers contend still exist. All outward appearances support these charges, but whether coalitions exist or not must be accepted on faith by the student body.

Students can be pushed only so far when it comes to voting. In any event, the outcome of the entire situation is simply this: no one cares about queen elections.

Perhaps, a reason for the apathetic feeling, with regard to the queen contest, is that many students feel the whole election is a farce. And they may have a point.

If the percentage of voters continues to drop, we might as well forget about queen elections, and let that minority who cares dominate the elections, while we go back to our studies.

Job Interviews

Job interviews for this week are: Interstate Finance Corporation, Evansville, Ind., today, for seniors in business administration.

Stanley Aviation Corporation, Denver, Colo., Wednesday, for seniors in engineering.

Interviews for the week March 10 to March 14 are:

BA Senior Has French Co-worker

By ALEX MITCHELL, Managing Editor

A French student, who created his own program of advanced studies, is learning American business methods while working in Wichita.

Louis Verceel, 21-year old graduate of the Superior School of Commerce in Lyon, France, is the house-guest of Don Perry, Business Administration senior and Verceel's co-worker at the Love Box Co.

One of six French students who hit upon the idea of coming to the United States to study business methods, Verceel has been working in the design and testing lab at Love for the past six weeks.

Wrote to 174 Firms "We wrote to 174 firms to set up a plan to visit the United States last year. When your State Department saw our plan they gave us permission to come here," Verceel said.

The students also wrote to the National Association of Manufacturers about their project. The NAM and the State Department both gave them cash grants to help finance the trip.

It was at a NAM conference in Chicago that the Frenchman met Robert Love, president of the box company. Mr. Love asked Verceel to come to Wichita to work until he returned to France.

Visitors Get Offers The other visitors received similar offers from American firms and are now employed in various parts of the country studying production methods.

While in Wichita, Verceel has visited the University and attended classes for a day with Perry.

"We spend much more time in class than you do here. I spent at least thirty hours a week in classes at the commerce school," he reported.

"You don't seem to ask as many questions in class" he observed. "In France we ask many more questions of our professors."

Entered Lower School

After completing seven years of lower school and six of grade school, Verceel entered the Superior School of Commerce for a four year course. Similar to American business colleges, the commerce school offers classes in mathematics, languages, law, and economics, geography in addition to management and accounting courses.

An international commerce major, Verceel graduated from the college at Lyon last July. He plans to submit papers for graduate credit on the 25 industries he has visited while in the United States.

Observed Many Companies "Since we arrived here in November we have visited IBM, Ford, Eastman-Kodak, Swift, and other companies in the East, and we spent two days at most of the 25 firms seeing their factories and production methods," he said.

Verceel is particularly impressed with American homes and buildings, and hopes to build an American style home in France someday. He also remarked on the attractive

Inquiring Reporter 'Lack of Publicity' Reason Students Miss SFB Lectures

By BEVERLY HARING, Sunflower Inquiring Reporter

Two weak spots in Student Forum lectures are the Forum's failure to inform freshmen about the lectures and its failure to let students know sufficiently in advance when the lectures will be held, according to Inquiring Reporter interviews.

When asked about Student Forum lectures, six out of seven freshmen didn't know they existed.

Max Huffman, Education freshman, said the lectures would be worthwhile if they were better advertised. His choice for a future speaker was Norman Vincent Peale. Huffman thought that more students would attend if the lectures were on campus, but wasn't in favor of daytime scheduling. "Students don't even go to convos when they are held during class time," he said.

Gary Schwartzkopf, Engineering senior, attended two Student Forum lectures featuring Vincent Price and Chet Huntley. "I think the selection of speakers so far has been good. A speaker on the political situation in the world would be interesting," Schwartzkopf remarked.

Gretchen Mason, graduate student, said she believed night lectures were best. "I think the lectures should continue along the same line, too."

Bill Martin, Liberal Arts junior, knew about the lectures but didn't recognize the title. Martin hadn't attended a lecture because he doesn't have enough hours to get in free on an ID card. "Students aren't well informed concerning these lectures. They need to advertise," Martin said.

