Boys Team Places Fourth in Basic Division with 702

Miss Alberta Basye, by shooting a score of 100, enabled the girls' rifle team at the University of Wichita to win permanent possession of the Missouri Rifle Club trophy at the third annual Midwest indoor gallery meet at Kemper Military academy, Booneville, Mo., February 26.

The University of Wichita is one point behind the Wichita entry with a score of 385. Wichita has won in the women's division ever since the inception of the meet three years ago.

The boys team won fourth place in the basic division with a score of 702 out of possible 800 points. Leon Schafer was high point man with a total of 185 out of 200. The girls team shot against entries from six other schools. The University of Oklahoma was third with 388 points.

In the girls' individual prone matches, Florence Mos, freshman, won first place with a score of 100. Pauline Folkers, sophomore, and manager of the team, took second honors with a score of 99. All of the girls firing in the team match received silver medals for taking first place.

In the free-for-all matches in the boys division, Parker Dale Dumbauld shot 29 consecutive bull eyes to tie for first place. In the match that followed to determine first place, he was able to place second. He was given a silver medal.

The girls team lost only four points to win the trophy this year. Last year their score was 385. In the team match, Margaret Klopferstein, senior and captain, shot a 99; Lucille Everett, 98; Pauline Folkers, 99; Florence Mos, 98; and Alberta Basye, 100.

In the boys division, Iowa university won with a score of 716 out of a possible 800. The Wichita entry was 12 points behind and took fourth place. Leon Schafer scored 185 out of 200; Pete Pierce, 174; and Parker Dale Dumbauld, 163.

TO DEDICATE NEW BRIDGE IN APRIL

Will Build Dam to Supply Water for New Campus Memorial

Dedication of the new memorial bridge which is being constructed on the University of Wichita campus will take place upon its completion in April. The money for the building of the bridge was in part given by the class of 1931, and the structure will be dedicated to George Washington, the first president of the United States, according to President H. W. Foght.

Upon the completion of the bridge, a dam will be placed below the memorial so as to impound water below and above it. "The bridge will be planted on the banks of the pond and about the bridge so as to beautify the surroundings," President Foght said. Several members of the 1931 class are expected to be present for the dedication, he added, however, the exact date that it will take place is not known at present.

The stone that is being used in the building of the project was taken from the old Fairmount hall, and in that way perpetuates the old structure as well as forming a fitting memorial to the class of 1931 and to the father of the United States," said President Foght.

SEES INCREASE IN STUDENT ENGINEERS

A total of 107 engineering students are enrolled in the University of Wichita this semester, according to Frank A. Neff, dean of the College of Business Administration and Industry. This year there are seven two-year courses offered and an aeronautical course of four years. According to Dean Neff, the electrical engineering course is growing more than any others, although all departments show an increase. Senior aeronautical engineers are: Tom Salter, Cecil Porter and Rolf Moller. The number of students in the various departments are as follows: aeronautical, 31; architectural, 9; chemical, 8; civil, 13; electrical, 30; geological, 8; and mechanical, 8.

Second Payment Due on Annual

Wayne Hemphill, business manager of the Parnassus, yearbook of the University of Wichita, announces that the second payment on the annual will be due and payable next week.

This concerns those students of the University who purchased copies of the Parnassus on the payment plan. It is the second one dollar installment which will be due this week.

Hemphill urged students who desire the Parnassus, but who find their finances limited, to take advantage of the deferred payment plan. By this method they will find little difficulty in meeting payments, he said.

PRESIDENT FOGHT RETURNS FROM EDUCATION MEET

Conference Delegates Hear Address by President Herbert Hoover

VISIT MT. VERNON

Dr. Harold W. Foght, president of the University of Wichita, returned Friday from Washington, D. C., where he attended the meeting of the National Education association.

Friday and Saturday, February 19 and 20, President Foght attended the sessions of the American Association of Teachers colleges at which there were representatives from all accredited teachers colleges in the United States.

Sunday, February 21, was devoted to patriotic pilgrimages by all delegates. Wreaths were placed on the Washington monument and the Lincoln memorial. Following this the delegates crossed the new Washington bridge connecting the Lincoln memorial and the Arlington National cemetery in Arlington, Va. Here a wreath was placed on the tomb of the unknown soldier.

Sunday night vesper services were held in the Old Christ church at Alexandria, Va. This was the church where George Washington worshipped. The first general session of the department of superintendence was held in Constitution hall of the White House.

Monday, February 22, all delegates to the conference assembled at the east entrance of the White House and heard an address by President Hoover. Following this a trip was made to Mt. Vernon where a wreath was placed on the Washington tomb.

