STUDENTS OF UNIVERSITY WIN CONTEST

TO MAKE ADDRESSES First Year W. U. Has Been Winner in First and Second Places

Miss Natalie Ring, sophomore at the University of Wichita, and a member of Alpha Tau Sigma sorority, won first prize in the fire prevention speaking contest between the University of Wichita and Friends University, Monday night at the Hotel Broadview roof garden. Dean Banta, freshman of the University won second prize. Floyd Pope of Friends won third, and Bernard Brown, also of Friends, received honorable mention.

This is the first year the University has won first and second prizes. Clifton Walton won first last year and Tom Croft won the year before. Miss Ring developed on the debating squad last year. She was a member of the squad that won the interstate debate tournament at Durant, Okla., and also the squad that went to the national tournament at Tulsa. Miss Ring was the only girl in the contest.

Dean Banta came here from Valley Center, where he had made a record in high school debate and oratory. Mr. Pope, a senior at Friends, has had experience in debate. Mr. Brown, a junior, has been in this country only three years. He came here from Russia.

Miss Thadene Noel of Mt. Carmel academy won first in the high school division.

During the remainder of the week Miss Ring and Mr. Banta, with Miss Vera Setzer, who won third in the tryouts, will make their addresses before many clubs and organizations. Last year Clifton Walton and Miss Vera Setzer appeared before 40 clubs.

The contest was sponsored by the fire prevention committee of the Chamber of Commerce, with the aid of the Federated Women's clubs and the Central Kansas Field Men's club. The contest was held at a meeting of the Federated Women's club. The three cash prizes of $10, $7.50 and $5 were given by the Central Kansas Field Men's club and 300 attendees.

Mrs. M. L. Smart, president, presided. The arrangements were completed by a committee headed by Mrs. Harry Van Es.

Approximately 35 or 40 students from the speech department tried out. According to C. C. Harbison, head of the speech department, and Leroy Lewis, instructor in speech, judges of the tryouts, the competition was strong. The judges last night were Dave Leahy, Mgr. William Farrell and Edwin B. Ferguson.

FACULTY MEMBERS SEE CELEBRATION

Many Attend Medicine Lodge Anniversary Pageant on Thursday

Several carloads of faculty members, chiefly from the history, education, and social departments and the library, attended the Medicine Lodge anniversary pageant, Thursday, October 11. The reports of the faculty members who attended on Thursday were so favorable that still another group went on Friday.

"Many people brought blankets which they spread on the ground where they were sitting," said Clifton Colester, librarian. "The wind blowing the edges of the blankets all along the hillside and raised a cloud of dust as much as for the performing Indians to bite."

Some of those who attended the celebration were Dr. John Rydjour, professor of history; Leslie B. Sipple, dean of the College of Education; B. W. Wright, professor of business administration; Clifton H. Colester, librarian; Miss Estie Maria Graham, assistant professor of history; Miss Alice Isley, reference librarian; Miss Alice H. Buckner, assistant cataloguer; Miss Kathryn A. Oest, library cataloguer; Dr. Glenn R. Bakum, professor of sociology; Dr. Hugo Wall, professor of political science; Thurlow Liguano, professor of musical theory; Edna Woolley, professor of voice; George Wilmer, professor of dramatic expression; Walter Pennington, professor of English; W. H. Mikesell, professor of psychology, and Lamorris Hechler, dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

EATS AVAILABLE FOR GRADUATE STUDENTS

SENIOR OFFICERS DESIGN INSIGNIA FOR ARMY MEN

In Form of Golden Wheat Shock on Black Badge for the Arm

Using the school colors of the University of Wichita, the senior officers of the R. O. T. C. have designed an insignia to be worn on the left arm of all men enrolled in the R. O. T. C. This insignia has been arranged in the form of a golden wheat-shock placed on a black circular badge approximately two and three-fourths inches in diameter.

For the past year, senior officers of the R. O. T. C. have been considering the adoption of an insignia emblematic of the Wheatshockers of the University of Wichita. This insignia must be in keeping with army regulations. Such an insignia as the one recently adopted is similar to ones used by practically every R. O. T. C. unit throughout the schools of the United States.

Mr. George W. Price, professor of military science and tactics at the University of Wichita, presented the badge to Harold W. Foght, president of the university, for his confirmation, after which Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood, corps area commander, made the final official adoption.