Linda Van Valkenburg, Fine Arts senior, said that students shouldn't be told about Student Forum lectures. "I don't know how they may get on it, and I don't know how they may get advance notice of when lectures will be held. 'Lots of times I don't know a lecture is coming up, and I have already planned to do something else.'" Her choice for a future lecturer was composer and director Leonard Bernstein.

Gordon Coe, Liberal Arts sophomore, knew what the lectures were but not under the official name. "I don't think students are well informed about Student Forum lectures. I just happened to notice that Vincent Price was going to speak. Prior to that I haven't known much about the lectures," said Coe.

Mrs. Kay Carpenter, Education senior, didn't recognize the name Student Forum lectures, at first. She hasn't attended the lectures because of night classes.

"I have always been informed concerning Student Forum lectures. They've been announced in all the papers," she said.

From Other Campi

From the Emporia State Bulletin comes word of a campus-wide search for talent. The object of the search will play the part of "Lady Astor" in that College's next musical stage production.

She must be a true actress, for she must learn to do some thing she would not ordinarily think of doing, and at the same time learn not to do other things that she is accustomed to doing. Most of all she must be an attractive, unworldly girl.

If your finances are getting low and you're trying to think of a way to get some spending money, don't go off the deep end as some University of Kansas students recently did.

Members of the University pointed out that in France college buildings are scattered throughout the town without campus facilities.

The Daily Kansan reports that a stolen registrar's stamp was used to print cards which were allowed to students to enroll early. The cards were sold to the students for $1 apiece. Ironically, some of the bargain buyers were to be enrolled on the first day of registration anyway.

The University of Oklahoma Daily staff has its troubles. They've been deluged with letters and comments about a recent four-page picture showing a professor and his dog. No one could see the dog in the picture. The professor was accused of having a "black dog" after the black dog failed to show up against the dark background of the picture.

Seniors May Order Announcements

Senior graduation announcements may be ordered Thursday and Friday from John Cook, representative of the Star Engraving Company, from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in the Jardine Hall Rotunda.

There must be a $3 deposit made by students who do not wish to pay the total amount at the time of ordering, Mr. Cook said.

50 Vie in Contest

Amy ROTC cadets will select candidates for Cadet Colonel Thursday.

Fifty candidates will be introduced to the cadets and four girls will be selected in a group election.

The winners will be announced at the Military Ball on Monday, March 17.

Candidates Announced For '59 AWS Council

An election for new officers of Associated Women Students will be held in the Rotunda of Jardine Hall, Friday, from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. Any woman may vote upon presentation of her ID card, said Jackie Hicks, president of AWS.

Miss Hicks urged all women to vote. "In the past," she said, "many individuals did not realize that they could vote. All women are members of AWS and should take advantage of this privilege."

Scott, Martin Vie

Competing for AWS presidency are Mary Lee Scott and Judy Martin. Miss Scott, a Fine Arts junior, has an over all grade average of 3.4. She is a member of Alpha Phi Sorority, the Wichita Symphony, and MENC. She is treasurer of Mu Phi Epsilon, present AWS treasurer, pledge trainer of Alpha Phi, and a member of WRA.

Judy Martin, a math major, has a 3.0 grade average. She is vice president of Alpha Chi Omega Sorority, a member of YWCA, Kappa Delta Pi, member of Student Forum, a junior class officer and a member of Kappa Phi.

The office of first vice-president will be filled by the woman who is not elected president. Sally Shank and Sherry Meitler are competing for second vice-president. Diane Copeland and Sharon McNeil are candidates for third vice-president.

Others in Contest

Candidates for recording secretary are Carole Hicks and Erla Hutchinson; for treasurer, Suzanne Evans, and Deane Fortney.

Class representative candidates for unaffiliated sophomore, are Flontell Slater, Hope Kroenlen, Marilyn Mathis, and Marilyn Murphy. Affiliated sophomore representative candidates are Sidney Watrous, Mary Cooper, Eilene Jenkins and Nancy Mayer.

Junior unaffiliate candidates are Judy Dodson and Kay Walker. Competing for junior affiliate representative are Elaine Davis and Sharon Witt. Senior unaffiliate representative candidates are Marilyn Faulkner, and Jan Fisher. Senior unaffiliate representative candidates are Lila Barstow and Mary Frances Watson.