In commenting on the beauty of Washington, D. C., President Foght said: "Many old public buildings are being torn down and in their place are rising new ones. When the plan originated by Mrs. William McKinley is completed, Washington, D. C., will be the most beautiful capital of any nation in the world."

SUMMER SCHOOL BULLETINS ISSUED

7,000 Will Be Mailed to Educators of Southern United States

Preliminary announcement of the sessions of the summer school was made today by Leo E. Eppinger, director of the department of education. The new bulletins which have just been received from the press are not as large as in past years, but the material is inclusive, stated Dean Sipple.

One of the features of the new catalog is the cover Clayton Henri Staples, head of the art department, has prepared a new sketch of the new Washington Bicentennial Bridge, now nearing completion on the campus, with the buildings of the University in the background. This sketch is being used this year as the cover motif.

These bulletins will be sent out to pedagogues throughout the southern part of Kansas, and also to parts of Oklahoma, Colorado, and Texas. Dean Sipple estimates that there will be at least 7,000 mailed out before the end of the week.

This must include a story and suggestions for dances and music, and must have a spring theme. The committee which will judge the contest reserves the privilege of using parts of all entries other than the winning sketch, according to Miss Taggart.

Miss Evelyn Hinton, assistant director of physical education for women and Miss Mary Jewell, instructor in physical education, will have charge of the dances. Walter Duerksen, director of the University band, will be in charge of musical arrangements for the affair.

WILL ORGANIZE AIR FRATERNITY

Plan to Establish Chapter of Tau Omega on Campus

Tau Omega, honorary aeronautical fraternity, already established at the University of Oklahoma, may have its second chapter at the University of Wichita, if present plans for its installation here are successful. The fraternity, which would limit its membership to aeronautical majors, plans on extending its chapters and becoming a national organization, according to Roy O. Hunt, chapter adviser and holder of the world's outside loop record, who flew here Saturday to discuss the proposition.

Coming with Mr. Hunt was Cecil Armstrong, president of the Tau Omega chapter at Norman and a senior in the school of aeronautics there. He explained the merits and goal of the fraternity to the eight active members of the aeronautics club who will form the basis of the fraternity.

The Wichita organization will constitute the Beta chapter of the fraternity, if plans carry. The Alpha chapter at Norman founded in 1928, has a present active membership of 63, numbering among its charter members Jimmy Halzlip, Roy Hunt, and Mrs. Shaul of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Co., and other notables of the industry. If the Wichita chapter organizes, six or eight of the Norman members will fly to Wichita to be present at the first meeting, it is planned.

A field trip to Beaumont, Kan., and surrounding territory was conducted by the paleontology class at the University, Sunday, February 29, under the direction of John M. Jewett, instructor in geology.

The students collected fossils, measured sections and studied the stratigraphy of rocks in the western part of Greenwood county.

New Campus Fraternity Is Planned by "Separatists"

Persistent talk of a new fraternity on the campus of the University of Wichita has gained momentum during the last two weeks, only to get a severe setback when one of the agitators decided for political reasons that it would not be advisable to sever present fraternal support.

The character of the proposed fraternity is political, according to those approached by the leader, and the purpose is to gain a following in campus politics.

Students were interviewed from various fraternities and campus clubs, as well as non-fraternity men, under the direction of John M. Jewett, instructor in geology.

PICTURE IS FEATURE OF HIPPODROME

PARTIAL CAST CHOSEN

Aprons and Overalls to Be Popular Dress of Merrymakers

"Guilty Hands," reported by Miss Helen Fairchild, chairman of the Hippodrome committee, to be an all-talking motion picture of campus life, will be a feature of the Hippodrome, Y. M.-Y. W. C. At the meeting of the Hippodrome committee yesterday afternoon only a partial cast had been named, and included Miss Mary Arlene Threlfall and Miss Natalie Ring as the two sandwich girls suspected of the crime; Pete Simmons and Paul Becker have been selected for the two "detectives," Check and Double-Check, and Grey Dreads, a Friends university student. Other members of the cast will be chosen by Friday afternoon, when the picture will be filmed by Jack Lewis. Mr. Lewis, a former student at the university, has made the Hippodrome motion pictures for the past three years.

Beside "Guilty Hands," patrons of the annual carnival will see a news reel of campus activities during this school year, which has been arranged by George Squibb.

Fraternity and sorority stunts for the Hippodrome are being worked out under the direction of the following individuals: Dorothea Kyle, Delta Omega; Virgil Knowles, Pi Alpha Pi; Faye Tucker, Epsilon Alpha Phi; Max Sipple, Webster; Ethyl Patterson, Sigma; Bert Wells, Zeta Delta Epsilon; Helen Blood, Alpha Tau Sigma, and Stuart Buck, Phi Upsilon Sigma. Between-stunts patter by the masters of ceremony will concern in part the acts to be presented.