Capt. Cecil L. Rutledge, assistant professor of military science at the University of Wichita, is completing plans for the men's rifle team. The team held an organization meeting at the rifle range on the top floor of science hall Tuesday, October 11. New equipment has been purchased which will be ready for immediate use.

John R. Stickle will replace Loyd Parker as battalion commander of the R. O. T. C., who acted as commander October 4 and 6. Gus Lehman will be the new adjutant, replacing Maurice Monasmith.

The following men will be in command of companies October 11 and 12: Company A, Second Lieutenants Clyde Johnson, Maurice Monasmith and Ople Swope; right guide, Frank Krueger; left guide, Kenneth Wilson; Corporals Sam Amholtz, Dwight Homberger and Jack Osborn.

WEAR NEW COSTUMES

The costume of the cheer leaders this year will be the yellow sweaters with the black W stitched on the front and an outline of a megaphone across the chest. The trousers shall be of black corduroy. Later on in the football season the cheer leaders plan to put on stunts in addition to the yell to entertain the audience.

Sophomores and Council Will Enforce Old Tradition

Action has been demanded in conducting an investigation and in deciding what means will be taken to enforce the adherence to the old traditions of wearing the green caps and ribbons at the University of Wichita. Kermit Oakes, sophomore representative on the Council, made this plea for definite steps to be taken by the Council at the regular meeting Monday evening. Some means will be taken to see that the freshmen wear the traditional green caps and ribbons.

"If we are to have traditions, then they should be enforced," Mr. Oakes declared. "Some of the freshmen wear their caps, but the majority don't. Most schools enforce their traditions, a great many by padding, although I realize that that has been abolished in the University of Wichita."

An investigation will be conducted by the council, according to George Squibb, president, and immediate action will be taken. Committees have been set to work arranging enforcement without violence. The student council announces the date of the annual Homecoming, as Friday, November 25, as set by the

NEW FOREIGN DECREE IS PROTESTED

Rule Prohibiting Foreign Students from Working Is Decreed

WILL EFFECT MANY 1500 Students from Other Countries Are Working in America

By PRESIDENT H. W. FOGHT

Just as the great International House in Chicago, three million dollar gift of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and the third of its kind in America, is opened and dedicated to the youth of the world seeking after truth and ways of international amity and peace, there comes from our American Secretary of Labor at Washington a ukase aimed against a small hard-working group of foreign students in the United States who already have found themselves in desperate straits by reason of the unfavorable exchange rates and desperate economic conditions in their home lands.

Secretary Doak's new interpretation of the regulations for non-quota foreign students forbids them hereafter to accept any work whatever in which the exchange of money is involved. After some hazy reconsideration on the secretary's part, foreign students may still accept board and lodging and school tuition in return for doing manual tasks in private homes and in schools. The new ruling, however, eliminates all student assistantships, all positions as expert translators, lecturers, and the like for money—positions which many have held, and which often cannot be adequately filled by our own students.

Many Students Affected

More than one million young people attend our colleges and universities, and in the great majority

DEBATE QUESTION CHOSEN FOR YEAR

War Debt Cancellation Is Chosen As One Out of Fifty Questions

"That the United States should agree to the cancellation of the inter-allied war debts," is the debate question officially announced by G. W. Finley, national secretary of Pi Kappa Delta, national honorary forensic fraternity. Fifty original questions were voted upon by approximately 132 coaches, throughout the United States, and ten of the questions were given final consideration on the last ballot. "That there should be a government guarantee on bank deposits" was the second highest question on the last ballot.

Tom Croft, Miss Natalie Ring, Miss Raesella Klepper, Oliver Witterman, Clarence Lank, Alfred Kaiser, and George Squibb are some of the last year debaters who will take part in the debates this year. Miss Raesella Klepper and Miss Inez Crowder won from Southwestern college last year in a Pi Kappa Delta debate. Other winners in last year's debates were: Tom Croft, Clifton Walton, George Squibb, Oliver Witterman, and Miss Natalie Ring.

Thirty-six students went out for debate teams last year and it is hoped by Leroy Lewis and C. G. Harbison of the speech department that as many if not more will try out this year. Any student who is interested in debating is invited to see either Mr. Lewis or Mr. Harbison.