Frat Initiates New Members

Fourteen men have been initiated into the active chapter of Men of Webster.

The organization has also elected spring semester officers.

New actives of the fraternity include Gayle Bryant, Ralph Cook, John Baran, Jack Blue, Ronnie Stevens, Everett Olsen, Bill Young, Joe McGuire, Tom Dougherty, George Cowen, Jon Huffman, Mike Carlson, Vic Puckett, and Jim Ganther.

The new officers include Bob Cooper, president; Bill Little, vice president; Byron Duffield, treasurer; Gerald Lopez, secretary; Justin Fugate, pledge tutor; Ken Peterson, Sergeant at arms; and Don Butts, house manager.

PLAN SHOW

Trumbler, piano; Carolyn McGinn, drums; Bob Warren, Helen Mackay, and Frank Johnson, saxophones; Duane Pangrac, Ken Parkins, and Larry Gebhardt, trumpets; and Tom Dewberry and Ron Bost, trombones. There will also be a bass player and another saxophonist added to the band.

If the show goes well, Gracatt said, other known campus groups might be invited to participate in the show.

"I've heard of a dixieland band made up of faculty members that would probably be interesting to hear," he said.

Sororities, Fraternities Pledge 58

Fifty-eight pledges of sororities and fraternities joined social groups for potential membership during rush at the beginning of the semester. The fraternities led the sororities with 46 pledges to the sororities' 12.

Only two sororities had not filled their maximum quota for membership and were allowed to take in pledges.

Alpha Phi pledges are Joyce Hjerpe, Judy Garison, Lorna Westfall, Harlean Werner, Laura Kellum, Sondra Taylor and Gwen Mason.

Alpha Chi Omega pledges are Donna Smith, Marilyn Share, Dianne Hiebert, Susan Olin, and Treva Mateer.

All four fraternities received pledges this semester.

Pledging Men of Webster are Ansel Baldwin, Bob Blackwell, Chip Clancy, Jim Swisher, and Bob Garety.

ters, and Hugh Syme.

Pi Alpha Pi pledges are Mack

SCIENCE MADE SIMPLE: NO. 2

Though this column is intended solely as a vehicle for well-tempered drollery, the makers of Marlboro have agreed to let me use this space from time to time for a short lesson in science. They are the most decent and obliging of men, the makers of Marlboro, as anyone can tell from sampling their product. Only from bounteous hearts could come such a lot to like—such filter, such flavor, such flip-top box. The filter works; the flavor pleases; the box protects. Who can resist such a winning combination? Surely not I.

Today let us take up the science of medicine, which was invented in 1066 by a Greek named Hippocrates. He soon gathered around him a group of devoted disciples whom he called "doctors." The reason he called them "doctors" was that they spent all their time sitting around the dock and shooting the breeze. In truth, there was little else for them to do because disease was not invented until 1477.

After that, doctors became very busy, but it must be admitted that their knowledge of medicine was lamentably meagre. They knew only one treatment—a change of climate. For example, a French doctor would send all his patients to Switzerland. A Swiss doctor, on the other hand, would send all his patients to France. By 1789 the entire population of France was living in Switzerland, and vice versa. This later became known as the Black Tom Explosion.

Not until 1924 did medicine, as we know it, come into being. In that year in the little Bavarian village of Pago-Pago an elderly physician named Winko Sigafos discovered the hot water bottle. He was, of course, burned as a witch, but his son Lydia, disguised as a linotype, made his way to America where he invented the Mayo Brothers.

Medicine, as it is taught at your very own college, can be divided roughly into two classifications. There is internal medicine, which is the treatment of interns, and external medicine, which is the treatment of externs.

Diseases also fall into two broad categories—chronic and acute. Chronic disease is, of course, inflammation of the chron, which can be mighty painful, believe you me! Last summer my cousin Haskell was stricken with a chron attack while he was out picking up tinfoil, and it was months before the wretched boy could straighten up. In fact, even after he was cured, Haskell continued to walk around bent over double. This went on for several years before Dr. Caligari, the lovable old country practitioner who treats Haskell, discovered that Haskell had his trousers buttoned to his vest.