"We have decided," said Miss Fairchild yesterday, "to make this year's Hippodrome an overall and apron affair, because we want everyone to come ready for a good time."

For the first time this year Honorary Col. Louis Garberson of the R. O. T. C. unit at the University of Wichita, reviewed the troops under her "command." She inspected the unit last Thursday with the assistance of Cadet Maj. J. T. Dunn, commander of troops.

Every Thursday until April has been designated by Maj. George W. Price as review day in the R. O. T. C. The government inspection comes on April 7 and 8 this year, and it is the purpose of Major Price to have the unit as perfect as possible by that time.

Cadet Maj. Jamie Beard was commander of the battalion and Cadet Second Lieut. Kenneth Corporan acted as adjutant. Company C, commanded by Cadet Capt. Kenneth Sauer, led the battalion parade and review Thursday due to the degree of efficiency it has attained in drill and field work during the past week, according to Major Price. Presentation of the tenth annual Shakespearean production of the University Players will take place on Thursday and Saturday nights of this week at Wichita high school east at 8 p. m. The presentation will be in co-operation with the English department of the high school.

More than thirty costumes, ordered from a Chicago costume house, were received last Saturday, and since that time all rehearsals have been dress rehearsals. Colorful garb will be worn by every character in "A Winter's Tale," and several members of the cast, including Roy Schuster, David Menzies, Anita Brown, Garner Shriver, Alberta Watkins, Carl Johnson, and Doris Walter, will wear two different outfits. Changes of costume are necessitated by the fact that sixteen years elapse between the third and fourth acts.

Walter Duerksen's University Theater Orchestra will provide special music; the dances are being directed by Miss Mary Jewell, assistant women's physical education instructor; Mr. Wilmer and Mrs. Beulah S. Instructors in the university have been asked to list the courses and hand them to the deans of the colleges who will in turn draw up plans for the separate departments, according to Mr. Neff.

EXPLAINS PART OF INDIAN IN MUSIC

Lieurance Shows Music Appreciation Class How the Redman Influenced Art

To illustrate the contribution of the American Indian to music, Dr. Thurlow Lieurance, Dean of the College of Fine Arts at the University, presented the students of his sight-singing class in a program of his own compositions before his music appreciation class February 25.

Preceding the program Dr. Lieurance gave a brief history of his "By the Waters of Minnetonka." To illustrate how the popularity of the composition embraces all fields of music, recordings of the selection by Renee Chamel, violinist Tommy Rich, popular pianist, and the Mormon Choir were played.

EDITOR IS OUSTED FOR RADICAL VIEW

DANVILLE, KY., MAR. 2—Charles J. Thurmond, editor of Centio, weekly at Centre college, this week has been ousted from his position because of an editorial on marriage.

He was declared to have attacked marriage as "the stupidest of all institutions in existence today, (one which) ends in wrecked lives and casting of ugly blotches on young lives having to come into contact with it."

On Walking Out

The speed motif, which is said to be the symbol of twentieth century youth, seemed to inspire a number of University students who made the singing of the national anthem in convocation last week an opportunity to walk out. Seemingly they were bent on "saving" a few minutes.

Most of these very students can remember when, during the World War, disrespect such as an act of that kind implies was punishable. As much respect and honor should be paid the symbol of our nation during times of peace as during a period of war.

It probably seems a small matter to those students to stand respectfully during the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" in convocation. However, no less respect is implied by not standing at attention while the flag is passing, borne by a color guard marching proudly at the head of a regiment of khaki-clad troops and accompanied by military bands, than is directed at our national symbol by a group of students who leave during the singing of the anthem in order to "save" a few minutes.

Our Uncomfortable Position

War news from Asia becomes each week more startling. Press reports indicate conditions fraught with more and more danger.

Neutral nations sit anxiously and wait for some solution to present itself. Just now the idea of economic boycott is uppermost and is receiving consideration throughout the world.

If the League of Nations in special session during the first part of March decides that Japan is the aggressor nation in the Asiatic trouble, then each member nation may declare an economic boycott on Japan. Progressive steps toward active enforcement of such a boycott may even be taken.

But the United States is not a member of the League of Nations. And 40 per cent of Japan's exports last year were purchased by the United States. Official Washington is extremely reluctant to see trade relations severed between this country and Japan.

France, England, and other European countries do not care to boycott Japan without co-operation from America. An economic blockade in which America did not participate could hardly succeed.

Attempted peace negotiations are now under way, and it is expedient that they be settled satisfactorily. If the nations of the world are to keep out of another dangerous diplomatic situation.

Recognition and Service

Dr. Peter W. Dykema of the Teachers' College of Columbia University in New York City will lecture at the University of Wichita during the summer session.