W. U. FACULTY INVESTIGATES GRAD HONORS

Large Per Cent Accomplish Worth While Things and Achieve Honors

DATA IS COMPLETE

Material Obtained Through Interviews and Memory of W. U. Faculty

Achievements of graduates of the University of Wichita since the date of its founding in 1899 as Fairmount college have been investigated by a faculty committee headed by Dr. Hazel Branch. A total of 1320 graduates have been successfully traced of which number 221 have become distinguished in some way. In addition, 152 of the 221 graduating students have achieved advanced degrees in the various lines in which they are specializing.

"There are about 35 per cent who have accomplished big, worthwhile things," said Dr. Branch. "and about 25 per cent who have achieved academic honors or degrees, such as Ph. D. bachelor of divinity, and others."

Dr. Branch is head of the committee, with Dr. Branch, professor of zoology and head of the department, as chairman, was composed of Earl K. Hillbrand, dean of the graduate school; Frank A. Neff, dean of the College of Business Administration; A. J. Hoare, professor of mathematics; John Rydjour, head of the history department; and C. C. Harbison, professor of public speaking. This group has worked for the past two weeks collecting data and material beginning with the first class of Fairmount College in 1899 and working through the year 1931, having finished the last seven years of their record Monday afternoon. According to Dr. Branch there may be a few additions to make to this list and figures if more facts can be ascertained about several members of the earlier classes. However, the record as it now stands is complete.

RECORDS MADE

"There have been very few records made of these graduates," Dr. Branch stated, "and the material has been collected mainly through the memory of Dean Neff, Mr. Hoare, and Mr. Harbison, and also through interviewing relatives of these graduates."

In commenting, Dr. Branch said that naturally there are fewer in the more recent graduating classes of the University who have achieved degrees of success since they have been graduated such a short time.

FRESHMAN IS SECOND

LESLIE B. SIPPLE, freshman at the University of Wichita, won second place in the college division at the speaking contest sponsored in connection with Fire Prevention week, Monday evening.

SIPPLE TO GIVE LECTURES ABOUT MISSION INQUIRY

Leslie B. Sipple, dean of the College of Education, is preparing a series of six lectures on the results of the findings of the Indian Mission Inquiry conducted last year. These lectures on our relations with the Orient will be given this winter. The results of the commission have been attracting national attention, as was indicated by a recent article and an editorial in the New York Times.

The report from the appraisal commission of the inquiry will be made this winter, but its more significant portions, according to the New York newspaper, "will be released by installments through the press beginning immediately."

Regarding the far-reaching changes in the planning and scope of missionary work in the Far East recommended by the commission, the Times said editorially: "Its findings will be of major concern to all Christians. It should prove of more than denominational interest and importance, for it deals with relations between the East and West that lie deeper than the political or purely economic."

Dean Sipple spent a year in India in connection with the work of the committee in that region, returning to Wichita and his work at the municipal school last September. In Dean Sipple's opinion this study and report will be "the most far-reaching report that has ever been undertaken by the Christian church. It involves fundamental relations of our civilization with the Orient and it is likely to prove of fundamental importance in all the future relations in social, economical and political affairs with more than two-thirds of the world's population living in the Orient."

The commission, under which the study was carried on, consisted of 13 prominent church men and was headed by Dr. William E. Hoeking, professor of philosophy at Harvard University. The seven denominations represented were the Presbyterian, Dutch Reformed, United Presbyterian, Methodist Episcopal, Congregational, Protestant Episcopal and Northern Baptist. These organizations have 57,657 churches, with a total membership of 10,013,368, who save $15,000,000 to foreign missions in 1931.

The facts gathered for the report are the result of nine months first hand study by Dean Sipple and his colleagues in India, Burma, China, and Japan. The expenses of the study were paid by John D. Rockefeller, Jr. and many other laymen.

The silver cup offered to the fraternities by Dr. Foght is at present in possession of Men of Webster, who have held it for the past two years. It will be awarded this year at the same time as the tea service.

SALESMAN FINDS MANY ODD TYPES

University Student Spends Summer as Salesman of Women's Magazine

"I am J. H. and I am calling on you in regard to that announcement which appeared in your paper."

"Magazines?" This from within a tightly closed door. And thus with a sharp and abruptly put interrogation the sales talk of another magazine salesman is brought to a rather embarrassing point.

For three months I have walked streets and pounded doors, and three months at such a task seem like three years. Pavements are not particularly soft. If it is summer the heat of the sun is hotter; if it is winter the coldness of the wind is colder when one is a magazine salesman.