Two years ago Haskell had Addison's disease. (Addison, curiously enough, had Haskell's.) Poor Haskell catches everything that comes along. Lovable old Dr. Caligari once said to him, "Son, I guess you are what they call a natural born catcher."

"The joke is on you, Doc," replied Haskell. "I am a third basemen." He thereupon fell into such a fit of giggling that the doctor had to put him under sedation, where he is to this day.

But I digress. We were discussing medicine. I have now told you all I can; the rest is up to you. Go over to your med school and poke around. Bring popcorn and watch an operation. X-ray each other. Contribute to the bone bank . . . And remember, medicine can be fun!

YW to Discuss Summer Camps

YWCA will hold a general meeting at 5 p.m. Thursday, in the Faculty Dining Room of the Commons Building. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss summer projects sponsored annually by YW, said Mary Frances Watson, president.

A member of the faculty will be guest speaker. Other speakers of the evening will be Cathy Gaffney, graduate English fellow, and Virginia Stone, a 1957 graduate and former member of YW. Mrs. Gaffney and Mrs. Stone will discuss summer projects that they attended in New York.

At the meeting Elaine Davis will discuss Estes Park, a summer YW camp in Colorado.

Seek Poems For College Publication

Students interested in writing poetry will have the opportunity to have their work published this summer.

An anthology of outstanding poetry on any subject composed by college students in Pacific Coast Schools is being prepared for publication this summer.

Contributions must be the original work of the student.

Students will retain literary rights to the material. Entries which are not accepted for publication cannot be acknowledged, and students will not be compensated for poetry that is published.

Contributions are to be submitted to D. Lyman Cox, Executive Secretary, Pacific Coast Poetry Association, Box 302, Berkeley, Calif. Entries must be postmarked on or before midnight, March 31.

Gamma Phi Elects

Gamma Phi Beta Sorority has elected new officers for next year. New officers include Joyce Garfield, president; Martha Lynn Budd, first vice president; Shirley Arnn, second vice president; Marlene Solomon, recording secretary; Pat Colvin, treasurer; and Eilene Jenkins, standards chairman.

Young Democrats to Make Bid For State Collegiate Conclave

The Collegiate Young Democrats will make a bid to host the State Collegiate Young Democrats Convention in April.

The bid resulted from a Tuesday night meeting and will be made to the collegiate council at the State Young Democrat Convention in Hutchinson on Saturday. Don Anderson, chairman, said. A definite place and date will be set then for the collegiate convention.

Anderson urged members of the campus club to attend the Hutchinson convention.

Workshops Included

It will consist of various workshops including two special workshops for collegiate delegations, plus a banquet and dance.

"Tickets for the convention are $6," Anderson said, "and, if students would like to go on the bus being chartered by the downtown club, their expenses would run about $2 extra for bus fare and the noon meal."

Students are requested to contact him for reservations.

Discusses Political Work

The club also discussed things which could be done to promote political work on the collegiate level.

This might be a step toward getting U. S. students on the level of students in other countries, influencing political thinking, Anderson said. It was also suggested that social functions be given for University students and a study of party issues be made by the club.

Newman to Meet

Newman Club will meet at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, in the Blessed Sacrament Gymnasium. All Catholic students are urged to attend, according to Leslie Wilson, publicity director.

Not Forgotten Staff Helps Sick Custodian

An instance of an old friend not being forgotten, even by a rapidly expanding institution, was demonstrated recently to a familiar campus worker, Olen S. (Buck) Buchanan, Jardine Hall custodian for nearly half a decade.

A brief illness last month sent the friendly custodian, known to many as simply "Buck," to Wesley Hospital. During his absence his colleagues pitched in to perform his work.

In addition, he received flowers from President Harry F. Corbin and the staff and faculty members during his hospital confinement. His colleagues, both student and full-time, rented a television set for his use while he was in the hospital.

Following his return to his home near Andover, the Jardine Hall-staff and faculty sent him a ham.

"I have never had anybody do so much for me in my life, as this bunch did during my absence. I have worked a good many places in my day, but this is the first place that I ever had this happen to me," said "Buck" as he shook his head.

"Buck" is married, has two sons, and five grandchildren.