"I can't believe it," said one Wichita citizen. "I was planning to go to New York this summer to study under Dr. Dykema, and it is almost unbelievable that he will be in Wichita."

With the growth of the University in numbers and prestige, added services can be offered its students. Dr. Dykema is an outstanding figure in the field of public school music, and is the author of several books on various phases of public school music. He was editor of "Music Supervisors' Journal" for seven years, and was chairman of the editorial board of "Twice 55 Community Songs."

Bringing men of the caliber of Dr. Dykema to the University will save many dollars for those who live in the Middle West—dollars that would otherwise be spent necessarily in eastern cities. This is another way in which a municipal university can be of service to the city to which it belongs.

FACULTY GOLDFISH LEAD MERRY LIVES

Students Also Possess Interesting Aquarium Collections

Goldfish seem scarce among the faculty members, and whether this is due to the current depression or the fact that the teachers at the university are giving too many quizzes and therefore have no time for this age old hobby, it is difficult to decide.

Two members, however, have especially interesting collections of fish. Dr. E. A. Marten has at his home an aquarium in which he has several varieties of tropical fish. Among them are the Guppy, Sword-tail, Yellow Moon fish, Zebra fish, Paradise fish, and Spotted Barbs. The Paradise fish are interesting because the male blows bubbles in which the female puts the eggs.

Dr. William M. Goldsmith has some very aristocratic goldfish at his home in Winfield. They spend their winters in the famous resort "Wash Tubs" which is located in the lowermost part of the basement of the Goldsmith home. Their summers they spend in a spacious fish pond in the back yard.

"I don't suppose musicians knew that famous composers such as Bach, Handel, Mozart, and Beethoven live no farther away than Winfield. Bach is the biggest fish and he is the proud father of 120 baby goldfish. He got an infection in one of his eyes and it is most all eaten out," said Dr. Goldsmith.

Miss Eleanor Essex has one large fish called Jonah. He is so big that the little ones have great fun biting him and then running away before he can turn around. One of the little black fishes is named Tobey.

Miss Fay Tucker fed her goldfish too much and they all died while Miss Genevieve Wright's froze in the bowl one winter's night.

None of those questioned had ever heard of the goldfish "listen-in-er" which is a device invented by Colonel Stoopnagle of radio fame. You just put this invention into the bowl and lo and behold you can hear the little goldfish are saying and thinking.

JERRY IN BOLD DASH FOR LIBERTY

Circus Monkey Leads Fellows to Seek New Life in Outside World

Jerry is back home at last. His return was not heralded by screaming, front-page headlines, nor even such a high profile as space was given to him. For Jerry is not a well-known fellow. He is no prize-fighter, movie star, millionaire, or bootlegger. In fact, Jerry is only a small, common circus monkey, with a craving for peanuts and candy. But he and his seven fellows have been in the news more than most monkeys are privileged to see. They have seen a little more than is visible from the narrow confines of their cage in the Bradley-Page circus.

It came about in this way. The keeper, who had just cleaned the cage where Jerry and his fellows were kept, failed to fasten the cage door securely when he left, intending to come back later. Jerry and his buddies discovered that the door would open and, not hesitating to inquire into the why or wherefore of the matter, they went forth to see the town of West Plains, where the circus happened to be at the time. Chattering happily, they bore down upon a seed store owned by Harry Sears and, finding the door open, decided to pay the gentleman a call.

Mr. Sears, not expecting customers at the time, was in a barber shop across the street. He returned to his place of business to find that his visitors had taken it upon themselves to mix his stock for him in the hope of promoting better sales. "In fact," Mr. Sears said later, "it was possible to take the seeds which those monkeys mixed up and get anything from radishes to bananas."

Rapid application of a broom ejected most of the visitors from the store where they were speedily captured and returned to their cage. Not so with Jerry. He streaked for the railroad yards with keepers in hot pursuit and, climbing upon a freight car which happened to be attached to a moving train, was hauled rapidly out of town, shrieking his displeasure. He was returned three days later by the chief of police of a neighboring town who charged him with raising three stores. Guilty, not guilty, was locked up and there he will stay, says his keeper.

So Jerry is back. Maybe the new life of freedom grew dull after the novelty of it wore off. Maybe he is glad to be back again in the company of his fellows. But, he seems to reflect, it was a great life while it lasted.

DIRECT CONFERENCE

Mystery Disease Gradually Takes Toll at University

An unknown and treacherous disease is threatening to annihilate the personnel of the University of Wichita. It apparently has no known cure, according to medical authorities, and is sweeping unchecked over the entire campus, claiming countless victims.