And, too, there is that group, completely feminine, always rouged, kimoned, and bemused who with excessive sweetness and disgusting affectation manage to tell you that they never read anything but "Flaming Youth" or "Real Love."

Once in a while I come to a door behind which stands a lady, who holds her pocket book, opens it, convinces them that practicing it on magazine salesmen is a good thing. Fortunately, not all the types are those who refuse to buy. Occasionally I find a lady who takes it just to help me through school. She does not, she repeats, care a snap for the magazine but her final question is, "When will I get my first issue?"

NOTICE FROM BURSAR

Do to the increase in the postage rates, notices of payments due on tuition will not be sent out this year. All students who have charged their tuition are expected to take care of the payments when due.

GATE-CRASHING POPULAR THIS YEAR

Whether a genuine and overpowering interest in football or the decreasing size of pocketbooks in these times of depression is responsible for the increasing number of gate-crashers is the problem with which G. H. Hein, custodian of the Administration building at the University of Wichita is confronted.

According to Mr. Hein, it has been necessary to forcefully eject more people from the football stadium at the university during the last two football games than ever before. During the game between the university and Friends University Mr. Hein had to deal with more than fifty gate-crashers and the number of would be spectators at the game between the university and Phillips university the number was equally as great.

Gate-crashing is quite an art and gate-crashers are quite ingenious judging from Mr. Hein's report. He says, "Not all the 'crashers' slip under the canvass. Some are much bolder; they have left their tickets at home, their brother or date has it. Some of them attempt to pass last year's activity tickets and some present tickets from other schools." Few, however, escape Mr. Hein. He shows them the gate and they pay or leave.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN ELECT OFFICERS

Miss Kathleen Robertson was elected president of the Wichita University League of Women Voters at their last meeting. The other officers elected were: Miss Helen Meeker, vice president and program chairman; Miss Helen Hampson, secretary-treasurer; Miss Ruth Lamp, publicity chairman, and Miss Katherine Ewing, membership chairman.

The Junior League of Women Voters is made up of University women who are interested in voting. They meet at the Lassen Hotel in room 317 twice a month. The next meeting will be October 27. The purpose of the league which is non-partisan, is to interest women in voting and to acquaint students with the various candidates and platforms.

RAISE PLEDGING QUALIFICATIONS

A new constitution was adopted and pledge qualifications were raised at the regular meeting of Gamma Rho chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national education society, held Thursday evening, Oct. 6.

Six hours of education is now required for a junior, or 12 hours for a senior pledge, with the evidence they will continue membership upon graduation. An academic average of 85, instead of 80, is now required. Professional qualifications are also desirable attributes.

Names of the pledges will be announced within two weeks. The Gamma Rho formal dinner will be held Saturday evening, November 12. This will include the alumni.

DEPRESSION DOESN'T LIMIT FISH FAMILY

It is said that the depression has materially reduced the size of families, but I know of one couple who just announced the arrival of fifteen babies into their families.

There are about fifty varieties of these little fish which are now bred in captivity, according to Dr. Martin. Their sizes run from about three quarters of an inch to nearly three inches in length. The majority of these types found in aquariums are between one and two inches in length. Their original habitat of these vari-colored fish are in widely separated parts of the world. "In my own aquarium," continued Dr. Martin, "I have Zebra whose home is in South America swimming alongside Rosy Barb whose home is in India. In my largest aquarium I also have fish from the swamps of Florida. So my five gallon tank is quite a cosmopolitan place."

In speaking of the way in which the fish get their names, Dr. Martin said that the Zebra gets its name from the stripes which run the long way of its body. True to its name the Swordfish has an extended portion of its tail which closely resembles a sword. Blue Moons were first called that because someone saw or fancied the saw a close resemblance to a halibut in the dot which is found on each side of this tiny fish. The Blue Moons have quite a number of cousins. There are also Red and Yellow Moonfish and it is believed that there are other colored Moonfish unclassified. Adult Saltfins develop an enormous fin on their fin on their back which looks like a great sail on its back.

"It is quite difficult," said Dr. Martin, "to raise any of these tropical fish. As soon as the young fish are born they are eaten by the older fish unless they are rescued. That mother will eat them if given an opportunity.

Cash Means Deportation

Approximately two thousand foreign students in this country were affected last week by a ruling by Secretary of Labor William N. Doak, which made impossible their earning money.