The malady was first noticed about a week ago, and has been raging unmolesied since that time. The insidious thing about it, according to observers, is that it leaves the patient in such a semi-hypnotic state that he has no ambition to attempt a cure or check of the ravages of the disease.

Authorities claim that the only hope for a cessation of the epidemic is a killing frost, but the continued warm weather threatens to destroy this one chance for getting relief.

First symptoms of the attack, it is claimed, are a sudden consciousness of the trees, grass, and singing birds. From this stage the victim sinks rapidly until he feels an insane desire to rummage in attics for golf clubs and tennis rackets. Then the hapless victim will probably carry a pair of dirty knickers to the cleaners, or lie on the grass in the throes of composing a sonnet.

Then comes the hopeless state, when the malady spreads to the brain. The mentality is effected, and questions are answered in monosyllables, and classes cease to hold attraction for the victim.

MORPHINE ADDICTS CURED IN NINE DAYS

Brain Cell Proteins Thinned by Sodium Rhodanate

BY COLLEGE NEWS SERVICE. ITHACA, N. Y., Mar. 2.—A method of treating morphine addicts so that complete cures can be justly claimed after periods of from six to nine days this week was described at Cornell University.

The treatment involves the use of sodium rhodanate as an antidote to thin the proteins which collect in the brain cells as a result of morphine injections and which cause the victim to develop a craving for the narcotic.

By reducing the consistency of the proteins, three Cornell research workers—Dr. Robert S. Guttell, W. D. Bancroft and John E. Rutzler—were able to break a patient of the morphine habit in six days, despite the fact that he had been an addict for sixteen years.

During the six days, the amount of morphine given was reduced from twelve grains daily to none, and sodium rhodanate was substituted for the drug. At the end of the ninth day, all desire for morphine had vanished and the patient was completely relaxed.

1896 SUNFLOWER FULL OF NEWS

Bi-monthly Publication Presents Mirror of Campus Affairs

"Sabbath Observance," "The Influence of the Bible on Tennyson," or "Poetry" were too head stories printed in fine type on the front page of the Sunflower in 1896. To the students of Fairmount college in that day, this was interesting reading. At this time the Sunflower was a journal published bi-monthly during the college year at 50 cents a subscription or ten cents a single copy.

There were serious advice-giving editorials, news on the campus, intellectual essays and poetry, personals, and advertisements appealing to the tastes of dashing belles and dudes of the campus.

The big ne-mannish looking football team posed for an exclusive picture. Their outfits looked burlesque compared with those of the gridiron heroes today.

Southwestern college and Friends university were the bitter enemies of the university then. Entire columns were devoted to the demerits of these rivals. "Beautiful" was the word used to describe everything, everyone, and every place. There was a "beautiful ditty" on the feature page; there was a "beautiful fashioned gown" worn at the class party by a prominent co-ed; there was "beautiful address" delivered by a guest speaker.

Mentions were made of the attempts of the girls to organize an out-of-door baseball team. However, their attempt were considered scandalous, and hence the whole scheme was abandoned. Much publicity was given to the cause of women suffrage.

FORMER EDITOR SPEAKS TO CLASS

Frank Gavitt, Panama City Newspaper Man, in City for Visit

"Washington is the newspaperman's heaven," said Frank Gavitt, former student at the University of Wichita and member of the Sunflower staff, in talking to journalism students Tuesday morning.

Mr. Gavitt arrived in Wichita last week from the national capital, where for the last six months he has worked as Washington correspondent for the Panama American. He will leave Thursday for New Orleans, and from there will go to Panama to continue his newspaper work.

Mr. Gavitt was accompanied by his wife, the former Miss Hazel Thompson, who attended the university last year.

EVANSTON, ILL., Mar. 2.—The Northwestern University this week announced a constructive editorial policy, including five recommendations for administrative and student governmental changes. The recommendations are:

- 1. Adopt a three-grade system indicative of failure, passing, and honor. 2. Place the regulation of class absences in the hands of the individual instructor and the individual student. 3. Liberalize women's rules, placing ultimate responsibility for their enforcement on the individual. 4. Begin an active campaign for a student union building now. 5. Develop a strong, central student governing body.

Girls Were Not Nervous When Firing at Kemper

Firing under the handicap of knowing that their closest competitor had made a score of 395 out of a possible 400, put fear into the hearts of the five women shooters comprising the girls' rifle team at the University of Wichita when they were ready to fire at the indoor gallery meet at Kemper last Saturday.

"We may have had fear in our hearts, but we were certainly not high strung or the least bit nervous," said Miss Margaret Klopstein, captain, in commenting on the victory that her team scored over the entry from the University of Missouri with a total of 396.