Under the ruling of the secretary, if a foreign student is outside his nation's quota and seeks to earn a dollar by washing dishes or rocking a professor's baby, he may promptly find himself under investigation, subject to arrest and deportation. He may work in exchange for room and board, or part of his tuition fees, but the earning of cash is taboo. If he earns such cash, he might have to return to his foreign home.

To make the restriction even greater, immigration officials demand a $500 bond, which is to serve as expense money in case the foreign student should become stranded in this country. Immediately the American Council on Education, led by Dr. John Henry McCracken, sent up a cry of protest. President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia observed that the measure was "reactionary and stupid."

Several students on our own campus will be adversely affected by the passage of this shortsighted measure. Fortunately, the good secretary of labor has not seen fit to forbid private persons lending assistance and encouragement to foreign students. Leaders of educational thought in this country believe that the measure cannot long stand the wave of popular protest it has invoked. It seems ridiculous, they say, that the American public actually should pay good money to legislators and others in authority in exchange for such stupid legislation.

An Official Ballot

Among the most important purposes of the American universities is to educate the younger generation in order to further democracy in the nation and increase the wisdom of the governing body which rules over the masses of people under its flag.

Elections are held at regular intervals in the years to determine who shall hold the responsible offices in the United States and in whose hands the destiny of the nation rests. These elections are planned and every possible means is employed to make them fair and just in order to determine the honest opinion of the voters as to policy and personnel by which the government is to function until the next election takes place.

If these principles are upheld as important for our national government and for us to foster and practice as university students who will hold the reins of important business in future years, is it not right that we should have an official ballot and recognized nominations for our school elections so that the true spirit of democracy might be practiced in our midst at the present as well as in the future when the great task will be left in our hands to perform?

WRITES ON PORTO RICO

Major Chapman Grant, formerly in charge of the R. O. T. C. unit at the University, is the author of an article in the journal of the Department of Agriculture of Porto Rico.

The title of this article is "Sphaerodactyls of Porto Rico, Culebras, and Mora Island" and was recently received at the Morrison library.

This article reflects a keen interest in certain phases of biology upon which he is an accepted authority.

FOREIGN DECREE IS PROTESTED

Action Regarding Foreign Students Meets Opposition

paring for future leadership we find approximately ten thousand foreign students, some 1500 to 2000 of whom have been working their way through school. This pitiful little group is now to be sacrificed for the million who, by the way, have no even complaints against their foreign classmates. Shades of Theodore Roosevelt and John Hay! What would our mighty president and establisher of the Boxer Fund for aid to foreign students, and the great advocate of internationalism through education, say to this new regulation of pitiful bureaucracy in Washington? It is enough to make self-respecting American citizens ashamed of government in high places.

Here is another illustration of the narrow nationalism that has sprung up since the World war, at a time when, for our own sake and the sake of civilization's future, we should pray to God Almighty for some real idealism and love of fellow-man throughout the world. How can this disordered, chaotic world hope to recover from its terrible ills, if not through international co-operation, which must have its beginning in education?

Must Discontinue Work

We have at the University of Wichita a fine group of foreign students who are all in desperate straits—particularly the orientals—because of war and the extreme drop in monetary values. One Chinese student has been selling on appointment—Chinese soap-stone gifts, of a kind unknown in this part of the country. Were he to continue his bread and butter sales, he would be liable to immediate deportation. Another student is doing a little janitor work. He is no longer permitted to do so for money, but may continue to exchange work for tuition. A fine Korean boy, partly on my advice, enrolled in Ohio State university this fall to continue his Ph. D. studies. He was given a teaching fellowship in industrial chemistry and was to receive in return a small sum of money. The latter he will have to forego now or go to jail; and so it is down the line with the others.

And how now are our students treated when they go abroad to study? Many hundreds have found their way to Oxford, England, under the Rhodes scholarships with all their expenses paid out of this great foundation. Others have gone to the famous old schools on the continent of Europe, paying their own way or setting up industrial or other enterprises as they see fit to make their way. With complete freedom offered American students abroad—our treatment of their nationals in turn becomes a sorry commentary upon our once boasted democratic ideals and zeal for human welfare and justice.

I wish to commend the student and faculty of the University of Wichita for their sympathetic stand in behalf of our foreign students, a stand which should now crystallize into effective action.