After Miss Klopstein, Pauline Folkers, Florence Mos, and Lucille Everett had fired, the score stood 394 for Wichita. The team was one point behind and one more girl had to fire.

Alberta Basye, a freshman on the team was the fifth girl to advance to the firing line. She was steady, calm, and had a determined look in her eye as she adjusted her rifle to her shoulder. She was under the impression that a score of 98 would tie the score and that a 99 would bring victory for the Wichita team.

After her score was tabulated, it was found that she had found the center of the bulls-eye 10 times.

DEFENDS TALK BY SHERWOOD EDDY

Washington Dean Says Speech Not Even Slightly Pink

SEATTLE, Mar. 2.—In the face of President M. Lyle Spenter's official pronouncement against so-called "Red" utterances, Dean Richard C. Tyler of the University of Washington engineering school, this week defended a recent talk by Sherwood Eddy as not being even "slightly pink."

It was a speech given by Eddy, traveler and author, before engineering students which caused President Spenter to clamp down a virtual censorship on similar future assemblies.

"I am quite sure that Mr. Eddy did not make a single convert to Communism, nor did he desire to do so," said Dean Tyler. Campus leaders concurred in Dean Tyler's opinion that Eddy's discussion of Russia was not "Red" and added that "students are able to think for themselves."

Meanwhile, the University of Washington Daily editorially expressed the conviction that, even were students to hear a real "Red" address, they would "maintain a balanced keel."

UNIVERSITY HEAD LOOKS FOR GENIUS

EVANSTON, ILL., Mar. 2.—President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern university this week started a search for six or more potential geniuses—a half dozen pre-school graduates between the ages of 13 and 15 who can fulfill the university's entrance requirements.

There usually are one or two such precocious students at the university, but more are needed so that they may associate together and enjoy a mutual stimulus with proper provisions made for them, he said.

By precocious, the president said he meant those who had such natural attainments as enabled George Washington to become a professional surveyor at 15 and Mozart a composer of music at five.

ENLOW AND CLARK STAR COMPOSERS

"Drifting" Is Latest Waltz Melody Written by Sophomores

"Drifting along in my dream boat," so goes the waltz melody of the latest popular composition by Cecil Enlow and Bob Clark, sophomores at the University of Wichita. Enlow writes the music and Clark writes the words. During the early hours of the morning at the fraternal house they put the two together, and they create a tune that finds favor among their fellow students.

"How?" This is what Enlow says. "Oh, I don't know, I'm just 'hitting along on the piano, and, well, here it is."

Clark, who is a student in the college of liberal arts, is a major in the school of journalism. In the summers he utilizes his time by making sodas and sundaes in his home town of Valley Center.

Enlow, a student in the college of fine arts, is a member of the Minnie chorus. During his vacations, Enlow worked in a clothing store of his home town of Pratt. Enlow plans to teach upon the completion of his college work.

It may be red neckties or perhaps a strawberry ice cream, but what ever the inspiration may have been the result of the waltz, "Drifting Along in My Dream Boat," has been worth trying for again.

Wichita University Cagers Get Third in Conference Standing

Pittsburg Teachers Head Conference for Third Time—Hays Captures Second Place

SUNFLOWER MAKES ALL-STAR SELECTION

Once in undisputed possession of the peak of the Central conference basketball standings, the University of Wichita Shockers, who finished their conference campaign last Saturday night at the Forum with a victory over the Emporia Teachers, were forced to be satisfied with the third position. The Pittsburg Teachers, with only one defeat during the season, was for the third successive year, in possession of the top, with the Hays Teachers college in the runner-up position, the place held last year by the Shockers.

The Shockers, favored by good conference season, went through the early rounds without defeat, numbering among their victims the touted Pittsburg cagers, favored by hope to win the title for the third time.

Sickness Hurts Shockers
Once in possession of the coveted top of the conference, however, the University cagers, partly because of sickness, were unable to stand the pace and soon after defeating Pittsburg they fell before the Emporia Teachers squad, which ended the season in sixth place.

fortunes suffered a change and the former leaders were defeated by every school in the conference with the exception of the cellar holding Builders of Southwestern. The second place in the standings was assumed by the Hays Teachers team, which started on the upward climb after a comparatively poor start.

With fortune going against them, the University players were able only by a narrow margin to hold third place in the conference standings, with a one-game lead over the College of Emporia cagers. Holding for the third consecutive year, the cage championship of the Central conference, the Pittsburg cage team went through the season with a record of 11 wins and only one defeat. Hays, in second place, had a record of eight wins and four defeats, while the record of Wichita was seven wins and five defeats.

In the center of the standings, the College of Emporia, winning practically all of its home games, had a record of six wins and six losses, with Washburn and the Emporia Teachers holding records of five-and-seven and four-and-eight, respectively. At the bottom of the conference, Southwestern managed to win only one contest during the season.

All-conference Squad Chosen
Despite the fact that the Shockers were able only to capture the third place in the conference, the Sunflower sport staff, in its selection of all conference teams, named two Wichita players on the eight-man all-conference squad. Johnson, the most aggressive forward in the conference, and Captain Bill Hennigh, one of the cleverest guards in the competition, were chosen on the Sunflower's first all-conference selection, while Vaughn and Ragland were given places on the second squad.

Heading the roster of the all-conference team, Schmidt, veteran Pittsburg campaigner, was given the center position, sharing it with Carroll, strong Emporia Teachers contender. The forward berths on the mythical squad were filled by Francis Johnson, most sensational player in the conference, Ratzlaff of Pittsburg and Carter of the Hays Teachers. At guard, the all-conference team will have Bill Hennigh, Shocker captain, Thurlow of the Hays Teachers and Wachter of Pittsburg. The second squad, as chosen by the Sunflower staff, includes Brown and Boyd, College of Emporia and Washburn, in the forward berths. Vaughn, Shocker varsity center, holds the center position, and Sidwell of Southwestern and Ragland, Wichita ace, are in the defensive posts.

Shockers Defeat Emporia Teachers in Fast Contest

Last Minute Basket Wins Thrilling Court Game During Play-off

Overcoming a commanding Emporia lead during the last few minutes of play at the Forum Saturday night the University of Wichita cagers converted what seemed certain defeat into a tie and ended the contest victors in the five-minute play-off through a last minute basket. Tied at 35 at the end of the game, the lead in the play-off went from one team to the other until the final gun found the Shockers in possession of a two-point advantage, 40-38.

A commanding Wichita lead gained in the first few minutes of play gave the university players an advantage of 8-0. A rally by the Teachers, however, turned the contest and the score at four had gave the Teachers the advantage, 25-14. Soon after the opening of the second period, the Wichita offensive, which had once fallen before the attack of the Hornet basketballers on the Emporia's home court, began functioning and, led by Seedle, hard fighting reserve, beat its way to a tie as the final gun sounded.

Shockers Take Early Lead
During the play-off, the Shockers took an early lead and were passed only once during the thrilling period, when a free throw and a basket gave the visitors a one-point lead. Retaliating with a free throw and a basket, the university cagers regained the lead shortly before the end of the game.

Though badly outscored at the middle of the game, the hard-fighting Shockers came back, augmented by the reserve strength of Seedle, whose aggressiveness was responsible in a large measure for the failure of the Emporians to capture the contest.

Capt. Bill Hennigh, playing his last game for the Shockers, in addition to playing a fine floor game, scored four points toward the Wichita victory. Johnson, leading Shocker scorer, again led the Wichita scoring with 13 points, though he was passed by Clark of the Teachers who tallied 16 points for the invaders.

Beeman, regular forward, was second in the Wichita scoring column with eight points, while Vaughn and Seedle each tallied six. Of the Emporia squad, Carroll, all-conference selection for center, and Clark, straight shooting forward, were responsible for the failure of the Emporians, with a total of 26. Richards forward, also ranked high in the Emporia scoring with seven points.

Pi Kaps Defeat Barbs in Basketball Tourney

Pi Kappa Pi sorority, in accordance with all advance dope won the inter-sorority basketball tournament by defeating the upperclassmen Barbs with a score of 20 to 12. The freshmen Barbs defeated Sorosis, and therefore have the right to the consolation round.

The fight for high honors was contested twice, the first decision being a tie, 16-16. Good team work and set ups failed to clinch the game for the Barbs, and the second showing of the sorority proved too strong a competition. The Pi Kappa group was made up of gym majors, captained by Bernice Wyszembach.

Wilbur Coen, Jr., national ranking tennis star and captain of the University of Kansas tennis team, said last week that he had declined the invitation to attend the championship of Cuba tennis tournament at Havana, because it would cause him to miss the Tilden tennis matches which will be held at the University, March 11.

Webster, Alpha Gamm Continue to Lead Intramural

Another round of intramural basketball play was resumed at the university Thursday night with the four leading teams each registering victory to strengthen their positions in the league standings.

In the first game, the Zeta Deltas opened the first quarter against the Alpha Gams by scoring thrice before the Gammans knew what it was all about. After the Delt scoring frenzy, the Gammans collected their wits and managed to be in front 10-9, as the first quarter ended. The Gammans doubled their score in the second stanza while they held the Deltas to a single free throw.

Although the Phi Sigs led, 7-6, at the end of the first quarter, the Phi Alpha soon forged ahead and held a comfortable lead throughout the remainder of the game as they defeated the Sigma boys by a count of 25-21. The Phi Sigs held the Phi Alpha scoreless in the final period and put on a thrilling rally but fell short to the extent of four points.

The half-time score was 25-12. The last year's champion Eagles team defeated the Barbs by a score of 25-18. Virgil Wilson, Eagle offense star, counted enough points to beat the Barbs single-handed as he registered nine field goals during the game. On the other hand, Speed led the Barbs threats with two field goals and a trio of free throws.

The only other scheduled game resulted in a forfeit to the league leading Websters from Tip Tucker's barb team which is broken up by injuries and illness.

Intramural Play-off Is Scheduled for Coming Week

Although two games remain to be played in the intramural league, the four teams to engage in the play-off for the school championship next week have been definitely chosen through their top positions in the nearly completed intramural competition.

Instead of a roundrobin tourney as first planned, an elimination tournament will be held with the four highest ranking intramural teams competing for the school honors. The winner's name will be inscribed on the silver loving cup donated by the school last year and it becomes their possession for one year. The trophy must be won three times for permanent ownership.

Webster fraternity, undefeated winners of the intramural league, will enter the tourney as favorites to win the laurels. The Alpha Gamm warriors have a strong five with a fast offense and are considered as possible dope upsets. The last year's champion Eagles team boasts of a heavy roster and will make a strong fight to refrain from relinquishing the trophy which they won in 1930-31.

The fourth team to compete will be the Phi Alpha Pi athletes who have not made impressive showing in intramural play but possess talent in the cage line which may insert a darkhorse in the coming tourney. The first games will be played

SPORTS

By KENNETH HAYS
Central Conference basketball is over for this year but the memory of that last game against the Hornets from Emporia Teachers certainly lingers on. Both squads were fighting as if the championship depended upon what they did that night, and were those Emporians "hot." Where the Shockers were missing setups, Emporia was sinking pure ones from all over the court, even when they were closely guarded. From an eight point lead in the first few minutes of play, Wichita fell behind so far that the Hornets had a supposedly safe lead at half-time.

But with the insertion of Clyde "Toughy" Seedle in the lineup during the last period the Shockers regained their old fire and started hitting the basket again, having the score tied with three minutes to play. Then came the extra period with Capt. Bill Hennigh and Francis Johnson the heroes with their winning goals, and the closest game of the season was over.

Most of the sport editors have for the past week or two given their pages over to discussions centered around the new football rules. Arguments have been given both for and against the changes by football experts all over the country, but so far no conclusions have been reached. I wonder if the best way would not be to wait until they have been tried out a season before judging them—and here is one person who believes they will truly cut down the injured lists.

Reports from Emporia Teachers show that the intramural basketball season has turned out to be quite profitable for Coach "Fran" Welch who has found that much missing football, cage and track equipment appears at the intramural sessions.

Highlights of the Week:
Alberta Bayse saving the day for the girls rifle team at Kemper with her perfect score to win over the Missouri U. team by one point.
—And Parker Dumbauld hitting 29 consecutive center shots for a tie for first place in the men's individual meet—Francis Johnson chumping the Hot Hornets in the game last Saturday. The crowd going wild over that last basket of Bill Hennighs—and more so when Johnson sneaked in for a setup to end the extra period.—Webster getting out of the city tourney in the first round—after a hard battle.—Finally, Coach Gebert looking happy after a few glimpses at his football prospects.

The intramural season is practically over with only the play-off to look forward to now. At the present time it looks like a sure cinch for Webster, Alpha Gamm, Eagles and Phi Alpha meeting in the extra games. And what battles those should be.

Tau Alpha, a natural dancing organization, is the latest addition to campus Greek letter groups. Membership to the class is limited, although the traditional rushing plan of other sororities possibly be used, after the new organization gets underway. The Phi Winds, or Tau Alpha, first became a reality last fall. At that time membership was limited to candidates who had taken two semesters of natural dancing. Under new direction, every one interested in natural dancing, students and graduates, is eligible rushing. At present, the time meeting is Wednesday evening, the women's gym.

Interest in swimming has been somewhat stimulated by the trace of a University of Wichita team in the coming telegraphic meet. Swimming classes include advanced students, 40 beginners and 9 who have passed life saving requirements, thus giving Wichita wide range of material. Fifty women will represent the university and will compete with 30 of colleges in the United States, at March meet. The final team will be chosen just before the meet, by Taggart, instructor in swimming.

Ribbons will be awarded to winning team, in the recent inter-sorority basketball tournament, banquet is being planned, at which time the ribbons will be awarded and the 1932 basketball varsity announced. Since other teams show poor team work beside the working bars and Pi Kaps, the two groups will probably show most of the berths in this year representative, Varsity group.
